Not Fit to Be Minister.

When the announcement was made that a certain distinguished citizen had been appointed to join the nation's diplomatic forces and assume an important foreign portfolio, the matter was naturally discussed with a great deal of interest among his acquaint-

One day the subject came up in a company among which was one old fellow who had known the appointee for upward of forty years. "What do you say he has been appointed to?" the old fellow asked. "Why," answered one, "he has been appointed to be minister in one of the largest cities of Europe."

"Well, that's the most ridiculous thing I ever heard of," snorted the friend of the new diplomatist. "He's to be minister nowhere. Why, durn it. he don't even know the Lord's prayer."

A Model.

Mr. Jones came home at an unseemly hour the other night and was surprised to see Mrs. Jones sitting up for him below stairs, with no other ht than that of the gas lamp, which faced the door, to keep her company.

"M-M-Marie." he said huskily. "y-you shouldn't sit up s'late when I'm out on As Mrs. Jones did not answer him.

AND SO WE FEED THEM.

Americans Depend on Ice Cream, Not Wit, to Entertain Their Friends.

Was it not Emerson who said, "We we buy ice cream?"

Rather a striking comment, isn't it. both upon our own mental resourcefulness and the menta, caliber of our hearts fail us, and so we feed them. Ice cream is a convenient cloak for all social doubts and fears.

Only sometimes there is a joke on the society free lunches, as was the while still quite wet on a flannel covcase when a certain woman gave a coffee and bridge, and one of her bridge.

She arrived at about 4 o'clock or after with the bland statement on her

"You know I don't play bridge very well anyhow, so I just came in for refreshments."

Alas for her! The refreshments were "all." She had better read ber card more carefully in the future, so that whatever happens, whether she sees her friends or not, she will not miss their "ice cream."

View of Self Sacrifice.

A question which frequently arises in social relations is to what extent should one sacrifice oneself to oblige one's friends. More than half the social pleasures entail a sacrifice on somebody's part. Money has to be spared that can ill be afforded, people whom one doesn't like have to be met. and health has to be disregarded in order to keep an engagement. The life of the average woman seems to demand of each successive day just a little more of her time and consequently of her vitality, and when she adds to her own burdens those of other people by filling in a place at the last moment or by doing any one of the multitudinous other little things that oblige socially she is on the road to destruction and had better learn to say "No" before she has to go to a sanitarium. Every social leader has on her list some of these tried and true mortals whom she can coax into vide a fly-a nice bit of carving, as working overtime. For this reason her dinners are never clouded by a vacant place; her entertainments are always a success. But the woman upon whom she has her good time.

Kindness That Is Frozen.

The world is full of kindness that never is spoken and that is not much better than no kindness at all. The warm, but there are great piles of white with bunches of pink and green fallen trees lying on rocks and on tops of bills where nobody can get them. These do not make anybody warm. You might freeze to death for want of wood in plain sight of these fallen trees if you had no means of getting the wood home and making a fire of it. Just so in a family Love is what brothers and sisters happy. But if they take care never to say a word about it, if they keep it a profound secret as if it were a crime, they will not be much happier than if there was not any love among them; the house will seem cool even in summer, and if you live there you will envy the dog when any one calls bim "Poor fellow!" -Dr. J. G Holland.

The pirdcage.

A prisoner was arraigned before the bar of justice charged with having dallied too long before another sort of bar and waxing too hilarlous for the public peace.

"What were you doing drunk in the street?" asked the magistrate. "Was I drunk?" was the reply in tone of surprised innocence.

"The policeman says you were." "Under oath?"

"Certainly." "Perhaps he's right, but I was just going along with a birdcage in my
