FIRST AID.

A Case Where It Was Applied Not Wisely, but Too Well.

An extremely ludicrous incident occurred in a fashionable church on a recent Sunday. A young lady, evidently a stranger, of a naturally pale complexion, accidentally let her handkerchief fall on the floor. By repeatedly stooping to reach it furtively she attracted the notice of a gentleman in the pew behind, who thought she was about to faint.

With the best of motives, therefore. he took her gently under the arms and raised her up, greatly to her surprise. As she tried to release herself another gentleman went to her assistance, and before the young lady knew what was the matter they were moving her out into the aisle.

Naturally she was too much astonished to find words for protest, and they had managed to half carry, half lead, her some distance when she directed an appealing look to another gentleman in a pew, as if asking him to help also. He, too, promptly rose from his seat and helped to lift her up and carry her into the vestry room.

There, as the three officious but well meaning gentlemen were trying to force the now thoroughly exasperated lady into an armchair, she recovered her powers of speech, and the verbal explosion that followed, while it cleared away the misunderstanding, moved the very meek men who passed out of the vestry to mutter in unison, "Never again!"

Didn't Keep a Diary.

At an important triai in a London law court one of the witnesses was an Irishwoman who was decidedly hard to handle. She was particularly categorical as to her dates and told how "this happened at 4:27 on Tuesday, this at 6:33 on Friday," and so on. At last the patience of the advocate was exhausted.

"My dear woman," said the exasperated counsel, "do you keep a diary?" "No. sir." replied the woman, "a dramshop.'

The Way It Helps.

When Sir Andrew Clark, Mr. Gladstone's physician, recommended a patient to drink wine the latter expressed some surprise, saying he thought Sir Andrew was a temperance doctor, to which Sir Andrew Clark replied:

"Oh, wine does sometimes help you to get through work. For instance, I have often twenty letters to answer after dinner, and a pint of champagne is a great help."

"Indeed," said the patient, "does a pint of champagne really help you to answer the twenty letters?"

"No, no!" said Sir Andrew. "But when I've had a pint of champagne I don't care a rap whether I answer them or not!"

Have a Purpose.

Have a purpose. No one ever reached great things without trying for them. Thoughts of what is great, love for great ideals, daily acts done in a great spirit, prepare the bero's hour and bring it to him. Purpose makes or mars life. Purposelessness ruins life.

He Wasn't an Exception.

It was married men's night at the revival meeting. "Let ail you husbands who have troubles in your minds stand up," shouted the emotional preaches at the height of his spasm. Instantly every man in the church rose to his feet except one. "Ah!" exclaimed the preacher, peering out at turned me inside out." this lone sitter, who occupied a chair near the door and apart from the others. "You are one in a million." "It ain't that," piped back this one helplessly as the rest of the congrega- lus ever inspired or talent ever action turned to gaze suspiciously at complished. Next best to natural him. #### AGE CAME QUICKLY.

For It Must Have Seemed a Long Time Between Drinks.

This story has to do with the captivity of Governor Isham G. Harris and Senator Bate of Tennessee in the penitentiary at Nashville as prisoners of war during the sixtles. After an unaccustomed period of abstinence. somewhat longer than that preserved by the governors of North and South Carolina the governor and the senator cas' about for a means to the alleviation of their consuming thirst. In the course of time an old coffeepot and other necessities fell into their hands, and from their rations they managed to save out a little corn now

From this point it is as well to let Huntsman tell the story in the words of Governor Harris:

"'Well, seh, we made three quants of the finest whisky yo' eveh sampled. But what do yo' think, seh? One of the inhuman gyards, seh, found two of them wheah we had secreted them an' took them from us at th' p'int of his bay'nit, seh!"

"'And what did you do with the other quart? Huntsman asked. "'We aged it and drank it, seh," said the governor. "'How long did you age it. governor? said Huntsman.

"'Fo' days,' was the dignified re sponse."-Louisville Times.

The Rule of Three.

A man who had been timidly thinking about matrimony for several years to the point of becoming engaged took his seat at his desk in a rather thoughful mood the other morning. Finally he turned to the man at the next desk and said:

"I say, old man, can you tell me what is meant by the rule of three? My girl asked me about it last night Never heard of it before."

"Well." said the man at the next desk, who was adorned with a frayed collar and an incipient bald spot on his head, "if you can wait till you're married and live with your wife, her ancient maiden sister and their mother you will know the rule of three all right."

The Dean's Grace.

A famous deap was once at dinner when, just as the cloth was removed. the subject of discourse happened to be that of extraordinary mortality among lawyers. "We have lost," said a gentleman, "not fewer than six emlnent barristers in as many months.' The dean, who was quite deaf, rose as his friend finished his remarks and gave the company grace. "For this and every other mercy make us truly three years old. thankful.'

A Living Emetic.

A servant who did not find her way very promptly to the kitchen one morning was visited by her mistress, who found her in bed suffering from pain furrow. her mistress. "Well, mum, I went by the directions on the bottle. They said, 'Ten drops for an infant, thirty drops for an adult and a tablespoonful for an emetic.' I knew I wasn't an infant or adult, so I thought I must be an emetic, and the pesky stuff has pretty nigh

"The deacon frowned at the fist and jerked the plate back from it. 'Give it to me, Mr. Keene,' he whispered audibly. 'One has just come off my vest."

Who They Were.

One of the women teachers went to the principal of a school in New York the other day. "Mr. Mark," she said "I think you had better go upstairs A substitute teacher is on duty ur there, and I am afraid she is baving r terrible time. The noise is so terrific the children down here scarcely car study."

ASPARAGUS CULTIVATION.

How to Make a Bed of the Edible Young Shoots.

Asparagus is a perennial herb cultivated for its edible young shoots. It is a rugged plant and will thrive under adverse conditions, but to obtain the succulent stalks needed for culinary purposes well drained, rich soil is absolutely necessary. The soil should be well mixed with rotted manures containing much nitrogen and potash.

Prepare the bed by ploying or spading deeply, beginning the work early and looking after the drainage problem carefully. Plants at least one year old should be obtained for this bed. They can be raised from seed, which is sown outdoors in April in drills one foot apart, the seed being covered about one-half inch. Plants suitable for transplanting the following spring may be easily grown this way, or roots may be obtained from one to Set the plants in the permanent bed in furrows eighteen inches apart, the plants being the same distance apart in each furrow. Be careful to spread the roots out naturally and set each plant on a little mound of earth in the all the stocks to a level with the ground for the winter.

In the second year loosen the soil by shallow spading. When the first shoots appear the rows may be hilled up somewhat. Cut sparingly until the third year, as the plants will be more productive afterward.

The women are always pleasant and always ready to answer questions, and there never has been any occasion to apply to their bondsmen to make up shortages. They have become experts in the identification of signatures, and no discrepancy ever escapes them."

Mr. Windmiller doesn't believe in votes for women, but says he believes in giving credif where it is due.
