M. W. Adams lost a valuable horse two weeks ago. The animal became paralyzed, but was insured in the Farmers and Breeders Stock Insurance Company of Williamsport, Pa. The company ordered their agent, T. N. Stover, to kill the horse, which he did last Saturday. Mr. Stover handed Mr. Adams the company's check in full for the horse.

Pennsylvania Butter Day.

The Dairy Husbandry department of Pennsylvania State College will conduct this year's contest of a slightly different plan. Many creameries are closed part of the year and many dairymen are unable to spare even the five pounds during the winter months, and for this reason only four samples will be required.

The purpose of the contest is entirely educational. By a thorough study of methods and friendly rivalry, the interest in better butter is stimulated.

The plan of the contest is for the college to furnish the five pound tub and pay express charges both ways. The butter will be scored according to market requirements by an expert judge. A personal letter will be sent to each contestant, giving the score, moisture content and criticisms from the judge and suggestions from this department. There will be four contests for the year on the fifteenth of April, June, August and October. The butter becomes the property of the college to partly defray the expense of the contest.

At the end of the year a diploma will be presented to all who have taken part in each contest, and have no score less than ninety and an average of ninety-one, providing, also, that the entry blanks furnished are filled out as completely as possible by the contestant.

The butter should be sent by express, charges collect, in time to reach State College not later than the fourteenth of April, June, August and October.

Those who wish to enter the contest should write to Dairy Husbandry Department of the Pennsylvania State College at once for tub and entry blank.

A Better Place.

There was pie for dessert, and the small son of the hostess, taking advantage of the presence of company, pleaded for a second helping and got it. After he had eaten it all he showed signs of distress and was soon howling lustily and doubled up with pain.

A rather prim lady who was present said to the boy's mother: "He's got no business to yell like that. If he were my child he'd get a good sound spanking."

"He deserves it," the mother admitted. "I don't believe, though, in spanking him on a full stomach."

"Neither do I," said the visitor, "but you can turn him over."

Dollar-a-Day Pension.

One dollar a day for all old soldiers incapacitated in the service, is provided in a bill reported favorably in the House Committee on Military Affairs recently by Representative Sherwood (Democrat) of Ohio. The bill has been before the committee for years.

Representative Sherwood, himself a veteran of the civil war, retiring as a Brigadier-General, was jubilant over the successful reporting of his bill.

"I have been trying to get this bill before the House for five years," said Gen. Sherwood. "Last year, I got it out by a majority, but Speaker Cannon refused to recognize me to bring it up for consideration. This year I am going to bring it up, or there will be hell to pay."

March Oats.

Ammon Gramley, on the farm of the American Lime & Stone Co., near Coleville, is possibly the earliest oater in this neck of the woods. On Monday and Tuesday morning he sowed fifteen acres of oats. His father-in-law, Jacob Deltz, told him that years ago he planted oats in March and raised fifty-six bushels to the acre. Mr. Gramley does not expect to raise that much, but he says he is going to trust to Providence for a good proportion of that fifty-six bushels. If it comes his way Ammon says he will set up the cigars or ice cream. This field of oats will be watched with considerable interest.

House Burned at Monument.

A fire burned at Monument, Pa. on Friday noon the small dwelling occupied by Samuel Herr and his brother and young sister. The fire is believed to have originated from a defective fuse and so rapidly did the flames spread that nearly everything in the way of furniture and clothing belonging to the occupants was consumed.

FACT, FUN AND FANCY.

Bright, Sparkling Paragraphs—Selected and Original.

If the day looks kinder gloomy, An' yer chances kinder slim; If the situation 's puzzlin', An' the prospects awful grim; An' perplexities keep pressin' 'Til all hope is nearly gone— Just bristle up an' grit your teeth, An' keep on keepin' on.

Good Explanation. Two little children, being awakened one morning, and being told that they had a new little brother, were keen, as children are, to know whence and how he had come.

"It must have been the milkman," said the little girl.

"Why the milkman?" asked her little brother.

"Because it says on his cart, 'Families supplied,'" replied his sister.

Of All Denominations. A farmer called at the treasury office in Washington some time ago, and said he wanted to invest some money in Government bonds. On being told how much the farmer had, the clerk asked him what denomination he wanted. "Well," said he, after thinking a moment, "I am a Presbyterian, and will take a few of that sort. But, to please the old woman you may give me a right smart lot of the Hardshell Baptist kind. They'll suit her best."

Pot and Kettle. One day a learned professor was accosted by a very dirty little boot-black with "Shine your shoes, sir!"

The professor was impressed by the filthiness of the boy's face.

"I don't want a shine, my lad," said he, "but if you'll go and wash your face I'll give you a dime."

"An' what air 's'?" was the lad's reply as he went over to the neighboring fountain and made his ablutions. Returning he held out his hand for the money.

"Well, my lad," said the professor, "you have earned your dime. Here is it."

"I don't want it, old top," returned the boy with a lordly air. "You keep it and get your hair cut."

Took Away His Appetite. The dapper little traveling man went into a certain hotel for his dinner. He sat down, glanced at the menu and then looked up at the pretty waitress. "Nice day, little one," he began. "Yes, it is," she answered, "and so was yesterday, and my name is Edie and I know I'm a little peach, and have pretty blue eyes, and I've been here quite awhile and I like the place, and I don't think I'm too nice a girl to be working in a hotel; if I did I'd quit my job. And I don't know if there is a show or dance in town tonight, and if there is I shall not go with you, and I'm from the country, and I'm a respectable girl, and my brother is cook in this hotel, and he weighs 200 pounds, and last week he wiped up the dining-room floor with a fresh $50-a-month traveling man who tried to make a date with me. Now what'll you have?"

The dapper little traveling man said he was a hungry, and a cup of coffee and some hot cakes would do.

THE ROCKIES.

From the Bald Eagle Valley, on the banks of a stream.

With bluffs all surrounding—(now this is no dream)

Lived in a land of worth ('tis no matter who)

For after you meet her you'll say "How do you do?"

She is sprightly and witty, and not very tall,

But comes like the sunshine, to brighten us all.

She likes to embroider and do fancy work,

But unpleasant duties she never will shirk;

She is quite an observer, as you will find out.

And knows what she's doing, I haven't a doubt.

She left her dear home in a civilized clime,

And has gone West to dwell with cactus and pine.

The Easterners constantly stand in great fear

Of Indians and cowboys coming too near.

They're afraid of coyotes and buffaloes too,

And think we are living within a big zoo.

But this kind lady, I'll venture to say,

Will charm the wild beasts (they'll all run away)

She tarried in Kansas a few days on her way,

But the attraction's at "Needles,"

She must shorten her stay.

Like birds of the Spring, she must hie o'er the plain,

And climb the Great Rockies, in sunshine or rain.

To see her big boy, who is rising to fame,

For energy and industry make a good name.

$15,000 Damages.

The civil case of Arlo Pardee estate against the White Deer Mountain Water Company for $200,000 damages, which has been on trial in court for two weeks at Lewisburg, was concluded late Saturday night when the jury awarded a verdict of $15,000. A sensation was caused in court on Friday afternoon when Judge McClure made legal inquiry in the report that two members of the jury had been improperly approached. A motion for a new trial will be argued. The water company furnishes the supply for the towns of Milton, Lewisburg and Watstown.

Throat Coughs

Ask your doctor about these throat coughs. He will tell you how deceptive they are. A tickling in the throat often means serious trouble ahead. Better explain your case carefully to your doctor, and ask him about your taking Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

Who makes the best liver pills? The J. C. Ayer Company, of Lowell, Mass. They have been making Ayer's Pills for over sixty years. If you have the slightest doubt about using these pills, ask your doctor. Do as he says, always.

The Scrap Book

Five to the Good.

"When Mr. Frith," a millionaire art collector said, "sold me my picture of a child feeding white rabbits he told me an amusing story connected therewith."

"He purchased for models, he said, a dozen white rabbits from a dealer and ordered them sent home. The man who brought them to him foolishly left them in the garden—Mr. Frith lived in the country at the time—and naturally the little animals all got away through the fence. Well, when Mr. Frith returned and found his rabbits gone he searched the neighborhood for them manfully. He got most of them back, but not all. And, meeting the dealer next day, he said angrily:

"What did you mean by leaving the rabbits loose on my lawn, as you did? I had a frightful task to capture them, and as it was I got only eleven."

"The dealer scratched his ear.

"But eleven was pretty good, governor," he said. "I'd left only six, ye know. The rest was comin' on tomorrow."

Living.

A wearied pilgrim, I have wandered here Twice five-and-twenty, bated me but one year.

Long have I lasted in this world, 'tis true, But yet those years that I have lived are few.

Who by his gray hairs doth his lusters tell Lives not those years but he that lives them well.

One man has reached his sixty years, but he Of all those threescore has not lived half three.

He lives who lives to virtue. Men who cast Their ends for pleasure do not live, but last.

—Herrick

The Missing Ones.

This is one of the old stories told by Henry Clews of Travers, the New York stammering wit. Mr. Clews always insists that the average Wall street broker is the most honest of men.

"Travers," said Mr. Clews, "was once invited to be a guest at a yacht regatta. The waters of Newport harbor were covered with a beautiful squadron. Mr. Travers found that each yacht belonged to a banker or broker. He gazed blankly into the distance for a time and then inquired softly, 'W-w-where are the c-c-customer-vachts?'"

How to Make Soup Stock.

Save water from vegetables and some of the vegetables themselves for soup. Gravies added to these will make enough soup for four people, which may be strengthened by an egg.
