

FRANCIS SPEER'S

Breezy "That" Column

That the flirt and the fool throw kisses but the wily guy always delivers them in person.

That the efforts of some people in Bellefonte trying to make both ends meet, resembles a dog chasing his tail.

That George Kniesly, of Bellefonte, says that the only way to tell a good cigar from a bad one is to buy your own.

That sometimes the text, "The Lord Will Provide," is very comforting for those who are too lazy to get out and hustle.

That the cheapest looking thing at the bargain counter in Claster's store, Bellefonte, is always a man waiting for his wife.

That it is very wrong to pour secrets into the ears of some women in Bellefonte unless you have perfect control of their tongues.

That it is said a gentleman asked Alfred Thompson, the Bellefonte liveryman, what he did when his horse balks? "I sell him," replied the young horseman.

That the fellow in Bellefonte who steals a fan has the advantage over the fellow who steals a fur cap. As when he dies he can take it with him, as it may be a useful article.

That in a Bellefonte home there is a Morris chair, but instead of the husband getting out of it, it is the wife's pet dog has the preference. "Doesn't that scald you?"

That some Bellefonte people who persist in being late every Sunday at the church services will wake up on the Resurrection Day and find themselves late for Heaven.

That one of the ministers in Bellefonte advised his congregation not to make a vulgar display of wealth. In other words, the chin should be wiped off after eating soft boiled eggs.

That if Eva Crissman, of Bellefonte, wanted an attractive name for her dancing class, she would suggest that she call it "Niagara," because everybody would want to go to see the falls.

That if everybody in Bellefonte had sense enough to go in when it rains the merchants of the town would be stocked with a big lot of umbrellas on hand. It's a good thing we are not all wise.

That many a fellow in Bellefonte has discovered that marriage surely stops a man from spending all the money he makes. The job is transferred to his wife. She can make his pocket-book look as though an elephant had stepped on it.

That over in Clearfield county a farmer was nearly kicked to death by a mule that he had rescued from a burning building. A mule may be as ungrateful as some thoughtless people in Bellefonte. They have been known to curse the hand that cared for them through life.

That the other day someone asked "Billy" Garman what made him think they had theatres in Pharon's time? In reply he said: "Didn't Joseph's brethren remove him from the family circle and put him in the pit? Now Billy's friends are wondering when he became so familiar with the Bible.

That on Tuesday morning a lady on Linn street, Bellefonte, told her husband that during the night she dreamed a dream that he had bought her a new hat for a present. The husband replied that it was the first dream of a hat that didn't cost him money.

That there is a woman in Bellefonte who is a strong advocate of woman's rights. She thinks some day we'll have a woman in the Presidential chair. No, that will never happen. The constitution of the United States says the president must be over 45 years of age, and women don't get that old.

That the other day a number of Bellefonte school children took a little jaunt into the country and stopped at a farm house. After giving the youngsters some milk to drink, the farmer asked them how they liked it. "Gee, it's fine," said one of the little fellows who added after a pause, "I wish our milkman had a cow."

That the other day a good lady in Bellefonte was trying to convince a young man that he ought to forsake single blessedness and get married. One of her strongest arguments was that a woman makes a great many changes in a man's life. That may be very true, but on the other hand she takes a great deal of "change" out of it.

That Bellefonte has in it a young man whose conduct in a certain house is as tough and as villainous as could be found in any bowery joint in Philadelphia or New York City. If this fellow's secret career was generally known he couldn't stay in the town twenty-four hours. There are cleaner men serving sentence in the penitentiary.

That if you have money you can go into Bellefonte society and be a big bull in the pen, no matter what your life and character has been. Money goes ahead of a good life. If you doubt this statement, just sit down and without prejudice, size up some of the people who figure in the society class. If they hadn't a fat purse they wouldn't be noticed.

That certain persons in Bellefonte who think themselves too good to look at what they call common people, had better trace their origin back and probably they would discover a state of affairs that they wouldn't desire to have made known. The past is often a terrible thing to rake up. It may be all right for some people in Bellefonte to put on a little style, but there are others whose family record won't stand the test.

That there is a bright young lady in Bellefonte who has two good admirers, and the joke is, they often call on the fair dame on the same evening and then a sitting contest takes place as to who has the best "sitter." Who will succeed in landing the feminine prize is a little difficult to surmise just at this time as both admirers have sent a cupid dart into the heart of the fair maiden, and it is not an easy thing for her to make a choice.

That there has been a good deal of kicking by the patrons of the two telephone companies in Bellefonte that parties on the same line listen to their conversations. It is just as impolite to listen to a private conversation over the telephone as to apply an ear to the keyhole, only there is not as much danger of being caught. Those who make this a habit are far from being ladies or gentlemen, and deserve to be punished by having the phone taken out of their homes.

OVER THE COUNTY.

Dr. John Robinson has purchased the skating rink at State College. He will raze the building and use the lumber in the construction of a dwelling.

Forester McNeal for a short time will again have charge of the Nittany Mountain State lands. He does not expect to remain throughout the whole season.

Mrs. William Felding, of Brooklyn, N. Y., who prior to her marriage was Miss Sadie Kelchline, of Ferguson township, underwent an operation for appendicitis, in St. Vincent hospital, New York.

Prof. J. Calvin Bright, who was so successful as principal of the Walker township high school, at Hubbersburg, has accepted the position of professor of mathematics and science in the high school at Manassas, N. J.

Elmer C. Rossman, who just set up housekeeping and began farming this spring on the farm of his father, Josiah C. Rossman, near Penn Cave, lost two valuable horses, the combined value of which were $456. That is where the profits in farming go.

The members of the Presbyterian church of Boalsburg the other day presented their pastor, Rev. W. K. Harnish, with a purse of $25 with the direction that the money be used to help pay for a good driving horse. It came unsolicited to Rev. Harnish and it was an agreeable surprise.

Bruce S. Gramley, of Spring Mills, a graduate of Pennsylvania State College, class of 1908, and who for a year was with the General Electric company, at Schenectady, N. Y., is now located at Waukegan, Ill., forty miles north of Chicago, where he is an inspector with the North Shore Electric company.

Phillipsburg, a town of snap and enterprise, and wholesaled winks, held an enthusiastic meeting in behalf of "a greater Phillipsburg." To encourage enterprises was the theme, and the right spirit was in the movement for the good of our sister town. Its people ever were actuated by a genuine public spirit, and it had its good effects.

Mrs. Eunice Campbell, who spent the past six months in Philadelphia, is visiting her mother, at Boalsburg, near Colver, are both in delicate health. They are quite aged people. Mrs. Confer being some ninety years old. He is afflicted with cancer, and suffers considerably, and Mrs. Confer was stricken with paralysis some time ago.

One of the oldest buildings in Millheim is being razed to make room for a new modern department store. This is the Jacob Eisenhuth residence on Main street, lately bought by A. Kesselr. The building was erected by Thomas Weaver more than one hundred years ago. The main part was built of logs but in later years a frame addition was built to it. Most of the lumber is well preserved and as good as it was when the house was built.

On Saturday G. W. Straw, of Jollan, was in Bellefonte and before leaving enrolled his name on the list of the Centre Democrat. He and George Fleck, of that place, have leased several hundred acres of land in the vicinity of Beaver Mills, which will be used for herding cattle during the summer months. Both these gentlemen are thoroughly acquainted with the land out there and, as they will be on the job themselves, the cattle entrusted to their care will receive the best of attention. The ranch will be opened on May 10th, and a charge of $1.75 a head will be made.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Boal have returned to their home near Boalsburg after an absence of about a year and a half spent in France, Spain, and other European countries. Madamoiselle Cecile De La Garde, sister of Madam Boal, a nurse and several servants, came with them from France and expect to spend the summer at Bellefonte.

Mrs. George Boal came from Washington, D. C., with the party and remained a few days; she will return later on and spend the summer at her home near Boalsburg.

UTTERLY ABSURD.

The Very Idea Made 'The Unprotected Woman Indignant.

The male passenger dropped a dime in the fare box by mistake. As usual the conductor explained that there was no redress, that the extra nickel had been swallowed up as completely as if it had been dropped into a well. The passenger suggested that the conductor hold out the fare of the next person to get on and give it to him, thus evening things up. The conductor said he would arrange it if possible.

A woman of suffragette makeup got on and started to drop her nickel in the box.

"Just hand it to this man here," said the accommodating conductor. "You see, he?"

"What's that?" interrupted the woman sternly.

"I say," repeated the conductor, "this man has already paid two fares. You just hand your nickel to him. Then that will make everything square."

"Give the nickel to him! Pay his fare! Well, I guess not. The idea of a man expecting me to pay his fare! Why?"

"Oh, no; you don't understand. You see, it's like this—"

"It doesn't make any difference what the reasons are. I shall not pay any man's car fare, particularly a total stranger. I never heard of anything so utterly absurd."

By that time everybody on the platform was looking at the man and wondering what kind of a game he had been trying to work on a poor, unprotected woman. He gave the conductor a desperate look that meant he was to carry the explanation no further.

The woman dropped her nickel in the box with a vicious frown, and at the next corner the man got off to await for the car behind.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Not a Tumor.

"Two private soldiers," said an army official in an after dinner talk, "decided to celebrate pay day with a little beer."

"There being no canteen, one soldier got leave, went out and bought a pair of foaming lager."

"As he was returning to the barracks with the pail under his coat his company officer stopped him, saying: 'What have you got there, my man?—a tumor?'"

"No; a can, sir," was the reply."

Judge Davis' Wit.

The late Noah Davis, justice of the supreme court of New York, was very witty.

Once a lawyer objected to a witness, but Judge Davis refused to sustain him. The lawyer cried, "But, your honor, I submit!" And here he broke off.

"That's right," said the judge quickly; "always submit. Crier, adjourn court."

In one case over which he presided there were fifty-five distinct offenses and four counts on each offense, 220 in all.

"Well," said Judge Davis, "there are more counts than in a German principality."

Patience.

Patience may be termed the ballast of our existence. Without it any passing storm will set the ship tossing and straining. With it the vessel can keep steady and go forward or, at the worst, lie safely in the biggest tempest that can blow over the seas of life.

A Literal Answer.

A stolid German who was coming over to America had the misfortune to fall overboard, but the alarm was given instantly, and after a very exciting experience he was rescued.

That evening he appeared on deck, not much the worse for his mishap, and was surrounded by a number of passengers, who evinced a great interest in him.

"Oh, tell me," gushed a wide eyed young woman, "how did you feel when you had fallen and the ship had gone on and you were left alone in the ocean?"

"The German looked at her calmly. "Well," he answered.

Redirected.

The struggling author boldly entered the editorial sanctum.

"I have come with my latest story," he announced.

"Well," ejaculated the busy editor in a resigned voice, "let us hear how it runs."

"Well, this is from the first chapter: 'Casper had been standing as motionless as a block of granite. Suddenly he dropped on his knees before the beautiful girl with the alabaster brow and boldly proposed. It was then that she answered with a stony stare and told him that to him her heart was marble. Then—'"

But the busy editor interrupted him. "Young man," he remonstrated, "you have made a mistake. Take that story down to the nearest stone yard. This is an editorial office."

Why Salves Fail to Cure Eczema.

Scientists are now agreed that the eczema germs are lodged not in the outer skin or epidermis, but in the other skin. Hence a penetrating liquid is required, not an outward salve that clogs the pores.

We recommend to all eczema patients the standard prescription Oil of Wintergreen as compounded in liquid form known as D. D. Prescription. A trial bottle of this D. D. Prescription at only 25 cents will instantly relieve the itch. We have sold and recommended this remedy for years, and know of wonderful cures from its use. We recommend it to our patrons. WOUNDED DEER CASE.

Sometime ago Bruce Kurtz, proprietor of the hotel at Hyner, was arrested at the instance of the state game commission for having a deer in his possession, which is contrary to law, and was given a trial before Alderman John P. Anthony, in Lock Haven. After hearing the testimony the latter gentleman reserved decision for several weeks and on Saturday discharged Mr. Kurtz, placing the costs on the county. However, when Mr. Anthony informed Charles Bartels, of Williamsport, attorney for the department, of his action that gentleman stated that they would appeal, hence a settlement has not yet been effected.

Before discharging Mr. Kurtz the alderman looked up authority on the subject and gave the case careful study then acted accordingly. Further legal proceedings will be watched with interest by the public generally, especially hunters.

A DOZEN FAMILIES CURED OF ITCH BY CUTICURA

Showed No Marks but Whole Body Itched Like a Million Mosquito-Bites—Sleep Out of the Question and Life Became an Inferno.

DOCTORS AND DRUGGIST TREATED THEM IN VAIN

"The Cuticura Remedies are the best in the world, as I know from experience. In Downias, South Wales, about fifteen years ago, families were stricken wholesale by a disease known as the itch. Believe me, it is the most terrible disease of its kind that I know of, as it itches all through your body and makes your life an inferno. Sleep is out of the question and you feel as if a million mosquitoes were attacking you at the same time. Yet you could see nothing on the skin. But the itch was there all right and I sincerely trust that I shall never get it. I know a dozen families that were so affected. The male members and myself belonged to the same society and, as steward, it was my duty to visit the sick members once a week for sick benefit until they were declared off. That is how I became so familiar with the itch.

"The doctors did of no avail whatever. Then the families tried a druggist who was noted far and wide for his remarkable cures. People came to him from all parts of the country for treatment but his medicine made matters still worse, as a last resort they were advised by a friend to use the Cuticura Remedies. I am glad to tell you that after a few days' treatment with Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Resolvent, the effect was wonderful and the result was a perfect cure in all cases.

"I may add that my three brothers, three sisters, myself and all our families have been users of the Cuticura Remedies for fifteen or twenty years. Thomas Hugh, 1950 West Huron St., Chicago, Ill., June 25, 1909."

HALLEY'S COMET VISIBLE.

Halley's comet, after many years, has finally traveled near enough to the earth so it can be seen after months of expectancy. According to Professor John N. Stockwell, a well-known American astronomer, the comet can be seen in the eastern sky just before sunrise. After May 15 it will be visible in the western sky after sunset.

For the next week, at least, the comet will only be visible to the naked eye when the sky is absolutely clear; but after the middle of next month the comet will blaze in the night sky far into the summer. It will gradually grow smaller and dimmer as it shoots away from the sun on the side of the solar system opposite us. At its largest the comet will appear as large as the sun.

Compare the combined purchasing power of three thousand merchants with that of a single merchant. This illustrates the advantage enjoyed by a druggist operating a National Cigar Stand over the ordinary method of buying and selling cigars. Three thousand of the biggest druggists in the United States have banded together in an aggressive cigar campaign. The organization is represented in Bellefonte by Green's Pharmacy Co. Con-

A Storekeeper Says:

"A lady came into my store lately and said: 'I have been using a New Perfection Oil Cook-Stove all winter in my apartment. I want one now for my summer home. I think these oil stoves are wonderful. If only women knew what a comfort they are, they would all have one. I spoke about my stove to a lot of my friends, and they were astonished. They thought that there was small and smoke from an oil stove, and that it heated a room just like any other stove. I told them of my experience, and one after another they got one, and now, not one of them would give hers up for five times its cost.'"

The lady who said this had thought an oil stove was all right for quickly heating milk for a baby, or boiling a kettle of water, or to make coffee quickly in the morning, but she never dreamed of using it for difficult or heavy cooking. Now—she knows.

Do you really appreciate what a New Perfection Oil Cook-Stove means to you? No more coal to carry, no more coming to the dinner table so tired out that you can't eat. Just light a Perfection Stove and immediately the heat from its intense blue flame shoots up to the bottom of pot, kettle or oven. But the room isn't heated. There is no smoke, no smell, no outside heat, no drudgery in the kitchen where one of these stoves is used.

Cautionary Note: Be sure you get this stove—see that the name-plate reads 'New Perfection.'

New Perfection WICK BLUE FLAME Oil Cook-stove

It has a Cabinet Top with a shelf for keeping plates and food hot. The nickel finish, with the bright blue of the chimneys, makes the stove ornamental and attractive. Made with 1, 2 and 3 burners; the 2 and 3-burner stoves can be had with or without Cabinet.
