A genial Chicago drummer on a visit to Louisville ran into a Louisville Times man. The usually cheerful countenance of the drummer was so overcast as to prompt inquiry as to the cause of his melancholy. "Just heard of the death of Joe Hinkle," was the lugubrious reply. "'Friend of yours maybe.'" "Nope; just a lineman in Chicago." "Owe you anything?" "Nope." "Well, then, what are you so cut up about?" "Oh, he died such a horrible death. It was simply awful. I never heard of anything like it." "How was that?" "Well, he was at work on the roof of the Masonic temple, and—he got too close to the edge and slipped off!" Thinking of that sheer drop of twenty-one stories, the man around town repressed a violent shudder with both hands. "Oh, but that had to shoot him, wasn't it the worst of it," the drummer continued, his sympathetic face working overtime, while great tears stood in his eyes. "The poor du-du-du-dood had on his rub-ub-ber boo-boots!" "Yes," sympathetically. "And he bu-bu-bounced up and du-du-down for three du-du-days and nights, and they had to shoot him to keep him from starving to death!"

A FEARLESS JUDGE. It is true we need hotels; to get along without them would be impossible, but they are not needed on every corner of the streets. This is the conclusion Judge Baldrige, of Blair county, has come to and without fear of favor, he refused the liquor license of seventeen hotels in Altoona and nine others in different parts of Blair county. In Altoona the sale of liquor has caused an endless amount of trouble and poverty, and Judge Baldrige has decided to try and reduce it if possible, by taking some of the temptations away from the men. There are men in Altoona who receive large salaries, yet their families are neglected, and often in want, because a big portion of the money earned goes over the bar instead of helping to make home happy and attractive. Judge Baldrige has with him the best people of that county, and he has the consciousness of knowing that he is doing right, no matter what the opposition may say. The Phillipsburg & Susquehanna Valley Railroad Company has started grading on the new one-mile branch on Beaver Run, leading from the Decatur Coal Co.'s siding to the Haney Coal Co.'s new operations. It will require probably six weeks to complete the branch, at which time the latter company expects to be in readiness to ship coal, the tippie having already been constructed. Deafness Cannot Be Cured by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; this case out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surface. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars. F. J. CLENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists. INBUILT. That is one secret of the success of this Typewriter. Necessary devices which, with other typewriters are attached (at an extra price) or else built as parts of "special" machines with only one use (at a more exorbitant price), are inbuilt in every NEW MODEL. Some Inbuilt Features: Card Writing, Decimal Tabulating, Condensed Billing, Color Work and Stenciling. L. C. SMITH & BROS. TYPEWRITER. All these kinds of work—and others—done by one simple typewriter, our regular correspondent machine, without any extra cost in attachments. BALL BEARINGS—throughout—typebar, carriage, segment—all important frictional points made anti-frictional. The inbuilt devices save you the price of attachments (costly things, these attachments); the ball bearings save work and wear. And this complete machine costs no more than others which must have expensive attachments to make them complete. To buy a typewriter without investigating the L. C. SMITH & BROS. would be like buying silver without looking for the "Sterling" mark. Send for the Free Illustrated Book. L. C. SMITH & BROS. TYPEWRITER COMPANY 1333 Walnut Street, Philadelphia, Penna.
