April, with its plentiful showers, is past, and all vegetation is rejoicing ter living at Galeton, Potter county, in bright, beautiful May.

I have never beheld a better stand f clover than we have this year and under favorable conditions there will be a big hay crop. Wheat has been badly winter killed, but what remains looks very good and give a fair harvest. Oats are about all sowed, and are coming up very nicely. If the weather conditions are favorable the plant-ing of corn and potatoes will occupy the farmers' time for the forepart of this month, as quite a few expect to plant corn this week.

We see in the Unionville items that Domino thinks of getting his flying machine out of cold storage; well, if he does, we kindly invite him down our way. The scenery is grand and our valley is beautiful; and if his muscles get the better of him, as they did on his former trips, he can just stop off at our little town and brush up against some of the old boys. I'm no prophet, but if he has any friends down the valley, he'd better stop off coming up, that's all.

Talk about people being close; well, we have them, too. When they have no other employment they shoot their neighbors' chickens and get them excited so that they forget to lay. That makes eggs scarce and up goes the price. Let that go for what its worth He keeps an eye on the village chick, and shoots from morn till night, but never pretends to see his chickens when they are in his neghbor's fields.

Our supervisors have cleaned the loose stone off the road; it was time and money well spent; they made a good job of it, and expect to keep them cleaned up in the future.
