Reformed-Because of the meeting the West Susquehanna Classis at Middleburg there will be no preaching in this charge. United Evangelical—Pastor W. W. Rhoades will preach at Howard at 10:30 A. M., and Jacksonville at 7:30 M. On the same day at 2 o'clock the afternoon, State Secretary of the C. E. association A. J. Shartle, of Philadelphia, will address a meeting in the same church, to which everybody is earnestly invited. Christian Chapel—Pastor W. H. Pat-terson will preach at 7:30 P. M.

Met in special session Tuesday evening to consider the building of a new bridge across Lick Run, near the flouring mill of W. H. Long, and some action to protect the lanes and private grounds of the community from damage by live stock. The former subject had been before councils for some time, and the street committee had been instructed to confer with the commissioners regarding it. Mr. Schenck, of that committee, reported that he had seen the commissioners and that, as objections had been filed against the commissioners joining the borough in building the bridge it would be necessary to take the matter before the court again. After consultation it was decided that an attorney should now be employed by the council, and this matter placed in his hands. Mr. McDowell was appointed by the president to employ an attorney. It was voted by five to one that "council will build the abutments for a bridge provided the com missioners will build the bridge. mit all sorts of stockxzfifffxwfifffzfiff The secretary had found a bill to prevent all sorts of stock from running at which had been carefully pared in 1904, but which had failed to become an ordinance. After some discussion it seemed to be the prevailing opinion that this was not adapted to the present conditions, and the subject was postponed for the

It is a great pleasure to be able to note improvement in the condition of some of our friends who have been for some time in the invalid corps: Capt. Bennison is gaining strength; W. R. Garder, though still very weak, has turned toward recovery; Miss Wistar is able to appear on the streets for short walks on bright days, and her cheerful smile delights her friends. the prettiest wire fence I ever saw, On Saturday next, if she continues to gain strength, she will start for Chiwhere she wil make an indefinite visit with her sister, and perhaps consult some specialist; Miss Nellie Hopkins suffered from an exaggerated attack of neuralgia for several days of last week, but is relieved and hopes to be about again soon; Miss Johnson grows stronger slowly, but is unable but she had taken the precaution to as yet to sit up; Mrs. George Long secure the services of constable Herb is now able to spend an hour or two in a big rocker each day; Miss Rhoads the would-be abductors of the delicis entertaining, much to her discom fort, a severe case of facial neuralgia; Mrs. Carpenter Miller is failing in strength so rapidly as to give her friends grave concern

The formal installation of Rev. E. Faust, the new pastor of the Nittany valley charge, last Thursday eyening, was a very interesting and becomingly dignified occasion. Dr. Ambrose Schmidt, of Bellefonte, preached the installation sermon, and it was an exceptionally appropriate discourse. It was logical, terse, to the point and well delivered. In the twenty-seven minutes occupied by Dr. Schmidt, he gave both paster and people what was probably the most complete and clean-cut expositions of their duties toward great cause in which they are enlisted and toward each other, that either ever heard. It is a pleasure to listen to such well-wrought sermons.

Following a long time custom in their family, Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Yearick gave an Ascension dinner on Thursday last, the guests being Mrs. Earl Yearick, Miss Kathryn Kling, Mrs. Annie Ertley, Miss Eulodia Ertley, and Mrs. R. H. Bennison and daughter, of Nittany valley; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Yearick and son, of Altoona; Miss Viola Lauffer, of Scotia; Mrs. Laura Martin, State College; Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Cook, Mr. and Mrs. Marius Miner, and Miss Josephine Henderson, of Howard.

On Tuesday of last week, Sherman this place Cotner and Miss Susan Faust, of Watsontown, came to the Reformed church parsonage and were married by pastor E. F. Faust, who is an uncle of the bride. The correspondent had the pleasure of congratulating the pleasing young couple and speeding them on their way home.

liamsport. Mr. and Mrs. Lester Bowes visited relatives in State College on Sunday. Willard McDowell left for Philadelphia on Wednesday's No. 52.

UNIONVILLE.

Mrs. A. F. Hazel wishes the public to know that she will be prepared to furnish ice cream, not only every Saturday night, but every day in the week, and will furnish ice cream to families in quantities on short notice. His Honor, A. H. Hoover, of Fill-more, was seen cavorting through the streets of our town the other day. Alex has had a serious tussle with the rheumatism during the past winter, and his left limb (I mean leg) is yet as large as a good-sized lamp post; but he says he has "got it down."

Mrs. Sara Emerick entertained a arge number of Sunday school people one evening last week, and while joy was unconfined in the house, a lot of our "good" boys made an attempt to steal the ice cream she had prepared, secure the services of constable Herb ious palate tickler; but it seems the boys got "onto the job," and by some hook or crook managed to douse a the constable, and then minus the coveted ice cream. You bad boys! Come to think of it, we were

Miss Mary R. Griest gave a nice "lay-out" one evening last week in honor of Mrs. Alice Bosworth, of Buf-falo, in which a number of invited guests participated; to say they had a good time is putting it very mild. It couldn't be otherwise with the pretty, vivacious Mary R. as hostess.

I am sorry to note that our good friend, Robert E. Cambridge, is quite ill, and has been for several months with stomach and bowel trouble. TO CORRESPONDENTS.

The Centre Democrat is exceedingly anxious to receive the news each week from correspondents, and will gladly publish same if sent to this office in reasonable time, not later than Monevening or Tuesday morning.

Many correspondents fail to comprehend what is "news," will fill up pages with "staff" giving only the list of people in the immediate or nearby community viciting each other. THAT IS NOT NEWS, and is of no value, a very common event, and nobody gains any information by reading its common event. any information by reading it—is sim ply a waste of time to the writer, the publisher and an imposition on the subscriber who buys a paper for news. It is nothing new for one person to visit another in the same or even from a nearby community, or adjoining village. Unless the visitor is from some distance, or there is SOMETHING UNUSUAL about the event, kindly omit it. It is remarkable how many interesting events are omitted by some correspondents, such as sales of real estate, business changes, new industries, started, marriages, births, accidents, fires, serious illness, crop reports, se-cret societies events, public gather-ings, and such like that are most important news items, while the trivial ed in tiresome detail.

We do not wish to criticize a single correspondent who has volunteered to furnish news for this paper; instead we would thank one and all for their effort in the past. The above suggestions are given in the hope of aiding correspondents to avoid becoming monotonous, and to make the Centre Democrat newsier, better and more popular than ever.

We want a correspondent from every town and village, every week. your community is not represented kindly induce some one to send us the news. We will gladly publish Guarding President Costly.

"The President of the United States has traveled so much that our expenses for six months are almost equal to the expenses for the full preced-ing year," testified Chief Wilkie, of the Secret Service, discussing before the house committee on appropriations the estimates for the protection of the President. Such protection, he esti-mated, would cost at least $10,000 in excess of last year's appropriation.
