Rejected, He Kills Himself.

His love spurned by Miss Rebecca Evans, a highly respected Bloomsburg girl, John Lambertson, 19 years old, of Danville, shot himself through the right temple with a revolver, killing himself instantly in sight of the girl.

The pair met July Fourth, and have since corresponded, his suit being rejected by the girl in a letter last week. He went to Bloomsburg, Friday, and on Saturday noon; when she refused to marry him, pulled a revolver from his pocket and declared, "If you don't marry me I'll shoot myself!"

After a hard battle she wrested the weapon from him and secreted it. He followed her all evening and today, and this afternoon took a position in front of her home and fired.

Woman's World

One Career to a Family, Says Katharine Kaelred.

MISS KATHARINE KÆLRED.

Miss Katharine Kaelred, the clever English actress who made such a hit as the vampire woman in a "Pool There Was" and has been playing leading parts in successful productions all over the country, is a woman of wonderful charm.

Miss Kaelred is a philosopher as well as a delightful actress. In a recent interview, the talk having drifted into the subject of careers for women, she said: "Yes, I do advise stage careers for women—that is, for a woman who feels that she has a message to give to her audience, one whose art is more to her than the sippers given after the play by stage door Johnnies. A stage career, to put it on a commercial basis, too, pays more than most vocations open to women."

But she advises the woman with a career not to "marry a man with one, for the marriage inevitably will be a failure unless one or the other gives up ambition and is content to play second fiddle before the world.

"If a woman," continued Miss Kaelred, "does not love a man well enough to be willing to make a success of being married to him before anything else, then she has no business in getting married at all."

Then she went on, smiling at the brand new idea that she was going to declare, which gave the somewhat ancient sentiments an entirely new meaning:

"But please don't think that I mean that every woman should give up her career to be married. I simply mean this: Suppose Miss Brown, a successful actress or artist or politician or whatever she may be, marries Mr. White, a man whose career is attracting attention. I believe they ought to talk the matter over very carefully and reach a decision as to which is the more valuable to the world, and the defeated candidate should gracefully retire. In other words, I think either Miss Brown should become Mrs. White or Mr. White should become Mr. Brown. Do you understand me?"

Interesting Prizes.

A popular prize is the breakfast cap that is new and fashionable.

These are very expensive when bought, but a deft hostess can fashion her own from bits of swiss and lace or entirely of lace.

The breakfast cap is a development of the nightcap which has been worn for several seasons, but is more elaborate.

A lovely one of fine cream all over val lace has a mob crown of the all over design with frill and lapels of lace edging to match. Across the front is a loose twist of pink or blue chiffon, while tiny pink rosebuds and ends of ribbon dangle over lapels of lace at either side of this band and fall on the face.

Other prizes can be oblong bags of satin, ten inches wide by fourteen long, in delicate tones of pink or blue. There is no frill, the bag closing with casing at top, through which is run a narrow silk cord or ribbon.

Veiling the satin on both sides is a band of heavy gold passementerie in open design three inches wide and above it gold net dotted with pink of blue. Pink and silver, blue and gold, violet and the greenish gold and yellow with bronze are good combinations.

These bags are simple to make, as they are sewed in straight seams on sides and bottom.

To Keep Beds Sweet.

All beds should be stripped before breakfast and placed where they can get plenty of air and, if possible, a little sun too.

Mattresses should be half turned and allowed to stand in a draft so that the air will play all round them.

Pillows, too, should be treated in the same way if you want to keep them from getting musty.

Mattresses should be cleaned and remade every three years if you want them to keep their springiness. It is worth while to buy good mattresses in the first place if you can possibly afford it, as these clean again and again and come up as good as new. Cheap mattresses are not worth remaking and almost invariably get lumpy after a year or two's wear.

PROPOSE TO CROSS THE OCEAN.

Melvin Vaniman, aviator and mechanical engineer, returned to this country on Saturday by the French liner La Touraine, full of confidence in the flight across the Atlantic which he proposes to undertake with Walter Wellman in their dirigible airship America. Mr. Wellman met him at the pier and both left immediately for Atlantic City to make ready for housing the America which is to arrive in New York on Wednesday.

"The America will carry an unsinkable lifeboat on her voyage," said Mr. Vaniman. "This life boat will be twenty-five feet long, six feet in beam and will be stocked with provisions sufficient to last the crew for thirty days."

Besides Mr. Wellman and myself we shall carry two mechanics, whom I have brought over with me from France, a wireless operator and one other man not yet chosen."

The wireless operator will supply news of the voyage to the New York Times, the Chicago Record-Herald and the London Daily Telegraph none of which, however, stand back of the enterprise otherwise than as customers for whatever of interest it may have to tell.

"Flying above the ocean," continued Mr. Vaniman, "will be play compared to some of the flights we made in the Arctic. Crossing the Atlantic we shall try to keep at a level of about 300 feet above the water. In case of any accident short of a disaster, we ought to have no trouble equipped as we shall be with wireless, in getting into touch with one of the many trans-Atlantic liners. For fuel we shall carry four tons of gasoline."

"Our objective point will be London but any place in England will look good enough to land on."

If every man has his price, lot of them are marked down below cost.

'Twas Circus Day. Frank Robbins' circus visited Olean yesterday, and gave clean, attractive and entertaining performances afternoon and evening. The Robbins' show is one of the good old kind, where you can see all that is "doing," and while there are not one hundred and one "turns" as in the big three-ring circuses, what there is is good. The tents were well filled, both in the afternoon and evening, and those present seemed satisfied that they had received their money's worth. The show people claim no following of "sharks" and gamblers, and no complaints along that line were made during their visit in Olean. The Robbins shows can be credited with fulfilling all that they promise.—Olean Times. Robbins' shows will exhibit in Bellefonte, Thursday, August 11th.

YEAGERS' OXFORDS and Low Shoes Reduced Everything; all kinds, all styles and all sizes, at a Big Reduction. YEAGER'S SHOE STORE, Bellefonte, Pa.

Ready Money Jay Gould, the noted financier, once said, "One hundred dollars in the right place at the right time will earn as much as one man steadily employed." This is a great truth in financial matters that must sink deeply in your conscience. But the question is: "How shall I acquire the first one hundred dollars so as to invest it?" And the answer is: "By depositing part of your earnings profitably." For most any wage earner by industry, thrift and economy, can accumulate one or two hundred dollars, and no better place to do this can be found than in an interest account at this bank. Your money is always ready for you when you want it, and earns three per cent, interest while deposited. BELLEFONTE TRUST CO. "THE BANK THAT DOES THINGS FOR YOU."

INBUILT That is one secret of the success of this Typewriter. Necessary devices which, with other typewriters are attached (at an extra price) or else built as parts of "special" machines with only one use (at a more exorbitant price), are inbuilt in every NEW MODEL. All these kinds of work—and others—done by one simple typewriter, our regular correspondence machine, without any extra cost in attachments. BALL BEARINGS—throughout—typebar, carriage, segment—all important frictional points made anti-frictional. The inbuilt devices save you the price of attachments (costly things, these attachments); the ball bearings save work and wear. And this complete machine costs no more than others which must have expensive attachments to make them complete. To buy a typewriter without investigating the L. C.
