REBERSBURG.

Elmer Miller, who is working at Renovo, is spending a short time with his family at this place. Mr. Bryan, who is soliciting for the Centre Democrat, was seen in town making pleasant calls to everybody. A. D. Auman and son Clarence made a flying trip through Hubersburg, Howard, and stopped a short time with his daughter, Mrs. Allen Winklebech of this vicinity. Anyone desiring ice cream, sodas, Sundaes, bananas, candies, soft drinks etc., is cordially invited to call at Bierly Brothers' parlor in West Rebersburg. Rev. Solly and family, also Samuel Frank and family, who have spent some time with their parents at this place, have again returned to their homes. Communion services will be held in the Lutheran church on Sunday morning, Sept. 11, administered by Rev. N. A. Whitman, who has recently moved to this town. A trial sermon will be preached in the Reformed church on Sunday Sept. 13, by Rev. Showers. Rebersburg is noted for its school teachers. Among those who left on Monday morning for different parts of the state are as follows: Windom and Bruce Morris, J. A. Weizel, J. N. Moyer, M. C. Haines, H. G. Hubler, H. K. Brumgard, Bessie Mallory, Celina Brumgard, Mary Meyer and Alpha Smull. We have, nevertheless, kept enough to supply our own schools, namely, T. A. Auman, Primary; Charles Smull, Intermediate; S. A. Bierly, Grammar; C. L. Gramly, High School. A. J. Hazel, our reliable merchant, with his two daughters spent the past week in Atlantic City. Mrs. E. M. Brumgard, who has been visiting at this place, left for the Williamsport hospital. Her many friends wish her speedy recovery. By all appearances, the wedding bells will ring in West Rebersburg in the near future. "Von de oida mul awfonga, no mochts." Samuel Shaffer has recently bought the home of Mrs. W. J. Weber.

PORT MATILDA.

The members of Black Oak U. B. church will hold a social at the home of John Kelley's, at Flat Rock on Saturday evening, on September 10th. Ice cream and cake will be served. Everybody is most cordially invited to attend. W. T. Patton has given his house a coat of white paint with green trimmings. He did the painting himself, and we must congratulate him on his good job. It is just as good as if he had paid a large sum to some painter and then we know it is done the way he wants it. Our schools began on Monday with ninety pupils. A pretty good record for the first day. Those who did not begin the first day are usually slow in beginning their school work. How much better it would be if every pupil would begin their studies the first day, and give regular attendance during the entire term. Bennett and Son are ready to make your cider for you now, on Tuesday and Thursday. They have made several loads already. We have a merry-go-round in our town now. This will gather up all the nickles in our community that are loose, and I fear a good many which ought to be used to buy food and clothing. We are sorry to state that our barber, P. H. Young, is still sick. He is some better but is far from being well. We hope he may soon be found at his place of business again.

STATE COLLEGE.

Paul Heverly returned home on Monday evening from Howard, where he was visiting friends and relatives. The sale of William Creamer on Saturday was well attended and unusually fair prices prevailed. Monday was an ideal day for the I. O. O. F. picnic. The town turned out in general. A large number of prizes were given for different contests and this place got its usual share. Davey Slagle has moved into his new house and the one he vacated will be occupied by John Ishler, of Bellefonte. Mrs. Maggie Gast moved into her own home and the Erb home will be occupied by Mrs. E. C. Deltz, who moved on Tuesday. Mrs. Hoy moved into 139 south Atherton street, vacated by Mrs. Garlis; Mrs. Garlis is now in her own fraternity house on Allen street. Prof. Malrea has occupied his new house on the highlands of Leathers Bros' plot. The Orwig new houses are undergoing a job of papering and will be ready for occupancy by the time school opens.

HUBLERSBURG.

Our schools in Walker township will open on Monday, Sept. 12th. Miss Rocky, of this place, is entertaining Mrs. Satterfield, of Bellefonte, and Mrs. Moore, of Philadelphia. Mr. and Mrs. Morris Boyer, of Williamsport, are visiting with Mrs. Emma Decker, Sr. We are glad to mention that Miss Blanche Hoy, who has been seriously ill for some time, is recovering. We hope for her rapid recovery. Her school is being taught by Miss Nelle Rumberger until Miss Blanche is fully ready. Miss Lavina Sharpe, of Lock Haven, visited with her mother last week. Mrs. William Markle and Miss Spayd made a business trip to Williamsport one day last week. Mrs. McCormick and daughter are visiting with the former's mother at Pine Grove. Ward Markle and Benjamin Swartz leave this week for State College.

PATTON TWP.

Farmers are waiting until the ground dries off, instead of waiting until it gets wet, to do their seeding. David McCorney, wife and little daughter, Hazel, of Altoona, visited at the home of James Huey's over Saturday and Sunday. Edward Taylor has started his wagon and butcher shop; Joseph Trester has the job. Eddie says that you cannot do business unless you have the tool. Mrs. H. C. Norris and daughter, Mabel, were to State College on Sunday to see Mrs. Joseph Mingle, who is very ill; her ailment is not known at this writing.

JACKSONVILLE.

The schools of this place opened on Monday, Sept. 5; primary—Miss Blanche Hoy, of Hubersburg; grammar—Miss Annie Rockey, of Zion. J. N. Kling and wife returned home to Scottsdale, after visiting their parents and other relatives in this section. J. S. Condo's are entertaining Mrs. Tulton, of Philadelphia, also Mrs. Condo's mother, Mrs. Stover, of Centre county. Mrs. Oscar Kling and two daughters, Geraldine and Lillian, of Altoona, paid a short visit to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Vonada. Mr. and Mrs. George Tate, of Yeagertown, visited her mother, Mrs. Sarah Hoy. Mrs. John Smith, of Belleville, visited at the home of her brother, J. S. Condo's. Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Robb, of Howard, also Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Heltman, of Mackeyville, were Sunday visitors at Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Vonada's. Boyd Noll and family recently moved from Jacksonville to Mt. Union. Deck Dolan and wife moved on Monday from Jacksonville to Harry Harter's lumber job, near Beech Creek. William Vonada, who has charge of the Bald Eagle mill, accompanied by his friend, Miss Decker, recently visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Vonada. Harry Yearick and wife returned to their home at Niagara after an extended visit with parents and other relatives. Miss Hope Strunk has returned home from Mackeyville. John Yearick and two sons, Homer and Doyle, former residents of this section, but now of Greenburg, visited relatives here. The foundation is being laid for N. H. Yearick's new store room on the lot occupied by his son, Chas. and family. Mrs. David Long, accompanied by Hongan Long, departed on Saturday for Hayes Run, from where she will go with her son, George and family, to Watkin's Glen, N. Y. Miss Lizzie Deitz has returned from Curtin.

WEST BRUSHVALLEY.

Rev. J. B. McLaughlin preached an able sermon in the St. Paul U. B. church on Saturday evening. John Mesmer, who had his leg broken while pulling stumps, is slowly improving. Mrs. H. M. Wert, who was visiting her son, Reuben, in Illinois, has returned home. J. W. Beck lost a fine colt last week. The farmers who have raised their potatoes report having a fine crop. J. Lee Vonada spent a week at the orphans' home at Womeldorf, Pa. The members of Bethesda church are remodeling the church. The peach crop around this vicinity promises to be a fine one. A certain young gentleman of this place says he would have to chop out going with the girls. He says if he goes on a bicycle they hide it for him, and he goes with the horse; they steal his whip and hide the cushions, and sometimes can not even find the bugle. John says he would not need a shovel, as a spade (Spayd) was good enough for him. Our schools opened on Monday, with a small attendance. Many people wonder who the scribe is. I will describe him to you in case you should meet him you would know him. He is a short, chunky fellow with a hump-back, long hair, wears a wide-brimmed hat, a stiff hat and leather boots, and is very seldom seen among people.

SKUNK HOLLOW—Penn Twp.

The festival at Paradise was well attended on Saturday evening. Mrs. John Confer and daughter, Della, left on Thursday for a couple weeks' visit with the former's sons, William and George, of Indiana. Miss Sadie Vonada entertained her friend, Ella Auman, on Sunday. Daniel Geary, who is on the sick list, is not improving much. William Vonada, wife and daughter, Grace, spent Sunday at the home of O. A. Jamison's. Wonder what the attraction is at Olin's? Just ask Clyde, he can tell. Blanche Wolfe and sister, Lettie, spent Thursday with their uncle, John Confer.

LIVONIA.

Mrs. Garfield Adams and two interesting children, are spending a week with relatives here. Our school opened on Monday with Miss Jennie Adams as teacher; this being her third term as teacher here, is sufficient proof of her efficiency. M. W. Adams and family and T. N. Stover and family, spent a few days in Lock Haven. Mr. Milton Shontz, of Millburg, visited his sister, Mrs. Wirth.

Building an Airship.

Lock Haven may witness an aeroplane flight the latter part of this month, if the plans of Warren Bauman, of that city, do not miscarry. Warren is the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Bauman of that city, and all his life has displayed an aptitude for mechanical inventions. Last winter he spent several months at Carnegie Technical Institute in Pittsburgh, and displayed a model of aeroplane at a recent exhibit. Some weeks ago he went to Hammondsport, N. Y., where he visited the Glen Curtiss factory, and was shown all over the plant by Mr. Curtiss and an assistant, who thoroughly explained the intricacies of aeroplane building. Upon his return home, he rented the second floor of the W. A. Reed carriage shop on Vesper street, and here he has been working for some time assembling the various parts of the machine, with which he hopes to circle the hills and dales of Clinton county in the very near future. He is being assisted by Charles Good, son of Dr. C. R. Good, another enthusiastic inventor of that city, and the two are working hard to bring about the realization of their dreams. Mr. Bauman has taken to the biplane form of machine and is highly optimistic about his success.

Three Coons With One Shot.

Clarence McCool, of Donaton, near Huntingdon, was aroused about 5 a. m. by the continuous barking of a dog. He arose and taking his gun, followed up the mound to the tree where the dog stationed himself at the foot. Looking up, he saw five coons on the one limb, and taking aim, dropped three of them with one shot. Two other shots quickly brought down the balance of the five.

COULDN'T HOLD THE FORT.

George R. Meek, of Bellefonte, for several years has been managing the estate of the late T. B. Reynolds, which owns the business block facing partly on Allegheny and Bishop streets. On the rear of the Ammerman property, on Bishop street, is located a large warehouse which is leased by W. H. Miller, the tinner, for storing charcoal and other articles. The line between the Ammerman and Reynolds property at this point has been in dispute for some time, the Misses Ammerman claiming that the storage building is over on their property, but a short distance. It is said Mr. Meek has several times offered to try and settle the controversy by each party employing a competent civil engineer who would both run the line and make a report, he, Mr. Meek, to abide by the decision. Although it is claimed that if the building is over on the Ammerman ground a couple of "inches" the Reynolds estate could claim it under the law of inheritance, as the building has been there over twenty-five years. However this may be, the Misses Ammerman have refused to make an amicable settlement as suggested by Mr. Meek, preferring to fight it out along the lines they have adopted by putting the hose on everyone who goes there to make repairs. Mr. Meek himself at one time fought like a tiger to hold the fortifications, but had to reluctantly escape under fire. Then came "Jip" Shorter, with muscles like steel and a bravery that could affront the wild beasts of the forests or carry them in his victory among the clouds, but he was compelled to flee for refuge and never had the courage to return. As stated Mr. Miller keeps charcoal in the building in question, and if it gets wet it is rendered useless. The roof of this building being bad Mr. Miller on Friday afternoon sent Lloyd Hull, one of his employes, to fix the roof, when Miss Ammerman appeared on the scene with the hose and bombarded him with water until he was forced off the roof. Policeman Dukeman was there also, but he informed the heroine that if she put any water on him what would be the consequence. It is said that some day there will be a battle royal with the hose around there, as the boys may attach the fire hose to a fire plug and they will see who can stand the test in such a contest. The Misses Ammerman, of course, think they are right and take this method of fighting it, but if they have the law on their side they should gain possession through the legal methods, because their present methods of trying to soak everybody who goes there to make repairs may cost them some money one of these days.

DEFENDS SALOON.

A defense of the saloon by Melvin E. Trotter, a famous rescue mission worker, who is a second Billy Sunday, has caused a stir among the delegates to the Montrose Bible conference, in summer session. Mr. Trotter's address was the most enlivening feature of the week and it was delivered with vigor that might have carried conviction in different surroundings. In connection with the "defense," the rescue worker delivered sharp thrusts at the heads of American families who allow drinking and card playing in their homes. They are the agents, he declared, of the saloons and gambling rooms. "The saloon is a much-abused institution," said Mr. Trotter in his address. "My experience has taught me that the majority of our drunkards. A man doesn't go to the saloon until after he has learned to drink. What does he learn? Where does he get his first drink? "In the majority of cases in those homes that keep booze in the ice box. "I maintain that if the rich man can get champagne in his cellar the poor man has just as much right to get his beer in a saloon. Do you know that the parlors of our so called respectable homes support our gambling joints? No gambler ever went to a professional joint until he knew how to play cards. Where did he learn? He learned at home. His appetite was whetted in his father's parlor. "It takes a lot more courage," stated Mr. Trotter, in conclusion, "for a young fellow to refuse a drink from a pretty girl than it does from a white-aproned bartender."

Bravery of An Engineer.

In a desperate attempt to hold up the Colorado Midland passenger train near Colorado Springs, Col., on Friday morning, Engineer Stewart defeated an unknown bandit, after being shot in the leg. Two suspects have been arrested and a posse is scouring the mountains for the balance of the robbers, three in all it is believed. The train was flagged at a lonely spot and one bandit climbed into the cab and ordered the engineer and fireman to throw up their hands. Instead of obeying Stewart opened fire on the robber and the latter replied with a volley of shots, one of which struck Engineer Stewart in the leg. As he fell he continued firing, killing the unknown robber. The other robbers fled when they found that the courage of the engineer had defeated their scheme. The passengers on the train were aroused by the shots and rushed out of the cars panic stricken, but were quieted by the trainmen. Engineer Stewart, despite his wound, took the train to Colorado Springs. This train usually carries large sums of money and the knowledge of this fact is believed to have been the object of the hold-up.

Throwing His Fortune Away.

Throwing away what one had is not always the only way to lose a fortune. Being unable to see an opportunity, or to grasp it when seeing it, is more often the cause of losing out in this world. Discreet.

"May I—may I kiss you, dear?" said he. "First I want one thing made clear," said she. "Have you ever kissed maid before, or tried?" "No," he answered—she was sure he lied. Then, with willing lips, she whispered, "Well, Yes, you may, since you don't kiss and tell."

FOR BED BUGS.

To an inquirer who writes the Department of Health asking how to rid his house of bed bugs Prof. Surface, Economic Zoologist, to whom this letter was referred, outlined the following procedure in his reply: "I received your letter addressed to the State Health Department and forwarded to me for reply. I beg to say that the various means of getting rid of bed bugs which you have tried, are among those considered least efficient by those who have had real practical experience. These means are all right for destroying germs, but when it comes to crawling bugs they are not so satisfactory. There are two methods of destroying bed bugs. One is to apply thoroughly alcoholic solution of bichloride of mercury or, in other words, corrosive sublimate. This is not only extremely poisonous but fatal to pests. It kills them whenever it touches them. It can be put into an oil can and injected into the cracks and crevices. Do not keep it in the can as it will corrode the metal. You need not be afraid to use this freely, even if it is rank poison, taken internally. The other means, which is certain to get rid of the bugs is to fumigate thoroughly with hydrocyanic acid gas. This deadly gas is made by dropping potassium cyanide or so called prussic acid into sulphuric acid, and water in a tightly closed room, and leaving it instantly so that the operator will not breathe it. It does not injure any fabric, metal, food or other material, although it will kill living plants, animals and insects of all kinds when used with the proper strength. While it is safe to use, it must be used with considerable care. This is the most absolutely certain method of getting rid of bed bugs and other household pests. It is rather expensive but it cleanses the house completely. I have fumigated several houses, mills, etc., in our experimental work and know whereof I am speaking that it is effective."

The Strength of Presbyterianism.

The annual report of the Presbyterian church of the United States is out, with statistics as follows: Synods, 37; Presbyteries, 293; churches, 10,011; ministers, 9,072; members, 1,229,000; Sabbath school members, 1,211,527. There was a small gain in the year. The largest gain was in the money given for the churches' work. The total was $22,958,968. Of this about $5,000,000 was for the missionary agencies of the church and altogether more than six millions were given for uses outside the congregation.

A Bank Account

We do not advise any one to be a miser, for every man owes himself the necessary comforts of life: neither do we advise you to be known as a "spender" by your associates. It may sound flattering but the man who has a bank account and saves at least a small part of his wages stands head and shoulders above the spendthrift in any community.

The First National Bank,

SAVING MONEY

If more people knew how the first two or three entries in a Savings Bank Book help and stimulate the owner to make additions thereto, less people would be caught out in the "wet" when the proverbial "Rainy Day" comes. Have you a saving account? Why not start one with us! A few dollars—then add to it—and watch it grow. We pay 3 per cent on Savings, with very liberal rules for withdrawals.
