

FRANCIS SPEER'S

Breezy "That" Column

That in Bellefonte the cloak of charity has a great many misfits.

That all Hon. John Noll, of Bellefonte, needs to do is to keep his eye on the indicator.

That there are certain business men in Bellefonte who keep the conscience in cold storage.

That the reason fellows in Bellefonte never tell the truth is because nobody would believe them if they did.

That when the apron of a girl comes loose it is a sure sign that a young man is talking good about her.

That it should be remembered that the man in Bellefonte who has money to burn can't take it with him when he dies.

That Milan Walker is thinking of moving the Bell telephone office up on Howard street. It will be more convenient.

That either Harry Rhule or Frank Sassaman, the Bellefonte barbers, are always anxious and willing to take something off for cash.

That the Sunday evening poker players of Bellefonte may not be bashful among their relatives, but they are often shy with their "antet."

That a Bellefonte man gave his wife a light answer the other night. She asked him where he had been all evening when he threw a lamp at her.

That there are lots of people in society in Bellefonte who, if they had their just dues, would be in jail. No, we are not talking through our hat.

That it is probable that the new street railway between State College and Bellefonte will be built, like the old woman who keeps tavern out west.

That those wine cellars in Bellefonte are what oftentimes put good workmen on the bum, and give them a brown taste in the mouth the next day.

That the young ladies in any of the print shops in Bellefonte will tell you that every young man in the town who has a girl is naturally a press agent.

That it is said that it is unlucky to send milk away without putting some water in it. The local milk men have gotten on to that without us telling them.

That a young lady who just came to town has already two lovers for her hand and heart who are willing to die for her if necessary. One is from Boalsburg and the other is a Zionist.

That when Senator Heinle, of Bellefonte, becomes member of Congress he should vote to have spring chickens registered. The people of this vicinity are tired of trying to bite into 1906 models.

That Horton Ray, the genial proprietor of the Brockerhoff House, tells his boarders that if they have the nightmare he will find no objections if they tie it to the bed post until morning.

That a good many girls in Bellefonte carry music rolls through the street only as a bluff to make the people think they are somebody. A majority of them can play about as much as they can fly.

That two young men in Bellefonte came out of a certain house late at night that for the last month has been looked upon with a grain of suspicion. It is said they have been playing the game, all right.

That the teacher the other day asked John Woods, of Bellefonte, what a swimming hole was. His answer was "a body of water surrounded by Ferguson Parker, John Harper, Linn McGinley, Jr., and other boys."

That there was a little umbrella fight in Bellefonte the other evening. Didn't you hear about it? It was as good as Wesley Spangler's slight-of-hand performance. It stopped just before the hair-pulling commenced.

That it is said that a customer ran into Green's Pharmacy the other day and asked Harry Green whether he had the time. The reply was "No, madam, the clock has just stopped; but we have something just as good."

That some fellows in Bellefonte would like to make it appear that they are so modest that they would blush at the naked truth. If you could run onto some of them between 10 and 1 o'clock at night it would put a different aspect on things.

That if some of the stunts of unpropriety practiced by certain Bellefonte girls when they get with State College students were known, it would make their parents blush with shame. It is simply awful and what makes it more ridiculous is that it is by girls who want to be known as a little bit more than the common run of people.

That the other day a pretty young lady left Bellefonte for Philadelphia and she seemed much elated over the fact that she was going to be squeezed by a handsome young man at the other end of the line. She wanted to get there as fast as possible, so she took the flyer. Its funny she couldn't be squeezed in Bellefonte.

That Bellefonte has in it a gang of young critics who get it into their craniums that they are smart enough to sit in judgment upon the actions of others. These smarties will have all they handle if they get a broom and keep the dirt away from their own door. To hear them talk you would wonder what school they graduated from.

That the most stuck-up class of girls in Bellefonte are those who have married a little above their station in life. Poor girls, who now live a little better than they ever lived in their lives. These are the girls who make everybody tired watching them trying to put on a lot of unnatural airs. Most of them have not enough education and sense to speak or read correctly.

That people in Bellefonte are getting pretty nifty when they will sit out on their front porches and play cards. What's the use in our Sunday school teachers pointing out the ill effects of card playing when the children pass the homes where the glare of the cards are seen on our front porches? What do these people care for the example they set, as long as they can gratify their desires?

That instead of the mothers of Bellefonte leaving their daughters run the tarrets every night until 9 and 10 o'clock, they should have them in the home teaching them something useful in life. We have too many mothers in Bellefonte who think that society demands that they be gadding the streets at an hour when good people are at home. The mother who will risk the honor of her daughter for society's sake needs a guardian to be appointed over her.

OVER THE COUNTY.

Prof. F. L. Jattee and family have returned to State College after a year's absence in Europe.

J. E. Gettig, of Braddock, brother of attorney S. D. Gettig is visiting friends in Harris township, his former home, in the hope of recuperating his health.

The venerable Emanuel Roan, who lives near Pine Hall, has been lying critically ill, suffering from a stroke of paralysis. His condition has somewhat improved since he was stricken.

Charles Bilger, of Pleasant Gap, is operating a saw mill several miles east of Bellefonte on a timber tract owned by the McNeill-Huyett Lumber Company. There are fifteen or more men on the job.

Charley Colyer, who is employed by Newton Yarnel, near Linden Hall, sold his cow to Lawrence Runkle, of Spring Mills, and the night before he was to deliver her, the animal broke her leg and had to be killed.

Mr. and Mrs. Timothy Musser, of Osceola, Ohio, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Henry Frederick and other relatives in Boalsburg. Mr. Musser is in poor health and thought a visit with his friends in the east might be beneficial to him.

Miss Elizabeth Boozer, of Centre Hall, went to Barnesboro where she was elected to teach one of the public schools. She is a graduate of the Central State Normal School, and last year taught very successfully a primary school at Aaronsburg.

J. W. Mowery is raising some fine fruit on his farm west of Centre Hall, and proves the statement made by every one acquainted with fruit growing who has visited this section, that Penns Valley soils are especially adapted to the growing of fruit.

Ira Gramley, of Aaronsburg, made a mistake with a knife while skinning a beef, and cut a deep gash into his knee. He is an employee of P. P. Letzler & Sons, butchers in Millheim, and the injury was of such a character that he was disabled for a while.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Keller, of Illinois, are visiting relatives in the vicinity of Boalsburg and State College. Mr. Keller, who is past 85, is hale and hearty and is a native of Boalsburg.

This is Mrs. Keller's first visit to the beautiful hills of Pennsylvania.

The people of Boalsburg have been supplied with fine peaches, pears and plums from orchards near the mountain. L. Mothersbaugh, Charles Segner and George Hosterman furnished the peaches, and William Markle and Walker Shutt the pears and plums.

Jacob Keller, of Rebersburg, is one of the not the champion potato growers of the county. He recently shipped a load of the tubers which were of unusual size, eight or nine filling a peck measure. Many of them weighed 28 ounces, the average being 19 ounces.

The cornerstone of St. Paul's Methodist church at State College will be laid with appropriate services on Sunday, September 18th. Every individual who on that day will contribute one dollar in cash toward the building fund will have his or her name placed in the stone.

The Belleville Times makes this mention of a slight accident that befell a former Centre Hall resident: While Andrew Crozier was at the station a few days ago, his horse became unmanageable and threw him to terra firma with the result of badly scarring him about the face. Luckily he was unhurt otherwise.

The Lohr family, children of Mr. and Mrs. William Lohr, both deceased, had a family reunion at the home of Mrs. Joseph Lutz, in Centre Hall, where is a daughter. The others in the family are Mrs. Mary Smith, of Bellefonte; Miss Annie Lohr, of Boalsburg; James H. Lohr, of Philadelphia; and Mrs. Ellen Pringle, of Farrisville.

Centre county is well represented at the Lock Haven Normal, there being about thirty students there from all parts of the county. Pennsylvania is represented by Misses Mary Homan and Margaret Musser, of State College, Viola Harter, Centre Hill, and Mabel Long, of Spring Mills. These young ladies are all seniors.

W. O. Gramley, the Spring Mills dairyman, is preparing to keep a dozen or more cows the coming winter. He is now cementing his stables so that the animals may be kept clean and comfortable as possible. Mr. Gramley is one of the rural route mail carriers from Spring Mills, but he finds much time aside from this work which can be put to profitable use.

The curfew law will be rigidly enforced at State College from this date and the college bell will ring at 8:45 o'clock each night until Oct. 1 when the hour changes to 7:45. All children under 16 years of age unless accompanied by parent or guardian, are prohibited from running the streets or loitering at street corners. Any violation of the law will be summarily dealt with.

Howard Lambert has been confined to his home at Centre Hall for several weeks past suffering from blood poisoning. Some time ago Mr. Lambert, who is a traveling man, was hurt in a street car wreck at Harrisburg, receiving several cuts on his arm, which developed into blood poisoning, compelling him to return to his home, where he has since been in a rather serious condition. Mr. Lambert at one time followed the barbering trade and a score of years ago worked in Nighbart's barber shop in Bellefonte.

Misses Edith and Blanche Budinger, two young ladies of Snow Shoe, on Wednesday evening of last week presented an entertainment in the park pavilion at that place for the benefit of the M. E. church of Snow Shoe. The affair was a splendid success both financially and otherwise, about 75 persons taking part. A May pole dance, drills and vaudeville features composed the program. Messrs. Max Hayes and Charles Strayer, of Lock Haven, the comedy acrobats, were among the star performers and they scored a hit with the large audience.

The number of family re-unions, fairs, affairs, re-unions and campings that have been on the carpet in this county this summer—and not all over yet—has afforded a variety of opportunities for pleasure seekers, and those having time to kill, to satisfy all tastes. Then as a change there were the trips to Atlantic City and other resorts to garnish the summer's program. Yes, the world does move, and as long as one can borrow money without letting it worry as to how it can be paid back, then let the wide world wag as it will, and I'll be gay and happy still.

The Centre County Fair comes the first week in October. Remember the date and arrange to be there.

Mrs. Warren A. Ketcham, of New York, is making an extended visit with her aunt, Mrs. Geary, wife of D. B. Geary, of Spring Mills, who has been in very poor health this summer.

At a recent meeting of the Millheim school board a committee was appointed to purchase fumigating lamps for the school building. It is the purpose of the board to fumigate the building at least twice a month.

There is promise of a large chestnut crop throughout the county. Other nuts will be in abundance which means that wild game in the woods will not migrate to other sections in search of food, as often is the case.

Father, mother, your son or daughter away at school or elsewhere, as in the case of many others, would greatly appreciate the regular visits of the Centre Democrat. It would be each week like letters from home. We make no extra charge for postage, and take a subscription for any length of time.

During the past year there has been a marked and commendable advance throughout our county in the direction of intelligent road building and maintenance. Gradually the infamous breakers are being cut out of the roads and side ditches for ample drainage are being adopted, which in the end will save money and insure better highways.

A. S. Black, who has been visiting his wife at the Everet homestead, at Coburn, left for his duties in Philadelphia this morning. He will take a trip to New York City, Boston, Fall River and to various parts of the Dominion of Canada, thence to his home in the Quaker City. Mrs. Black and little son will go to Philadelphia a few weeks later.

George Chapman and Mrs. Richard Snedden, his daughter, of Munson Station, are visiting with relatives and old friends in the vicinity of Bellefonte. They spent two days at H. Bradley's, in Valley View, last week.

Mr. Chapman came to Centre county about sixty years ago and has many friends in and around Bellefonte. In 1861 he lived in the tenant house on the Humes farm. Foster Tate was manager of the farm at that time.

When called Valentine's Forge, where the Xittary Furnace now stands, and worked for Mr. Valentine a number of years. He then moved to Clearfield county where he now resides. Although past 82 years of age he plowed several acres of land last spring, and is quite spry for a man of his age.

What Constitutes a Negro?

Just what constitutes a negro in the United States may be a question which the United States Supreme Court will be asked to settle in the near future. One-sixteenth negro blood in an individual classifies him as a negro in the District of Columbia, according to a decision by Justice Daniel T. Wright, of the District of Columbia Supreme Court, in the case of Isabel I. Wall, an 8-year-old child, was recently barred from a white public school because the principal had information that she was of negro parentage.

The father of the girl attempted to force the board of education to reinstate the child but failed. Justice Wright deciding she was a negro. The case appealed to the District Court of Appeals. If the appellate court affirms Justice Wright's decision, an effort will be made immediately to have the United States Supreme Court pass upon the question.

High-Clinging Rat.

When employees of the Pennsylvania Construction Company, of Chester, Pa., returned from their dinner at Lewis-town on Thursday they found a large Norwegian rat on their scaffold, more than 80 feet in the air. The workmen were engaged in building a steel stack, perfectly smooth on the inside and with nothing in the nature of a ladder or cleats on the outside on which the rat could obtain a hold, except a hoisting line attached to a drum which raised and lowered the material for construction. The line had been thrown loose at the noon hour and swung ten feet clear of the top of the stack. No one can explain how the rat succeeded in getting on the scaffold.

The rat was placed in a sack and carefully lowered to the ground, where it was decided the animal deserved a long and happy life. It was released.

DANGERS IN TOWNSHIP LOANS.

An Important Decision Made in Perry County.

In the cases of the International Harvester Co. of America for use of James G. Brandt vs. Tuscarora township, Perry county, the Superior court affirmed the decisions of Judge Shull.

Mr. Brandt had loaned about $800 to the supervisors of Tuscarora township, which was used by them to pay off two notes, given by the supervisors to the Harvester Co. for road machinery purchased. There was a division of opinion among taxpayers as to the propriety of purchasing the machinery and considerable feeling was engendered. Finally the contest reached the courts in proceedings to strike off judgments entered by Brandt against the township. The lower court held that although Brandt's money had been used, the supervisors had no authority in paying the township's debts, yet because law to borrow the money and bind the township to repay it, there was no liability resting upon the township, and accordingly the judgements entered by Brandt were stricken off. The Superior court holds that Judge Shull's action in so doing was right.

This case will serve as a warning to all persons lending money to township officers. Such loans, although common, will probably hereafter not be made, as the lender is likely to lose his money in case the township sees fit to repudiate the debt.

What Tonics Are.

When the papers are full of advertisements for this or that tonic, people are apt to be tempted to try them, but it does not take long to discover that after all there is nothing equal to Seline Pills for any form of nerve weakness in men and women.

We seldom find anybody who can say he or she was cured by this or that wine, extract or liquor, but almost any one can testify to the great nerve and body-building qualities of Seline Pills. Seline Pills are absolutely guaranteed. Each box has a cash coupon in it. They cost $1 a box, 6 boxes for $5. Four months' treatment for $5. Sold by C. M. Parrish, Bellefonte, Pa., where they sell all the principal remedies and do not substitute.

One Armed Baseball Player.

There was a great game of baseball down at Edgewood park, near Shamokin, the other afternoon, between the Kulpmont and Nelson teams, that was a good one, in that the teams battled for 13 innings with the score 0-0 when the game was called. But the interesting fact in connection with the game is that one of the players for the Kulpmont team, right fielder Shively, has but one arm, but he must be a marvel. In this game he had two hits, four stolen bases and two outs to his credit.

Many a fellow who goes around with a chip on his shoulder meets a fellow who is chipper.

CARLISLE DIED POOR.

John G. Carlisle, former Secretary of the United States Treasury, and in his prime one of the ablest men in the Democratic party, who died in New York recently, left an estate valued at only $40,000. To the extremely rich that will seem an insignificant amount, says an exchange, and in their foolish way of looking at things some may draw the inference that John G. Carlisle's life was a comparative failure because he did not pile up a few millions; but in this they are woefully mistaken. He did not care for great wealth, but preferred to store his mind with useful information and cultivate his brilliant intellect, rather than devote his energies in the pursuit of wealth in which he could find no real enjoyment and which would do him no particular good. He was great in genius, simple and honest in his living, and has left as an inheritance to others an unblemished and honorable name. Great men are seldom great money makers and few of them die leaving behind large fortunes. The money grabber can be nothing else. No American millionaire has ever attained to greatness in its real sense, but plenty of them have achieved abundant notoriety because of their wealth and money making methods. They are never missed.
