

FACT, FUN AND FANCY.

Bright, Sparkling Paragraphs—Selected and Original. The world would be a little better if every evil tongue was owned by a person who stutters.

The man who marries a woman for her money, and the woman who marries a man to reform him are just about paired.

Preparation. "Why does the bank have such big iron bars across the windows?" asked a little boy.

"Flush," replied his father, "that is so the cashier will get used to them."

A Remarkable Umpire. At a recent baseball game in Chicago the gatekeeper rushed up to Comiskey, leader of the White Sox and exclaimed:

"Umpire Hurst is here with two friends. Shall we pass 'em in?" "No," replied Comiskey, "I have friends," gasped Comiskey. "Sure!"

He Is Alive. Stewart's mother was making sandwiches of deviled ham. The little fellow came along and seeing the can with the picture of the Imp on it, regarded it earnestly awhile and then said: "Ma, what is that stuff?"

"This? Oh, this is deviled ham!" He looked seriously at the mixture and in an awed voice inquired: "Why, mother, have they killed him?"

Broke It Gently. This is how a man related the news to a woman that her husband had been killed: "Do you know," he said, calling at her house, "that with your light hair and pretty complexion you would break every heart in town if you dressed as a widow?"

"And you are one," he said. "Your husband was just blown to atoms down in the boiler works. But, then, black is so becoming to you."

A Familiar Face. Judge—Have you been arrested before? Prisoner—No, sir.

Judge—Have you been in this court before? Prisoner—No, sir.

Judge—Are you sure? Prisoner—I am, sir.

Judge—Your face looks decidedly familiar. Have I seen you before? Prisoner—I am the bartender in the saloon where you get your cocktails, sir.

It is to Weep. "There are now," says W. C. Palmer in the Jewell County Republican, "7,000,000 girls in their teens in the United States. If all these should suddenly be transported to some distant clime, the candy stores would shut up, the gum factories would shut down, millinery stores would go broke, boarding schools suspend, women would weep, men despair. Gone would be the voice of gladness, the voice of the bridegroom, the sound of singing, the joy of music, the light of beauty. The big round moon would flood empty hammocks and deserted front porches, song and laughter would flee away, the land would mourn, the stones cry out, the sky drip down tears and the whole world would agree that life isn't worth the living."

Why Wins Divorce. Because her husband would not let her put her cold feet in the middle of his back to enable her to get to sleep, the courts of Logansport, Ind., granted Mrs. Margaret Owens a divorce from Robert Owens.

Mrs. Owens said her husband had become so touchy he would almost crawl out of bed every time she touched him with her cold feet, and he had not kissed her in three years. Judge Lairy held that this was cruelty.

Owens put up the defense that three years ago, after a quarrel, his wife informed him that thereafter they "would live together only as hired girl and boarder." Being a married man, he said, he had had scruples about kissing the "hired girl."

The Facetious Traveler. "How did you like Pittsburg?" "It soots me."

"Do you think Boston is a great city?" "It has been."

"Did you find Philadelphia the place of sleep they say it is?" "Not for me; everybody snored so loud I couldn't."

"Is Washington a good place to live in?" "Capital."

"How did you find Chicago?" "Didn't have to; it was there when I arrived."

"How were the mountains back of Denver?" "Rocky."

"How did they treat you in New Orleans?" "All the time."

"Well, I'm glad to see you're back." "How does it look to you?" "My back; I've never seen it."

It was then that the assault took place, but the court, on hearing the evidence, decided that it was justifiable.

Plain Talk to Ministers. The third day's session of the United Brethren in Christ Conference opened Friday at Sunbury with renewed interest. Devotional services were conducted by Rev. John Binkley, of Johnstown. Bishop Weekly then delivered a stirring address on Little Foxes Among Ministerial Vines. He handled the subject without gloves and was very pointed in his remarks. The leading topics touched upon were personal attire, careless financial management, lack of social qualities, unguarded tongue, undue familiarity with women and hobby riding. The bishop said he deplored the existence of a minister who needed soap and clean linens.

Counterfeiting Plant Seized. A fully equipped counterfeiting plant was found on Friday on the North side, of Pittsburg, and two of the alleged counterfeiters are under arrest. The band was in league with a theatrical company, which passed out the bad money in change. It is alleged, Albert S. Miller and Thomas Horvath were the names given by the secret service officers. The federal authorities declare the counterfeiters circulated several thousand dollars worth of quarters and half dollars. Miller has confessed, but Horvath refuses to speak.

Five Hotels Are Sold. That a liquor license is necessary to keep a hotel, if not necessary for the traveling public is attested to by the fact that five, which previously enjoyed license, came under the sheriff's hammer recently, viz: The Allegheny, Sherman, Penn Traffic and Belmont hotels, in Altoona, and the Zellerman hotel, Gaysport.

LOOKING BACKWARD.

Tremendous Growth of the Pittsburg District in 30 Years. On November 1st of this year the Pittsburg Agency of the Equitable Life Assurance Society celebrates its 30th anniversary.

In the thirty years of the Agency's existence there have been many important changes and a tremendous industrial growth throughout the territory it covers. Thirty years ago when the agency was founded, it occupied one room, had two agents, and its territory covered but seven counties. To-day it occupies one entire floor of the Frick building, has an office force of 55 with 277 agents in the field and its territory covers 61 counties.

Thirty years ago the Equitable had but $297,500 insurance in force in the Pittsburg district. To-day through its Pittsburg agency it has $92,000,000 of insurance in force, protecting family and business interests. Thirty years ago the Equitable had a dollar invested in the Pittsburg district. To-day it has $16,500,000 invested in the territory covered by the Pittsburg Agency.

Of course there has been a reason for this tremendous growth of the Pittsburg Agency—a reason why its business far exceeds that of many entire companies. In its manager, Edward A. Woods, the Pittsburg Agency has had one of the most alert and progressive insurance captains in the world, and he has gathered around him the finest corps of energetic, capable and intelligent men and women who have ever entered the Life Insurance business. This, combined with the fact that the Equitable sells insurance that insures—protection that protects—that is known as the company that pays its death claims on the very day they are presented—is the open secret of the tremendous growth of the Pittsburg Agency of the Equitable Life Assurance Society.

J. S. McCargar is the representative of this Agency in this section of the state.

Portugal a Republic. Revolution has overthrown the monarchy of Portugal. A president sits in the place a king has occupied for nearly 900 years. The red and green flag of Republicanism flies over all public buildings and Manuel II is a refugee.

Another republic has taken its place among the nations of Europe, and Theophile Braga has been installed as its head.

This is the situation presented by dispatches from the revolted capital. What sacrifice of life has accompanied this washing out of the sins of Carlos, profligate father of the boy now deposed, is unknown to the outside world. Lisbon was under an all-night fire from the workshops of the rebels in the harbor and many buildings suffered by the bombardment. The few troops loyal to the king clashed with soldiers of the republic and several hundred are reported killed.

The port is closed to the outside world. Two of Great Britain's fleets are upon the scene.

"Young Man, Get Fat." "Be fat and you'll be happy," is the advice of W. D. Quimby, of Boston, Mass., the president of the Fat Men's Club of New England. And President Quimby is in a position to know whereof he speaks, because they don't make them much larger than he is.

"You never find a fat bad man, now do you?" he asks. "Did you ever hear of a fat man committing a crime?"

"Of course you didn't," he never do it. Crimes, as a rule are committed by men weighing between 118 and 148. Very few criminals weigh over 180, and crime by men weighing over 200 is practically unknown.

You never see a fat man drunk, either. I won't say they don't drink, but I do say they never get intoxicated. Then, too, you never see a fat man who is a dyspeptic. The fat man who digests 98 per cent of his food while the thin man has a hard time getting away with 30 per cent of it."

Blown From House. A gas explosion Friday in the home of Frank Rockwell, at Goungwood, near Greensburg, Pa., demolished the house and blew Mrs. A. E. Gordon, Miss Ida Gordon and Mrs. Rockwell and her five days-old baby from the house. Mrs. Gordon died at a local hospital at 11 o'clock. Mrs. Gordon, mother of Mrs. Rockwell, and Miss Gordon were attending Mrs. Rockwell. About 8 o'clock Mrs. Gordon went to the upper part of the house and struck a match. Gas, supposedly from a leaking pipe, filled the room, and a terrific explosion followed. Mrs. Gordon was blown through the roof and was found in a yard nearby, frightfully burned. The other women and the baby were only slightly burned, although they suffered severe bruises in being hurled from the house.

Making Flying Machines. At the Lewisburg fair last week one of the most interesting exhibits on the grounds was the aeroplane of the young Lewisburg inventor, John M. Cronley. The machine was one of several that John recently constructed, and at the close of the fair he dismantled it and prepared it for shipment to a New York man, for whom it was built. The New York man will equip the machine with motors and propeller, and it is likely that the young Lewisburg boy will be called to that city to superintend its construction and aid in the practice flights. He expects to complete another machine in a short time.

Automobile Accident. By their automobile accidentally going over a ten foot embankment and into a dam on the Kiscoquillas creek, near Lewistown on Sunday evening, Dr. H. W. Sweigart, a prominent physician, was perhaps fatally injured and Dr. William H. Hower, of Greensburg, and baby and Mrs. Hower, who were also in the car escaped with slight bruises.

If you drop into Green's Pharmacy Co., you will find a cigar store with a canopy top—a National Cigar Stand. This stand has a special significance for every smoker in Bellefonte. Three thousand progressive druggists in New York, Chicago and throughout the country have these National Cigar Stands in their drug stores and own them. But here is where the smoker comes in; these three thousand druggists buy their cigars together. They command better values than the ordinary cigar store can obtain because they have their brands produced in enormous factory quantities. Drop into the National Cigar Stand for a Black and White cigar—forget you only paid 5c for it—and you will recognize quality sold in many three for a quarter brands.

A PECULIAR ACCIDENT.

Robert F. Hunter, the insurance man, who has had considerable experience about automobiles, has had another "hard luck" experience. On Friday the Potter-Hoy car was not working properly and they invited "Bo" to take a spin for the purpose of diagnosing the ailment. It was soon found that one of the cylinders was not exploding regularly. The car was stopped near Frank Crawford's residence on Spring street, and Mr. Hunter endeavored to remove a valve-seat on the top of the rear cylinder, but had trouble in getting it off, as he was not sure how it was connected, and the light from the street lamp was not strong enough to see the parts. He had then cut the gas screw, then he cut the gas line and the electric spark from the engine as a special precaution while he had them turn the engine over by hand. In doing this an explosion followed and the heavy iron cap flew up and struck Mr. Hunter in the face, cutting his lip, breaking several teeth and badly tearing the gums on the inside of the mouth. For a while he hardly knew what had happened.

What possibly was the cause of the accident was peculiar and should be a precaution to all persons who work about gasoline engines. The engine was quite warm, at the time, from running. When the crank-shaft was turned, although the gasoline was cut off, there was enough vapor in the connections to be drawn into the cylinder where it was compressed. The explosion, although the electric current was cut off, came from another cause. Carbon or soot is deposited in the interior of the gasoline engine cylinders, and when in operation particles of soot become heated sufficiently to burn with a steady glow. When this cylinder drew in and compressed the gasoline vapor, the burning carbon ignited the vapor and the explosion followed, knocking off the loosened cap with violence enough to strike Mr. Hunter in the face.

Rules of the Road. When approaching other vehicles you must turn to the right. When the lights of a moving vehicle signals you from the rear that he intends to pass you, you should turn to your right. The right of the road is where you belong under the law at all times. Because it is customary to drive in the center, do not give your legal right to be there.

If an accident occurs and you are not on the right of the road, that is if you are in the center or on the left side you are likely to be held entirely responsible. Many make the mistake of turning to the left when an automobile comes from behind. This is dangerous, as the automobilist is likely to swing to the left and run into you. He and drivers of all other vehicles are compelled to go to the left when passing any vehicle from the rear. Many boroughs and first class townships have ordinances requiring lights visible front and rear on all vehicles (State law requires this on autos). It would be safer if there was a State law requiring this everywhere.

Maine Victory Gives Him Haircut. The result of the Maine election has set its effect in Texas. Jap Skein, a well-known citizen of Corpus Christi, was so firm in the belief, when Maine elected a Democrat governor thirty years ago, that that state would cut his hair.

He made a solemn vow that he would never have his hair cut until it again went Democratic.

He kept his pledge. His hair grew and grew until it attained a length of thirteen inches. When the result of the recent election in Maine reached him he remembered his vow and proceeded immediately to a barber, who quickly severed the long hair close to the scalp. The locks were made into a braid and are on exhibition in a show window, attached to a placard, upon which the following is written: "This braid of hair from Jap Skein's head shows Jap was quite erratic; Long Years ago a pledge he made, 'Till never cut my hair," he said, "Till Maine goes Democratic."

Rural Free Delivery mail carriers are much agitated over a report given publicly in the R. F. D. "News" that the Postmaster at Washington is considering abolishing R. F. D. service and substituting in its stead the contract system of mail delivery in the country districts. It is declared that Postmaster General Hitchcock will submit this plan to President Taft and Congress in his next annual message. This plan has been in operation for some time and is known as the Star Route System. In pursuance of this plan it is declared that Postmaster General Hitchcock has already consolidated the Division of Contract Delivery, which will hereafter be known as the Division of Rural Mails. This is the first step toward making the two services similar.

Large Cabbages. Among the fine results of this year's trial raising was a inadvertently overlooked Mr. Cabbage, the foundation of sauerkraut and coldlaw. Cabbage has been a big crop, and heads large and solid. Cabbages weighing from 12 to 15 pounds per head, are frequent in our market. As long as sauerkraut "knep" keeps abundant, along with "snitz un knep," the country will be safe and the muscle of the working man be kept strong. There's nothing to match those dishes.

Kills a Murderer. A merciless murderer is Appendix with many victims. But Dr. King's New Life Pills kill it by prevention. They gently stimulate stomach, liver and bowels, preventing that disgusting "knep" keeps abundant, along with "snitz un knep," the country will be safe and the muscle of the working man be kept strong. There's nothing to match those dishes.

PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO THE CONSTITUTION SUBMITTED TO THE CITIZENS OF THIS COMMONWEALTH FOR THEIR APPROVAL OR REJECTION, BY THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF THE COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA, AND PUBLISHED BY ORDER OF THE SECRETARY OF THE COMMONWEALTH, IN PURSUANCE OF ARTICLE XVIII OF THE CONSTITUTION.

Number One. A CONCURRENT RESOLUTION. Proposing an amendment to section twenty-six of article five of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Resolved (If the Senate concur), That the following amendment to section twenty-six of article five of the Constitution of Pennsylvania be, and the same is hereby, proposed, in accordance with the eighteenth article thereof:

That section 26 of Article V, which reads as follows: "Section 26. All laws relating to courts shall be uniform in form, jurisdiction, and powers of all courts of the same class or grade, so far as regulated by law, and the force and effect of such laws shall be uniform; and the General Assembly shall have full power to establish new courts, from time to time, as the same may be needed in any city or county, and to prescribe the powers and jurisdiction of such courts, and to alter the number of judges in any courts now existing or hereafter created, or to reorganize the same, or to vest in other courts the jurisdiction theretofore exercised by the courts of this Commonwealth," be amended so that the same shall read as follows:

Section 26. All laws relating to courts shall be uniform in form, jurisdiction, and powers of all courts of the same class or grade, so far as regulated by law, and the force and effect of the process and judgments of such courts, shall be uniform; but, notwithstanding any provision of this Constitution, the General Assembly shall have full power to establish new courts, from time to time, as the same may be needed in any city or county, and to prescribe the powers and jurisdiction of such courts, and to alter the number of judges in any courts now existing or hereafter created, or to reorganize the same, or to vest in other courts the jurisdiction theretofore exercised by the courts of this Commonwealth, provided, That a sinking fund for their cancellation shall be established and maintained.

A true copy of Resolution No. 1. ROBERT McAFEE, Secretary of the Commonwealth.

Number Two. RESOLUTION. Proposing an amendment to the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, so as to eliminate the requirement of payment of taxes as a qualification of the right to vote.

Resolved (If the House of Representatives concur), That the following amendment to the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania be, and the same is hereby, proposed, in accordance with the eighteenth article thereof:

That section one of article eight be amended, by striking out the fourth numbered paragraph thereof, so that the said section shall read as follows:

Section 1. Every male citizen twenty-one years of age, possessing the following qualifications, shall be entitled to vote at all elections subject however to such laws requiring and regulating the registration of electors as the General Assembly may enact.

First. He shall have been a citizen of the United States at least one month.

Second. He shall have resided in the State one year (or if, having previously been a qualified elector or native-born citizen of the State, he shall have resided therefrom and returned, then six months), immediately preceding the election.

Third. He shall have resided in the election district where he shall offer to vote at least two months immediately preceding the election.

A true copy of Resolution No. 2. ROBERT McAFEE, Secretary of the Commonwealth.

Number Three. A JOINT RESOLUTION. Proposing an amendment to the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, so as to consolidate the courts of common pleas of Allegheny County.

Section 1. Be it resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, That the following amendment to the Constitution of Pennsylvania be, and the same is hereby, proposed, in accordance with the eighteenth article thereof:

That section six of article five be amended, by striking out the said section, and inserting in place thereof the following:

Section 6. In the county of Philadelphia all the jurisdiction and powers now vested in the district courts and courts of common pleas, subject to such changes as may be made by this Constitution or by law, shall be in Philadelphia vested in five distinct and separate courts of equal and co-ordinate jurisdiction, composed of three judges each. The said courts in Philadelphia shall be designated respectively as the court of common pleas number one, number two, number three, number four, and number five, but the number of said courts may be by law increased, from time to time, and shall be in like manner designated by successive numbers. The number of judges in any of said courts, or in any county where the establishment of an additional court may be authorized by law, may be increased, from time to time, and whenever such increase shall amount in the whole to three, such three judges shall compose a distinct and separate court as aforesaid, which shall be numbered as aforesaid. In Philadelphia all suits shall be instituted in the said courts of common pleas without designating the number of the said court, and the several courts shall distribute and apportion the business among them in such manner as shall be provided by rules of court, and each court, to which any suit shall be thus assigned, shall have exclusive jurisdiction thereof, subject to change of venue as shall be provided by law.

In the county of Allegheny all the jurisdiction and powers now vested in the several numbered courts of common pleas shall be vested in one court of common pleas, composed of all the judges in commission in said courts. Such jurisdiction and powers shall extend to all proceedings at law and in equity which shall have been instituted in the several numbered courts, and shall be subject to such changes as may be made by law and subject to change of venue as provided by law. The president judge of said court shall be selected as provided by law. The number of judges in said court may be by law increased from time to time. This amendment shall take effect on the first day of January succeeding its adoption.

A true copy of Resolution No. 3. ROBERT McAFEE, Secretary of the Commonwealth.

Number Four. A JOINT RESOLUTION. Proposing an amendment to section eight, article nine, of the Constitution of Pennsylvania.

Section 1. Be it resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, That the following be proposed as an amendment to the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, in accordance with the provisions of the eighteenth article thereof:

Section 8. The debt of any county, township, school district, or other municipality or incorporated district, except as herein provided, shall never exceed seven per centum upon the assessed value of the taxable property therein, nor shall any such municipality or district incur any new debt, or increase its indebtedness to an amount exceeding two per centum upon such assessed valuation of property, without the assent of the electors thereof at a public election in such manner as shall be provided by law; but any city, the debt of which now exceeds seven per centum of such assessed valuation, may be authorized by law to increase the same three per centum, in the aggregate, at any one time, upon such valuation, so as to read as follows:

Section 8. The debt of any county, city, borough, township, school district, or other municipality or incorporated district, except as herein provided, shall never exceed seven per centum upon the assessed value of the taxable property therein, nor shall any such municipality or district incur any new debt, or increase its indebtedness to an amount exceeding two per centum upon such assessed valuation of property, without the assent of the electors thereof at a public election in such manner as shall be provided by law; but any city, the debt of which now exceeds seven per centum of such assessed valuation, may be authorized by law to increase the same three per centum, in the aggregate, at any one time, upon such valuation, except that any debt or debts hereinafter incurred by the city and county of Philadelphia for the construction and development of subways for transit purposes, or for the construction of wharves and docks, or the reclamation of land to be used in the construction of a system of squares and docks, as public improvements, owned or to be owned by said city and county of Philadelphia, and which shall yield to the city and county of Philadelphia current net revenue in excess of the interest on said debt or debts and of the annual installment necessary for the cancellation of said debt or debts, may be excluded in ascertaining the power of the city and county of Philadelphia to become otherwise indebted. Provided, That a sinking fund for their cancellation shall be established and maintained.

A true copy of Joint Resolution No. 4. ROBERT McAFEE, Secretary of the Commonwealth.

city, borough, township, school district, or other municipality or incorporated district, except as herein provided, shall never exceed seven per centum upon the assessed value of the taxable property therein, nor shall any such municipality or district incur any new debt, or increase its indebtedness to an amount exceeding two per centum upon such assessed valuation of property, without the assent of the electors thereof at a public election in such manner as shall be provided by law; but any city, the debt of which now exceeds seven per centum of such assessed valuation, may be authorized by law to increase the same three per centum, in the aggregate, at any one time, upon such valuation, so as to read as follows:

Section 8. The debt of any county, city, borough, township, school district, or other municipality or incorporated district, except as herein provided, shall never exceed seven per centum upon the assessed value of the taxable property therein, nor shall any such municipality or district incur any new debt, or increase its indebtedness to an amount exceeding two per centum upon such assessed valuation of property, without the assent of the electors thereof at a public election in such manner as shall be provided by law; but any city, the debt of which now exceeds seven per centum of such assessed valuation, may be authorized by law to increase the same three per centum, in the aggregate, at any one time, upon such valuation, except that any debt or debts hereinafter incurred by the city and county of Philadelphia for the construction and development of subways for transit purposes, or for the construction of wharves and docks, or the reclamation of land to be used in the construction of a system of squares and docks, as public improvements, owned or to be owned by said city and county of Philadelphia, and which shall yield to the city and county of Philadelphia current net revenue in excess of the interest on said debt or debts and of the annual installment necessary for the cancellation of said debt or debts, may be excluded in ascertaining the power of the city and county of Philadelphia to become otherwise indebted.
