

BELLEFONTE AND VICINITY

THE LOCAL HAPPENINGS IN SHORT PARAGRAPHS

George T. Bush is getting a second hand Ford from New York.

Mrs. Sarah Fulton, of Pine street, spent several days recently visiting at State College.

Mr. James B. McClain, of Spangler, was an over Sunday visitor at the home of Col. Spangler.

A. Lukens is housed up at his home on Willowbank street with an abscess on his face.

John Raymond, of this place, has been confined to his home for a few days this week by illness.

Dr. Evan Shortledge, of Wilmington, Del., arrived in Bellefonte on Saturday and became a guest at the home of John S. Walker, on Linn street.

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Brown, of scenic fame, are spending a week in Philadelphia on business connected with their popular place of amusement.

A special effort is being made to have Sebring's automobile garage under roof before snow covers the ground. Work is being rushed rapidly on the structure.

Mrs. Kate Moore, of Montana, nee Harpster, and sister, Lizzie Harpster, of Harrisburg, both formerly of Centre Hall, were callers, and are visiting friends in their native county.

Mrs. H. S. Taylor entertained a number of her friends on Saturday night in honor of her sister, Miss Della Cross, who departed this week for an extended visit to Colorado.

Contractor Orner, wife and daughter, Mrs. Samuel Hare and Mrs. Chas. Kelly, of Altoona, came over in a large touring car and spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Harper, of Curtin, and friends in Bellefonte.

James Krebs, one of our old soldiers, left this week for Huntington where he will attend the annual review of the 110th regiment at that place. Mr. Krebs is about the only member of that organization in this section.

Adam Hazel, of Axeman, was in to see us on Monday and told of a peculiar experience he had on Sunday. He had been out driving, and when coming within a mile of his home his horse dropped dead in the shafts. It was a faithful old mare that he had used for some years and it just spited him a little bit to part with the animal so suddenly.

A score or more of her friends and neighbors gathered at the home of Mrs. Emma Boyer, on Linn street, on Tuesday evening to give that lady a little surprise, it being her 72nd birthday anniversary. Needless to say the occasion was a very pleasant one, and it is the sincere wish of all who were present that the venerable lady might live to enjoy many more years of life.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Latham, of Harrisburg, moved this week to Bellefonte and will occupy a residence on Logan street. Mr. Latham has accepted a position as brakeman on the Lewisburg & Tyrone road. Mr. Latham has a fine voice, and he frequently favored audiences at the theatre with choice selections. Mrs. Latham naturally was pleased to return to her former home.

The county commissioners are busily engaged in making preparations for the general election on Tuesday, October 25th. The printing of the ballots was awarded to the Bellefonte Republican and the Keystone Gazette, equally. As usual greedy Tom demanded the whole job, but Daddies Woodring and Zimmerman believe in fair play and they were compelled to again pull him away from the public trough.

Ezra Smith, of near Bellefonte, brought to our office on Tuesday a sample of potatoes that grew without a stock, being planted in the ground. This is the way it was done. They were found attached to some old potatoes kept in the cellar, which grew sprouts, and the young tubers grew on the sprouts. In other words the sprouts got sufficient nourishment from the old potatoes to grow the new ones, without being placed in the earth to gather food for growth.

The walks in front of the Court House and along Allegheny street are stacked full with the new street paving brick, made in Clearfield. They are light in color and of special mold for street paving. It is in order to say that all our visitors, northwarders and prophets have thoroughly examined them in every point of quality and pronounced them good, which is a great satisfaction and relief to Bert Taylor. We agree in the verdict and if the balance of the work proves as satisfactory as these bricks, it will be an A-1 job.

Frank Kern, the laundryman, was one of the lucky hunters on last Saturday night. He was out in the vicinity of the famous patch known as "ten-acre" where he got a fine shot at a wild turkey and he drew a fine bead on the animal, but when he pulled the trigger the gun failed to do business, and Mr. Turkey will likely be somewhat annoyed at his failure in the season. The trouble was that he did not have the gun properly adjusted. That is what makes an old hunter like Kern feel like kicking himself all over the woods.

Fred B. Smith, of New York, will be entertained by the business men of the town. Friday evening an elaborate banquet will be furnished by the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Y. M. C. A. Their menu has just completed a tour of the world, addressing vast audiences. In Japan 15,000 people listened to him. He is one of the most entertaining speakers of the platform to-day, and it is a rare privilege to have such a man at Mr. Smith's home. It is to be hoped that every man will avail himself of the privilege of hearing him on Sunday at 3:30, at Patriken Hall.

The exercises connected with the dedication of the Bellefonte A. M. E. church on Sunday were well attended. The discourses were unusually able, filled with serious thought and religious truths that went home to every hearer. The offerings of the day amounted to over $200, leaving a balance of $300 for the congregation to liquidate later, and this can be met in due time if the members of the congregation as in the past year. Their new house of worship is a credit to the town and of which they can justly be proud. When the disastrous fire swept away the former building, for a time there was discouragement that finally gave way to hope and a strong determination to rebuild. We are confident that our people will liberally aid them in the future, until every cent of indebtedness is met.

Mrs. John Garbrick is at Lock Haven on a visit to her son, C. M. Garbrick and family.

Miss Elizabeth Blanchard and Mr. Edward Blanchard were guests of friends in Tyrone on Monday.

On Saturday, Nov. 12, will be the last day for filing applications for liquor licenses in the office of the prothonotary.

William McFarlane, of Bellefonte, spent Sunday in Lock Haven as the guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Kyle McFarlane.

James Koberman, residing east of Bellefonte, is one of the farmers who will have sale this fall. See his date in the Sale Register.

Lee Struble, is visiting his home on Railroad St. of this place. Lee is working on the railroad at Creek Side, Indiana county.

The ladies of the Reformed church will hold one of their famous Thanksgiving markets, Tuesday and Wednesday of Thanksgiving week.

Mrs. James Miller, Jr., and her mother-in-law, Mrs. James Miller, of Bellefonte, went to Lewistown, to visit the latter's son John, at that place.

Edward Fleming, of Altoona, spent Sunday in Bellefonte as the guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Fleming, on Reynolds' Avenue.

Mrs. S. Cameron Burnside was an arrival in Bellefonte on Saturday from Canton, Ohio, where she had been making an extended visit among friends.

On the 1st of November William Ott and family will move from the Strickland residence on Bishop street, to the house formerly occupied by V. J. Bauer.

Miss Julia Curtin, with her nephews, Gregz Sheldon, have returned to Bellefonte from Port Kennedy, Pa., where they had been spending most of the summer.

Miss Emily Valentine, who spent the greater part of the summer at Nantucket beach, is again in Bellefonte, the guest of Miss Emily Watt, on Curtin street.

Mrs. J. H. McKelvey, of east Lamb street, is recovering from a severe illness caused by heart trouble. Her daughter, Mrs. Coble, of Sunbury, is with her for a short time.

Rev. C. W. Winey, pastor of the United Brethren church, of this place, is suffering from a very painful carbuncle on his neck, which necessitates his absence from the pulpit last Sunday.

Mrs. Frank Wallace and her two daughters, Mrs. Shauer and Miss Wallace have returned to Bellefonte. Mrs. Wallace and Miss Wallace were visiting friends in Tyrone while Mrs. Shauer was a guest of friends in Clarion.

Rev. C. C. Shuey left on Friday afternoon for Altoona where he attended the State Sunday School convention. He was very much impressed with the wonderful interest manifested in this phase of christian work.

Chas. W. Kolb, of Lock Haven, assistant superintendent of the Prudential Life Insurance Co., of that place, is in town making an inspection of the branch of that company in this place, which is conducted by Allen Watts.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Shaffer, of Bellefonte, are off on a trip of two weeks. While they are away they will visit friends in Pittsburg, Erie and McKeesport. At the latter place Mr. Shaffer attended the reunion of his old regiment, the 58th P. V. I.

The work on remodeling the old Midway school building on Howard street into a comfortable and convenient residence by the owner, Mitchell I. Gardner, is progressing finely and it will probably be completed and ready for occupancy by the holidays.

James W. Derr, Jr., of Bellefonte, returned home last week from a business trip in the interest of his broom factory. He has placed a large order for broom corn and other material, with which he will be better prepared than ever to serve his rapidly increasing trade.

The Equitable Life Assurance Society has an important announcement on page 7 of this issue that is worthy of attention. J. S. McCargar is the local representative of this company in this section and will gladly give any information regarding their methods, upon application. He has been connected with this society for a number of years and is one of their successful representatives.

Lloyd Sampel, driver of John Olevine's delivery wagon, is an industrious young man. After working all day, if you work you call it, he has gone out into his neighbors corn field and husked off corn so that his share was enough to fatten his hogs and his neighbor knew he was in the corn field so that everything is O. K.

E. J. Lomnitz, of Altoona, through his attorney, J. F. Sullivan, has brought suit against Hon. A. G. Morris, of Bellefonte, to recover $1,454.14. The plaintiff alleges that early in the summer he sold an E. M. Mitchell motor car to the defendant for $2,000, and that the latter repudiated the sale contract before the car was delivered. The car was then sold to another party for $700, and the suit is brought to recover the difference, with interest, expense, etc.

On Friday little Mary Parrish, daughter of druggist and Mrs. C. M. Parrish, of Bellefonte, had a narrow escape with her life. On coming from her father's store, on Allegheny street, she saw a kitten on the crossing and ran out on the street to get it. Having her mind centered on the kitten she failed to see an approaching conveyance which knocked her down and one wheel ran over her body. The people who witnessed the unfortunate affair were certain the child would be killed, but on picking her up found that she was not even scared.

The lamp-posts that stood on the Brokerhook House corner and the one on the corner near Heck's barber shop, were taken down on Saturday morning. They seemed a small obstruction but since they have been removed the change is very perceptible. They are relics of days gone by when the streets were lighted with gas. A man would go round and light these lamps early in the evening and about 11 o'clock at night he would put them out. Now all that is necessary is turn a switch and the electric lights are either off or on. Such is the progress of the century.

Miss Stacia Wyland is confined to her home by a sudden attack of grip.

The funeral of the late Roy Hockenbury, on Wednesday of last week was preached by Rev. C. C. Shuey.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Stover, of Juniata, are entertaining, Mrs. D. M. M. Kline, and daughter Adeline, of Bellefonte.

Constans Commandery Knights Templar, of this place, are contemplating holding an assembly in the Armory on Thanksgiving evening.

John and V. J. Bauer have left Bellefonte for New Florence, Somerset county, where both of them have accepted positions with T. A. Shoemaker.

Rev. Dr. Schmidt and Mr. C. T. Gerberich left Wednesday for Reading, Pa., where they will attend the 164th annual services of the Eastern Synod of the Reformed church.

Jim Miller, colored, who for a number of years had been the porter at the Brokerhook House, has gone to Washington, D. C., where he has secured a position. His place here is being filled by Billy Green.

Ex-Commissioner M. S. Fiedler, of Millheim, was in Bellefonte on Saturday. He came over the mountain in an automobile, showing that it is in a pretty well up in terms, he is not old to travel in the most modern way.

Ellis Stine, formerly of Bellefonte, but who is now working at Clearfield, was on arrival on the noon train Tuesday for a brief visit to his father, the venerable James Stine. Ellis also visited his sister, Mrs. Heaton, at Yarnell, before returning to Clearfield.

Robert F. Sechler, mail agent on Conductor Reamer's train, has been quite ill at his home on Spring street. He has been visiting his daughter, Mrs. W. H. Cox, at Franklin, for ten days, on his return, which he was a great sufferer. He is getting along all right now.

W. P. Humes, D. F. Fortney and Hammond Sechler were among the Bellefonters who attended the funeral exercises of the late Mrs. John Woodward, which took place on Monday forenoon at Howard. The body was taken to Williamsport for interment.

George T. Bush, of Bellefonte, has purchased a second hand Ford automobile. He withstood the temptation longer than his friends thought he would. There is one thing about it, George will have the mechanism down to size when the blooming thing goes wrong he will be able to repair it. The great trouble is he spends more time with the machine than any place else.

Low Wallace and Harry Miller, of Bellefonte, are making arrangements to erect two double brick houses. Mr. Wallace will erect one on east Curtin street, and Mr. Miller will build his on the corner of High and Wilson street. They will be built of the brick which R. B. Taylor brought here to pave Allegheny street but were refused. A house built of this brick, however, will be strong and substantial.

All lovers of football will be treated to a fine exhibition of the new plays on Hugh's field, at 3 p. m. Saturday, Oct. 22. The strong Indian Normal team will be the opponents of our academy team, and that means a very close and exciting game. Our academy has won her first two games on foreign grounds and will struggle hard for a victory in the first game at home. Go out and enjoy the sport. Admission only 25 cents.

Among our callers on Monday was senator Webster Grim, of Doylestown, Pa., the democratic nominee for governor, while here on Monday. As his stay in town was brief, he was little more than a pleasant greeting and a hasty good bye. The senator thinks we are friends in error while we find him a clever fellow who is promoted by a "lead lot" of politicians parading under the banner of democracy, while of different opinions we still can be friends.

When John Blanchard, Esq., gets through with the job of remodeling the Linn street he will have one of the most comfortable and convenient residences in the town. The rear of the house will be nearly all porch, which means that he is a firm believer in living in the open air as much as possible. One of his many conveniences is a lavatory and a cloak room to the left as you enter the front door. The hall will be enlarged and everything fixed up in grand style.

About all the Sabbath schools of our county were represented at the great State Sabbath School Convention held in Altoona close of last week. The parade on Saturday was made up of some 15,000 ranks, with brass bands. The vocal was most imposing and the greatest demonstration of the kind ever held in this country. Every Sabbath school of Bellefonte was represented and we know of no S. S. in the county that did not have its delegates in attendance.

You often have heard some one make the remark that he or she would like to attend the scenic. This is foolish, because the man or woman in Bellefonte who finds no room in life for a little recreation will not live as long as the person who takes a few minutes in a day to laugh and enjoy himself. You can do this by going to the scenic, where new conditions confront you each evening. It is certainly the best show in the world for the money, and if you fail to attend you are missing a treat of some kind. In many instances you get much valuable information which may someday be of more or less service. Remember that Manager Brown always treats his patrons on the square.

Since repairs have been made Dr. Joseph Brockerhoff, of Bellefonte, has one of the most attractive and comfortable homes in Bellefonte. We are now speaking particularly of the interior which now has every convenience. Most of the furniture was done over in Philadelphia and on its return is just as good as new. Where needed the old furniture has been replaced by new all of which is pretty and substantial. The floor is ornamented with a pretty and costly rug of a beautiful color and design, on the walls are pictures and mirrors which contribute to the homelike appearance of the surroundings. There are two bathrooms in the house the floor and sides of which are white tiling with fixtures to match. The Doctor has a special bathroom for himself, which adjoins his bed room and private office. His conveniences are such that he can take about any kind of a bath he desires. Taking it all in all he now has all the comforts of life a man could desire.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. McAvoy, of a new electrician on Wednesday morning.

Edwin Hayes has about decided to take a trip to New Mexico, where he has been tendered a position that he has accepted. He expects to leave soon.

Mrs. Margaret Leggett, a recent graduate nurse at the Bellefonte hospital, spent several days at Linden Hall as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Swabb.

George Reede and Wallace Kartett were arrested on Saturday last for cruelty to animals, by chief of police Dukeman. Reed and Wallace on Friday evening previous got a horse and buggy from Albert Thompson, and got "tanked up" and were howling for fun. The horse was named "Dukie" and Brown. At a hearing before Squire Brown they pled guilty and were fined $10.00 each and costs.

J. E. Manning, who for the past year had been agent for the National Biscuit Co., with headquarters in Bellefonte, has been transferred to Providence, R. I. While in Bellefonte Mr. Manning made hosts of friends, and his promotion at this time was the result of faithful performance of duty. His place is filled by Grant Charles, formerly assistant clerk at the Bush House. He is an active young man and there is no question but what he will cover the territory with cracklers, all right. His friends will be glad to hear of his advancement.

Two natives of Haines township, many years resident in Illinois, were guests of the editor a few days ago. Thomas Kreamer, son of Samuel Kreamer, deceased, of near Woodbury, left his native home about 44 years ago and settled in Effingham county, Illinois, and went to farming there. This was Thomas' first visit since he left, and finds things greatly changed in that period of over a generation. Accompanying him was a relative, Frank Mills, also a native of old Haines, which he left when quite a youngster, and is a retired farmer of Effingham. Mr. Kreamer tells the Democrat crops were good in the main out there, excepting apples, which are scarce and bring $1.50 per bushel. Samuel and John Kreamer, near Woodward, are brothers of Thomas also mentioned.

The private office of the County commissioners has been fixed up very comfortably. The large maps and pictures have been placed on the wall and the entire surroundings are neat and cozy. If the commissioners have special business to transact they can now do it in private. In the old office they had no place to go but the vault and that was about as private as the street. Often parties would go in the vault pretending they were looking up something when they went simply to hear a private conversation. Now strict privacy can be observed. On Saturday the Commissioners appointed Harry Stevenson assistant janitor. He will be there and help to keep everything looking neat and clean. He showed us a sample of his work on Monday which was in Levi Reynolds will get the greater part of the winter firing the boilers in the cellar.

FORNEY.—David Forney, a well known resident of Philadelphia, who has been in falling health for three years, and whose condition of late has been very serious, died Friday night at the home of his son, William, on Ninth street. The deceased was born in Clearfield county on Nov. 29th, 1837, making his age 72 years, 11 months and 23 days.

WOODWARD.—Mrs. John A. Woodward was born Anna Packer, in Williamsport, Pa., March 16, 1847, and died in Howard, Pa., Oct. 13, 1910. Mrs. Woodward is survived by one daughter, Annie Harriet, of Howard, two sons, P. P. Harriet, of Harrisburg, and Charles V. Philadelphia, and her husband, interment was made in Wildwood cemetery, at Williamsport.

HUSHMAN.—After an extended illness of almost a year, with the last five weeks confined to his bed, George W. Hushman died at his home in Centre Hall on Saturday, and was buried at that place on Tuesday, aged 44 years. He is survived by a wife and one son, who is now a young man. The deceased was a native of Gettysburg, and for years was engaged in the jewelry and watchmaking business at that place.

BROWN.—Died at the Lock Haven hospital on Thursday, Oct. 13, S. B. Brown, one of Blanchard's prominent and respected citizens, after an illness of a few days following an operation. By occupation Mr. Brown was a farmer. He was 49 years, 2 months and 1 day old, and is survived by his wife, three brothers—Frank Brown, of Lock Haven; David Brown, of Rote; also two sisters, Mrs. Elizabeth Bowman, of Lock Haven, and Mrs. Mary Jordan, of Beech Creek, interment at Cedar Hill on Saturday noon.

DORRIS.—Mrs. Julia Miles Dorris died at Huntington on Monday night after an extended illness. She was the daughter of George Miles, for many years a leading light in the Central Pennsylvania bar. Her grandfather, Colonel Richard Miles, of the Revolutionary army, settled in Centre county shortly after the close of the war, near Milesburg, which was named after him. He was a brother of Colonel Samuel Miles, who served with distinction in the Revolutionary army and was afterwards mayor of Philadelphia.

HALL.—Toner B. Hall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hall, died at the home of his parents in Union township on Thursday morning. He with a number of other young men from Union township had been working in a lumber camp at Masten, Lycoming county, when typhoid fever broke out in the camp. A number of Centre county youths contracted the disease among them was young Hall. He was born in Union township and was twenty-two years of age. In addition to his parents he is survived by four brothers and four sisters. He was the next to the youngest child and his death is the first break in the family. The funeral was held from his late home at 10 o'clock on Saturday morning.

MEYERS.—After only a week's illness with bowel trouble Miss Lizzie Meyers died at her home at State College at three o'clock Sunday morning, Oct. 9. She was a daughter of George and Anna Fox Meyers and was born in Dauphin county in 1822, hence was 74 years old. When she was a child her parents moved to Centre county and located at Pine Hall, which was then practically a wilderness. For many years past she has made her home at State College. Her immediate survivors are two brothers,

W. C. of State College, and Henry, of Boalsburg. She was a consistent member of the Reformed church since early womanhood. The funeral services were held at 2 o'clock on Tuesday afternoon, Oct. 11, burial being made in the Boalsburg cemetery.

WILLIAMS.—On Monday morning Calvin Williams, a life-long resident of Martha, died at his home after an extended illness with asthma, aged about 72 years. Mr. Williams was a member of Co. G, 143rd regiment, during the Civil War, and served for three years. After that he was connected with the John D. Thompson farms, at Martha, as a foreman since 1868. Mrs. Williams died about five years ago. He is survived by the following children: Ellsworth, at McGhees Mills; D. E. at Mahanoy; William, at Martha; Wesley, an invalid at home; Mrs. Samuel Hardy, Tyrone; Mrs. R. R. Adams, Philadelphia; and Myrtle at home. Also the following brothers: Elson, of Martha; Job, of Port Matilda; and sisters—Mrs. J. Harpster, of Port Matilda; Mrs. Jackson Hoover, of Kylesburg. Interment on Wednesday, at 2 p. m. at Williams' cemetery.

JOSEPH.—A death, mourned by many and coming as a great shock to the community was that of Emil Joseph, senior member of the firm of Joseph Bros. & Co., Bellefonte, on last Sunday evening, about 7:30 o'clock. Although Mr. Joseph had been in a very serious condition for over a week, his many friends were sanguine of an ultimate recovery, so that his sudden demise was a blow to everyone. Death followed a week's illness of acute indigestion and heart trouble. This was the first time Mr. Joseph was ever sick. Emil Joseph was aged 66 years, 4 months and 20 days and was born May 26, 1844 at Bechtel, Hessen-Darmstadt, Germany. He was a relative, Frank Mills, also a native of old Haines, which he left when quite a youngster, and is a retired farmer of Effingham. Mr. Kreamer tells the Democrat crops were good in the main out there, excepting apples, which are scarce and bring $1.50 per bushel.
