Bright, Newsy Letters From the Various Sections of the County.

PORT MATILDA.

Jack Frost came at last and cooked things. We certainly had plenty of time given us this fall to gather in the fall crops before they were frosted.

P. B. Woodring's little girl, who cut her one foot nearly off while trying to cut wood, is getting along nicely. She certainly had it bled out, and showed unusual nerve for a child. The doctor had to put four stitches in the wound to hold it together, and while he did this she never once emitted a sound. Few grown persons can do as well.

During the past week E. T. Spotts received a very painful injury through the carelessness of a young man while baling hay. This young man in some way, made a wrong jab with his fork, striking Mr. Spotts on the side of the head with the tines of his fork. One of the tines entered the temple back of the left eye and the others cut gashes in the side and top of his head. It was feared at first that the injury might be very serious but all seems to be coming around all right now. There is too much carelessness going on all the time. Carelessness is really a crime. Be careful, life can easily be taken, and you cannot restore it again.

J. O. Harpster and wife were seen on their arrival in our town this week. As he is just a newly married man some of the boys got their saw and other instruments of torture and proceeded to give him a royal welcome. After they had pounded quite a while the groom came out, and thanked them very much for their music. Mr. Harpster was a former resident of our community, but has been employed near Pittsburg as bookkeeper for several years. We are glad to hear that he has taken unto himself a wife, as we feared he was going to be a bachelor. Best wishes and a happy life, John.

Was anybody out hunting first day? A few. Every boy who could carry a gun, and all others who owned a gun, were in the woods, besides about twenty-five strangers from Pittsburg and other places. You may bet all were loaded with game when evening came. It seems that some people think this is the only place any game is to be found. Our own people are most to blame, though. They tell everyone they see and write, too, that game is just swarming around here like flies, and coax people to come and hunt. When they come they board them for a week or longer, take them around, show them every nook where it is possible any game might be, and aid them in running it down, just because they may pay them a dollar or two for doing so. Such fools as some of our people are. After you get the strangers all here and get our game all killed, there is nothing left for you when you want to hunt. The farmer, whose rights are never respected, never has a chance. These strangers come here in packs with trained dogs, and being good marksmen, they clean the woods as they go. Then when the farmer wants to take a day off he can go hunting, but gets nothing. It is nobody's business whether there is any game around here or not, except those who are residents here. There are enough of us to take care of all the game in our community without any aid from outsiders. Think over this matter, you who bring strangers here, and see if you do not believe I am right.

The writer was out on Saturday and while sitting on the side of a hill, counted twenty-five hunters who passed through the same place of woods inside of an hour. Nearly half of these were strangers, too. In a radius of a mile around me was no less than fifty hunters. It was hardly safe to be in the woods. Bullets whistled over my head, cutting off branches of trees, and every once in a while shot would come raining down through the trees like hail.

Several turkeys were brought into town, but not more than five for every one hundred and fifty hunters or thereabouts. T. R. Robison came home with the leg of one, but the turkey flew away. That was too bad, for more than likely the turkey would die. One was driven into town, and killed near the Methodist graveyard.

Eugene Harshberger, one of our brightest young men, who has been working near Pittsburg, was home for a few days, before beginning school work again this term. He is preparing himself for the ministry. He expects to take a charge near his school this term, and in that way get experience and also a little money to aid in his educational work. We wish him every success in his calling.

Rev. G. A. Williams, of Greenvillage, who is a senior in Dickinson College, spent last Sunday with his parents here, while on his way to Williamsport to take one of the examinations in the ministerial course.

Last Sabbath the Knights of the Golden Eagle were out in a body to the Baptist church where Rev. Ellis gave them a sermon. The sermon was very ably handled by Rev. Ellis, and the members could not help but be benefited by this service. His theme was "The Fatherhood of God and the Brotherhood of Man."

PENN HALL.

The corn is all cut and a great deal husked.

W. H. Sinkabine and F. S. Musser represented the Lutheran Sunday school of this place at the Altoona convention and report a very nice time.

Russel Woelshagel and Harry Stewart, of Bald Eagle, were recent visitors at the home of William Bush. They returned home Sunday evening accompanied by Miss Eleanor Woelshagel, who for several weeks has been a guest at the Bush home.

On Thursday evening of last week a crowd of hunters of Pittsburg arrived in our village fully prepared to capture any game that came their way. They were, Messrs Roy Eckley, Harry Lucas, James Beckle, Frank Givens and William Keely, the three latter being guests at the Eckley home. Needless to say that each timid little turkey has decided that it's safest to keep entirely out of reach of their guns. However, on Saturday Mr. Keely was successful in finding one of the latter birds napping by the way and soon claimed it as his property. Now boys hustle up and don't let the oldest man in your crowd carry off all the game. Ah! Who said the turkey was blind and deaf. Nonsense.

After an absence of over a year Jacob Spotts is again circulating among his many friends in this community.

NITTANY.

ROCK FORGE.

Some of our farmers are husking corn and others are threshing and baling hay.

The gardens all look bare as the people have everything gathered in for winter.

Russel Schreffler moved to State College last week, so Col. Reynolds has two empty houses at Rock.

George Kuhn expects to move to Axeman this week, where he has employment for the winter.

Among the visitors at Ira Benner's last week, were William Sarson's family, Edward Horner's family, Wm. Hoy and wife and George Rider and wife.

The place here that always went by the "Forked Springs" we have now changed the name to "lovers springs," as there are always more lovers there in the summer time than there are forks; we think it deserves the new name.

D. Al Detrick, is getting along nicely with his school and the parents of the children are all well pleased with the good reports.

Mr. George Fisher and H. E. Walters, visited at Buffalo on Sunday.

Dan Houser is about done with his fallwork; next Dan will husk his pumpkins and pull his large crop of turnips. Dan had the credit of raising the largest crop of turnips a year ago; he supplied nearly all the neighborhood with turnips.

Harry Pike boiled three kettles of apple butter last week, and one of pumpkin butter.

The peach orchard men are still hauling for the orchard.

Harry Grove, of Lemont, is threshing for William Shuey this week.

Pigs seem to be a scarce article this year as nobody can get any around here for love or money; it will make pork high next year.

I believe there still might be another wedding, as Earl Walters was around last week inquiring where he could buy some cows and a horse; next will be the bird then the cage.

Andy Bron is helping Wm. Shuey to thresh, this week.

Fred Mechtly, of Houserville, and lady friend, passed through Rock on Sunday.

John Grove and Henry Walters are about done husking corn.

REBERSBURG.

Henry Royer, of Johnstown, is spending his vacation in Rebersburg, as a guest of his brother Thomas Royer. He has a responsible position with the McCormick Implement Co.

Lucas, James Shultz and Maude and Lester, of Greenburr and Frank Reed, of Jersey Shore, visited Mrs. W. H. Frank.

John Carter, of Mill Hall, who has discovered the lost art of hardening and tempering copper, so that it has great resistance to power of steel, visited his cousins and E. Frank and W. R. Bierly on Thursday. His discovery has interested not only the U. S. government, but those of England, France and Germany, since copper plate so hardened and tempered is a great advantage to armored vessels, being much lighter, because it need not be so heavy to protect a warship from steel projectiles. He is in correspondence with officials to give Uncle Sam the exclusive secret. This art was known to the ancient Egyptians and is counted among those lost when the ancient monarchy was destroyed and the Alexandrian library perished. John, while working in the woods, was also experimenting with copper and the secrets of nature for years, before he made the discovery.

People are laying by stoves for the winter.

Many apples were marketed at Co-burn, last week.

TYLERSVILLE.

One day last week W. W. Adams met a large bear on the public road; the surprise was mutual and the bear ran off as quickly as possible.

Chestnuts are more plentiful than for many years, and all are laying in a good stock for winter use.

Reaching the Top.

In any calling of life, demands a vigorous body and a keen brain. Without health there is no success. But Electric Bitters is the greatest Health Builder the world has ever known. It compels perfect action of stomach, liver, kidneys, bowels, purifies and enriches the blood, tones and invigorates the whole system and enables you to stand the wear and tear of your daily work. "After months of suffering from kidney trouble," writes W. M. Sherman, of Cushing, Me., "three bottles of Electric Bitters made me feel like a new man." 50c. at Green's Pharmacy Co.

Great Bear Killing Record.

A young man named Wilson, residing at Hyner, Clinton county, killed two bears near that place last week. Wilson is only 18 years old, but is credited with having killed 37 bears since he has been able to go hunting.

Over 300 Parish. Beaudette, Spooner, Pitt and Graceton, Minn., were wiped off the map of Minnesota by the most terrible forest fire ever experienced by Minnesota settlers last week. The bodies of seventy-five settlers have been located and it is thought that the death rate among the settlers will be upwards of 300.

Wagonloads of bodies are being brought into the railway station at Beaudette constantly.

It is reported that many settlers crazed with grief at the loss of families and property, are roaming the woods and searching parties are constantly going out after the injured, the dead and the demented.
