BOYS ARRESTED FOR ROBBERING STORES

GIVEN A HEARING AND BOUND OVER FOR COURT.

WERE ONLY 12 AND 14 YEARS

Broke in Sheffer's Grocery Store Twice—Entered Olewine's Hardware Store—Young Parks Makes Complete Confession.

On Monday Bert Parks, son of James Parks, of Bellefonte, and Tom Fanning, of Roopsburg, were arrested for breaking into Paul Sheffer's grocery store. After a short "sweating" young Parks confessed to a deed and implicated Tom Fanning in same, as well as to some other raids.

On Sunday, November 7th, an entrance was gained to this store by breaking a small pane of glass in the rear transom, and crawling in the rear ware-room. At that time Mr. Shaffer missed a lot of chewing gum, candy, cigars, etc. Mr. Shaffer called other articles. Mr. Shaffer nailed boards over the broken transom and on Sunday found that an adjoining pane was broken and a lot more goods were stolen. A print of a small hand showed that the thief was possibly a small boy.

The matter was reported to the police and when the premises were searched a large lot of cigars and tobacco were found secreted in a terra cotta sewer pipe which ran through the building, which was removed and other stuff put in its place, hoping to catch the offender when he came for his plunder.

On Monday Mr. Shaffer thought he would inquire from the school teachers whether any boys were distributing chewing gum, and mentioned young Parks particularly who had notorious little thief, and had figured in other similar escapades in the community. His teacher, Miss Helen Crissman, at once informed them that the boy had had his pockets filled with chewing gum and carried it liberally among his schoolmates in quantities to attract her attention.

Policeman Dukeman brought the boy to the store, but at first he stoutly maintained his innocence, and finally confessed to committing the deed and implicated another lad by the name of Tom Fanning, of Roopsburg, as his partner. Fanning, who could be learned, about eight hundred cigars and other goods in proportion were taken. Young Parks told in detail how they climbed a step ladder, broke the transom, climbed in and passed the goods out at about 8 o'clock on Sunday morning, when nobody molested them. It was an easy job.

He also confessed to gaining an entrance to Olewine's hardware store about a month ago where they got some money from the cash drawer and other articles.

Parks is a mere child thief of 13 years, and in his time has figured in a number of robberies. He recently was arrested for breaking into John McGlinley's cigar factory, and stealing a lot of cigars and is under bail for appearance at court. At about the time he was caught stealing a pair of shoes from Younger's shoe store, but owing to his tender age the prosecution was dropped. He is an industrious lad, and during the summer worked for R. B. Taylor carrying water during the building of the state road in town. He comes from a family in this community that has been a source of annoyance to the authorities, as the whole lot seem to be afflicted with a degenerate streak.

Tom Fanning is several years older and has not had such a notorious career. On Tuesday afternoon the boys were given a hearing before Justice Henry B. Brown. Young Parks professed and repeated his former story, and stated that young Fanning had been with him and helped to break into the stores.

Young Fanning positively denied that he had anything to do with the several robberies and that what Parks said was a lie. He is a son of Foster Fanning who gave bond for his son's appearance at court.

Curtin's Former Home.

The following letter was published in the North American on Monday:

As a son of Pennsylvania, I desire to make a brief statement in your paper. At an early age I removed to the state of Ohio, and upon the breaking out of the civil war enlisted in the Twenty-ninth regiment of infantry volunteers from the state, serving with my comrades in the army of the Cumberland, under General W. Rosecrans, commanding officer, with the late President Garfield as his chief of staff.

Since the war I have resided in Colorado and Missouri, and recently in Pennsylvania. I had occasion to go to Bellefonte, the home of the greatest of the Pennsylvania governors, Andrew Gregg Curtin, what was my surprise, and I may say indignation, when I learned that the former home of this distinguished son of Pennsylvania, a man who exercised the most potent influence of any of the northern governors in bringing about the restoration of peace, was now become a barber shop and a club-room.

It may be regarded in Bellefonte and surroundings as a merely local matter, but as a western citizen I cannot but think that the great commonwealth of Pennsylvania would permit the home of her most distinguished son thus to be desecrated without making some effort to rescue it and memorialize it in a manner befitting its eminent occupant.

S. E. WETZEL.

Late Captain Twenty-ninth regiment Infantry, Middleburg, Pa. Nov. 10.

Another Good Democrat.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. J. Frank McCormick of Lock Haven, Sunday evening, November 13, 1910, a bouncing baby boy. The proud father is division manager of the Commercial Telephone company and member of city council from the First ward. This makes five boys and one girl that have come to bless the McCormick home and like in the proverbial street car, "there is room for one more."—Lock Haven Express.

Grandfather John S. McCormick, of State College, will be walking on stilts over the good news.

HAYES RUN FIRE BRICK CO.

Stockholders Hold Annual Meeting and Elect Officers.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Hayes Run Fire Brick Company was held at the office of the company at Orviston on Friday a large representation being present.

The following named board of directors were elected: Judge Ellis L. Orbes, John R. Stevenson, Charles R. Kurtz, B. Frank Brown, George R. Thompson, Robert Furst and John H. Furst. The board of directors then elected the following named officers: President, Ellis L. Orbes; vice president, John R. Stevenson; secretary, Charles R. Kurtz; treasurer, Ives L. Harvey; general manager, Carrol Keller.

After the business in hand had been transacted, the stockholders inspected the magnificent new plant and took a trip to the clay mines.

Many new orders are coming in and business is flourishing under the able management of Mr. Keller. The outlook is exceedingly bright for the Hayes Run plant, and all the directors were eminently pleased with the listing condition and the excellent prospects for the future.

A Valuable Gift.

The following is an extract from a Howard correspondent, in the Republican, last week:

"Hon. John A. Woodward, who has always taken a great deal of interest in the advancement of educational work, and more so since becoming a resident of the borough, last week donated a large part of his library to the local schools, thus making a valuable addition to the already large collection of useful works contained therein. In the collection contributed by Mr. Woodward are over 200 volumes comprising all the leading works along agricultural lines as well as many other excellent volumes. All who know Mr. Woodward know that he would have only books worth while in his possession and will realize the value of this latest acquisition to the public school library. This liberal act on the part of Mr. Woodward should be an example to others and lead to further contributions to the library and not only to the Howard schools but to the schools everywhere. The pupils of the high school have expressed a feeling of gratitude toward the donor for this valuable addition to their source of information."

Caught in Clever Trap.

State Game Warden Shell, of Altoona, on Monday arrested a resident of near Birmingham on the charge of shooting six wild turkeys on Sunday. The limit that a man can shoot is two, and it is forbidden to shoot on Sunday. Mr. Shell had noticed a flock of fourteen wild turkeys, and was keeping him, by his district, and was keeping his eye on them to see that there were no violations of the law. Monday morning he noticed that the flock had decreased to eight and he later found the shooting occurred. He suspected a man who resides near the place and the shooter took him into his confidence, it is alleged, and took him to the place where the six turkeys hung. The alleged slayer did not know that Mr. Shell was a game warden.

The State Game Department informed the local game warden that the fine for killing the turkeys would be $25 and the fine for shooting on Sunday would also be $25.

Next Week at Pleasant Gap.

The Ladies of the Lutheran church of Pleasant Gap, will hold their annual speciality at No. 11's Hall beginning Wednesday evening, Nov. 23rd. The bill of fare will consist of a select oyster supper, Wednesday evening, Thursday, Thanksgiving, a regular chicken dinner, Thursday evening chicken and waffle supper. Owing to the very liberal donations guaranteed by the hospital, a regular chicken dinner, small sum of 15 cents will be charged for each meal, ice cream, cakes and delicacies in profusion will be on sale throughout the session. A superb array of aprons and other useful articles will be displayed on the counters, all to be sold without reserve. The proceeds to be applied to the remodeling of the present unsafe church edifice. All are cordially invited to attend.

State to Fly.

State College is now at work building an air ship. The mechanical skill and philosophic principle runs through the entire curriculum of that now famous institution, which, no doubt, it will produce an airship that will be a bird in the flying sense of the word. The Centre Democrat bespeaks for its effort in this line, new fame. Its first flight, no doubt, will have Bellefonte as its objective point, and our men handsomely patted and smoothed Diamond, be its logical landing spot. Success to State in this move—we now, in advance, feel that success will meet you.

State Beat Bucknell.

Pennsylvania State swamped Bucknell on Saturday at State College, by the score of 45 to 3. Bucknell's players secured their only goal in the third period, when they kicked a goal from placement after making a fair catch. State's work was supreme, better than any time before this year. The open play was especially noticeable on State's part; on-side kicks and forward passes were numerous. Piolet, Very and Watson, of State, are candidates for Camp's team this year.

Fatal Wreck.

A freight train on the river line of the New York Central, while passing through the Deer Creek tunnel, 20 miles east of Clearfield, Saturday morning, was wrecked by the breaking of a car wheel.

Francis Grafius, of Deer Creek, aged 40 years, was killed, and his son, aged 18 years, was so badly injured that he will die.

Both men belonged to the construction crew and were at work in the tunnel when the wreck occurred.

Struck by a Train.

Mrs. Rebecca Karchner, whose home is near Clearfield, was struck by a train at the Pennsylvania railroad crossing at Mill Hill last Thursday and sustained many injuries. She was taken to the Lock Haven hospital where it was discovered that she has received a compound fracture of one arm, a fracture of the collar bone and possibly internal injuries.

Rep. in General Assembly:

James Haworth, Pro.	319
(Total vote)	5480

According to these totals there were 3139 more votes cast in Centre county in 1908 than in 1910. Of this portion we are satisfied that the large majority were Democratic for various reasons. Owing to the dissatisfaction with the Allentown convention many were thoroughly dissatisfied and discouraged and for that reason remained at home. The county chairman, Arthur Kimpfort found the party organization crippled from the same cause, and most of the local committees favored the Keystone ticket. Then there was practically no fund at his disposal to wage an aggressive campaign or to man the polls on election day or bring out the party vote.

On the other hand chairman Keller had ample resources and was liberally supplied with the munitions of warfare. Voters were brought home from a distance; conveyances were provided to haul voters out to every district, with rosters and watchers at every polling place, and they gained considerable advantage.

The Keystone party had practically no working fund, and no effective organization for election day. The vote cast for Berry was strictly voluntary, without any manipulation, yet it carried the county by 183.

Hon. J. C. Meyer's name being on both tickets he received a large vote. In some precincts the total vote for assembly was given only and in others the entire vote was credited in the Republican name. For this reason the strict party vote cannot be ascertained.

The falling off in the vote between the State ticket and the candidates for local offices is due to many persons voting the Keystone ticket, every poll in this way. For the reason the strict party vote cannot be ascertained. Over 600 voters failed to fill out the entire ballot in this way. This is a strong argument why the party square on the ballot should be abolished.

On Tuesday the senatorial and congressional return judges met in the prothonotary's office at Clearfield, Pa., where the returns of two districts were compiled. The total vote for each office was as follows:

For Congress (21st Dist):

Charles E. Patton, Rep.	11856 4953
Wm. C. Heinle, Dem.	6903
Geo. W. Fox, Soc.	2389

For State Senator (34th Dist.):

Jos. Alexander, Rep.	6126 340
Sam'l C. Stewart, Dem.	5786
Samuel Watts, Pro.	953
Daniel Caldwell, Soc.	1742
Fred R. Scofield, Ind.	799

Another Templeton Case.

Mrs. Bertha M. Lane, of Tyrone, by her attorney, R. A. Henderson, Esq., recently entered suit in court against Mrs. Alice Templeton and J. A. Hoffman, assignee of C. O. Templeton, to recover the sum of $2,400. The plaintiff alleges that she purchased a property from defendants in September, 1909, under a general warranty deed, with a covenant that the land was free from debt. She further alleges that the land is bound by four mortgages for $2,400, which she will be required to pay, says the Tyrone Herald. Templeton was a senator and republican high-cosmopolitan of the Blair district.

The Commandery Reception.

The committee in charge of the Knight Templar ball, to be held in the Armory on Thanksgiving eve, is making good progress. The invitations will also be a very fine one, that can be kept as a souvenir on the occasion. The knights Templar will all be in their regalia, which will add considerable color to the general effect. Refreshments will be served down stairs in the long room on the Lamb Street side of the building all being given seats and in addition an orchestra will furnish music while the serving of refreshments is in progress.

A Sad Death.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Edw. Frank of Smulton, was the scene of a sad experience on Monday. Their little daughter about a year old, pulled the cover off a stand in the room when some needles were on it. She thought they were candy and ate a number. Soon after the child was taken violently ill and when the physician administered an emetic, it vomited up the needles. Despite all treatment the child died that evening.

Held For Court.

James Gintery, of Sugar Valley, the going man, was charged with shooting Harry H. Miller recently while both were hunting, was given a hearing before Alderman John P. Anthony in Lock Haven on Monday. Miller was in the limbs of a tree endeavoring to get a squirrel he had killed on October 15, the first day of the hunting season, when it is alleged Gintery saw him, an Academy member, and shot at Miller, injuring him severely. Gintery was held in $500 bail for trial at court.

Centre Counts Re-Elected.

We see from the Freeport Hill Bulletin, that Prof. Cyrus Grove has again been elected as school superintendent. He served the position a number of years with great credit, and retains the esteem of the citizens of Stevenson county. At the election held on Tuesday of last week, Prof. Grove received 4814 votes, and his competitor, J. A. Bolender, 2277 votes. A native of Gregg township, this charge, Mr. Grove has risen to influence in educational circles.

Death of Dr. Monroe.

Rev. David S. Monroe, D. D. pastor of Backlick Memorial Methodist church, near Cumberland, died Tuesday afternoon at 1:29 o'clock in the Altoona Hospital. Death was due to a general breakdown.

Dr. Monroe was the oldest minister in active service in the Central Pennsylvania Conference. He was born in Baltimore, Maryland, seventy-eight years ago and spent fifty-five years of active service in this Conference.

Hunting Stories.

The last installment of the hunting notes, from the diary of Aaron Williams, dec'd, will be found on page 2 of this issue. We find that the trap pro's most interesting feature to our readers, and especially those in the upper portion of the Bald Eagle valley who were familiar with the writer and the hunting grounds.

Business Picking Up.

The DuBois Daily Express says business is looking up in that part of the state. It also remarks that the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburgh railroad is firing up many of its "dead" engines and that traffic is better. It should be noted that this follows the Democratic victory of November 8th. "Soup houses" are going out of business.

Teddy's Chance Ruined.

In an interview, William Jennings Bryan declared his belief that the defeat of Roosevelt's candidate for governor of New York ended his prospects as a third term president. "Roosevelt still can do much good, if he will get behind some good reformer and progressive man like Senator LaFollette."

Focht is Bankrupt.

Benjamin K. Focht, of Union county, who was re-elected to congress on Tuesday, has filed a petition in bankruptcy. His liabilities are $275,000 and his assets $175,000.

PEOPLE PROTEST TO REPUBLICAN ABUSES

REPUBLICANS OVERTURNED IN CONGRESS BY ELECTIONS.

DEMOCRATIC HOUSE ELECTED

Joe Cannon's Defeat as Speaker is Now a Certainty—Union of Democrats and Progressive Republicans Will Control This Body Also.

The following brief summary of the recent election, and comment is taken from the Williamsport Grit, an independent newspaper, which is so impressive on our readers that it is a correct account, not influenced by any political motive:

"Democratic House of Representatives, the big hubcap of the Party, has now a certainty. The results of the election, Tuesday, which was more or less in the nature of a Democratic landslide, especially in the East, has completely wiped out the Republican majority of 47 in the lower branch of Congress, and given the Democrats one a little larger. The exact political status of the House is yet uncertain, but it is evident that the Democrats will have a majority between 50 and 55. New York and Ohio are chiefly responsible for this change, as the old order of 37 Republicans and 21 Democrats from these two states has been changed to 29 Republicans and 33 Democrats. In the other states there were enough smaller changes to complete the political revision of the House.

Senate Change Also.

The Senate is still safely Republican, but by a reduced majority. The fight upon the Republican stand-pat was quite successful, and among the supporters of Aldrich in the last session, who were defeated at the polls, were Dewey, Keen, Scott, Carr and Dick. A progressive Democrat will also succeed Senator Beveridge from Indiana. According to the latest figures there will be 42 Democrats and ten progressive Republicans in the Senate. The House of Representatives and a union of these two forces will control the situation, as the number of Republicans all told will be about 50, including the progressives.

The change makes possible a combination of progressive Republicans and Democrats with power to put through legislation in the interest of the public or to prevent legislation for the interests. It makes it possible the enactment of such a law as the Aldrich tariff law, and constitutes the reply of the public to that bit of special privilege legislation and the effort by the President and reactionary Republican forces to justify its enactment.

With one exception, they affect the special privilege forces of the Senate exclusively, and promise the removal of some of the most arrogant and bigoted enemies of the public interest and of popular government.

Of the old time Republican strongholds in the East, Pennsylvania is the only one that successfully withstood the Democratic landslide. And even in this state John K. Tener, the Republican nominee, was elected by a plurality of only 35,000, a small margin. In the Keystone state, New York chose Dix as governor, New Jersey elected Woodrow Wilson, Ohio re-elected Harmon, rock-ribbed Massachusetts cast more votes for Foss than for the Republican nominee, and Indiana, while even Connecticut flipped over into the ranks of the minority party.

Means Cannon's Defeat.

The election of a Democratic House means the defeat of Speaker Cannon for re-election, and also that tariff tinkering will be attempted. Downward revision of the tariff at once is the pledge made for the new Democratic House by the President and his candidate for the speakership.

"The landslide is in line with my prediction of months ago," said Congressman Clark. "The people are tired of the President and his administration, and are provoked to just the extent that the returns indicate, with the tariff deception."

"The first and greatest proposition the Democrats should stand for is a reduction in the tariff to a revenue basis. I would reduce it scientifically and gradually and put into it a sliding scale much like there was in the tariff bill of 1833."

President To Turn Progressive.

President Taft now threatens to turn progressive Republican, in order to obtain a renomination. Whatever others may think about the elections, the President has no illusions regarding them. He realizes that the reactionary course pursued by him since he entered the White House, his ready acquiescence in the schemes of Aldrich, Cannon and the great horde of special-interest representatives, who formed and controlled Administration policies have brought overwhelming defeat to the Republican party.

Before his departure for the isthmus of Panama on Thursday M. Taft made it known for publication that he believes it possible to counteract the effect of mistakes made by urging the enactment of as much progressive legislation as possible in the coming session of Congress.

The significance and importance of this statement is the plainly revealed announcement that the President will begin at once a campaign to control the next national Republican convention in his own behalf, and that he hopes to do this not by depending further upon the strength of old political machines and their special interest allies, but by developing policies which may relieve the disgust manifested by the public on Tuesday, and appeal directly to the progressive sentiment and spirit of the country.

From Coal Mine to Congress.

Congressman-elect D. J. Lewis, of Cumberland, Md. one of the Democrats who found his way into Congress on the recent election sweep, was born in Briarlin, Clearfield county, and for a number of years was employed in the coal mines around Houtzdale.

Died in Room Where He was Born.

John Heatty died at Latrobe, Pa., in the room in which he was born eighty-four years ago. He was a grandson of Benjamin Heatty, who crossed the Delaware with George Washington. The Heattys of the revolutionary period were related to Centre county residents.

HUNTING CAMPS.

With beginning of the week the hunters for deer and other game planted their camps, numerous in Centre county's wilds and in the mountains of Clinton county.
