OVER THE COUNTY.

THE COUNTRY BOY.

Have you noticed that the fellow Who is talked of most to-day Was a barefoot in the country Tramping down the daisied way? Have you thought to count the leaders Who have warmed their frosty feet

Where the brindle cow had rested Ere she yielded up her teat? Have you noticed that the great ones

Know and love the things of God, And have kept their senses fragrant With the perfumes of the sod?

Have you ever paused to figure Why the country boy wins out?

It's because he learned to hustle

In the days of sauerkraut!

It's because he's broad and honest, Has a heart that's tuned to toll, Inspiration born and nurtured With the turning of the the soil!" He has learned the golden lesson That a man who wins must try

With an earnestness of purpose And a frank look in the eye!

So the country boy is leading-Strong of frame and pure of heart-Winning laurels in the struggle, Gaining honors in the mart. You can find him in the sanctum, In the courtroom, at the mill! He is doing things by motto-And the motto is "I WILL!"

When there is no garden to make, every man knows how. Straws and straw hats show which way the wind blows.

A fireman's hose is usually white, but is seldom drop-stitched. Silence is never quite so golden as when it gives the maid's consent. Its funny how hungry some men will get before they will go to work. How can you expect a woman to trust a man the grocer will not trust? One way to keep the hands soft and clean is to let mother do all the work.

Somehow, we seldom hear the poor talking about the blessings of poverty. It always makes the girl suspicious when the fellow asks her to burn his letters.

Hope to the average man is what cake is to Willie on the night of sis-ter's wedding.

Unable to Tell.

nable to Tell. I once asked an English lady if she school building to be located on their property facing Lincoln avenue. liked codfish balls. "I don't know," she replied, "I never little more than a week ago suffered attended any."

A Thanksgiving Romance.

"Was your first meeting with your uary. wife romantic?" "Oh, very. I was trying to carve a turkey and some of the stuffing squirted into her eye."

Shrunken.

"I won't wash my face!" said Dorothy. defiantly.

"Naughty, naughty," reproved grandmother. "When I was a little girl I always washed my face." 'Yes, and look at it now."

"Silver threads among the gold," Is a tender strain to utter, But, alas, it loses its poetry when It's a gray hair in the butter.

A Tender Thought. The fireman was shoveling coal into the engine. "I just happened to Hall.
