Father McArdle has now become the permanent rector of St. John's Catholic church in this place, never to be removed except by death. In other words His Reverence announced to his congregation on Sunday last that Bishop Garvey had decreed that he had been made the irremovable rector of this parish. We heartily accord with the Bishop's decree.

The stores are now taking on their gay holiday attire, and everywhere among the merchants one can see shelves and counters filling up and windows brightened by Christmas goods. By consulting the advertising columns of the Centre Democrat you will in all probability be able to find just what you are looking for to make a suitable gift.

Those who will attend court next week and also the teachers and their friends who will gather here in a short time, should keep in mind the scenic, Bellefonte's popular place of amusement. Every night pictures are shown of travel, comedy, deeds of daring, etc., all for 5 cents, and you can attend the scenic before any other entertainment begins. Your visit to Bellefonte will not be complete unless you take in the scenic.

On Saturday afternoon a Hungarian, who if he could have been understood might have been delivering a Fourth of July oration, explaining why Berry did not win in the last election, held a crowd near the Centre County Bank building, and between sobs and gesticulations had his hearers sadly guessing. Policeman Dukeman finally took him in the lockup for safe keeping. Later it was learned that his troubles were all caused by the loss of a ten-dollar bill.

Hon. Frank L. Dersham, of Lewisburg, democrat, elected on 8th of November by a majority over his republican competitor in Union county, was a pleasant caller on our sanctum yesterday. Four years ago Mr. Dersham was elected by 19 majority. Two years thereafter again nominated he was counted out by 2 majority. This fall, again nominated, he carried Union county by 21 majority. Popular and clean cut, as all members of the legislature should be—but unfortunately are not—Mr. Dersham has the people deservingly on his side.

Don't fail to call at the fair now going on in the chapel of the Presbyterian church, and see the large stock of fancy work, dolls, novelties, aprons, cakes, candy, etc., much of which would make suitable holiday gifts. The admission during the afternoons is free but in the evenings a small entrance fee of ten cents is charged. An elaborate entertainment has been prepared. Miss Ruth Hotfort, of Lemont, will preside at the piano, which is an assurance that the musical portion of the program will be most pleasing. Remember the fair will be held today and tomorrow, both afternoon and evening.

The fact should be kept in mind that Bellefonte is going to have an Old Home Week in the near future. This may sound presumptuous, but it is bound to come. Other towns have had such a celebration, and still others are preparing for "home-comings". We venture that that section of the State of the size of Bellefonte has sent forth into the world so many sons and daughters to carve name and fortune. And they are all waiting to be invited back to their native land. In no other way can they meet all these old friends of youth. Citizens, let us have an Old Home Week early with in the coming summer.

Jeese Underwood, who for a number of years has efficiently filled the position of fireman on the Lewisburg passenger train, on which Theodore Cherry is engineer, is now taking a trial run on the main line between Sunbury and Harrisburg, with the view of accepting a well merited promotion on that section of the Pennsylvania property. Mr. Underwood will probably act as fireman for a while and later will be given an engine. It is not known as yet whether he will be located at Sunbury or Harrisburg. Scarcely a week later the fact is ascertained, he will remove his family from Bellefonte.

The Panther hunting club, of this place, returned on Friday last from their annual hunt on Big Run. Two nice deer were brought down by the party, John Knisely and Lynn McGlinley each securing a buck. They all seem to have enjoyed the outing in great shape, but we have not learned how many quarts they killed.

Mrs. Girard Childs and little son, Harris Pratriken, of Trenton, N. J., are visiting at the home of Mrs. Childs' parents, Mr. and Mrs. John P. Harris, on Linn street. Mrs. Childs will remain until after the celebration of the golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Harris, which will take place on the 18th of December.

A fair will be held in the Chapel of the Presbyterian church on Thursday and Friday, December 1 and 2, 1910, under the auspices of the Ladies Aid Society. On the afternoon of each day, it will be open for the sale of large stock of fancy work, dolls, novelties, aprons, cakes, candy, etc., everything to tempt one to purchase Christmas presents at an extremely low price.

The Bellefonte Lodge, B. P. O. E. No. 1094, will hold their annual memorial services in Petrikin Hall on Sunday afternoon, December 4th, at three o'clock. The services will be public and all are cordially invited to be present. The departed members of the lodge are Messrs. Jos. S. Barnes, John G. Love and Jenkin David. The address will be made by Dr. J. J. Platts, of the Presbyterian church.

Dr. Thos. C. Van Tries went to Chambersburg this week to attend a meeting of the Kittocinny Historical Society of Franklin Co. By special request he read a memorial paper before the society on Tuesday evening, November 29th, entitled "The Poes of Antrim; with Sketch of the Military Career of Adjutant Thomas Poe." It has been suggested that the Doctor should have this paper printed in pamphlet form for distribution among his relatives and friends of the family.

William Mills and family, of this place, have been entertaining as their guest the past week, Isiah Welch a former resident of Bellefonte, whose father was one time a tenant farmer near town. Mr. Welch left Bellefonte about forty-five years ago, and later entered Wilberforce University where he studied for the ministry. He is now located at Chattanooga, Tenn., where he is pastor of the A. M. E. church at that place. Mr. Welch is a very pleasant gentleman to meet.

Irvin Wirts, formerly of College township, was in from Wisconsin, accompanied by his wife, and favored the Democrat sanctum with a call. Mr. Wirts left this county four years ago and this was his second visit east since. The occasion of his present visit was the illness of his brother John Wirts, of Bellwood, suffering with dropsy of the heart, and has been visiting friends at Tyrone, Houserville, State College, and other places. When he left this county he was single and now returns a married man. He got his "dear" in Wisconsin, while some of our home hunters can't get a deer in our mountains.

Daniel Kane, many years ago a resident of Bellefonte, was a town for a few days last week, on his way home, after attending his brother, John Kane's funeral at Lock Haven. While here Mr. Kane recited a strange coincidence in connection with the death of his brother, which again shows in what mysterious ways Providence moves. John Kane and Ollie Bruner, both deceased, and both lifelong friends, a short time before they died met in a barber shop in Lock Haven, and jokingly talked as to how long each would live. Mr. Kane remarked that by the looks of Mr. Bruner and himself neither would die very soon as they both resembled retired soldiers. Scarcely a week later each lay cold in death and were buried by a day apart.

The diamond fronting the court house is now to be lighted in an artistic manner as eight metallic posts have been planted around the square. Ornamental electric lamps that will shed daylight for a distance around. With its recent improvements, the county seat will be entirely up-to-date, viz: Paved thoroughfare, remodeled court house, illuminated town clock, new school house in the state—all this summer's crop.

J. A. Hosterman, of near Centre Hill, Potter township, was in town on Saturday and informed us that he expects to pull up stakes here in the Spring and move to Scotland, South Dakota, where there are a number of years of the county citizens located and are prospering. For this reason he will have sale of his live stock and farm implements on February 16th and his announcement will be found in the sale register this week.

Al Haupt, an old Bellefonte boy, who left this place about thirty years ago, and who at that time worked in the Watchman office as a compositor, is visiting friends in Bellefonte. He came here principally to see his mother, the venerable Mrs. Simeon Haupt, who has been in feeble health for some time at the home of her son-in-law, Fred Musser, on Logan street. Al still wields the stick and rule, being located at Philadelphia, where he is employed in a large book and job office.

Amos Garbrick, one of Spring Township's retired capitalists, and a man who knows how to fatten big porkers, was in our office the other day to tell us how to do it. As an example he cited that he filled three hams the 8th last that weighed 95 pounds and that they were only 9 months old at that which Farmer Frank Wian is willing to qualify to as the truth because he raised them, and sold the little "woolies" to Mr. Garbrick. When dressed one weighed 326 and the other 390. We wish some one who can beat that would let us know if it is Garbrick and Wian are considerably swelled up, over these porkers.

Thanksgiving passed off very orderly in this town, and so far as we learn of the church and business character of the day, no disorderly conduct was to be seen in Bellefonte, and the police had no arrests to make. Services were held in some of the churches and business places all over the city. This is forward-ward stride that is creditable. At the homes Thanksgiving dinners were enjoyed, and there was an entire absence of the out-of-town folk who usually spend their holidays in town, which went to show that the people of the farming districts were at their homes and in their churches in honor of the day. There was a reverential beauty in all this, which would be pleasing to the Lord and instructive to the rising generation. It was unlike the observance of Christmas, which should have sacred rejoicing in celebration of the world's greatest benefactor, the birth of the Lord Jesus Christ, who is indulged in celebrating the birth of the Savior, by so many.

Prof. Arthur C. Harper, of the University of Ohio at Columbus, is spending his Thanksgiving vacation at his home here.
