HOW A COBURN CITIZEN ENJOYED A TEXAS TRIP

J. W. BRUNGART WRITES AN IN TERESTING LETTER.

TRAVELED BY LAND AND SEA

First Visited New York City and Brooklyn and Then mbarked For Had a Delightful Trip.

The Centre Democrat:--It would be my friends who have requested me to do so. Therefore I have decided to use this method to inform my friends of the delightful journey I am taking from Coburn, Pa., to Stowell Texas.

I left Coburn on Tuesday morning, Nov. 22; arrived at New York Tuesday evening. After purchasing my ticket and making arrangements at the hotel, I started out to see in-teresting sights in New York, Brooklyn and Jersey City. Crossing North river between Jersey City and New York on a ferry boat, at dusk, when all the large buildings are lit up, is certainly a great sight.

On Wednesday morning I crossed Brooklyn bridge to Brooklyn. Many have seen pictures of the great Brooklyn bridge, but can by no means really imagine what the wonderful structure really is like. Then to see the subway, and elevated cars speedalong in all directions, and the constant noise of express and delivery wagons and watch the multitude of people hurrying along, and hear the constant shrill of ferry and steam ships' whistles! After all it is enough to cause a person to appreciate quiet country life, or purchase a ticket for a voyage on one of the Southern Pacific steamships, and especially the Antilles. We left New York on the steamship we left New York on the steamship just named, on Wednesday at 12 o'clock, m. I will not take the liberty of mentioning all the interesting things which could be noted here, but will give a few places of interest which we passed. First, we passed Sandy Hook, then the panorama of Manhattan's sky scrapers began to unfold. We reached the Battery and then caught a glimpse of Brooklyn then caught a gimpse of Brocklyi and East River. Next we passed Governors Island. Bedloes Island and the famous Statue of Liberty. Then we passed Staten Island and Coney Island. After that we saw no more land until we reached the coast of Florida. All interesting things did not disappear at this point, but a very interesting thing happened here, it was the call for dinner which proved to be worthy of notice.

The accommodations and meals on board ship proved to be beyond my expectations. More variety and better food is served nowhere on land. is of the best and always plenty. Seven different kinds of meat are served and the fruit consists of oranges, apples, bananas, figs, dates, pineapple, grapes. etc., ice cream and pastries of the very best. Then the privilege of daily taking a salt water bath, the exercise on promonade deck, the fine music, the pure air and the fine state rooms with all modern con-veniences are also an item to be con-sidered in traveling. There is nothlanely about a journey of this attention. It is interesting to the sea gulls follow the ship of other ships, wind jammers, thouses, etc. Then it is also light houses, amusing to watch the flying fish dart from the approaching ship like a small flock of birds. We also saw many shark, but the most interesting was to watch schools of porpoises follow abreast the bow of the ship for miles, at an amazing speed, continually are shooting out over the surface of the water with a splash that could could be heard at a distance. Yesterday was Thanksgiv-ing, and nearly all enjoyed a splendid turkey dinner. Very few were sick. We passed 240 miles of South Carolina and Georgia shore yesterday. Friday morning at 3 o'clock, we reached Palm Beach, Florida, Today, Saturday, we traveled the entire day within sight of Florida coast, and it was one of the most beautiful sights I have ever seen. There was not a cloud to be seen. The weather has delightful since we left New York, although there has been considchange in climate. Everybody was thankful for an overcoat, that wished to be on deck ship the first day out. Since then a person feels ashamed to own an overcoat. It seems more like July than November in Centre County, Pennsylvania Today, Saturday, we passed Key West at about 5 o'clock. It was an interesting sight, and seemed to be a beautiful place. It is now 7:30 correct time. We are now passing the extreme Southern point of Florida coast, and turning northwest toward the delta of the Mississippi River. We will arrive at New Orleans on Monday at 10:30 a. m. which is 1957 Monday at 10:30 a. m., which is 1957 miles from New York. The distance from Smullton, Pa., to Stowell, Tex., over this route is about 2800 miles. Today, Sunday, we are far from shore between Florida and New Orleans. We passed a number of other ships and everything seems to move along quietly. I have never seen more pleasant weather, it is fine to be on deck without a coat or hat on; every body is happy and cheerful. We reached the Mississippi River at 1 o'clock a. m., Monday, at which time another pilot took charge of the ship to New Orleans. We passed many houses and some fine farms, although the land lies very low. We also passed some sugar refineries.

Truly yours,
J. W. BRUNGART. Stowell, Texas.

Andrew Carnegie Attacked.

Mayor W. D. Davis at a banquet at the Texas Stationary Engineers' Association at Fort Worth openly attacked Andrew Carnegie's library system, declaring Carnegie "a poor, misguided multi-millionaire."

Davis said only the well-to-do visit the libraries, and that the poor are compelled to bear the taxation due their erection.

HARVEST TIME.

Harvest time is approaching. The election returns of 1910 indicate that the democratic party is approaching the hour of its triumph. For fourteen years it has been laboring in behalf of certain fundamental reforms which were much needed. At first its poll-cles were regarded as dangerous, and every possible effort was made to arouse opposition to our party among the timid radicals as well as among the avowed conservatives. When the democratic party took the side of the Brooklyn and Then mbarked For people on the money question and in-Cruise Down the Atlantis Coast— sisted that the country needed more money, the money changers organized and terrorized the people into apparent submission to the disastrous con ossible to write personally to all ditions caused by an insufficient vol-friends who have requested me to that there was not enough money in 1896, and intelligent people understand that the prosperity that followed since would not have been possible without an unexpected increase in the volume

When the democratic party fought for an income tax, those who favored the tax were called demagogues and disturbers of the peace, and were accused of trying to array the poor against the rich. Since a republican president, a republican senate and a republican house have submitted the income tax amendment, the people have become convinced that the democratic party was the champion of the masses in its advocacy of the income tax.

When, eighteen years ago, the democratic party began its fight for the election of senators by direct vote of the people, it was accused of attempting to revolutionize the government and destroy the influence of the states in the federal congress, but now that two-thirds of the states have endorsed the reform; now that three republican congresses have declared for it and a republican candidate for presi-dent has admitted that he is inclined to favor it, the people recognize that the democratic party has spoken for the masses of the people.

When the democratic party began, fourteen years ago, to demand rail-road regulation and spoke out against rebates and discrimination, the rail-road officials rushed into the republican party and made it the representaof the big railway combines, but tive now that the republican leaders have been compelled to admit the necessity for better regulation, now that the rank and file of all parties demand it, the democratic party is recognized as the pioneer in this work. During all these years the democratic party has been pointing out the evils of private monopoly and insisting upon the en-forcement of the criminal law and the passage of such additional statutes as may be necessary to protect the pub-lic. Now that even republicans are compelled to admit that the trust evil demands attention, our party is rec-ognized as the defender of the people's interest on this subject. Our party's opposition to the ship subsidy and to extravagance in legislation is now nore popular than it was a few years

For more than twenty years the democratic party has been pointing out the iniquities of a high tariff and calling attention to the necessity for tariff reduction. A great many have been so wedded to the principle of high protection that it has been diffi-cult to check their faith in the system, but the promise made by the republicans two years ago and their violation of it in the first session of the present congress, these together have opened the eyes of the blind and aroused a country-wide protest against the high tariff leaders.

The growth of public sentiment in favor of the things which the demo-cratic party has been advocating and disgust with the management of affairs by republican leaders, have led to the signal victory won by the democrats on November 8, but the victory will be of no purpose unless the democrats entrusted with power are in sympathy with the forward movement which the democratic party has been leading. There must be no backward step; there must be no allying with the reactionary element of the party. It was the republican party's Wall Street connections that to the progressive movement in the republican party, and Wall Street is much less popular in the democratic party than in the republican party. A democratic congress must keep with the spirit of the times, and lead public sentiment to the reforms upon which the people have agreed. The democratic party must every-where urge the election of United States senators by direct vote of the people; the democratic party must in all sections fight the trusts and carry out the democratic platform demand-ing legislation which makes it impossible for private monopoly to ex-The democratic party make a sincere effort at real tariff reduction. It goes without saying that the party must redeem its pledge to overthrow Cannonism and establish representative government in con-

Let the democrats but begfaithful to the promises made by the party and the presidential election of 1912 will bring an abundant reward, but retreat would be as impolitic as it would be unrighteous. The democratic party has no reason for existence except as it is the champion of the whole people in their fight for justice and equality of opportunity. After a decade and a half the party has been onlying attempt by its fidelity to the gaining strength by its fidelity to the interests of the common people. It has been sowing the seed and culti-vating the crop. The harvest is now -Commoner.

KEYSTONE STATE NOW HAS 7,-665,111 PEOPLE

AN INCREASE OF 21 PER CENT

Oil and Lumber Counties Fall Off-Cambria Has Big Showing-Present Apportionment Would Give the State Seven More Congressmen.

The population of the state of Pennsylvania is 7.665,111, according to the statistics of the thirteenth census made public last Thursday. This is an increase of 1,362,996, or 21.6 per cent., over 6,302,115 in 1900. The increase from 1890 to 1900 was 1,044,-101, or 19.9 per cent. While the census shows a healthy gain in the state as a whole, the de-tailed figures show that there has been a falling off in many counties. These are mostly in the northern tier, in Bradford, Forest, Fulton, Juniata, McKean, Montour, Perry, Pike, Potter, Snyder, Sullivan, Susquehanna, Union, Wayne, and Wyoming.

Generally speaking, the decrease is in the oil and lumber counties.

In the country districts, the increase has been the most pronounced in Cambria county, which jumped from 104,837 in 1900 to 166,131 in 1910; Lackawanna increased from 193,831 in 1900 to 259,570 in 1910; Luzerne from 257,121 in 1900 to 343,186 in 1910.

Blair county's increase was less than 25,000, the comparative figures being 85,099 in 1900 against 108,858 in 1910. Lycoming county's icrease was about 5,000. Westmorland, too. had a remarkable increase, jumping from 160,175 in 1900 to 231,304 in 1910. Pennsylvania, it is said, would obain seven additional congressmen, if the present ratio of one representa-tive for each 194,000 persons is main-

The Chase Ended-Hunters' Luck. The deer season closed on Wednes-day of last week, 30, lasting fifteen days. More deer were killed than in any season in the past five years. But when one considers that double as many hunters were in camp in the mountains of Centre and Clinton counties, the average to a man would be small. The number of hunters es-timated in the mountains of our county, is 1000. In Clinton county the number is estimated at 1500—total in the two counties, 2500. We believe this estimate is too high, but will figure upon it.

Number of hunters, 2500; Deer killed in Centre county 60; killed in Clinton county, 150-total 210. Weight of 210 deer average at 150 pounds per head, 31,500 pounds. This would allot each hunter 121/2 pounds of venison, for a fifteen days' hunt, a fraction less than one pound per day. But two-thirds of the nimrods did not get any at all. Of course, with many there was some bear steaks, and smaller game, like pheasant and turkey.
