

The Centre Democrat.

Circulation Over 5,600—Largest in Centre County.

BELLEVILLE, PA., THURSDAY, JANUARY 12th, 1911.

Vol. 34, No. 2.

PINE GROVE MILLS' FAMOUS ACADEMY

REMINISCENCES WRITTEN BY "DOMINO."

FAMILIAR NAMES RECALLED

Once a Popular School Attended by Prominent People—Changes That Time Has Wrought—List of Students—Many now dead.

Our versatile correspondent, G. W. Rumberger, of Unionville, who for some years has been a regular correspondent at Unionville, under the nom de plume of "Domino" this week supplies our readers with an interesting sketch of the famous "Pine Grove Mills Academy," an institution of learning that flourished in that village over a half century ago. His sketch is not an attempt to give a history of the institution, but a description of the school as he found it when he entered as a student:

Reminiscences of the original Pine Grove Academy:
I have a sort of a "hankering" for going back to the time "when I was a boy." I promised several years ago to "write up" for publication what I remember of this school, its Professor, and students, as well as the citizens of this ancient village, and while my flying machine is undergoing a few needed repairs, preparatory to taking a trip to the planet Mars, I will just spread the matter on paper, later to be copied by Charley Kurtz's wonderful Linotype and trust it will prove interesting to at least the citizens of Pine Grove Mills and Ferguson township.

It was through the influence and earnest solicitations of Theophilus Weaver, one of the students of the Academy, that my father consented to let me attend this school. It was in the winter of 1853-4. My father lived on what is now known as the Ebb's farm, not far from the Ross church in Half Moon township, a distance of nine miles from the village of Pine Grove. On a beautiful, warm November morning, with an old fashioned carpet bag, which contained a change of apparel and a few kerchiefs I left home on foot for the afore named village. About 5 miles of the road led through the "Barrens," but notwithstanding the multiplicity of roads, I found my way through arriving in the city about two o'clock in the afternoon, and at once repaired to the home of my cousin, Joseph Ward, now deceased, where arrangements had been made for my reception, and I was promptly taken to the Academy rooms, at 5 o'clock I went to the Academy rooms. A number of students had already assembled for recitations. My father, who I saw tremblingly, to a seat. The Professor seeing me enter at once came to me and very pleasantly asked me if I wished to enter the school as a student; being answered in the affirmative he handed me a slate and pencil gave me a few simple problems in the fundamental rules in Arithmetic and after a few kindly words of encouragement assigned me to the class. I was to enter at once, and in the hour I should appear for recitation. He then told me I could remain in the recitation room if I wished or I could retire to my studies. I retired. A more verdant roof than your humble servant, but time and perseverance conquer all things. During the term, besides the common branches of study I took up algebra and geometry.

The Academy was a new building, two stories high, which contained a building owned by Hugh McConigle. The first floor was divided into a room and kitchen. The second floor was all in one and was the academy room proper. The Professor, Joseph Ward was a small man, of light build who would skip about the room with the agility of a cat. Though small in stature he was a giant in intellect. He was beloved, adored by every one of the students. It was his term of teaching and at the close of the term the students presented him with a valuable gold watch and chain as a token of the high esteem in which he was held by his pupils. He came from one of the New England states to which he returned and entered the ministry of the Presbyterian church.

The students: Although more than a half a century has elapsed since I attended the Pine Grove Academy, the faces of every one of the students both male and female are as distinctly photographed on my memory as if it had been but a few weeks ago. I am indebted to Mr. Wm. Goheen, of Boonville, for much of the information that follows: David Stuart, Wm. Edminson, James Black and M. B. Massey were from Stone Valley of whom Edminson and Massey are deceased. M. Massey was a man of pleasing personality of fair complexion, and was what might be called a handsome young man. He subsequently studied law and was admitted to practice at the Huntingdon County bar. He died many years ago leaving a wife to survive him. James A. Beaver, now Superior Court Judge, was then a bright, handsome lad of about 16 years of age. He was in one of the advanced classes. Of his subsequent honorable career, your readers are, I am sure, well informed. John E. Thomas was among the advanced students. He subsequently became principal of the academy. He is now deceased. Henry Adams, Thompson was a son of John Thompson, of Stormstown, once Sheriff of Centre county. He also was in the front classes, unusually bright and bold. He is at present at the head of the United Brethren Book Concern in some city in Ohio. Milton Campbell was a son of the late Robert Campbell, of Fort Matilda. He was also in the higher classes, and was one of the best debaters in the Atholup Literary Society of which every male student was a member. He died many years ago. James Murray was one of the largest of the students. He was a Blacksmith by trade. Subsequently he moved to Winterset, Iowa. S. T. Murray, his brother, was another one of the farthest advanced students. He subsequently graduated from a law school and practiced at the Clearfield Bar. He enlisted in the army in 1861 and died in Washington, D. C. W. Penrose Burchfield was a son of Major Wm. Burchfield, of Pine Grove, once manager for Pennsylvania Furnace Company. He subsequently studied medicine and was for many years one of the leading physicians in Clearfield, where he died a few years ago. Among the most famous of his life he was totally blind, one of the saddest afflictions that could befall any one. W. Ellis Burchfield, his brother after his career at school embarked in the mercantile business. He successfully conducted a large novelty store in Philadelphia for many years, where he died a number of years ago. He succeeded in the same business by his son, James B. Burchfield, and a carriage and "chum" of mine was from the "Glades." He enlisted in the Civil War and gave his life for his country at the battle of the Wilderness. John Pifer was, I think, the youngest of the students in the school but he was a bright one; I know nothing of his subsequent career. Albert Engles was a son of the late Dr. Engles of Half Moon. He is an uncle of Albert Engles, Washington, D. C. He was a successful merchant in Philadelphia. He succeeded to that trade disease, consumption, many years ago. Samuel Dennis was another one of our brave boys who gave his life for his country. He was killed at Mission Ridge, Tenn. Robert Edward G. Omer his brother, who died a few years ago. He was one of the progressive farmers of Ferguson township. Wm. E. Meek was also a farmer but lately moved to Pine Grove. I think he is deceased. George W. Meek, dec'd. John Kurtz, think, entered the ministry, am not certain. James H. Omer was a Buffalo-Runite. He was neck and neck with the most advanced of the students, a fluent talker, a logical debater, and great favorite of the students. He lives in Franklin, Pa., where he is one of the foremost lawyers at the bar. He once represented his district in the lower house of the National Congress. George W. Baisboro is a carpenter by trade and a good one, lives in the little town of Paradise, near Waddles. Theophilus Weaver, after his career at school, secured an honorable and lucrative position in one of the government offices at Harrisburg where he died a number of years ago. Wm. Weaver was another of our students who gave his life that the nation might live. He was wounded in the battle of Chancellorsville, couldn't get away and was burned to death. All honor to our brave soldiers. Reuben Oakes came from Stone Valley. I have never seen or heard of him since, and lastly, G. W. Rumberger, of Unionville. Making in all 27 male students photographed on my memory.

The lady students were as follows: Misses Sarah Nicholas, of Pinegrove, Miss Emerick, who subsequently married the wife of Prof. Jno. E. Thomas, Emma Thomas, two Misses Shultz, if living, are in Missouri; Sarah Glenn, Eliza Glenn, dec'd., Mary O'Brien, Kate Moser, a teacher in Altoona, E. H. Moser, Sue Danley, Pinegrove, Joanna Hunter, late of State College, dec'd., Sallie Mitchell, now Adams, of Altoona. A sister of Miss Mitchell, first name not known, now deceased. Mrs. Sarah Shiffer, now Mrs. W. H. Musser, Esq., of Bellefonte. 15 ladies, a total of 42 students who are indelibly printed on the tablet of my memory, never to be forgotten.

Of the older citizens of Pinegrove whose faces and forms are alike deeply imprinted on my memory most of whom have passed over the great divide, are the following: Alex Sample, store keeper; Hugh McConigle, store keeper; George Danley, chair maker; James Murphy, wagon maker; Jacob Zimmerman, carriage maker; Joseph Ward, carpenter; David Goheen, confectioner; George Goldman, shoe maker; Christian Musser, tailor; Jonathan Musser, store keeper; James Dunlap, hotel; George Ard, gentleman; Rev. Daniel Moser, M. Shultz, John B. Mitchell and Maj. Wm. Burchfield.

Hotel Changes Hands.
John Chamberlain, former proprietor of the Garman House in Tyrone, sold out his interest in the hotel to the owner of the hostelry, Allen S. Garman. Mr. Chamberlain has had charge of the Garman House the past five or six years. The bar was closed immediately and will remain closed for at least ten days until after the transfer is made by the court. Mr. Garman will begin immediately to remove his hotel.

Al Garman is one of the best hotel men in this part of the state. His whole life has been associated with the business, and when in full control of the Garman House he will place it on a plane equal to the best in Tyrone. For years he was proprietor of the Garman House in Bellefonte and under his careful attention that hostelry was placed on an excellent paying basis and is now being conducted by J. McC. Davis formerly of Tyrone. Mr. Garman understands the business to perfection and in a short time the people of Tyrone will see marked changes in the Garman House on Pennsylvania avenue.

Gross Carelessness.
—Says the State College Times: Miss Jennie Roop, who is visiting her brother, John E., fell on the icy sidewalk Monday morning and tore the ligaments of her right foot. The injury is a very painful one. To make matters worse her brother and his wife are laid up, the former suffering from rheumatism and the third affliction comes at an inopportune time. Miss Roop's accident is the result of carelessness on the part of someone and the borough could be held liable for all damages.

Fat Man's Fall Kills Baby.
Johnson Thurston slipped on an ice encrusted sidewalk of Scalp, near Altoona Wednesday of last week and in falling crashed against a perambulator in which the eight-month-old infant of Joseph Swanson was being conveyed to a physician's office for treatment. The conveyance was crushed under Thurston's 250 pound bulk and the child was killed instantly.

Pool and Cards Barred on Sunday.
The playing of pool and cards for stakes at any time and playing at all on Sunday in their rooms, has been barred by Mill Hill firemen.

A PUBLIC PROTEST.

The Patrons of The Bellefonte Post Office Petition Against The Present Service.

For some time the patrons of the Bellefonte Post Office have been dissatisfied with the recent early closing of that important branch of the public service. Complaint was frequently made to the present postmaster, but he seems to have gloried in the fact that the closing of the office earlier than usual had lessened the labors of the employees of that department, which to him was more important than the great inconvenience it has caused to the business interests of the town and the public in general. While the closing of the local office is sanctioned by the department we are informed that Mr. Harter took credit for it and boasted at various times of having accomplished it. There is no evidence that he ever made any effort to accommodate the general public in this direction, or asked the department to grant the needs of the local community.

For that reason a petition was circulated about Bellefonte by Conrad Miller, the lime operator, and in his brief canvass he reports that only one or two persons hesitated about signing the petition and that he could have secured three times as many names. This petition was forwarded to the Department on December the 26th as follows:

Bellefonte, Pa., Dec. 26, 1910 To Hon. C. R. Granfield, First Asst. Post Master, Central Washington, D. C.

The petition of the undersigned citizens, all patrons of the Bellefonte Pennsylvania Post Office, respectfully represent:—
That for many years it has been the practice of the Post Office at this place to close its doors for the transaction of business at eight o'clock, P. M., which curtailed the usefulness of the service to the general public, for the reason that the train arriving here from Tyrone at 8:16 o'clock P. M. carries Philadelphia and Pittsburgh, in fact both eastern and western mail which must therefore be left undistributed until the next day.

That instead of endeavoring to improve the condition of the Bellefonte mail service, your present Post Master has still further curtailed the service by commencing several months ago to close the Post Office for business at 7 o'clock P. M., thus cutting off another hour, and rendering great inconvenience to nearly all the patrons of the office, and especially by the urban patrons, and rendering it necessary for the majority of the stores in the town to close the Post Office to carry a stock of stamps for the accommodation of the people who throng the business sections of the town at that early hour of the evening.

Your petitioners, therefore, respectfully ask that your department not only restore the old hour of closing, but that you adopt some schedule of reorganization of the present local service that shall give the business people here the opportunity of at least getting the mail from the 8:16 o'clock P. M. train from their Post Office boxes, up to at least the hour of 9 o'clock, which arrangement would also work a great convenience for the general public residing in the suburbs, and the country people who come to Bellefonte in the evenings, who especially in the summer months, rarely get into town before 7:30 and 8 o'clock, P. M.

We believe that the importance of the Post Office here, and the business interest of the town, warrant this request, and we shall ever pray, etc.

- Names of signers of Petition.
- Geo. T. Tibbens, farmer.
 - Clayton Hane, fireman.
 - John J. Emel, fireman.
 - Conrad Miller, lime business.
 - C. M. Parrish, druggist.
 - W. I. Miller, Acety lime business.
 - James C. Clark, gentleman.
 - H. J. Tibbens, farmer.
 - G. W. Pratt, laborer.
 - H. B. Kerns, contractor.
 - James Morrison, laborer.
 - D. W. Woodring, insurance.
 - Sidney Krumrine, druggist.
 - Jno. Mignot, lime office.
 - H. W. Auman, hotel clerk.
 - H. J. Goss, automobile.
 - H. S. Ray, Prop. Brokenstone Inn.
 - Jacob Marks, gentleman.
 - D. M. Stewart, gentleman.
 - Emel Joseph, merchant.
 - Elmer Smith, laborer.
 - Marcus A. Landay, artist.
 - Wm. C. Taylor, laborer.
 - James Fleming, foreman.
 - Henry Haupt, tinmer.
 - J. M. Decker, insurance.
 - Thos. Shaughnessy, tobacconist.
 - H. A. Gharet, contractor.
 - L. A. Freeman.
 - A. L. Baum,ivery.
 - E. E. Pharran, Co., merchants.
 - C. A. Mingle, merchant.
 - M. Fauble & Sons, merchant.
 - Geo. Sunday, tailor.
 - Jno. L. Dunlap, Co. Com.
 - Joseph Brown & Co., merchants.
 - Geo. R. Meek, banker.
 - Robt. F. Hunter, insurance mgr.
 - Wm. J. Musser, dairyman.
 - Daniel Heckman, laborer.
 - J. D. Hunter, stamper.
 - H. E. Nasling, merchant.
 - J. C. Wan, merchant.
 - J. D. Sourbeck, merchant.
 - D. I. Willard, merchant.
 - G. F. Saucerman, barber.
 - E. W. Hazel, laborer.
 - H. C. Taylor, act. Adams Ex.
 - H. H. McQuiston, carriage maker.
 - C. C. Keichline, merchant.
 - J. R. Lutz, carpenter.
 - Alex. Morrison, laborer.
 - Zeller and Son, druggists.
 - C. Y. Wagner, grain and flour.
 - Geo. H. Hazel, groceries.
 - Montgomery & Co., clothiers.
 - J. S. Gilliam, merchant.
 - Martin Galt, merchant.
 - Wm. M. McClure, harness dealer.
 - P. D. Shaffer, merchant.
 - F. P. Blair & Co., jewelers.
 - Sam Baum, merchant.
 - Morris Baum, salesman.
 - E. J. Pharran, Co., merchants.
 - R. Brandman, merchant.
 - J. Will Conley, merchant.
 - W. H. Miller, merchant.
 - Geo. T. Bush, merchant.
 - Louis J. Grant, merchant.
 - E. J. Pharran, Co., merchants.
 - H. E. Zimmerman, clerk.
 - James Haupt, clerk.
 - I. T. Twitmore, merchant.
 - J. F. Thal, merchant.
 - Jno. McCuskey, painter and con.
 - Chas. Anderson, painter.
 - James McNichols, foreman.
 - Fearon Showers, barber.
 - T. C. Brown, theatre.
 - James Toner Iversy, merchant.
 - Sam'l Cherry, foreman.
 - James L. Kerstetter, lumberman.

Note: If an inspector is sent here to investigate, please have him interview the people, instead of Post Master.

College Cadets Lack Duds.
President Edwin E. Sparks, of State College, comes at an inopportune time from Senator John O. Fox, chairman of the inaugural arrangements committee, inviting the college band of 40 pieces and the cadet regiment of 700 men to attend the gubernatorial inauguration at Harrisburg on January 17.

Owing to the fact that the men are not provided with winter uniforms, the invitation had to be declined. The college regiment now consists of three full battalions, made up solely from members of the freshman and sophomore classes.

Fill Fish Hatchery Vacancy.
Henry E. Griffith, of Pleasant Gap, Centre county, has been appointed superintendent of the Bellefonte hatchery of the state fish department to succeed Howard M. Buller, deceased, whose assistant he was for two years.

Circulation Statement.

Following our established custom of many years past, "THE CENTRE DEMOCRAT" herewith presents a statement of its circulation for the year 1910. Owing to the unusual circulation, which is conceded to be the largest of any weekly county newspaper in the state of Pennsylvania, we go to special pains to give the absolute proof of same. We do this in several ways.

First. We make a detailed sworn statement.

Second. We cheerfully invite anyone to inspect our mailing list and subscription accounts.

Third. We preserve our post office receipts showing the number of pounds mailed each week.

Any or all of this information can be had at this office for the asking and it will be a pleasure for us to furnish it, as we deem it the right of every intelligent advertiser to know, same as when he is dealing at the average store—he wants what he is paying for, 16 ounces to the pound and 36 inches to the yard, and pure wool when so labeled. Therefore we submit the following:

CIRCULATION STATEMENT

For The Centre Democrat, Covering The Year 1910:

Bellefonte, Pa., Jan. 2, 1911.
During the year of 1910 there were printed and circulated 258,000 copies of the Centre Democrat which shows an Average Circulation per issue, 5,555

During 1910 no edition was less than 5550. For our regular edition over 5500 copies are now printed each week, and the bona fide circulation now is and during 1911 will be over 5,500

Chas. R. Kurtz, Pub.

STATE OF PENNSYLVANIA, ss.
CENTRE COUNTY.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 2nd day of Jan. 1911.

W. HARRISON WALKER,
Notary, Bellefonte, Pa.

THE COMPAREMANS.—The stores circulation of THE CENTRE DEMOCRAT now is over 2,500 larger than that even claimed by any other paper published in Centre county; it also has more subscribers than is even claimed by all other democratic papers in Centre county combined.

You will note that the net gain for the year 1910 is not as large as in some former years, yet the paper never enjoyed a better year of public appreciation. Owing to the rigid enforcement of the Postal regulations during the year, resulting in a considerable number discontinuing when payment of arrearage was demanded. Over 200 delinquent names were also taken from our mail list during the year, because they made no effort to adjust their accounts or conform to the postal regulations. Notwithstanding these unusual conditions "The Centre Democrat" has made a substantial net gain in circulation during the year 1910.

This is the best evidence of public appreciation, and is more forcible and eloquent in praise than anything we can say in our behalf.

TROUBLE OVER A BRIDGE.

Last Thursday morning in the grand jury room in the court house a suit in assumpsit was heard, before Squire Henry Brown in which Spring township appeared against the Central R. R. of Penna. The upkeeping of a surface bridge was the cause of contention, said bridge having been built by the C. R. R. in 1893. It appears that when the railroad company built a trestle over the road passing through its right of way, east of Bellefonte, it lowered the roadway, thereby changing the natural drainage at that point. In order to accommodate this, the railroad company made a new ditch through the right of way of the township. Since putting in this bridge Spring township has been keeping up the repairs thereon, and it was to recover the amount of expense incurred by the said township, that this suit was brought. W. D. Zerby represented Spring township, and John Blanchard, Esq., appeared for the railroad company.

Justice Brown reserved his decision until Tuesday noon, when he gave judgment in favor of Spring township for $45.61, the amount which in his estimation was due the township for repairs.

Meeting of Pomona Grange.
The first meeting of Centre County Pomona Grange, for this year, will be held in Hall of Progress Grange, Thursday, January 19th, 9:30 a. m. At this meeting the reports of the various business enterprises connected with the Pomona Grange, will be heard. All come and let us have a good time. Fifth degree will be conferred in afternoon session.

Licenses Granted.
All the applications for liquor license in Centre county were granted on Tuesday by Judge Orvis, excepting three: James Passmore, hotel, Philadelphia, owing to some complications in the transfer; Warren Wood, the landlord at Spring Mills, lease has not been properly executed; James Runkle, hotel, Centre Hall, remonstrance against it. All these granted heretofore had license or the place was licensed.

Trapped Fine Otter Along Bald Eagle.
Nathaniel Clark, of Flemington, on Saturday morning succeeded in trapping a fine otter along the banks of Bald Eagle creek, near his home. Mr. Clark had seen the animal a couple of weeks ago and immediately thereafter set the trap. The otter is about four feet long and in fine condition. The pelt is quite valuable and will bring from $50 to $75 in its raw state.

Merited Honor For Dr. Armaby.
Dr. H. P. Armaby has been appointed a member of the executive committee of the section on agricultural chemistry of the eighth International Congress of Applied Chemistry, which is to meet in the United States in 1912.

A GROOKED ATTORNEY GETS HIS SENTENCE

WAS SENT TO THE PENITENTIARY FOR SEVERAL YEARS.

THE FATE OF C. O. TEMPLETON

Defrauded Widows and Orphans—Was Guilty of Numerous Forgeries—Embezzled Large Sums of Money—Cause of Much Distress.

Chambers O. Templeton, of Tyrone, January 4th, appeared in the county court at Hollidaysburg, and entered pleas of nolo contendere to four bills of indictment, two of forgery, and two of larceny as attorney. Under the act of assembly of 1909, he was sentenced to pay a fine of $200, and to serve an indeterminate term of imprisonment of not less than three years, and not more than twelve years, in the western penitentiary at Riverside, Allegheny county. A. W. Templeton, the nephew and bondsman of the prisoner, surrendered him into the custody of Sheriff W. H. Orr. Templeton heard the sentence of the law pronounced with equanimity and composure. But when he was removed to the sheriff's office, he became overcome by his emotions and wept like a child.

Sheriff Orr conveyed the erring lawyer to the penitentiary on the afternoon of Jan. 4th and he was admitted to that institution that night. District Attorney J. Banks Kurtz then explained the charges. Under the law, the board of prison inspectors have the power to release a prisoner at the end of the period of minimum sentence, for good behavior. Templeton will probably prove a model prisoner, in which event he will be a free man in three years.

District Attorney Kurtz asked the court to impose the maximum sentence of twenty-six years imprisonment upon the defendant, because he had been guilty of not one offense but forty-nine forgeries, extending over a period of seventeen years. Templeton led a dual life all these years. These crimes were not committed under the heat of passion. But they were studied and done deliberately. Fictitious names were used, and innocent people were duped. In one case, an old widow was told by him that her property had been cleared of debt, and that he had relieved her of money. She later became stricken with tuberculosis, and decided to go to Florida. She then discovered that he dissipated her money, and a debt of $500 remained on her property. He had robbed his late pastor, Rev. John R. Davis, of $1,000 which the minister had paid him for a mortgage on a property which did not exist. The penalty ought to be severe because he had been a prominent and successful lawyer.

A. A. Stevens, esq., made an eloquent and affecting plea for mercy and clemency. He declared that Templeton had been a victim of get-rich-quick schemes, saying that he first used his own money, then the money of clients, then committed forgeries to keep the schemes a-going. William S. Hammond, esq., private counsel for the commonwealth, said: "When I was district attorney, I saw a man go out that door to the penitentiary for three years for stealing a chicken worth 25 cents. What should a man get, who stole over $100,000? Mr. Templeton had a fashion of plundering poor people and widows. He knew, by being an official in the bank, that Mrs. Sarah Fisher had money in the Blair County National bank, at three per cent. He got her to give it to him in exchange for the celebrated Howard Harpster note which was a forgery." In sentencing Templeton, Judge Baldrige made no remarks, beyond the words of the sentence.

Templeton Will Teach.

Former State Senator Chambers O. Templeton, who last week was removed to the western penitentiary, at West Penn. Allegheny, has already been assigned to an important duty in the penal institution. He has been appointed a teacher in the penitentiary school. A new departure will be taken up in the penitentiary, when a school for the illiterate confined there will be started. There will be one teacher for every ten men, and the teachers are being selected from among the more intelligent inmates of the institution. Among the instructors chosen is Mr. Templeton, who, on account of his superior mental attainments, will be given charge of one of the higher classes.

Death of Rev. Geo. D. Penepacker.

At 5:15 Saturday afternoon Dr. George D. Penepacker, pastor of the Fifteenth Street Methodist Episcopal church, of Huntingdon, passed away at his farm home near Marklesburg where he has been ill for nine weeks, suffering from attacks of paralysis. He was aged 63 years and 9 weeks, the first stroke coming on his 69th birthday. He entered the ministry in 1867 and has always been located in this part of the state, serving at Saxton, Birmingham, First church, Altoona; Ridge avenue Harrisburg; Tyrone; Bedford, Grace church and Mulberry street, Williamsport, Philadelphia, Clearfield, Mount Union, Bellefonte, Milton and other charges. He is survived by his wife a daughter and two sons.

The funeral was held on Tuesday afternoon, at 2 o'clock, from his bereaved cemetery, Huntingdon.

Gallagher Given 12 Years.
Declared legally sane by a jury, at Jersey City, last Tuesday, James J. Gallagher, who attempted to kill Mayor Gaynor as he was about to sail for Europe last August, was found guilty of atrocious assault with intent to kill Street Cleaning Commissioner Edwards, of New York, who was shot while attempting to aid the mayor, and was sentenced to twelve years in the state prison.

Hospital Notes.
Operations: Lulu Schrick, Daniel Shuey, Erma Brown, all of Bellefonte. Admitted for treatment: John Hassinger, of Scotia; and Joseph Gill, of Unionville.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Charles McCoy, of Bellefonte. 22 patients are now in the hospital.