Firemen Hold Banquet.
Tuesday evening marked the occasion for the annual election of officers of the Firemen's Relief Association of Bellefonte, which is always largely looked forward to by the fire laddies as it means a social gathering of no uncommon interest.

About a hundred members of both companies were present when the meeting was called to order by Preat Bent. Tote. Some routine business was transacted among which was the reporting of the Association room at the Bellefonte hospital being complete and in good shape; $3900 of the associations funds was reported placed as mortgages on Bellefonte properties; all the old officers were re-elected, as follows: President, Bent Tate; vice president, H. D. Brown; secretary, H. J. Jackson; treasurer, John McCusley; board of control, Alex Morrison and Harry J. Walkey.

After the transaction of business a banquet was held in the large engine room on the first floor of the building. The boys opened coats and waistcoats, and fell to with a hearty good will. Several pleasant hours were spent in feasting and social intercourse, and it was voted one of the most successful ever held.

Restless Prudes.
The nude statuary that will grace the front of the Pennsylvania capitol is now the topic of much criticism. It is the work of Artist Bernard, a Bellefonte boy, who has won fame abroad by the conception of these stately groups. They are masterpieces and are classed as rare works of art, and through them he has become famous the world over. The goody-goody, overly-nice, would-be-guardians of everybody's morals but their own, are insisting that these works of art be marred by drapery, that the false modesty be shocked. Oh! these nasty-nice, meddling prudes! are mostly hollow shams and whitened sepulchures; they infect every community like a plague and seek only such opportunities to infect themselves, by such praiseworthy schemes upon the public! Bellefonte recently had a similar exhibition of a similar character; and since there has been nothing doing around here of late to occupy their restless minds we anticipate their next resorting artist Bernard's work out of existence.

Shortly after the burial of Mr. Glosner the Evangelical bell tolled the death of Mrs. Lucy Harter, widow of David Harter; aged 74 years. She was an invalid at the home of her son, Calvin Harter, west of Jacksonville at which place she died.

S. B. Meyer, a well known citizen of Milesburg, has been lying very ill at his home at Milesburg, for the past fifteen weeks, and at present, all hopes are entertained for his recovery. Mr. Meyer is a millwright by trade and is widely known throughout the county. A general breaking down of the system in the cause of his enfeebled condition.

INTENSIVE FARMING.

That the State of Pennsylvania is a leader in intensive farming, the doctrine of which is being preached by the State College and the Pennsylvania Experiment Station, is indicated by statistics just compiled by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company for 1910 which show that Pennsylvania last year had 8,384,000 acres in cultivation in corn, barn, buckwheat, hay, oats, potatoes, rye, tobacco and wheat. This is 3.503 per cent. of the total of 239,343,800 acres under cultivation in these crops in the United States, and the average yield per acre in the State of Pennsylvania was $20.56, as compared with $14.53 for the average yield per acre throughout the country.

These figures are of special interest to the Pennsylvania Railroad, which in the past four years has been conducting an active campaign in the interests of scientific farming. Much instructive literature has been disseminated by the Railroad Company in the past four years, and various educational trains have been operated, various divisions from time to time. In this work the Railroad Company is co-operating with the State Agricultural Department and the State College of Agriculture.

The Pennsylvania Railroad recently announced that it had found its farming campaign a profitable one and that it intended to prosecute it vigorously during the present Winter. Arrangements are being made for demonstrations and lectures to be given in various parts of the State of Pennsylvania.

The comparative agricultural statistics of staple farm crops for the year 1910 have been tabulated by William J. Rose, Division Freight Agent of the Pennsylvania Railroad at Harrisburg. These have been issued in attractive form and are being given a wide distribution over the country. They show the total acreage for each crop, both in the United States and in the State of Pennsylvania, together with the average yield per acre. The total crop yield in the United States in 1910 was 22.4 bushels, and in Pennsylvania it was 26.5 bushels. The average yield per acre in corn was 27.4 bushels in the United States and 41 bushels in Pennsylvania. In oats Pennsylvania yielded 35.2 bushels as against 31.9, in wheat 17.8 bushels against 15.8 for the entire country and for tobacco 1,599 pounds per acre as against 797.5 pounds for the entire country.

Calf Is Milkmaid's Bank.
While going milking, Mrs. Luther Calvert, who lives at Clinton, S. C., dropped a pocketbook, containing five $20 bills, a ten and a five and three ones, besides a silver quarter. The money was missed an hour later and through search revealed the quarter, which showed signs of having been chewed on by a calf. A young heifer in the yard had a guilty look and a veterinary was summoned. The roll was extracted from the stomach in a badly mutilated condition.

The bills were taken to a local bank cashier who sent them to Washington to be redeemed.
