HOWARD.

"Perhaps the laws are not all that some of us would have; but what of that? Let us obey them while they are on the statute books, and endeavor to replace them by others more to our liking."

In Our Churches Next Sabbath.

United Evangelical—Pastor W. W. Rhoades will preach in Howard at half past ten o'clock, and at Jacksonville at half past seven.

Christian Scientists—Services at the home of Mrs. Thomas Mann.

Methodist Episcopal—Pastor R. S. Taylor will preach at Beech Creek at half past ten and at half past seven, and will administer the Holy Communion on both occasions. He will also preach at Hunter's Run at half past two.

Reformed—Pastor E. F. Faust will preach at Jacksonville at ten o'clock, at Marsh Creek at half past two, and in Howard at half past seven.

The Preaching Service in the Christian Chapel last Sabbath evening was made doubly interesting because good music was added to a good sermon. Rev. A. R. Day, of Alexandria, took for his text the fourth and fifth verses of the eighth Psalm, and early and inspiring sermon, pleasing to all his audience. The special music was a duet rendered by Mrs. John P. Condo and Prof. A. A. Fletcher, which is the same as saying that it was well done, the words of which were written by Mr. Day, and set to music by W. A. Martin, of East Waterford, Pa. Both words and music are new, and we quote the words:

BESIDE THE STILL WATERS.

Beside the waters still, So still no hummer may hear their flow, My weary soul led by His hand, Has found at last its blissful home.

Come to these waters, you will find Rest and peace for a weary mind; Beside these waters He leadeth me— Waters of life so pure and free.

Thirsty and tired I wandered alone, No flowing sands of desert draw; No flowers sprang up my way to cheer, No waters cool my thirst to slake.

But thirst and toil no more I know, For quaked safe by unseen hand, I've reached the streams that softly flow From sunlit hills of Heav'nly land.

A New Flag.—Patriotism and unfurling "Old Glory" are not always synonymous terms, by any means, but when the little children "chip in" their work and their pennies to purchase a flag for their school room they are doubtless inspired by a pure patriotism. This is what the pupils in our primary school did last week, and asked their teacher, Miss Mahel Loder, to send for a first class American flag, real bunting, and five feet long, properly proportioned, and on Thursday evening after school they had a good and profitable time, hoisting and draping it.

Mrs. C. M. Muffy was an eastward passenger on No. 50 last Saturday.

Miss Mayme Cummings departed for her home at Emporium last Wednesday.

C. A. Moore looked after business interests in Jersey Shore last Thursday and Friday.

Miss Gertrude and Maggie Crawford, of Coletville, visited their uncle, Joseph Smith, here last Wednesday.

W. G. Henry, of Jersey Shore, spent a day or two of last week with his father-in-law, Jerre Blaud.

Reuben Lucas is about the most active seventy-five-year-old man we have in this neck o' woods.

Clarence Johnson, of Juniata, with his two bright children, were Sunday visitors among their friends here.

Mrs. John M. Robb, her sister Miss S. J. Singer, and Miss Emma Robb, were Bellefonte visitors last Thursday.

Prof. Joseph Weirick, of Lock Haven, came up on No. 55 Sunday evening, for a brief visit with the home folks.

Mrs. John Holmes is at Centre Hall in attendance upon her brother John Conley, who is seriously ill at his home there.

Miss Marguerite Smith, of Williamsport, was last week's guest of her friends, Hunter and Miss Corilla Thomas.

Mrs. Harvey Mann departed on Tuesday last for Williamsport, where she has secured a pleasant and profitable position.

Mrs. Sarah B. Sweeney has returned from two or three weeks in Pittsburgh, and will probably remain with her sisters here until spring.

On Sunday afternoon at two o'clock at the home of the bride's father, T. J. Moore, in the township, Albert Butler and Frances Moore were married by "Squire Hayes Schenck."

Miss Helen Bannison has been confined to the house with grip for some weeks, but is again strong enough to go on a convalescing visit to her sisters in Mackeyville, last Friday.

On Thursday last Mrs. R. S. Taylor was one of a party of eight or ten ladies, chosen friends of Mrs. Virginia H. Curtin, to whom that lady tendered a handsome dinner at her home at Curtin.

The Bell telephone line in town has been practically out of commission for some time past, but some of the company's competent men get after it last Thursday, and now it is in fine working order.

Oscar M. Lucas, one of the "Pennsylvania" standbys at Altoona, came home Saturday for an over Sunday visit with his mother, and brought with him his handsome young friend, Miss Olive Moore.

Samuel Kling, of Marion township, and John M. Robb, of Howard township, are now regularly shipping their milk to Tyrone. This is, of course, only pending the opening of the condenser at Mill Hill.

William Zimmerman, of Clearfield, Henry L. Zimmerman, of Bolivar, N. Y., and their sister, Mrs. Albert Fisher, of Unionville, all spent several days of last week with their other sister, Mrs. A. M. Butler, at her pleasant home, just out of town.

J. Edwards Taylor, who entered the employ of the C. & O. Railway, as a stenographer, last fall, and was stationed at Cabin Creek Junction, has been promoted to cashier of the office at that place, the change carrying a nice addition to his salary with it.

G. H. Buckley, recently stationed at Julian, has been promoted to Howard, and now has the third trick in the tower here, and safely guides the trains over his block during the night. He has moved his family into the Summer Riddle house, south of the railroad.

The Hon. Ellis L. Orvis was one of our visitors last Tuesday.

Mrs. Decker, of Williamsport, spent most of last week with her friend, Mrs. William Schenck.

Remember the Francis Willard memorial, this Thursday evening, in the Reformed church 7:30 o'clock.

The Bald Eagle Telephone Co. held its annual stockholders' meeting last Tuesday, and chose the following board of directors: Dr. W. J. Kurtz, Hon. E. L. Orvis, J. A. Bitner, Wm. A. Batchlet and C. W. Cooke.

Mrs. S. V. Bergen, of Coal Centre, Allegheny county, formerly Miss Nellie Hopkins, of Howard, is here visiting her family and friends, while her minister husband is serving the Father in the conduct of a protracted meeting in the Presbyterian church at Peatersburg.

Flock of Wild Geese, numbering between fifty and sixty, flew over town in a northwesterly direction last Monday between three and four o'clock in the afternoon. They flew quite high, and with business-like rapidity. Is spring just upon us or do these geese start a little early?

Prof. Milford Fletcher's lecture upon the time of Shakespeare and his influence upon his writings, in the High school room last Friday evening, was of decided interest and value to the class, for whose benefit it was largely delivered. The Professor has studied his subject with care and good purpose.

Rev. J. C. Reeser, P. E., preached every night last week at the Evangelical church at Fairview, with much success. The meeting is still in progress, under the ministrations of Rev. W. W. Rhoades, the pastor. Last Sabbath Mr. Rhoades admitted twenty-eight new members to the church at that point, having first baptized six of them.

Well! If the county commissioners have made the court house so fine that it is too good for the taxpayers, who will be called upon to foot the bills to hold a good roads meeting in, when that all-important subject is being promoted under the combined auspices of The Pennsylvania State College, the Pennsylvania Railroad company, the State Highway Department, and the United States Office of Highways, these same commissioners are just about good enough to leave at home next fall to look after their private business; every last man of them, and we "country folks" will remind them of it at the primaries.

James Tyson, of the township, and one of its most worthy citizens, arrived at his sixty-ninth marker in life's journey on Tuesday last week. He was one of the faithful in the time of stress in the early sixties, and made a good record as a soldier; and about all the veterans in the neighborhood called to see the old comrade on that day and tender him their congratulations. Even William H. Neff, himself verging on eighty, braved the cold winds which were whistling, and made himself one of the big sled load who made the trip. The other comrades were: J. R. Pheasant, H. J. Fletcher, J. G. Tyson, David Tanyer, John Knarr, M. P. Holter, H. C. Holter, and Rev. W. W. Rhoades. This party of companions in arms presented the fine old gentleman with a handsome rocker, the presentation speech being made by Chaplain W. W. Rhoades in his usual happy vein. Others who joined in the festive occasion were Solomon D. Tice, J. F. Schenck, Mr. and Mrs. Irvin M. Lucas, and Pearl Lucas, Essie Herr, Belle Poorman and Clara Cole. Mrs. Tyson and her young aides honored the guests with a royal turkey dinner, with stacks of "fixins," and everybody was happier and better for the day of pleasing social intercourse.

STATE COLLEGE. Phillip D. Foster has leased his coal shed and trade to H. D. Meek to go into effect February 20th.

The town council are hauling stone to South Atherton street to make a macadamized road.

The wrestling match between Lehigh University and State resulted in three falls, one decision and one forfeit for State, leaving one fall and one forfeit for Lehigh.

Howard Moore, of Howard, was in town Saturday looking up contracts for the sale of brick.

James A. Rice will hold an examination on Saturday to secure eligibles for the U. S. Civil Service Commission at this place.

The L. O. O. F. will banquet on Friday night in McAllister Hall; a large attendance and good time is looked forward to.

Miss Hilda Wagner, of Howard, spent Sunday in State College at the Theta Xi House as a guest of Miss Josie Dietz, who accompanied her to her home in Howard on Monday a. m.

Fred Leathers was seen on the streets of the borough on Monday.

The "Pastime" is well attended every night. The seating capacity is entirely too small for the people.

The Rev. L. S. Sasserman preached a very able sermon to a large audience on Sunday night.

The new firm who are successors of George Myers & Co. have embarked as the State College Fuel and Supply Co., and are ready to fill all orders promptly in all kinds of coals.

The family of Prof. Hugh P. Baker have arrived and are centrally located in one of Mr. Orwig's new brick houses on South Atherton street.

WADDLE. Mrs. J. W. Hartsock has returned home from a visit to Avis and Jersey Shore.

Mary Hoy, who was operated on for appendicitis several weeks ago, is getting along nicely. We all hope for her speedy recovery.

Preaching services will be held in the M. E. church next Sunday at 2:45 P. M.

Some of the pupils from Waddle school were up to visit Stony Point school and report having a fine time.

Some of our young people attended the recital held at the M. E. church at Stormstown on Saturday evening, February 11th.

Boys! Get your cow bells and horns ready for you will have occasion to use them in the near future.

SOBER. Mrs. Mary Zerby is a pleasant caller at U. B. Ammon's this week.

Miss Lettie Wolfe, who was staying at Milroy with her sister Amanda, came home last Wednesday.

Grover Solt, of Bellefonte, spent Sunday with John Eberst.

James A. Finkle started on Monday morning for Tennessee; he expects to stay south this summer. His father, O. E. Finkle, has taken charge of the stove mill and will run it in full time.

Milton Vonada and family spent Sunday at J. J. Gentzel's.

Uriah Ammon spent a couple days at Williamsport and Trout Run.

The stork visited the home of William Musser's and left them a little cook.

UNIONVILLE.

Mrs. Mattie Musser recently returned home after a prolonged visit to friends at Pottsville.

Say, you farmers, don't forget the Farmer's Institute to be held on Wednesday and Thursday of next week in the Presbyterian church at this place, 22nd and 23rd. Good music, good speakers; everybody come. First session Wednesday 1:30 o'clock p. m.

The Rev. Dr. M. C. Piper, who for five years, so ably and acceptably filled the Milesburg and Unionville charges of the M. E. church and who, two years ago, was transferred to the Mapleton charge in Huntingdon county, and who owns and has conducted a farm not far from the Reformatory, has concluded to "cut out" the farming and will accordingly make sale of his personal property on March the 23rd, including horses, cattle, farm machinery, etc.

The Confession of robber Lewis that has been published as a "Serial" in the Centre Democrat is intensely interesting and recalls many stories related of Lewis and Combs by my father as we were gathered around the old chimney fire "when I was a boy". A number of which would no doubt be very interesting and which are not included in his confession.

The water question has again been agitated recently. A man from "somewhere" offered to put in the plant at his own expense, if the right of way was guaranteed, as a money investment. The borough to take a certain number of fire plugs at $15. each per year. At a joint meeting of the council and the man from "somewhere" nothing definite was accomplished. The man who will succeed in persuading our citizens of the great advantage of having water works in our town, isn't born yet—so don't worry.

Joseph Gill, who recently came home from the Bellefonte hospital, is not improving very much. I am sorry to report, but he is encouraged and hopeful.

Martin Hogan, to use a common expression, is very poorly. His mind has been somewhat affected.

Mrs. Weaver, Mrs. Hogan's mother, is much better and will be around again in a few days.

Another one of our good young men, Hassel Store, has pulled up stakes, kissed his mother and sisters goodbye and gone out into the wide, wide world to seek his fortune. He will take his initiatory course in the study of electricity at the Edison Conservatory, Orange, N. J. Hassel, we predict, will "succeed."

(On account of lack of space we were compelled to hold over until next week an interesting article on the reminiscences of "Domino" when he taught the Armagast school, near Hunter's Park, in 1861.—Editor.)

COBURN. Mrs. H. S. Snyder and two daughters, Pauline and Grace, and Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Shively, all of Millinburg, spent a few days here recently.

HARTER.—After a few weeks of intense suffering, Mrs. Catherine Harter, nee Kleckner, widow of the late Andrew Harter, died on Sunday morning at the home of her son James, where she has had her home during her illness, in her death, Coburn lost one of her best women as a neighbor and christian. Funeral services were held Wednesday in the Lutheran church of which denomination she was a member. Interment was made in Fairview cemetery at Millheim. She is survived by her sons, Dr. George Alvin, of Maytown; Prof. Andrew J., of Altoona, and James E., of Coburn.

The primary school was closed several days last week, the teacher T. A. Hosterman being unable to teach on account of serious illness of his wife.

RECENT DEATHS.

HUBER.—Mrs. Elizabeth Huber died on Tuesday morning at the home of her son-in-law, William Grenning, at Loganton, of the infirmities of old age, deceased having passed her 83rd year. She leaves three children, C. D. Boyer, of New Berlin, Pa.; Mrs. Ira Smull, of Newton, Kan., and Mrs. Ella Grenning, of Loganton.

WAY.—Harold Edward, oldest child of Lawrence S. and Luella Way, died last Monday between 7 and 8 a. m., at Wingate, after an illness of a little more than a week with intumescence of the throat. The deceased was aged 4 years and 5 days, and was loved by all who came in contact with him for his cheerful disposition. He is survived by his parents and one brother Nelson, who in their sad bereavement have the sincere sympathy of the entire community. The funeral services were held Wednesday forenoon at the M. E. church at Stormstown; interment at the Gray cemetery at Stormstown.

HARTER.—Within a comparatively short time, the family of Andrew Harter, of Coburn was called on the death messenger, embracing his own immediate family and himself, and several near relatives, brothers and sisters, viz: Andrew Harter was called hence some two years ago. John Harter, a brother at the same home, passed away a few months ago. Mrs. Andrew Harter, widow of the above named, died on Friday last and was buried on Monday. Mrs. Benj. Gentzel, a sister of Mr. Andrew Harter, dec'd, died some weeks ago. Mrs. Phillip Shook a sister of Mr. Andrew Harter, died inside of a few weeks.

EMERICK.—Mrs. Catherine Emerick, wife of the late Henry Emerick, died at her home in Centre Hall, on Monday morning of last week, after an extended illness with dropsy. Just about three weeks previous to Mrs. Emerick's death her husband passed away at the home in that place. She was the daughter of Samuel Weaver, and was born near Penn Cayne, Gregg township. Her age was a little more than seventy-three years. Three children survive, namely: J. Frank, of Penn Hill; Harvey H., of Charles City, Ia.; Samuel S., of Washington state; George, of North Angle, Cal.; Newton E., of Altoona; Benjamin H., of Centre Hall, and Howard, of Minnesota, Mont. Also one brother living—Daniel Weaver, of Gregg township. Funeral services were held on Thursday morning by Rev. Bieber, after which interment was made in the cemetery at Centre Hall.

HEATON.—Mahlon Heaton, aged about fourteen years, died at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jeff. Shope, at Johnstown, on Saturday last, of pneumonia. The young man was a son of the late Harvey Heaton, who was killed by a fall from a telephone pole several years ago. His mother before marriage to Mr. Heaton was Miss Nannie Moran, who survived her husband but a short time after his untimely death. Mahlon ever since has made his home with his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Shope, at Johnstown. He was a fine looking young man and well liked by all his associates. A half-brother, Charles Moran, of this place, survives. The body was brought to Bellefonte on the noon train, Monday, and taken to the United Brethren church, where services were conducted by Rev. Winney, the pastor, after which interment was made in the Union cemetery.
