EDITORIAL.

The extra session of congress called by president Taft, will convene early in April, to pass the Canadian reciprocity tariff. This is a democratic measure and one of which William J. Bryan was an early champion.

The Curwensville Mountaineer announced that the tannery at that place is to be enlarged and that the work will commence at once.

"WHERE ARE WE AT?"

Keystone Party Sentiment Strong in Clearfield County. Elsewhere in these columns will be found a full report of the meeting of the seven members of the reorganization committee authorized at the recent meeting of the Democratic State Central Committee in Harrisburg on March 2nd.

The selection of these new leaders was bitterly fought by the three members representing the Guffey-Hall faction and notice was served by Charles P. Donnelly, spokesman for the minority; that they would not submit to the ousting of Guffey and Dewalt.

What the outcome will be no man can tell. For the present, at least, there will be two so-called Democratic State organizations. The Guffey-Hall bunch has the franchise and nothing else. The opposition has the good wishes of all decent Democrats not only in Pennsylvania but the country over.

The trouble now to be encountered is that all court rulings in like party fights have been favorable to the fellows controlling the franchise. Could the question be settled as to the primaries there is no question but the reorganizers would win easily. But it cannot be settled there with any degree of certainty, because thousands upon thousands of good Democrats throughout the State favor the continuation of the Keystone party organization and will not affiliate with or under any so-called Democratic county organization bearing the Guffey-Hall brand.

That is the situation in Clearfield county beyond any question. Clearfield county Democrats generally who voted for William H. Berry and D. Clarence Gibbons last November will not return to any organization headed by Jim Hall lieutenants. That the so-called Democratic organization in Clearfield county, impotent as it has proven itself to be, is subservient to all who want to know. County Chair, man Dutra clearly demonstrated where he stands when he voted against reorganizing the party at the Harrisburg meeting on March 2nd.

There he gave proof positive that Jim Hall and the few fellows in this county who line up with Hall are more potent with him than the other 5500 Democrats of this county who want no Guffey-Hall domination of the Democratic party in their.

The only logical place for decent Democrats in Pennsylvania today seems to be in the Keystone party. At least it is the only respectable place to stay until the Guffey-Dewalt fellows get out of the leadership; get out of positions where they can be used by Hall, Donnelly & Co., to deliver the organization to Penrose when he needs it.—Clearfield Republican.

THE NEW PARTY LEADERS.

For the first time in many years, says the Harrisburg Patriot, the Democrats of Pennsylvania have now in the two most important positions in the party organization, men in whose ability and integrity they have perfect confidence; men who can be neither hoodwinked nor seduced; who cannot be bought; with whom no contract for spoils can be made by Penrose or his representatives; who stand for real Democracy; who cannot be handled by any man, clique, or faction; men who will truly represent the party—the rank and file, the men who cast the votes—and who will work earnestly and unselfishly for its solidification and its success.

In accepting the positions of State Chairman and member of the National Democratic Committee, respectively, Hon. George W. Guthrie and Hon. A. Mitchell Palmer, very reluctantly yielded to urgent solicitation, and did so at great personal sacrifice. It means for them incessant, long continued and arduous labor. A party that has been repeatedly betrayed into the hands of the enemy, that has been disintegrated and demoralized by incompetent and treacherous leadership is to be reorganized, rehabilitated, revitalized and made a strong, compact, militant force.

"REGULARITY" vs. IRREGULARITY.

When one's record is clear for that which is pure and consistent, "regularity," of which one hears so much of late, is a gem. But when there is a record dotted with irregularity, it is in bad taste to hear from such a source homilies upon "regularity," ground out by the perch, to hide an irregular past.

The curse of Philadelphia is gangster rule which every honest republican was glad to say, will admit, and every honest democrat has denounced and deplored these many years. There are fellows in that city, as is well known, masquerading under the tag of democrats, who are cheek by jowl with the worst republican gangsters of that city, and with the republican gang like bees and as they play the highway robber against the citizens of that town.

These have a following from both parties in some of the counties, and partake of the plunder in the shape of offices and divies in the enormous sums filched from the taxpayers. It is at this time a revolt has broken out among the honest people of the city and state, with an attempt to clean house. Last fall's election has plainly shown that gangsters will no longer be tolerated in their nefarious work.

Now we hear the hypocritical cry of "regularity" behind which the gangsters hide and make believe they are the pure ones, and that the deposing of Dewalt from the chairmanship of the democratic organization is irregular and unlawful, and notwithstanding how distasteful his affiliation with the Philadelphia gangsters may have been, he can not be deposed legally. Jefferson and Jackson were champions of the old Constitution, which has a clause declaring that the senate and house shall be judges of the qualifications of a member, and that clause is found in every state constitution. Hence, a member, no matter how precise the election has been in regularity and law, if such a member is found to have acted corruptly, his "regularity" will not save him and he can be expelled from the body in which he disgraces a seat. The same principle will hold in the Dewalt case.

The democratic central committee has found the chairman guilty of affiliating with the Philadelphia gangsters, and for that reason he was deposed.

Is there a democratic precedent? We have one to serve the purpose in the case of Sam Joseph's, who, masquerading as a democrat and was elected a member of the state legislature a number of terms under "regularity" and went to the democratic state convention at Lancaster as a democratic delegate, but was a notorious affiliate with the republican gangsters of Philadelphia. The late U. S. Senator, Hon. William A. Stover, chairman, able and pure, and the late chairman, Sam Joseph's expelled state delegate from the state convention on account of his being in constant cahoot with the corruptionists of the opposite party—yet the expulsion was of one elected under "regularity." Any party or organization can avail itself of similar means to expel or depose one who has odium attached—and instances are frequent without the rogues cry of "regularity" having any force in protecting the accused.

The principle is older than our government by near two thousand years, when Judas Iscariot was accused by his disciples as being one who, for hire, would betray him, and Judas was deposed as one of the disciples, although he had obtained that sacred and renowned position under the most rigid rules of "regularity," and went and hanged himself.

Faithful, Fearless, Effective. It cannot be gaisaid that George W. Guthrie, who succeeds Mr. Dewalt as State Chairman, adds strength to the Democratic organization. Representative Palmer is of the progressive, frank, earnest and able element who, with Mr. Guthrie, will invite confidence and trust.

"Buffalo Bill" For Senate. It is semi-officially stated that Colonel William F. Cody, "Buffalo Bill," plans to round out his career by becoming the first United States senator from Arizona. The colonel does not deny the rumor. He has established a home in Tucson and a permanent camp in the mountains. There is a company in the Senate for Buffalo Bill—and he is aware of it and would not be lonesome, but be a drawing card in Uncle Sam's menagerie.
