ROCK VIEW.

Well! Here we are again. Rock Forge was wondering if Rock View was dead or only sleeping—we are only sleeping.

Miss Amelia Neese visited at Pine Grove last week.

We are sorry to say that Mrs. Saul is worse again.

Oscar Fishburn has been visiting friends in our View the past week.

Mrs. Bert Hartman and Mrs. William Fishburn are having quite a serious time this winter; hope they will soon be able to be around.

Harry Cox, of Tyrone, visited his sister, Mrs. S. H. Hoy, last week.

We are glad to say Mr. Briggs is able to be around again.

There are only two weeks' school any more; no doubt the pupils will be glad for the vacation.

There was quite a number of our people attended church at Axeman Sunday morning, as Mr. Sower preached his farewell sermon; it seems too bad that he must leave this charge, as he was very much liked.

We are not having much moving around in our View this spring—a few new people coming in.

Miss Mary Fravel visited in Wilkinsburg last week.

Samuel Cramer received the sad news of his little niece at State College being dead.

In last week's paper the scribe at Rock Forge was telling us, just where they were situated; no doubt it would be interesting for the scribe to know just where we are situated; we are bounded on the north by the river and on the east by the hills.

There are about twenty-five cents per hour for common labor; carpentering work is $3.50 per day. I must close for fear my letter will find the waste basket.

FROM COLORADO.

Perhaps a letter to "The Centre Democrat" from an old Centre county democrat, now residing in Colorado, in the town of Limon, county of Lincoln, will prove interesting.

Three years ago Limon just had one little sod dwelling, now there is an incorporated borough of over two hundred houses, and in it, there are five large stores, one drug store and two saloons, three large temperance boarding houses, jeweler shop, two barber shops, one harness making shop, two meat markets, one pool room, two banks, three doctors' offices, two large auto garage and repair shops, one blacksmith shop, one tinner's shop and one cement block foundry; there is a large round house with machine shop attached, and there is a large coal chute where all engines coal, that run from Chicago to Denver, Colorado; and there is a company of men putting down water pipes. It is one mile from the south side of the town to the north side of the town, where they are piping the water. They have erected a tower ninety feet high and put a large steel tank on it. The country is settled now, as far as thirty miles back, all of the homestead land is taken up. For that distance back there is lots of railroad land that can be bought. There have been about three hundred homesteads taken up within the past four years and there is a colony of fifty families coming in from Chicago, this spring.

Being of Catholic descent, they are going to build a large church, a large hospital and a large school house. This is a fine country, the climate being mild and warm. There are about five thousand head of cattle that have grazed on the prairie all winter and did not have to be fed any, and there are about twelve thousand sheep being herded on the plains.

We had three or four small spurts of snow, but it lasted only an hour or two. The grass is getting nice and green out here, times are good, wages are twenty-five cents per hour for common labor; carpentering work is $3.50 per day. I must close for fear my letter will find the waste basket.

REBERSBURG.

An infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Winkleblich died on Friday night, and was buried on Saturday in the Evangelical cemetery.

C. M. Bierly, wife and son spent a few days in our town last week.

Robert Meyer, who is attending school at Lewisburg, is visiting his parents here.

J. C. Morris, a teacher in Huntingdone Reformatory, spent Sunday at his home, here.

Miss Mary Bright has again returned to Dickinson Seminary, Williamsport.

Rev. E. E. Haney preached his farewell sermon in the Evangelical church on Sunday morning.

Prof. C. L. Gramly gave a party for his school on Friday evening in the school house. They returned to his home for refreshments. All reported a good time.

Wallace Bierly moved from West Rebersburg to the home of Sarah Strohecker.

Prof. E. M. Drungard and family are visiting at J. W. Harters.

Mann Axe Factory Burned.

Fire of unknown origin destroyed the plant of H. William H. Mann & Sons, axe and edge tool manufacturers, at Yeagertown, at 7 o'clock Friday morning; loss $200,000, partly covered by insurance.

The flames originated in the tempering department at an hour when all the employees of the plant were at work. This department abounds in turpentine and oils of a combustible nature, but was so well protected by modern devices that it was thought impossible that fire could get among them. Every effort to stay the flames was made by the local fire company of Yeagertown, as well as one organized among the employees, but the nature of the material in fire made it impossible.

The Manns entered the axe and tool business in the vicinity of Yeagertown more than seventy-five years ago, when they carried the steel used by them from the wharf of the old Pennsylvania canal in Lewistown to their backs to the plant. About 1831, James Mann, then in control, sold their interest, including the right of their celebrated brands, to the American Ax and Tool company, and was made treasurer of the company. The plant was immediately closed, the machinery dismantled and broken up to be sold to the junk dealers.

Ten years later, in 1890, the present plant was built and put in operation as an independent plant. Their finished capacity was 2,800 axes every twelve hours, and their history one of prosperity.

Want Teeth Lost in Mail.

A Jersey spinner entrusted her false teeth in the mails and they went astray. Postmaster-General Hitchcock has received the following appeal from her:

"Dear Sir: I suppose you have received a note from the Camden postmaster that the upper plates of my teeth have been lost in the mails. They were mailed at Camden on Jan. 1. I should like very much to hear from you. If you are unfortunate enough to have stored teeth you may know how inconvenient it is to have to do without them, and I have not had them even a year. I paid $3 for them and I cannot afford to get any more just now. So will you kindly do what you can for me and as quickly as possible?"

"P. S.—They were very good teeth." The Postmaster-General put one of the best inspectors in the service on the job to find the missing ivory.

In Illinois.

G. E. Greninger, of Orangeville, writes: Enclosed please find two one dollar bills, for which renew my subscription from June 1, 1910 to June 1, 1912. It comes as a letter from home every Saturday and I would miss it more than any paper I take. We are having very pleasant weather, but it is quite dry for this time of the year. The farmers have begun to work in the fields.

LETTER FROM TEXAS.

Editor Centre Democrat: Several of my friends in Pennsylvania have made inquiry in regards to war with Mexico. I have thus far heard very little mentioned about here. There is no loafing in town in the evening and very little traveling after dark; all shopping and business matters are attended to during the day. Now about the war troubles with Mexico, I will endeavor to give you a brief idea of what I saw and learned during Saturday and Sunday, March 18th and 19th. James Harbaugh, a number of other friends of this town, and myself, took advantage of the excursion rates to Galveston to see the soldiers and battle ships and the city in general. From Fort Bolivar the entire train is ferried across the bay, a distance of seven miles. The trip was certainly delightful. We arrived in the city in the morning and had the pleasure of seeing the U. S. transportation ship Summer arrive with 1400 soldiers, who started from New York, about six days previous. I spoke with some of the boys and they stated that the trip was quite rough and that all were glad to get ashore on account of the crowded condition on board ship. We also saw the transportation ships Klipartie and McClellan arrive with about the same amount of soldiers on board. After the sailors landed, they pitched their tents at Fort Crockett, which is now called a city of tents. The Fort Crockett is a large heap of sand. The storm on Saturday night easily lifted the tent stakes, blew down some of the tents, and some of the boys got some taste of real soldier life, by being drenched to the skin by the heavy rain. Yet all seemed to be cheerful and engaged in some sort of amusement. Some were walking along the beach, some shaving, some jumping across their tents, some chasing a rabbit, and all piping things lively in general. Their quarters were only temporary and orders were given to be ready to move inside of 12 or 24 hours, which does not look like bluffing.

Besides the transportation ships, we had the privilege to go on board the U. S. battle ships Tacoma and Salem. The Salem was anchored out in the bay, and we boarded a gasoline launch and took a twelve mile ride, and had the pleasure of inspecting the battle ship which was ready for immediate fighting. The ship was already painted dark, everything was polished up and clean as can be. They had a great amount of provisions, such as potatoes, onions, apples, and substantial food. The Tacoma was in dock and open to public inspection, but was still painted white and buff. The large guns were not polished up and everything so clean like the Salem.

Seventy thousand soldiers are supposed to be in Galveston; many more at Fort Sam Houston and besides a great many at San Antonio and other forts. If it is a bluff it is an expensive one. On Saturday Captain Killian bought 60,000 pounds of beef, besides a great amount of other provisions.

Galveston is a great city, with a fine beach and harbor; it is a lively city with fine buildings and streets; the people of all classes are unusually well dressed. There are still some out-of-date methods employed, but in general, I am favorably impressed with the city. It is more up-to-date than New Orleans, La. We saw some corn about four feet high and some dry garden vegetables. It was quite fine for some time, but we had a good rain on Saturday night. Recently 20 carloads of cattle were shipped from here to Cuba. There are still thousands of head on the large cattle ranches, also large droves of horses. J. W. BRUNGART, Stowell, Tex., March 26, 1911.

Coming of Spring.

The joyous spring is close at hand, the spring, that renovates the land! And once again the birds will sway on bending boughs, and sing all day; the skies will be serene and fair, and and girls will swing on garden gates, and there'll be swarms of candidates. The world will wear its garb of green, but we will not enjoy the scene; the birds shall sing their songs in vain, for we can't hear the gentle strain; the candidates will get us all; and back up against a wall, and twist their fingers in our coats, and tell us that they need our votes. In vain the fragrant breeze shall blow, in vain the twinkling stars shall glow; we won't have time for things like these; we'll listen to the same old wheeze from patriots who tell us why they come once more to bleed and die. And so I dread the gentle spring; I like the bees, I like the bowers, I like the waltz-you-call-'em flowers. I like the bluebirds and their mates, but oh! I hate the candidates.—Walt Mason.

When the bookkeeper loses his balance he naturally feels upset about it.

In Clinton county twenty republican candidates have announced themselves as candidates for the county offices to be filled at the coming fall election.

RUNNING A NEWSPAPER.

George Ade says about every other fellow you meet thinks he could run a good hotel, and we have come to the conclusion that about every one could run a fine newspaper, remarks Eugene L'Hote, the genial editor and publisher of the Milford (Ill.) Herald editorially in a recent issue of that bright and interesting paper. Men will take the liberty to tell you how to run a paper, asserts L'Hote, when they wouldn't think of hinting to a merchant how to conduct his store or tell the preacher what to preach. They pay good money for schools and don't know whether Johnny is learning the rule of three or how to hold a cigarette gracefully, but when it comes to the newspaper, sizzling cats, that's where they all get off. During the past week a friend wanted to know why we didn't try and run a paper a little more along the lines of how Christ would run a paper. We don't know just how that would be. In the first place if Christ was back on earth we don't believe he would go into the newspaper business at all, and if he did we are sure he wouldn't come to Milford to do it. If our friend had wanted it more on a religious plane we could tell him frankly it wouldn't pay. There is not an editor or a preacher that could tell the truth for thirty days and stay in the community in which they live. If our friend doubts this let him try telling the absolute truth for just one week and see where he lights. We never were much to "soft soap" or "blarney" any one; in fact our bluntness and honesty of speech has cost us many friends. Tell the truth! We aren't going to do it, yet, we believe there would be a better understanding with humanity, many times, if people had the courage to do it. A Kansas editor announced he would try for one week and he is still in the hospital. He didn't get past the first day. The following item appeared in Monday's issue and now the boys are getting out the paper. This is what he said: "Married Miss Sylvia Rhode to James Cannaham, last Sunday evening at the Baptist church. The bride was an ordinary town girl who don't know any more than a rabbit about cooking and never helped her mother three days in her life. She is not a beauty by any means and has a gait like a duck. The groom is an up-to-date loafer, has been living off the old folks all his life, and don't amount to shucks now. They will have a hard life while they live together."

A TALK TO SUPERVISORS

You soon will be busily engaged making repairs on roads in your district. Every year the bridges and culverts need renewing or rebuilding. Each year it is more difficult to secure proper lumber and the prices are increasing.

Why not make a permanent job; put an end to further repairs and expense? You can do it by constructing concrete arches, culverts, drains, abutments and bridges of concrete that will endure for ages. Many supervisors in Centre county have wisely adopted this policy—why don't you do it?

Anybody can mix up a batch of sand and cement, but it requires judgment, experience, and special machinery to do it properly, otherwise it is a failure.

If you are a supervisor, think it over; cost nothing to consult us.

THE SPIRIT OF EASTER

and the Goddess of Health both work for purity and cleanliness. Modern sanitary plumbing forms a most important medium towards attaining this desirable factor, for with the improvements in bathrooms, kitchens, lavatories and other essentials to modern homes which have been gained by porcelain and enameled tubs, sinks and closets and open plumbing, disease and illhealth can be greatly eliminated. Therefore celebrate the coming of Easter by installing the right kind of plumbing in your home.
