From a careful inspection made after the fire it was found that an electric light wire crossed a pipe and was pressed against the woodwork in the lower floor. Athough the wire had the ordi-Four nary insulation, the placing of the pipe against it was a blunder on the part of Works, in Philadelphia, the workmen who did it. It is thought that an extra heavy electrical charge from a storm, sent over the wire caped through the insulation to the pipe, and hau made a contact that easiy created sufficient heat to charr and finally ignite the woodwork which might have been idering for several hours prior to its discovery

REPLANTING FOR SEVEN MTS.

The state forest reserve, known as the even-mountain tract, in Centre counnow contains 23,000 acres of some of the best second growth timber to found anywhere in the state. In addition to this natural growth, the state forestry department is carrying on a reforestation campaign of great magnitude on this tract. In this immense reserve there are many abandoned farms, and these fields are being planted with white pine trees. Last 100,000 2-year-old seedlings from six to fifteen inches long were planted, and during April and May of this year, more than 300,000 embryo white pines were planted. In addition to the pine planted, more than 200 willow cuttings ere set out in the celebrated "Bear At the main entrance to the church on Meadows" in an effort to reclaim this well-known swamp. Another interesting experiment along this line that is being watched carefully throughout this region is the attempt to determine just what to do in order place the fire was located. On Monday afternoon, at about the time the storm was raging over Bellefonte, the new clock in the court house ower stopped at twenty minutes after our. At first it was thought that the tower might have been struck by lightning and an examination was made by Frank P. Blair, the jeweler. He found that the wire cable that carries the heavy weights had broken and allowed weights to drop considerable distance into a pit that had been prepared for just such an accident. This pit was illed to a depth of several feet with fine paper, like confetti, that absorbed the force of the fall and no damage was done to the building, except the breaking of several boards. Upon closer examina-tion it was found that the wire cable was badly slit and cut for several feet. clock was wound up.
