HOWARD.

"No grace can save any man unless he helps himself."—Beecher

In Our Churches Next Sabbath, Methodist Episcopal—Pastor R. S. Taylor will preach at Howard at half past ten; at Kennedy at half past two, and at Curtin at half past seven.

United Evangelical—Pastor M. J. Snyder will preach at Fairview at half past ten; at Jacksonville at half past two, and in Howard at half past seven.

Christian Scientist—Service at the home of Mrs. Thomas Mann at ten o'clock.

Reformed—Pastor E. F. Faust will preach at Altona at ten o'clock, at Mt. Bethel at half past two, and in Howard at half past seven.

Notes of the Show.

It was the "Silver King." The proprietor and star actor was James Arnold.

Vaudeville and moving pictures were all it pretended to give.

Eight persons constituted its whole force, from stake pounders to star.

They were among the most gentlemanly and ladylike show people that have ever visited Howard, and the entire absence of drinking, swearing and swaggers among them has been well spoken of by our best critics.

It was a "cheap show," to be sure—and a small one—the Barnums and Balleys and Ringlins could not afford to stop a week in towns the size of Howard—but those who attended got the worth of their money.

Walter J. Buck, Ray Oyler and Chester Lucas were local lights who gave specialties in song and dance, and by vote of the audience Buck won the silver prize for his performance.

Their method of selling tickets accompanied by the privilege of voting for the "most popular lady," and the "finest baby," seemed entirely fair and straightforward.

Little Hilda Walzer led in the voting contest, and won the handsome doll baby prize.

Miss Grace Fisher won the "popular lady" decision by a majority of several hundred thousand, and received a really fine set of "plate silver," containing twenty seven pieces, of triple plate, manufactured by the Conn Silver Co.; half dozen each of knives, forks, table and tea spoons, butter knife, sugar shell, and napkin ring.

Friday's Storm.

The severe rush of hail, rain, thunder, lightning and wind, which swept our section at noon last Friday, left its marks and scars all over the town and in the adjoining townships, although no buildings were seriously damaged. Trees and crops suffered to a considerable extent. In many cases entire cornfields are flattened to the ground, and orchards were badly stripped of the maturing fruit, large and small branches were broken away, and many trees blown out. In the village the two losses most to be regretted are the large section of the horse chestnut, in the lawn of William Weber—the largest and handsomest in town—and the complete destruction of the fine old willow which for many years shaded the well pertaining to the old log "speering house" at the lock. It was the last relic of the old home of the lock-tender in the days when the Bald Eagle canal was in operation, and its loss will awaken memories of their youth in the minds of many, who are now active in the world's work in all parts of the country.

Mrs. Mansfield, of Altoona, visited with friends here last Thursday.

Charles DeHaas is acting as chauffeur for Dr. Sebring, in Bellefonte.

Hon. D. F. Fortney was a dinner guest in the Woodward home last Sunday.

Miss Mary Holter, of Williamsport, is the guest of her sister, Mrs. James F. Kane.

Rumors of the reorganization and development of our band, are afloat. So might it be.

Rev. M. J. Snyder is nicely recovering from an illness which laid him up for several days.

Mrs. William H. Neff is entertaining her cousin, Mrs. Mary Stevenson, of Cleveland, Ohio.

John M. Beck, of Dayton, Armstrong county, was a guest of his cousin, M. L. Beck, last week.

Robert Rothrock is the engineer of a steam thrashing outfit, now running in the neighborhood of Yarnell.

Miss Charlotte Gheen, of Williamsport, a niece of Mrs. Watts, is visiting at the home of Mrs. DeHaas.

Mrs. Katherine McKintey is enjoying a visit from her almost life-long friend, Mrs. Dexter, of Philadelphia.

Miss Alice M. Fletcher, who has enjoyed a vacation with her friends here, left on Monday for her work in Philadelphia.

Mrs. Cora Yearick and Miss Rilla Hayes, sisters, of Clintondale, were guests of Squire A. A. Fletcher last Sabbath.

The Messdames Lauth and Commerford were guests at an evening dinner given by Mrs. Etta Leathers last Saturday.

Miss Emma R. Fletcher is spending the week with friends in Clearfield, Mehauffey, McGee's Mills, and at other points in Clearfield.

Mrs. Stewart Council, of Pittsburg, formerly Miss Ella Smith, of Howard, spent several days of last week with her old friends here.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Fry and little daughter, of Mehauffey, were guests during the latter half of last week of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Cooke.

Rev. Samuel Martin, pastor of the Presbyterian church at State College, is camping this week with a dozen or so of his Sunday school boys, on Butler's Beach.

Everybody went to the Business Men's picnic last Tuesday and took all their friends with them; and the town was a good deal quieter than it usually is on the Sabbath.

Mrs. Katherine Mehauffey Long, with her daughter, Mrs. Oscar Yeger, and granddaughter, Miss Katherine Yeger, spent Saturday and Sunday with their relatives and friends here.

Miss Marie B. Reese, of Snow Shoe, spent a day or two of last week with her aunt, Mrs. Irvin Lucas. Miss Reese will teach in the public schools of Jeannette the coming winter.

Mrs. George L. Williams with her flock of three little girls, who have been enjoying life in and about Pittsburg for the past several weeks, are again inhabiting their cozy new home here.

The sermon of Rev. Joseph Kelly, on Sabbath, from the text, "If a man die shall he live again?" made a strong and most favorable impression upon many of the large audience which assembled to hear him.

Mr. and Mrs. Bryce Thomas, with their daughter Grace, of Williamsport, enjoyed the delightful climate and surroundings of Howard, with their relatives. Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Thomas, during a portion of last week.

The P. O. S. of A. picnic in Schenck's grove last Saturday was a very satisfactory success. Fine sets filled with fine edibles, all concurred in making it a fine time.

Mrs. Patrick Louney, formerly Miss Jennie Fletcher, and her brother, Jas. E. Fletcher, agent for the P. R. R. at Clearfield, were welcome visitors at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Fletcher, last week.

John Weber, with his daughter, Miss Helene, and his niece, Miss Gertrude Thomas, is spending a vacation week at Atlantic City and Philadelphia, in which latter place they will be guests of their relative, B. Weber Thomas.

Samuel B. Holter, now employed in the great Storrs and Harrison nurseries, at Painesville, Ohio, is at home on a vacation, but will return to his work next week, and expects to make nursery work and plant growing his life business.

Miss Ethel Boggs, of Williamsport, where she is taking a nurse's training in the hospital, visited her parents, Rev. Boggs and wife, in Hollidaysburg recently, and returning, stopped off here on Wednesday with her friends, Miss Alice and Emma Fletcher.

"Jack" Smith, one of the old time democratic war horses of this part of the county, and one of the best basket makers of any county, now a resident of Snow Shoe, young and agile yet, in spite of his eighty-one years, chatted with friends here one day last week.

Miss Rose Kanour, of Tyrone, is spending her school vacation with her friend, Miss Eva Neff. On Friday her younger sister, and their father, G. W. Kanour, were also guests at the Neff home, and Sunday, Miss Anna Stephenson, of Lock Haven, was an addition to the group.

Sidney C. Brous, prominently connected with the Pennsylvania railroad at Trenton, N. J., with his wife and son Walter, are vacation guests with Mrs. Mary Wentzel, on west Walnut street. The young man is an amateur photographer, and succeeded in getting some attractive views in our town.

The first corn supper of the season will be held in the school yard next Saturday evening, by the Ladies' Aid society of the Reformed church. How many of the "good eats" will accompany the corn is not known, but there will sure be a plenty. After the supper a cake and pie sale will be on tap, and here's where the fun will come in.

Life insurance will now be more easily obtained in these parts than heretofore because we have two live young agents among our own people. David A. and Philip C. Holter have returned from Pittsburg after graduating from the Iron City Business College, with commissions from the Pittsburgh Life and Trust Co. to write insurance in Centre and Clinton counties. They are popular young men and should succeed.

The lecture upon the mission work in British India, last Sabbath evening, by Miss Mary Kurtz, of Williamsport, who has spent nearly seven years in that country under the auspices of the American Baptist Association, was very interesting and so well delivered as to be easily heard and understood. The demonstration of the costumes of two of the classes of Indian women, was exceedingly realistic, as the gowns were actual ones made in India, and for the purposes of the demonstration were worn by the Misses Dorothy Weber and Charlotte Kurtz.

Samuel Irvin, son of David Bechdel, one of Liberty township's good farmers, and a graduate last June of the School of Agriculture at the Pennsylvania State College, was given an examination for the Civil service, and a day or two ago was appointed to a place in the National Department of Agriculture. His title will be Scientific Assistant in Dairy Husbandry and Dairying Extension at twelve hundred dollars per year, and he has received orders to report at Washington for duty at once, and from there to proceed to Auburn, Alabama, where he will have charge of the field work in dairying in that state. Mr. Bechdel was a thorough student and hard worker all through his four years course, fairly earned the fine send-off which has come to him, and is a creditable example of what the college makes of its men.

Mrs. Rhoda Kelly, of Johnstown, was the guest of her sister Esther and friend, Mrs. James Park, the past week.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. William Watson, a young son, August 16; died Aug. 19.

Roy Rodgers and wife, of West Decatur, are guests at the Charles Lucas home.

A Sunday school picnic will be held at this place September 2nd.

A corn boll was given to our young set on the school house lawn last week one evening. The affair proved to be a most enjoyable fete to every one. Well, to count those present would take the writer such a long time and would cause delay of the Runville news.

Those that spent Sunday in our village from a distance were: Jacob Walker, of Centre Hall; Edward Hancock and family, Thomas Griffith and family, of Phillipsburg; Mrs. Philip Canora and little daughter, of West Virginia; Miss Fannie Summers, of Altoona; Mrs. Claude Lucas and children, of Snow Shoe; and Milford Houston, of Altoona.

Gorden Spotts, of Pine Glen and lady friend, Mabel Spicer, took in the Williams reunion at Port Matilda on Saturday.

Arburtice Witherite has found employment in Tyrone.

Mrs. James Park spent Monday at the home of Mrs. Clara Iddings of Wingate.

Mrs. C. B. Fell visited with friends in Bellefonte on Monday.

Reuben Comely, of Unionville, spent Sunday with his wife.

Rev. McKelvey will hold communion services in the United Brethren church at Julian Sunday evening, August 27th at 7:45 o'clock.

Brickley, Floyd Weaver, Jim Weaver, Harry Clair, James Taylor, Russell Confer, Mark Robb, Bill Confer. The evening was spent by playing games and music by the phonograph. All report having an enjoyable time wishing Ruth many more happy birthdays.

A joyous party from Lock Haven drove up to Romola to J. B. Poorman's in three carriages and back in the evening. They all say they had a good time. Also enjoyed the dinner and supper, and all took a trip on the hill to see the Indian grove. Those that were here from Lock Haven were: Mr. and Mrs. Henry G. Propst, Mr. and Mrs. John Brown and family, Misses Ida Bassinger, Ester Bassinger, Nancy Poorman, Ida Propst, Laura Strick, Messrs. William Harris, Clyde Poorman, William Moodier, Charles Poorman, Also Mokol Heaton, of Yarnell, was a visitor. Gladys Welch and Chaney Welch all enjoyed their dinner and supper, and singing and playing the organ, and graphophone; we hope to have them all return again.
