PROMINENT CITIZEN PASSES AWAY

SUDDEN DEATH OF DR. GEO. F. HARRIS.

WAS AN EMINENT PHYSICIAN

Well Known Throughout the State—Served in Hospitals During the Civil War—Other Deaths in the Community—Brief Sketches.

HARRIS:—Another of Bellefonte's representative citizens passed away on Sunday morning, in the death of Dr. George F. Harris. Although he had been in a critical condition for several days, nevertheless his death came suddenly and was a surprise to those in attendance. At about 1 o'clock on Sunday morning, Dr. David Dale called upon him and was greeted by the patient with a pleasant remark, and Dr. Dale after a brief examination found his condition normal; suddenly a change came, Mrs. Harris was summoned to the bedside and in a few minutes Dr. Harris peacefully passed away. For several years Dr. Harris suffered from heart trouble, and in consequence he was not as active of late in his professional duties, although he kept in the office in Philadelphia and at Harrisburg and received a commission in the 7th Pennsylvania Cavalry, Army of the Cumberland, in 1863. After the war he served as an intern in St. Joseph's Hospital, Philadelphia, then returned to Bellefonte and for over forty years he was continuously engaged in the practice of medicine at this place, and became one of the noted practitioners in this part of the state. In 1870 he was married to Miss Mary Curtin, daughter of ex-Governor Andrew Gregg Curtin, and to their four children were born, with Mrs. Harris survive him: Kate C., married to John M. Shugert, cashier of the Centre County Bank; and Adaline F., wife of James Mac Curtin, of Pittsburg. Immediately after his death at the Bush House, the remains were taken to the home of his daughter, Mrs. Shugert, on East Linn street, where many friends had the opportunity of viewing the remains. The services at the Episcopal church in the afternoon were largely attended and were in strict conformity with the ritual of the church. The floral offerings were unusually large and bespoke the respect and esteem in which he was held. Interment followed in the family plot in the Union cemetery. The active pall bearers were: Drs. J. L. Seibert, R. G. H. Hayes, M. J. Cooke, David Dale, Bellefonte, George H. Klump, Williamsport; Dr. Geo. Ball, of Lock Haven; and Thos. A. Shoemaker of Bellefonte. The honorary pall bearers were: Frank McCoy, Harry E. Fenlon, Edward H. Richards, Chas. M. McCurdy, Geo. R. Meek, W. F. Reynolds, W. L. Dargatzis, H. H. Humes, James H. Potter, John Blanchard, H. C. Quigley, all of Bellefonte, and R. B. Freeman, of Tyrone. Dr. Harris was a prominent member of the Centre County Medical Society, the State Board of Health, was the state medical examiner of the 1st, 2d, 3d, 4th, 5th, 6th, 7th, 8th, 9th, 10th, 11th, 12th, 13th, 14th, 15th, 16th, 17th, 18th, 19th, 20th, 21st, 22nd, 23rd, 24th, 25th, 26th, 27th, 28th, 29th, 30th, 31st, 32nd, 33rd, 34th, 35th, 36th, 37th, 38th, 39th, 40th, 41st, 42nd, 43rd, 44th, 45th, 46th, 47th, 48th, 49th, 50th, 51st, 52nd, 53rd, 54th, 55th, 56th, 57th, 58th, 59th, 60th, 61st, 62nd, 63rd, 64th, 65th, 66th, 67th, 68th, 69th, 70th, 71st, 72nd, 73rd, 74th, 75th, 76th, 77th, 78th, 79th, 80th, 81st, 82nd, 83rd, 84th, 85th, 86th, 87th, 88th, 89th, 90th, 91st, 92nd, 93rd, 94th, 95th, 96th, 97th, 98th, 99th, 100th.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT.

Can Be Read in Bellefonte With Profit at This Time.

The following article was not prepared for the Centre Democrat—the editor simply clipped it from a daily paper. We believe it is appropriate and timely; and can be applied wherever it fits the individual:

Husbands, Properly Nourished at Home Would Not Go to Hotels and Clubs.

"Most of the women who vow that 'the way to a man's heart is through his stomach' are good cooks. Supposedly they fry better than they broil; they know how to garnish a dish better than how to adorn their apparel; they are in their element when concocting a soup and in the soup so far as winning a husband goes; they are great on salads; but no one says to them, 'Let us marry'; they roast to perfection while rude men roast them well."

"But now comes a learned Bostonian, Dr. Frederick L. Abbott of Newbury street, a prominent Back Bay physician widely known as a student of dietetics. He announces in effect that the way to a man's heart is really through his stomach; that good cooks have the best chance to win husbands, and better yet, to keep them. Dr. Abbott declares there would be fewer divorces if all married women were better cooks; that when dyspepsia comes into the house Cupid flies out the window with a mustard plaster on his little tummy."

"Dr. Abbott said with the greatest fairness recently that the biscuits most wives bake would make good baseballs has ceased to be a joke. Such biscuits have been responsible for many a break in the happiness of newly married couples."

"Men, if properly nourished, would not frequent hotels and clubs, where they acquire an appetite for cocktails, although they may have gone there first simply because they wanted to get well cooked food they could not get at home."

"Dr. Abbott deplored the ignorance of the modern young girl on this most vital subject and said the woman who cannot cook is greatly handicapped in her race for the ultimate goal—married happiness."

"The woman of today seems unwilling as a rule to pass hours in her kitchen. She more frequently spends her afternoons sipping a cup and returns home just in time to throw together a meal comprised of canned goods and cold left-overs." Dr. Abbott added:

"This same woman may wonder why her husband's patience is disappearing, why he swears when anything goes wrong and in general why he is changing in character."

"A man's success in his business depends greatly on the nutrition he receives. It is obviously true that the average business man who has worked his way up has had at home a wife who is a good cook."

"So the wife who would keep her husband's love and keep him healthy and prosperous will promptly begin to study those truly good books whose precepts all begin, 'Take off.'"

CONDUCTING GOOD WORK.

As a result of the agricultural campaign which is being conducted by the Pennsylvania Railroad, there has been formed the Chester Valley Farms Co-operative Association. Its officers are: Lardner Howell, Whitford Farm, Whitford, Pa., President; J. Howard Avil, Swedesford Farm, Glen Lock, Pa., Secretary and George Thomas 3rd, South Hill Farm, Whitford, Pa., Treasurer, while Clarence Sears, Kate of Glen Lock, Lewis Downing and Thomas Downing of Downingtown, Charles Thomas of Whitford, and Charles Walker of Paoli are the Directors.

The first work undertaken by the association is cow testing. A trained man has been secured from Pennsylvania State College, and he has already started on his new duties. Four hundred and fifty cows are in the herds which belong to members of the association. The duty of the expert is to visit each herd once a month, weigh the night and morning milk of each cow, test each cow's milk for butterfat and solids, weigh feed and ascertain its cost. This tabulated record of production and cost will be given to the owner before the tester leaves the farm. It is estimated that the Chester Valley Farm Co-operative association will amount to but a few pennies of a cow per month.

The work of the association was organized under the personal supervision of a representative of the United States Department of Agriculture.

Instantly Killed by Lightning.

Friday evening, during a severe storm that visited Hawk Run and vicinity, Obeliah Lidgett, a coal miner was struck by lightning and instantly killed. The unfortunate man was accustomed to go to his coal bank to dig coal for a short time after the evening meal, and when he did not return at his usual time the family became alarmed on account of the storm being so severe in that section, and upon investigation, found their father dead. The lightning struck a large tree over the bank where he had been digging, and ran through the ground, striking his right side. The deceased was born in England and was aged about 52 years. He is survived by two sons and two daughters.

May Be Circulated Here.

A quantity of counterfeit five cent pieces are in circulation in Williamsport. They are dated 1909 and of excellent execution. They ring true and are sufficiently near the proper weight to deceive any expert. The edges on the counterfeit coin are sharper than the genuine.

Look Out.

It is unlawful for candidates to plaster fences and polls with cards, and posters. The acts of the legislature pertain to the entire state and penalties of fines or imprisonment or both, are provided.

CANDIDATES FOR COUNTY OFFICES

COMPLETE LIST OF PETITIONS FILED ON SATURDAY.

SEVERAL NEW NAMES ENTERED

Some Have Petitions on Both Tickets—Some Funny Mixes in Bellefonte on School Director Contest—Some Lively Scraps Predicted.

The new election law requiring candidates for township and county offices to file petitions with numerous signatures attached thereto, in the county commissioners office, has caused much additional work in that department, and it is quite annoying to candidates to run about and secure the necessary names. Many consider the law a nuisance that must be complied with. In most of the rural districts both parties had the customary caucus meetings and succeeded in selecting sufficient candidates and preparation of their petitions without much trouble. On Saturday the commissioners office was kept open until midnight to give every candidate the full benefit of the legal time to file his papers, and quite a number availed themselves of the opportunity. Space will not permit us to give a list of all the petitions filed throughout the county for nominations for local offices. It will be of general interest to have the complete list for county offices, which is as follows:

THE POSTAL SAVINGS BANK.

The Phillipsburg Ledger says: On the morning of September 5, the Phillipsburg postoffice became a branch of the Postal Savings Bank of the United States. Unlike many other places in the state no one was in a rush to be among the first depositors, nor was the volume of business the first day, nor since that time, so great as to cause the postoffice force much additional work. Up to the present the deposits have not gone over a couple of hundred dollars, which is proof that the new department will be no great rival of the banks.

Both the Phillipsburg banks have been designated as depositories of the postal savings bank funds.

The stationery in the coal business here is no doubt responsible for the lack of enthusiasm about the new department, which will naturally be overcome in time.

BELLEFONTE WANTS THE PRISON FARM

PUBLIC MEETING HELD LAST MONDAY EVENING.

DESIRABLE LOCATION OFFERED

Has Abundance of Water, Building Material and Choice Farm Land—Other Sites in Centre County Will Be Offered.

Monday evening a public meeting was called in the court house for the purpose of taking some definite action towards encouraging the location of the proposed prison farm in this section. The last visit of Warden John Francis to Centre county seems to have impressed him very favorably and it is reliably intimated that the institution will finally be located somewhere in the county. In order to gain the sense of our people this meeting was called for the Grand Jury room and the attendance was so large that they opened the very front court room to accommodate the large crowd.

J. Linn Harris being connected with the State Forestry Commission, and as this project implies considerable forestry reservations, he was familiar with its provision and had traveled over the county with Mr. Francis looking for a suitable location. He called the meeting to order and went into some detail regarding the new proposed prison farm, and what it would mean to our people. He was made chairman of the meeting, after which there was informal discussion of the available sites.

The sentiment prevailed that such an institution, located near Bellefonte, would add very materially to our business interests in the future, and that the nearer it comes to the town the better. Upon motion of H. C. Quigley, Esq., the following committee was appointed: H. C. Quigley, Esq., Col. W. Fred Reynolds and C. Y. Wagner. They were advised to collect all the available data regarding the location in Benner township, facing McBrides Gap, where it is thought an abundant supply of pure water can be secured, by gravity, to meet the needs of such an institution. They will also go into the question of available building stone and the price of farms in that section.

It is quite likely that Mr. Francis will make another trip to Centre county the latter part of this week and just what his plans may be we can not say, further than that he will come in his large touring car and will inspect certain locations. We are reliably informed that prominent citizens of Potter Mills have been chosen to be the location of the institution, if Mr. Francis' recommendations are finally approved. Citizens in and about Boalsburg are confident that they have a superior location embracing lands lying between Linden Hall that would meet all the requirements of a prison farm, and they will bring it to the attention of the warden.

Many citizens of Walker township think they have an ideal location that would embrace lands lying between Morgan and Hillersburg with an abundant water supply from the Hecla Gap. There are other possible locations in our county and any section that feels that it has the natural advantages should present them. As the commission desires to secure a suitable location in the center of the state, Centre county should put forward the best effort promptly. It means the expenditure of millions of dollars in construction, and maintenance which would largely circulate through our community.

HAD HAND BADLY CRUSHED.

Bellefonte Man Injured by Train at Williamsport.

An item in the Williamsport Sun this week describes an accident that befel a young man at that place on Sunday morning last, while attempting to jump from a moving Reading passenger train. The article stated that the young man's name was Bert Morgan, and gave his residence as Bellefonte.

Morgan was a passenger on the train and the reason for his act could not be learned Sunday. He attempted to jump off and losing his foothold, fell and one hand went under the cars as he lay on his face. The wheels of two coaches passed over the hand, crushing it terribly. The ambulance was called and Morgan was quickly removed to the hospital.

At the hospital it was found necessary to amputate the first four fingers of the right hand, as they were crushed so badly that there was no chance of saving them. Sunday night the man was reported as suffering considerable pain but to be resting easily. Who Bert Morgan is, of Bellefonte, upon inquiry, could not be learned but there is a possibility that the man may be Bert Morgan, of this place, who are known to have been working in Williamsport.

"The Girl and The Tramp."

Comedy is the big feature of "The Girl and The Tramp" which will be seen at the opera house one night only, Tuesday, Sept. 19th, 1911. The play is a new one and has just enough plot to make a frame on which is clothed with a series of funny incidents and stirring situations. The story told is how a girl and tramp befriended a woman who is separated from her husband and how they finally succeed in bringing them together again.

Hospital Notes.

Operations: Mrs. Leotta Sellers, Stormstown; Daniel Lemard and Mrs. Augusta Miller, Bellefonte. Admitted for treatment: Evelyn Kane, aged 4, and George Clements, Bellefonte; Leroy Miles, Pitsburgh with typhoid fever. Discharged: Toner Hugg, and Mrs. Mae Shroyer, Milesburg. Twenty patients are now in the hospital.

A DOUBLE TRAGEDY.

Lewistown Man Shoots Wife and Kills Himself.

Frank Brannon, fifty-two years old, is dead and his wife, Annette, fifteen years his junior, is in the Lewistown hospital, hovering between life and death from a bullet-wound in her left breast and another through her head as the result of the suicide and attempted murder enacted there.

Brannon, and his wife, nee Miss Annette Pearson, were married twenty years ago and seemed to live happily until five years ago, when the husband became eccentric and would pile the furniture into one room and order the family to leave. He would walk the floor for a night complaining of the high cost of living, until his wife took the two youngest children and returned to the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Pearson, farmers in the eastern end of the county. The eldest son, Bruce, then a lad of fourteen, acted as peace-maker and prevailed upon the mother to return on the strength of the father's pledge. They again separated three months ago and Mrs. Brannon took up her residence on Valley street, where Brannon is said to have accused his wife and threatened the lives of several men.

Saturday evening he sent Mrs. John Franklin as an emissary to try and persuade her to return, but without result. When Mrs. Brannon returned from a late shopping trip she found her husband in the front yard, and immediately began pleading with her to come back and do what was right for the sake of their children. She must again have refused for three shots were fired in rapid succession and the woman was seen to fall, and the six-year-old daughter, a witness to the tragedy, screamed:

"My poor mamma is killed."

There was another shot immediately following the child's scream, and Brannon fell, his head resting almost against that of his wife.

Brannon died while being transferred from a trolley car to the hospital and his body was returned to the morgue to await the claim of relatives.

NO HEARING RESULTED.

Chief Game Warden Hummelsbaugh Fails to Produce Evidence.

As stated several months ago in this paper, Edward Eckenroth, Charles Stover, Irve Gettig and Benjamin Gentzel, of Bellefonte, and David Moyer, of Pleasant Gap, a quintet of hunters who were successful last fall in shooting several deer had been arrested on warrants sworn out by Chief Game Warden H. E. Hummelsbaugh, charging the men with having in their possession deer without evidence of horns. A hearing had been arranged for to take place sometime later before Squire Barclay in Clearfield, but as time passed it was thought the "game" subject might have been dropped for lack of evidence. It was the general consensus of opinion in Bellefonte that the game warden had no case against the men, as many witnesses were ready to testify to seeing the deer when they were brought there at the appointed time, taking with them Chief of Police Harry Dukeman as a witness, the latter having been among the number who viewed the deer after they were brought to Bellefonte. As the hour for the hearing approached, the prosecution's witnesses failed to put in an appearance, and it was decided to postpone the hearing until afternoon. At the second meeting there was another failure on the part of Hummelsbaugh's witnesses to put in an appearance, which resulted in Squire Barclay granting a continuance of the hearing until the 15th of the present month. It is thought at that time no hitch will occur in the clearing up of this peculiar legal tangle.

Floods in Liberty Township.

Marsh creek last Saturday overflowed its banks extensively taking out two wooden bridges between Blanchard and Roma, near the latter place, and washing around the approach to the iron bridge near the Clark school house that it could not be used afterwards. The public road along the bank of this stream most of the way, was badly washed. Liberty township will also be put to great expense to repair the bridges and road along Hunter run. Bald Eagle creek flooded over all of the low lands and succeeded well enough, destroying many acres of buckwheat and damaging corn. Sugar run and Canoe run were very high exceeding any flood in recent years, and farms through which they run were badly washed or flooded. Along Sugar run damage also was done, both to small bridges and farm lands, particularly to meadows of George D. Hess and Harry I. McCloskey. Along Plunkets run much damage was done, potatoes were washed out and picked up later along the road while musk melons hung on bushes far below their growing place.

The Covered Bridge Above Mill Hall

Could not be reached from this side. The railroad of the Pennsylvania Fire Brick company from the works to the clay mines was washed out and damaged in various places.

GRANGE EXHIBITION WELL ATTENDED

FINE LINE OF AMUSEMENTS AND EXHIBITS.

WHO ARE OCCUPYING TENTS

Fair Weather Has Brought Large Crowds—Fine Display—Interesting Program—Thursday Is the Big Day.

This week the Patrons Exhibition is in full sway at Grange Park and the weather being favorable the attendance is quite large. There is the usual display of farm machinery, live stock, fruits, vegetables and other products of the field, garden and household. In the line of attractions and amusements there is an abundance to make it interesting for all. There is a varied line of merchandise, and industrial products to attract attention. ## TO BEGIN ORCHARD CAMPAIGN.

Ninety-two model orchards in the state will be the scenes of as many public meetings and demonstrations next week. Each of the sixty-seven counties in the state is represented in the schedule for meetings arranged by State Economic Zoologist H. A. Surface. Some counties have only one meeting, some have two.

The meetings, like all such in the model orchards, will be public, with any one free to come and ask questions about modern horticultural work or any allied point on which they desire instruction.

In the list of meetings are:

Centre—Benjamin Libbert, Spring Mills, September 21; E. B. Way, Stormstown, September 22.

Clinton—C. B. Grieb, Mill Hall, September 23.

Mifflin—M. M. Naginay, Milroy, September 19.

Paster Resigns.

On last Sabbath morning, after the services in the Lutheran church of this place, the pastor, Rev. Frederick Barry tendered his resignation, to the regret of the membership. He served the pulpit here for the past four years quite acceptably, and was generally esteemed by members of all denominations. Bellefonte was his first charge after having finished his course in college, and upon his trial sermon in this place, the congregation, at once extended him a call. His work here was earnest and untiring for the welfare of the charge. An invitation was given for him, by the vacation Centre Hall charge, composed of the five congregations, viz. Centre Hall, Union, Spring Mills, Georges Valley and Tusneville, which he accepted. Rev. Barry will enter upon his new field, in the Centre Hall charge, October 1st.

Adam Kyle, a well known resident of Centreville, had the misfortune to fall down stairs Monday morning and break his arm.
