A Sticky Place.

The paint on the front colums of the court house are being repainted this week. For some reason the former painting never thoroughly dried and it has become quite "sticky." In other words there is danger of some of the county officials leaning up against these pillars and sticking at the court house too long, and in order to avoid such a calamity the commissioners ordered the pillars repainted before the coming primaries.

"The Democratic primary ballot for Centre Hall will contain the names of two Republicans, namely, Dr. H. F. Bitner and L. G. Rearick, candidates for four and two years-terms, respectively, for school director, and it is understood that the names of the three Democrats candidates-Messrs. Strohmeler, Puff and Dauberman-will be on the Republican primary ticket. This, in effect, means that the old board will be reelected, and that it will be NON-PO-LITICAL. These members have been in office for from three to ten or more years, and have been conducting the business without strife among themselves, and have also been serving the people in a satis-factory manner.
