MITCHELL'S LETTERS.

To Appear in Sunday's Philadelphia North American.

The Sunday North American has arranged to publish a series of twelve articles by John Mitchell on important phases of present-day industrial conditions. One will appear each week, beginning next Sunday, September 24.

The Wage Earners and the Trusts, The Wage Earners and the Judiciary, The Wage Earners and Labor Organizations, The Wage Earners and Occupational Diseases.

The Wage Earners and Compensation for Accidents, The Wage Earners and Industrial Efficiency, The Wage Earners and Immigration, The Wage Earners and the Church, The Wage Earners and Unemployment.

These articles are bound to create an unusually large sale for the Sunday North American, and it would be advisable for all who are interested in the above articles to see their newsdealer and order him to reserve a copy.

Getting Personal.

"How many drinks have you had?" asked Judge W. P. Barnum, of John Greene, a grand juror, when he appeared in court recently at Youngstown, Ohio.

"I don't know as that is any of your business," was the response. "You are discharged and sentenced to five days in jail," snapped the Judge.

THIS IS TOO MUCH!

Husband Kicked on Three in Bed, One Being His Mother-in-Law.

Objecting to sleeping three in a bed, his mother-in-law being the third party, Martin Lanz, of Carick, Pa., left his wife, Rose, according to her testimony in the desertion court. They were married last February.

Mrs. Lanz said his sister also stayed with them, although they had only one bed in the house. Lanz left his wife on Aug. 3, she said he took everything with him, and left a note with her mother saying she could take his wife home and that he did not want her any more. A postscript to the note read:

"Three in a bed is a crowd—but when the third is your mother-in-law—well, good night."

HAPPY MARRIAGES.

Are the result of knowing the laws of health and nature. All the knowledge a young man or woman, wife or daughter, should have, is contained in the People's Medical Adviser, by R. V. Pierce, M. D. This big Home Doctor Book containing 1008 pages with engravings and colored plates, and bound in cloth, (nearly 700,000 copies formerly sold for $1.50 each), is sent Free to any one sending 31 one-cent stamps to prepay cost of wrapping and postage. There are no conditions to this offer and the reader must not associate this book with the advertising pamphlets prepared by quacks throughout the country. Address, 662 Washington St., Buffalo, N. Y.

Fatally Wounded While at Work. Frank Himes, a painter of Lewis-town, was fatally wounded by a gun shot while at work in the home of Jacob Whiteman at Denholm, last week.

Himes was engaged in doing inside painting at the Whiteman home and was standing on a scaffold in the middle of the room when Mrs. Ole Mack, housekeeper in the Whiteman home, picked up a gun to take it from the room. The gun was of the double-barreled, hammerless shot variety, and as the lady lifted it the safety catch struck the corner of the bureau, discharging both barrels. The young man was struck in the back and dropped from the scaffold unconscious. Physicians say there is no hope of his recovery.

Mrs. Mack, who is an elderly lady, a soldier's widow, is prostrated over the accident. Mr. Himes leaves a wife and a baby.

Advice to Boys.

A great many men and boys fail to win success in this world because of their unreliability. They start out well but soon tire. After a few days or weeks of dependable work they begin to "soldier" on the job. Few employers will long retain employes who must be told each day just what to do. Few will keep subordinates who shirk their work do it in a slovenly and imperfect manner and are constantly counting the hours until quitting time. Genius is a very fine quality, but most men prefer steady and reliable service. That is the reason the slow fellow who is always at his work gets along better than his brilliant neighbor who is erratic and untrustworthy. The knowledge that an employe can be depended upon absolutely is a great comfort to the busy man of affairs. What a pity it is that so many persons, young and old, forget this vital truth.—Altoona Tribune.

Brave Telephone Operator.

Miss Margaret Wall, aged 18 years, telephone operator at the Homestead exchange of the Pittsburgh and Allegheny Telephone company drove an intruder from the office into the street, where he fired three shots at him. It is believed that the man is wounded, however he escaped. Miss Wall was startled when she saw a stranger attempting to force his way through the window of the office near her desk. When he saw that he was detected the man dropped from the window to the alley below. Miss Wall ran to the front door and fired after the fugitive as he ran down the street. The man screamed as though one of the bullets had struck him, then turning he buried a heavy wooden club at the brave girl. The club, however, fell short of the mark. The police have no clew.

Good Grub For Three Cents.

Williamsport is trying the experiment of furnishing lunches to students in the high school building, under the direction of the domestic science department. The menu consists of lettuce, ham and hamburger sandwiches, soups, milk, cocoa, buns and pretzels. Everything on the bill of fare cost 3 cents, and participants must provide themselves either with tickets or the exact change. The experiment is said to be working handsomely, and warm, nutritious food is being served at the minimum price. This would seem to be a very essential feature of schools, especially where domestic economy is taught.

Teachers and Institutes.

Absenteeism from the annual county institutes of the several counties of the commonwealth will probably not be popular among the teachers of the state when the provisions of the new school code go into effect. The code provides for a payment of $3 per day for attending institutes, and a forfeit of $3 per each day absent from institute without proper excuse, the latter sum to be deducted from the salary of the teacher for the month following the institute. The code provides for the calling of the roll of the institute at least twice a day, in order that absentees may be noted.

Poisons Must be Labeled.

The state Pharmaceutical Board has decided to prosecute druggists who fail to observe the provisions of the new law regarding the labeling of poisons and the registering of persons purchasing of them. The board has adopted a resolution declaring that the removal of Dr. Harvey W. Wiley from his post in the federal pure food bureau "would be a great loss to the American people and a direct blow to the integrity of a conscientious, faithful and efficient public servant."

Dynamite on the Farm.

Last Friday, says the Lewisburg Journal, a demonstration of the use of dynamite and other high power blasting powder was made on the farm of Samuel Schrack, near Millburg, which was witnessed by nearly three hundred interested persons. The demonstration was made by representatives of the DuPont Powder Co. Stumps were blasted out and many charges were placed in the ground to show the advantages in subsoiling.

THE LAND OF PUZZLEDOM.

No. 1446.—Anagram.

The shipping in the harbor Was decked in colors high; Flags of all lands, with streamers, "RICH MASTS, indeed," mused I.

The country road was snowed, Heaven's dome with fog was gray, But stars shone through whenever The ARCH MISTS cleared away.

A churchly grand procession With lights and flowers in view, "O, don't go wis," hisped Stevie, "At us was MARCHISTS too?"

On land or on the ocean Love rules both far and wide, ITS CHARMS are felt wherever The human hordes abide.

No. 1447.—Charades.

My whole in my first I always bake After my second of dough I make, And my first and second when combined Make a whole delicious, you will find.

My first is part of all that's dear, But takes part in what's dull and drear, My second wears a beautiful mien, And in the young is often seen, My whole a lure, but seldom true; By stratagem it beckons you.

No. 1448.—Dissected Object Spelling. Example: Dissect a month into a bird, a tree, a measure and an English river. Answer—Jay, yew, ell, Wye—July.

1. Dissect a bedcover into a hint, an animal, a facial organ, part of a house and a beverage.

2. Dissect a twist into a body of water, an exclamation, a pronoun and a measure.

3. Dissect an animal into an insect, a tree, part of a house and a measure.

4. Dissect a guide into a vegetable, part of the face, a measure, an exclamation and a drink.

5. Dissect what all should do into a river, a tree, a Chinese plant and another river.

6. Dissect criminality into a command to a horse, a pronoun, a feature, a measure and a beverage.

No. 1449.—Enigma.

In game I'm found, but not in chance; In pop I'm seen, but not in dance; What holds me hidden, but not how; I dwell in then, but not in now; I'm a part of earth, but not of ground, And in the right, not left, I'm found.

No. 1450.—Sentence in Rebus.

What proverb is pictured?

No. 1451.—Numerical Enigma.

I am a title composed of nineteen letters and am a well known work of a great author. 5 19 12 13 14 is a man's name; 9 17 6 4 7 is a numeral; 3 18 11 8 1 is an ancient city; 16 13 15 10 is to travel; 4 16 8 2 is an ancient city.

No. 1452.—Beheadings.

1. To ship and leave the concluding part. 2. A part of the head and leave what you cannot live without. 3. A plaything and leave a safeguard. 4. To sink suddenly and leave a chunk.

No. 1453.—Word Square.

My first is a monarch. My second is what heathen worship. My third is a musical term. My fourth is a shady glade.

No. 1454.—Hidden Furniture.

John was not able to run the race. Harry's tool chest stood in the corner. Charles swam so fast he became confused. Ray could slide, skate and coast. That racking pain in my head is better.

A Puzzler.

Pray tell me, children, if you can, Who is this highly favored man Who, though he has married many a wife, May still live single all his life? Answer.—A minister.

Drying Fruit and Vegetables.

The prices of canned and dried fruits and vegetables have begun to climb, and one should take advantage of any rains that are to come or have come, and plant vegetables for late gathering. Many things may be planted for a late crop of green things, and everything that can be grown will "come in handy."

Late peas, beans, corn, and other vegetables can be dried and are quite as good as the canned things, if care is taken of them during the process. Not only the housewife who finds herself short of jars and cans, but also the woman who likes variety should have a supply. No matter what you think of the "store" things which are sold in bulk, if you dry good fruit or vegetables, taking care of them, you will find them fully equal to the canned goods—some say better. To have good dried apples or peaches, one must see that the fruit is at least "good," if not choice, and ripe enough to can. Free-stone peaches and the early ripening mellow apples are best for drying. Sweet peaches will not cook up smooth, neither fresh, canned or dried. Tart apples should be used.

To peel peaches which are to be dried, scald for a minute in boiling water; as you do tomatoes, then drop immediately in very cold water. The skin will slip off without trouble. To keep the halves without discoloring while preparing the desired quantity, drop the peach in cold water enough to cover until you are ready to use, then drain. Apples are kept from discoloring in the same way. One should have a little family dryer to set over the kitchen range, and dry the fruits as they are on hand, if intended only for a family supply. If for marketing, a larger dryer will be more profitable. But often one has a few pecks or bushels of choice apples or peaches, and the small dryer will be just the thing. If you have never tried one it is time you did. The order of the day is to make the most of what one has, and this work can be done, rain or shine, and so much gained.

The days will be getting shorter before long. In being collared most of us prefer a haberdasher to a policeman. The man who loves peace should always be willing to fight for it.

Clearance Sale

This Sale means more to you than the ordinary annual sale for the reason that in addition to the usual clearing of all departments, we will sell at sacrifice prices the goods with which our store at York was stocked. Owing to a releasing of the storeroom at York, we decided to discontinue business at that place and have the goods shipped to Bellefonte for a quick sale. This compels me to have a large sum of money with which to settle with my brother for his share of the store at York. We need the money, you need the goods. This means that stocks in all departments must be sacrificed. Costs do not cut any figure. Every stock contributes to this stupendous sale, so if you do not see advertised what you want you are sure to find it reduced to a minimum. Compare the prices in all we ask, and you will see convinced that here is the real money saving sale of the year.

Lycoming Has 'Em, Too. Over 200 certificates for nomination for city and county offices have been filed with the Lycoming County Commissioners. That's far ahead of Centre county. In fact, in every county of the state the number of candidates for nomination, this fall is double and triple that of former years.

Has Failed to Convict. The grand jury at Conowingo, Pa., finds it impossible to secure evidence against the persons guilty of burning the negro recently. So the disgraceful affair is likely to blow over and nobody be punished.

Money talks and the campaign orators are on deck.

The rainfall from last Thursday evening to noon on Friday, 14 and 15th, was 2.94 inches. Other sections of the state had about the same.
