BENORE. Here is a letter a friend of ours recieved some time ago from Paul W. Baudis, of Spruce Bluff, Sack Canada.

Sept. 21, 1911. My Dear Friend Wilse:-I been going to write for the last three weeks but I have been so darned busy that I haven't had time to write to ing and the crops are still growing suffering with dropsy for the past and ripening very slowly; some of the year, is confined to her bed at this grain is higher than your head; the only danger is in frost from the wet Reuben Walizer departed last week weather but they are going to start for Philipsburg where he will work at cutting about the 25th or 30th, if the deal of it off while still tender. But I have a cinch on the potatoes-I have a patch smaller than our garden at home (meaning the garden on the Baudis home at Benore) and I will get about 30 bushels from it. I planted about a bushel and a peck. Potatoes are $1.50 for old ones and $3.50 for new ones. Well, I bought a team of oxen the other day for $225; they weigh 4700 lbs. John and I bought them together, as we are in partnership. John and Ike came down from the survey the other day as it is finished they were up three month and cleared $105 above all expenses; they are going to the harvest field and will get about $3 a day. guess Ike will be in Pennsylvania rel of oysters about that time. Secured Renewal Order. Pennsylvania paper stands the test, and the New York-Pennsylvania Paper company, of Lock Haven, has again been awarded the ontract for making the postage stamp paper for the United States government. Besides being a big contract, the secur ing of this work is a valuable testi-monial and advertisement for the superior product turned out at the Lock Haven mill. The contract had been awarded to another mill but they could not manufacture a paper that answered the peculiar requirements for postage stamps, and the Lock Haven mill was awarded the contract, which they have held for years.
