"Who Gets the Profits?"

This question, or some other quite similar to it, has been asked several times recently, concerning the entertainment course for the coming winter, which will open in the Christian Chapel, Friday evening, Oct. 13th, with a delightful concert by the well known organization "The Musical Favorites," numbering four thoroughly equipped artists. There will be no profit. There will be no complimentary tickets. No one connected with the organization, in any capacity whatever, will receive a penny of compensation, no matter how much he may work for it. Every member and official of the organization will pay for every ticket he uses for himself, his family or his guests. There is no money making in the affair for anyone. If the income, at the very low prices fixed, shall exceed the expense, the excess, large or small, will be divided into two equal parts, one of which will be held as a fund with which to start another course another year; and the other half will be divided equally between the churches in which the several entertainments will be held to compensate them in part for the cost of light and heat.

If there be no excess of income the cost of light and heat will be a contribution, on the part of the churches to the cause. If the cost shall exceed the income the loss will be equally divided among the twenty-three members. This means that the whole enterprise is for the benefit of the whole community, and that no one can derive one penny of money profit from it. It may well be added here, that the piano to be used upon this occasion of the concert is already in its place and that it was, on last Friday, tuned to "International Pitch," and is ready for business. Both the use of the instrument and the cost of tuning are contributions to the cause by Mr. M. C. Gephart, the Bellefonte music dealer.

Foot Crushed.

Little eight-year-old Walter Shay, whose home is in the small house belonging to Dr. McEntire, just back of the railroad, tried to climb over a slowly-moving westward bound freight, last Thursday noon, because he wanted to hurry to school and "not get a black mark." He slipped and his poor little foot rested on the rail until the wheel came along and crushed it. Tower operator Geo. H. Buckley, living next door, gathered the little fellow up and took him into his own house, where Mrs. Buckley quickly wrapped it in linen saturated with Eucalypti and Mr. Buckley ran with him in his arms to the station, where Dr. McEntire was just due and took him to the Bellefonte hospital. Dr. Seibert promptly amputated the small toe and the one next it, and stitched up and bandaged the less severely crushed portion of the foot, and hopes are entertained that the little fellow may walk without a limp, or with but a slight one. This is another lesson on the folly of "jumping freights," but it will not be heeded. Every fellow thinks that he can do it without danger and so they will keep on disobeying parents, teachers and the law, and—making cripples.

It is but two or three years ago, that a fine young fellow, stealing a ride from Mt. Eagle, jumped off a freight within a very short distance of this same spot and lost his entire foot and lower leg, but the lesson was unheeded. If parents and all good citizens would assist the railroad people in enforcing the trespass law, instead of complaining of and defying it, these fearful misfortunes would be much less frequent.

Married.

At half past eight last Wednesday evening, in the parsonage of the Reformed church, Rev. E. F. Faust pronounced the marriage ceremony between Mrs. Bertha L. Kline and Christian B. Schenck, and fifteen minutes later they boarded No. 54 for a short honeymoon trip which is taking them through Philadelphia, Atlantic City and other interesting and new places. In addition to the parsonage family the only witnesses were Frederick Schenck, the groom's father, (and only near relative) and Miss Alice Kline, a sister of the bride. This brings to a climax a romance which began when "Christie" and "Bertie" were classmates in our High school and has kept the even tenor of its way ever since, watched with a deep interest by all their friends. May their lives be so ordered that its end shall come only when time ends for them. After their return they will be at home to all their friends—and that means the whole community—in the Schenck residence on Walnut street. The Howard letter extends its best wishes.

Two Birthdays.

Mr. Joseph H. Schenck who, by the way, is president of our School Board, and has for several years served his constituency well in that line of public work, rather suddenly found himself apprised, last Monday of the fact that the sixty-fourth anniversary of his birthday had arrived, when he went home to dinner and found himself surrounded by friends whom his good wife had invited in to help him celebrate it. The good time that followed soon relieved him of both his surprise and his embarrassment. The day following, Tuesday, mail carried W. E. Confer's family and friends re-mindful him that he was within one year of a decade younger than Mr. Schenck, having that day passed the third lap after his half century mark, and they made the evening, after his return from the long, hard drive over the mail route, a memorable one for him; having honored him with a delightful company, a model dinner and numerous presents of a substantial character. May they both live long and prosper abundantly.

Sunday School Convention.

The second annual Sunday School Convention of district No. 5, Centre county will be held in the Methodist Episcopal church at Hunters Run, next Friday and Saturday, Sept. 29th and 30th. There will be three sessions: Friday evening 7:30, Saturday morning 9:30, and Saturday afternoon at 2. Each service will open with devotional exercises, conducted respectively by D. B. Schenck, J. L. Gardner, and Henry Thompson. Assigned speakers are Mrs. W. L. Nuttall, of Phillipsburg; W. J. Wilson, C. M. Muffly, W. C. Thompson, J. F. Herr, N. J. Bittner, Joseph White, and the three resident ministers of this section, Revs. M. J. Snyder, E. F. Faust and R. S. Taylor. The good people of the neighborhood will open their houses to all delegates and friends who may be in attendance.

The Teacher's Round-Up inaugurated by Prof. Fletcher last Friday evening, was a successful opening of a series of bi-weekly meetings, to be held upon every alternate Friday evening through the school term. All of the borough, and most of the township teachers were present, and there were representatives from Liberty, Curtin and Boggs. The teaching of reading was the subject of the evening and brought forth a discussion which showed most gratifying knowledge on the part of the teachers present, and in earnest desire to more completely furnish themselves for their good work. The next meeting will be in the evening of Friday, Oct. 6th.

Children's Service.

Last Sabbath evening the usual service by Pastor W. H. Patterson was somewhat departed from, Mr. Patterson preaching a sermon prepared specially for the children of the congregation. He drew beautiful lessons from the story of the little foxes that ate the grapes and made them so interesting that the little ones were charmed. The music for the occasion was furnished wholly by the children, who had been coached by choir leader A. A. Fletcher assisted by Mrs. W. L. Cooke, who are deeply interested in the children's Sunday School and church work.

A Question.

Admitting that Postum Cereal is a fairly palatable breakfast drink, believing that it is much less harmful than coffee, and knowing that it is made of ordinary low cost grains, or an admixture of them with other much less costly materials, why should the consumer be compelled to pay $3.33 per ton for it, including the strawbound boxes in which it is carried?

Lumberman John Lyon is fighting a hard battle with rheumatism.

Miss Blanche Swartz is spending several weeks with friends in Tyrone.

Miss Flora Fletcher is teaching the Moose Run school in Boggs township.

On Saturday last, Miss Irena Fletcher set sail for Tyrone, where she will visit her aunt, Mrs. Clarence Candy.

Mrs. Jacob Laudenslayer, of Lock Haven, was a last week guest of her sisters, Mrs. C. M. Fox and Mrs. I. M. Reber.

The stork left No. 10, a rip-roaring boy, at the home of Parker Thompson last week, and we all know just how proud "Park" feels.

Mrs. R. S. Taylor has been elected delegate to the State Convention of the W. C. T. U., which will assemble at Warren on Friday, Oct. 6.

Capt. H. C. Holter was the architect and contractor for a new, new Corright metal roofing, placed upon the Mrs. E. C. Dietz building last week.

Harry Butler sits all the more erect behind the fine team hitched to the delivery wagon of the W. H. Long roller mill, because the latest is a fine boy.

Raymond and Mrs. Crispen, of Wilkesburg, a bright and pleasing young married pair, were guests of their cousins, the T. E. Thomas family, last week.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Yearick, returning from the grange picnic circled about among their friends and relatives at Centre Hall, Pleasant Gap and Bellefonte.

Harry Muffly is another of our bright young people who are looking toward rapid development by seeking good school advantages; he is attending the Bellefonte Academy.

Dr. and Mrs. W. J. Kurtz attended the fourth annual meeting of the Railway Surgeons' Association, Pennsylvania lines, east of Pittsburgh, at Atlantic City, last Friday.

Harry Wetzel and Herbert J. Fletcher departed last Thursday for Detroit, Mich., where they expect to work in an automobile factory. Good luck, and plenty of it, for them both.

William Stover, of State College, Adam Stover, of Minnesota, and Mrs. Amos Garbrick, of Coleville, constituted a week-end house party at the home of James Tyson, in the township.

Michael Kerin, who has served the second trick in the tower here, substitute for I. D. Jordan, left last Saturday and W. F. Shawyer came from Bald Eagle to take the place permanently.

Clarence Lucas, of Moshannon, and his brother Albert, who for the past two years has been principal of the High school at Lodi, Cal., were guests of their older brother, C. C., here, for a few days last week.

Quilt building is one of the popular forms of church work and social entertainment much in vogue just now. The latest heard of was held last Thursday by the Methodists of the Hunter's Run appointment, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bower Schenck, and Pastor and Mrs. Taylor graced the occasion by their presence.

Uncle David Tanyer spent Wednesday in town greeting his many friends.

Mrs. Nellie Zeigler Bechdel, of Altoona, is a visitor among his Howard friends.

Mrs. R. H. Holter, of Rebersburg with her little son William is at home with her mother, Mrs. Marion Miner.

Mrs. Carrie DeLong Fore, of Blanchard, is a pleasing addition to the house party of Mrs. W. I. Harvey.

Mrs. Charles Leathers, who has been an invalid for many months, was taken to the Bellefonte hospital Wednesday morning.

Miss Corilla Thomas spent last Wednesday in the Lock Haven Hospital with her cousin Mrs. Harris Watson, who is among the convalescents there.

Squire A. A. Fletcher is rejoicing that his household has been enlarged by the presence of his daughter, Mrs. Carl Noll and his little grandson Thomas, of Pitcairn.

The baked bean supper of the Ladies' Aid Society at the home of Mrs. E. L. Holter, last Saturday evening, proved a financial success, notwithstanding their best freezer leaked the ice cream out and the salt water in.

Matthias Walker, of the township, is in decidedly precarious health, with the weight of seventy-seven years against him; but hope for his recovery has not been abandoned. His son, Lionel, and wife, of Avis, visited him last Sunday.

The regular monthly meeting of our local Ministerium will be held in the neat little lecture room of the Reformed church in this town, at two o'clock in the afternoon of next Monday, Oct. 2. "Shall the minister preach politics?" will be the subject for discussion.

Abraham Weber, chairman of the street committee of council, is putting into practice the proposals he officially and persistently urges upon the general public, by building a first-class sidewalk in front of his handsome residence. It's brick, of course, (or what would be the use in bossing a brick works), and has fine, substantial concrete curbs on each side.

Tinner Harold Schenck while assisting his employer, A. A. Schenck, in repairing the roof of one of the buildings on the Grider farm, had the misfortune to step on a nail standing on its head in a little pile of removed shingles, which punctured the ball of his foot to the bone. He is confined to his home, but, under care of Dr. McEntire, hopes soon to be about again.

In improving his premises John Weber tore away the narrow front porch to make room for a much larger and handsomer one. It just so happened that this porch was precisely the size of one on the A. Weber house on Walnut street, now occupied by L. Williams, which had been but recently built, but never finished with a roof; so the roof of the one which was not wanted longer was taken down intact, posts and all, carried up to the Williams house and fitted perfectly. A big improvement to each place.

MARRIAGES.

Campbell—Orris.

Miss Elizabeth Orris, of Mitesburg, and Frank Campbell, of Renovo, were married on Tuesday evening, 19th, at the home of the bride, at Mitesburg, the ceremony being performed by Rev. R. S. Oyer. After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Campbell left on a wedding trip to Washington and other eastern cities. On their return they will reside at Renovo, where Mr. Campbell is a telegraph operator. They will have a host of good wishes and congratulations from their numerous friends.

Goss—Corl.

Miss Elsie M. Goss and Waldo Corl were married at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Goss, in Pine Grove Mills, by Rev. J. S. Shultz, Sept. 14th, in the presence of the immediate relatives and close friends of the bride and groom. Miss Goss was attended by Miss Beattie Martz and Mr. Corl by his brother, Grover. A fine luncheon followed the ceremony. The honeymoon was spent at Reading. The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Goss, of State College, while the bride is an estimable young woman.

Shook—Long.

A very pretty home wedding occurred at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Long, in Spring Mills, on Wednesday, Sept. 27th, when their daughter, Miss Eleanor Mary, was united in marriage to Ralph Shook. The bride wore white satin messaline and carried a bouquet of white chrysanthemums. In addition to the members of the two families a few personal friends were present to witness the ceremony, which was performed by Dr. W. H. Schuyler, of the Presbyterian church. The young couple were attended by Gross Shook, a brother of the groom, of Franklin and Marshall College, as best man. Quite an elaborate wedding breakfast was served after which the young couple were driven to Bellefonte in an automobile where they took the 1:25 train for a trip to New York state. Their many friends extend congratulations and wish them a life of happiness.
