

GAP LIKE THE AUSTIN GAP.

Within about seven miles of Bellefonte, to the south, we have a magnificent gap that seems to us to be a duplicate of the Austin gap, judging from the description of the ill-fated gap at Austin, where the breaking of a large dam destroyed Austin drowning scores of its inhabitants.

MADE FROM GRAPES.

Of all the fruits that grow to give sustenance and nourishment to mankind, the grape is the most famous. A favorite subject of the poet, this healthful, luscious fruit has from the beginning of time been celebrated in song and story.

While the connection between baking powder and grapes may seem remote, it is evident to those who know that cream of tartar exists in all ripe grapes, from which it is directly produced in the following manner:

After reading of the following, the Centre Democrat's readers in Montana, will likely wish they were back in good old Centre county.

President Sparks a Busy Man. President Sparks is booked to deliver a series of addresses this month in the west.

Cats in Bakers' Flour. John C. Delaney, Chief Factory Inspector, is getting fine reports as the result of the inspection of the bakeries throughout the State by his deputies.

Is Maine Wet or Dry? The attempt of the Prohibitionists to secure a recount in three towns, which, it is said, threw a balance in the recent election to the "wets," will probably not be allowed.

All streams for three weeks have been wet up, and muddy—repeated rains kept them to high water notches.

STUDY.

It is probable that if boys could bump up their brains as they do their biceps, and say boastfully, "Feel of that, will you?" they would take much more kindly to mental training.

Education should be thought of as something that can be as easily developed as the biceps. It is important and advisable, of course, to have simple, strong, quickly responding muscles, which will do rapidly and easily whatever you ask of them;

MAY GET CONDENSARY.

Last week's Centre Hall Reporter says: "Not all projects in country or city are realized, but a movement on foot at Spring Mills is well worth the best of consideration, for if it materializes it will be of vast benefit not only to the thriving business center in which it is located, but to every farmer in Penn's Valley."

Investment in western apple lands should not tempt a Pennsylvanian, says C. J. Tyson, Sec. of the State Horticultural Association and manager of the Tyson Bros. orchards in Adams county, Pa.

An Agonizing Scene. While an ambulance surgeon stood beside him, administering morphine at ten minute intervals to dull his agony and a company of firemen chopped desperately in an effort to free him, Samuel Swift, of New York City, last Thursday lay wedged for an hour and a half between an elevator platform and the sidewalk.

Remove Loose Stones. A number of readers request the Democrat to again call the attention of road supervisors to the act of assembly which requires these officials to remove all loose stones from the public highways during the summer, a duty which has been neglected by some of the supervisors, and which will subject them to a fine of $10, and cost of prosecution if brought before any Justice of the peace in the county.

The Highest Points in the State. In last week's issue of the Centre Democrat we gave the official levels of points in the central part of the state. To this we added the highest points in the state, above sea level, namely, Summit, at Berlin, Somerset county, 2292 feet.

85 Liquor Dealers Indicted. Eighty-five indictments against Atlantic City hotel men and saloonkeepers, found by the special grand jury, were made public by Prosecutor C. L. Goldenberg, who says he has no fear any of the defendants will leave the city. The resort will likely be kept wide open until a conviction is found.

Gems In Verse

THE FISHERMAN.

HE was a lad of high degree; She was a farmer's daughter. He came to fish the silver lee, Or did he come to court her?

"The little trout may swim to thee, But never think that you'll catch me." Yet where was that fair maiden born But felt her heart beat higher

The woodland ways are sweet and green Under the summer weather. And through the dingle, through the den, Go boy and girl together.

A heart that burns, a breast that sighs, Red lips with promise laden; A pleading voice and bright brown eyes—Alas, my pretty maiden!

She sits amid the yellow sheaves, That little farmer's daughter, Or counts the scarlet cherry leaves Fall on the shining water.

WORDS.

Keep a watch on your words, my darling, For words are wonderful things. They are sweet like the bees' fresh honey.

BLACK BUTTERFLIES.

WHEN pride of the meadow and golden-rod Are decking the bayou's bank And the still, brown water that glides between Reflects their verdure rank.

THEN day after day, through the sunlit hours, The flutter of velvet wings, Like the trappings of fairy funerals, A flickering shadow flings.

TINY and swift and all shrouded in black, Like moths in the clear sunlight Or like shades of their sister butterflies, They cover the blossoms bright.

SO our lives are dappled with flecks of shade That often obscure the flowers. Yet see how the purple and gold shine through— The hovering, black winged hush. —Clara Botze Bush.

THE BLACK VULTURE.

A LOOF upon the day's immeasured dome He holds unshaken the silence of the sky.

Far down his bleak, relentless eyes dancy Their eagle's empire and the falcon's home Far down the galleons of sunset roam; His hazards on the sea of morning lie; Serene he hears the broken tempest sigh Where cold sierras gleam like scattered foam.

LIFE.

Like to the falling of the star, Or as the flights of eagles are, Or like the fresh spring's gaudy hue, Or silver drops of morning dew, Or like a wind that chafes the food, Or bubbles which on water stoop— Even such is man, whose borrowed light Is straight called in and paid to-night.

THE WOMAN HEART.

SHE never said "I love you not," but She was all fearful that she loved too much. She never took her hand from yours, but then When most she craved its touch.

SHE never laughed at you but when she fain Would be too tender; never turned away Have when each impulse urged her once To listen and to stay.

A WOMAN'S heart is like a witch's prayer— To be read backward and its craft defied. Ah, judge us not by those poor lies we dare, But by the truth we hide. —Theodosia Garrison.

IT DEPENDS.

WHEN'er you see a man with trace Of thought or sadness on his face, Rush up and take his arm with knack And slap him fondly on the back, And if he's sad and friendless, too, He'll give his open hand to you.

But if the gentleman you caught Was just absorbed in deepest thought And trying hard to twist his brain That some success he might attain And now, then, all his thought undo He'll slip his folded hand to you. —John L. Hobbie.

REASONS FOR DIVORCE.

One Man Had to Buy 44 Hats and 29 Gowns.

The reason for full divorces opened last Monday in Pittsburgh, with 160 women and 98 men asking for divorces. Exactly fifty of the men asked divorces on the ground of extravagance. Nearly all coincided in the view that their wives spent too much money on fashionable gowns and hats.

One man said his wife had purchased 28 pairs of shoes, 12 fancy belts, 21 hats and 14 gowns during the last year, and that he has discovered his salary of $70 a week is not sufficient to keep her, so he wanted a divorce.

REST FOR THE HEART.

Close your fist tightly. Open it. Shut it again. That is the energy you need. That is the energy you must find a minute to send the blood through your body. You wonder that it never becomes tired. It does. Then the blood flows irregularly and weakly through the arteries and you become a fit subject for almost any disease.

Children in open air schools usually spend two hours at noon every day lying in steamer chairs. Many doctors advise an hour's rest at this time for everybody. Most of us are busy for this. But can't you devote ten minutes a day to rest? Your heart will gain in vigor and strength. Do not use stimulants when tired. They hurt the heart. Give nature a chance to rest.

Successful Sabbath School Convention.

The forty-ninth annual convention of the State Sabbath School Association, held at New Castle, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of last week, was a most successful gathering of religious workers, 1,413 delegates having been in attendance.

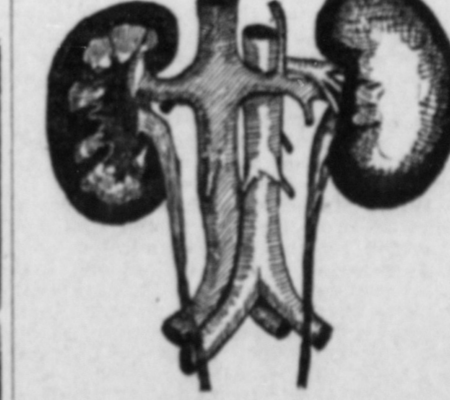

Centre county is now in the "Front Line" in Sunday school work, which means that it has the required number of teacher training classes, home departments and cradle rolls. This is a very gratifying fact, and a decided credit to the county and its district officers.
