

The Home Circle

Pleasant Evening Reveries Dedicated to Tired Mothers as They Join the Home Circle at Evening Tide.

If you intend to treat yourself any better than your wife, don't take one.

If you have an idea that you are too good for a picked up dinner, remain a bachelor.

Don't forget mother when picnics and good times are in order. Don't let her do all the hard work. And boys, treat her to some fresh air every day behind that newly-broken coat.

Never in the history of any country, in any age, has there been such a mighty work before the youth of our land as there is today; and we might say never were young men as ignorant of it and unfitted for their work. Each one wants the other to row the boat while he catches the fish.

Profanity never did any man the least good. No man is the richer, the happier, or wiser for it. It commends no one to any society. It is disgusting to the refined; abominable to the good; insulting to those with whom we associate; degrading to the mind; unprofitable, needless and injurious to society. Young man, don't be profane.

We know that music is pleasant and home is not home where there are no songs or sweet harmonies; but a knowledge of the piano will not help a woman discharge her wifely duties, and a smattering of French or an ability to wait gracefully, will do but little towards preparing a palatable dinner for a husband when he comes home hungry.

Let us say to you, young man, that pluck wins more battles than luck. Wishing is the easiest way in the world to get a poor living. Looking for the fortunate star to rise is like standing on the ocean's strand waiting and watching for wealth-laden ships to come over the sea that never "put out." Wishing brings a small income, and the taxes in it are enormous.

When a man has established a home has a wife and children, the most important duties of his life have fairly begun. The errors of his youth may be obliterated, the faults of his early days may be overlooked, but from the moment of his marriage he commences to write an ineffable history; not by pen and ink, but by deeds, by which he must ever afterwards be reported and judged.

A trade is a good thing to have; it is better than gold—brings a larger premium. But to make a premium, the trade must be perfect—no silver plated affair. Determine in your mind to be a good workman, or let the job out. Learning a trade is different from eating music and milk-mechanical education does not slip down.

FACT, FUN AND FANCY.

Bright, Sparkling Paragraphs—Selected and Original.

Peace often costs more than a fight.

If you have another man's umbrella he is at least entitled to your sympathy.

He Believed It.—The real estate agent had sounded his praises of the new property to the prospective buyer; and at the end he said: "The death rate in this suburb is lower than in any other part of the country." "I believe you," said the prospective buyer; "I wouldn't be found dead here myself."

More Zoological.—The following composition on men is credited to a little girl: "Men are what women marry. They drink, and smoke and swear, but don't go to church. Perhaps if they wore bonnets they would. They are more logical than women and also more zoological. Both men and women sprung from monkeys, but the women sprung further than the men."

Proved an Alibi.—Sunday School Superintendent.—Who led the children of Israel into Canaan? Will one of the smaller boys answer? No reply. Superintendent (somewhat sternly)—Can no one tell? Little boy on that seat next the aisle, who led the children of Israel into Canaan? Little boy (badly frightened)—It wasn't me. I—I just moved here last week f'm Miz-zoury.

He was Careful.—An electric wire had fallen under its heavy weight of snow. The lineman found a crowd around the grounded copper, and an inquisitive Irishman lifted one end from the ground. "Man alive! Don't you know what a risk you're taking? That might be a live wire!" he ejaculated. "Sure 'n' Oi thought of that meself, an' Oi fillet of the wire good before Oi picked it up at all."

Nearsighted.—A promising youth recently surprised his father by asking "Father, do you like mother?" "Why, yes; of course." "And she likes you?" "Of course she does." "Did she ever say so?" "Many a time, my son." "Did she marry you because she loved you?" "Certainly she did." The boy scrutinized his parent closely, and after a long pause asked: "Well, was she nearsighted then as she is now?"

Annoying.—Newlywed lived on the first floor of a flat. One evening he sat in his easy chair reading but was much annoyed by a continuous racket on the floor above. Looking up from his paper he said: "I wonder what that confounded noise is." "Oh," said Mrs. Newlywed, "that's the lady above, rocking her baby to sleep." "For heaven's sake," he exclaimed, "run upstairs and tell her to use smaller rocks!"

Met His Equal.—As a foppish fellow was making his way through a narrow passage at the end of Charlotte street in Glasgow, he met an exceptionally beautiful girl, and said to her: "Pray, my dear, what do you call this passage?" "Why this, sir, is Balaam's Passage," she answered politely. "Ah, then I am like Balaam, stopped by an angel." "And I," rejoined the girl, as she pushed past him "am like the angel—stopped by an ass."

OVER THE COUNTY.

Perry H. Luse, of Centre Hall, is sporting a fine team of black draft horses purchased in Union county.

Jeweler C. L. Grenoble, who during the past six months has been in Philadelphia taking a special course in watchmaking, engraving and optics, received his diploma, and in a short time he and his wife will again take up housekeeping in Yeagertown where Mr. Grenoble will open a jewelry store. During her husband's absence Mrs. Grenoble had been staying at the home of her father, I. J. Zubler, at Spring Mills.

While Misses Helen White and Winifred Burrows, two State College co-eds, were out driving last Wednesday afternoon, their vehicle collided with a wagon, the impact throwing Miss White out on her face, lacerating it somewhat. The horse ran off and galloped into town, where it fell near Fry's store. The young ladies were brought to town in C. E. Snyder's auto and the lacerations attended to by a physician.

The crop of bucks and does on the Seven Mountains is said to be large so large that the mountain sides are not capable of giving them variety enough to eat, especially the epicures. Recently, dissatisfied with the picking in the mountains, a five-pronged buck, a the mountains, a five-pronged buck, does were seen pasturing in a field where Willard Jamison lives, in the vicinity of Beech. The deer mingled with the cattle and were quite contented.

John A. Strunk, who for the past eight years has been a resident of Vernon, Kansas, is now visiting friends in the east, and for several weeks has been a guest of his brother, William A. Strunk, of near Old Fort. Since going west Mr. Strunk has prospered quite extensively, and only a short time before leaving he sold his farm for almost twice the sum he paid for it and moved onto a rented farm, which has also proved profitable. His principal crops are corn and hay, and also follows hay baling, which is done right from the field without stacking. Mr. Strunk formerly farmed the Dale farm at Pleasant Gap, before going to Kansas.

Calvin Harter, one of Marion township's good Democrats, had quite a funny incident happen him one day last week. He was out in the barn at the time feeding the hogs, and finding he had to cough took his false teeth out of his mouth and placed them in his pocket. When he went to replace his molars he forgot where he had put them, and at the same instant spied one of his big porkers grinding something in his mouth. Mr. Harter chased the hog around the barn several times with the idea of catching it, killing the animal and recovering his teeth, but finally gave it up and decided to wait until the hog became a little fatter. Several days later Mr. Harter in hanging up his vest noticed something dropping out of one of the pockets and on picking it up, to his abhorrence, there was the set of missing teeth. The cigars are now on Mr. Harter.

Dr. Philip S. Fisher—For Coroner. Dr. Philip S. Fisher is so well known throughout the county that words of introduction or commendation seem superfluous. His father, the Rev. C. P. W. Fisher, was a noted and beloved minister of the Reformed church at Bailsburg for many years. Dr. Fisher since attaining manhood has practiced his profession most successfully, principally in the valley for almost a half a century, and is known to any physician within the county. In addition to his receiving the unanimous nomination of the Democracy, papers were filed for him by Republicans, and he was nominated by that party over Dr. Huff, the present incumbent and a most worthy gentleman. While his name appears on both tickets, and there will not likely be any contest the Doctor deserves every vote. Owing to a recent illness he was not able to get about and solicit support, and therefore will be in the hands of his friends and they will deal kindly with him.

Michael Breen, aged 93 years, probably the oldest resident of Clearfield county, died recently at his home in Luthersburg.

A peculiar accident occurred at the home of Charles Brown, on West Main street, one night last week, says the Millheim Journal. When the family retired that night Mrs. Brown remarked to Mr. Brown that she thought there was something burning as she smelled smoke. On going to an adjoining room Mrs. Brown found the room full of smoke. The one window in the room was closed, she opened it and when the air rushed in she discovered that Mr. Brown's overcoat, that was hanging in the room, was on fire. What caused the fire is unknown but the coat was entirely ruined.

Tough on Santa. Old Santa Claus has been given a jolt by the postal authorities at Washington. They have issued orders that all letters addressed to him be returned to the sender, if possible, and if not they are to be destroyed. The letters at one time were sent to the dead letter office.

TEAS—With the coming of Summer the old Standard Hot Weather Beverage Tea will be in demand. Most Teas now are used blended, but we take no chances on buying Blended Teas. Do our own blending right here in the store. Use only New Crop Goods of Good Value and Finest Flavor, not merely thrown together but compounded so as to drown the separate flavor of each and produce a new and true blend. Try our 60c blend for either hot or iced tea. If you want something fine go the 80c goods and if you are willing to go still higher, one dollar per pound will more than please you. We carry a fine line of Straight Teas—Formosa Oolong, Ceylon, Japan, Young Hyson, Gun Powder, Imperial—Several Grades of each kind on all "Our Lines" of Teas. 5c per lb. off on sales of one pound or more.

COFFEES—Coffees have not changed in value recently but we look for an early moderate decline. Our 23c and 25c goods are the best values of anything now offered.

OLIVES—We have just opened some olives that are worth your attention. Large, bright, perfect fruit at 10c per half pint, 20c per pint and 35c per qt. for sales of one qt. or more.

PICKLES—Dills: Sweet and Sour. New full Cream Cheese 18c per lb. Fruits and Biscuits are in demand just now and we always have them in abundance. If you want some nice, bright country Dried Apples we have them. Finest Hams and boneless breakfast Bacon at 18c per lb.

Makes New Shoes As Pliant As Old Ones

Queen Quality SHOE

THE Flexible "Wonder Worker Process" slashes on the underside of the innersole a series of overlapping joints, not unlike the scales of a fish, both in appearance and flexibility. This process makes the ordinary Waxed sole as flexible and elastic as that of a Turn sole, the most flexible sole used on a shoe.
