J. Thomas Lesh, of Altoona, was home to see his aged mother who has reached the 90th milestone in life's journey. She is hale and hearty, for one of her age and promises well to reach the 100th mark.
Mrs. Vonada is having her house in this village repaired by adding a second story, a porch in front and a kitchen in the rear. When completed it will make a nice little home, and will compare very favorably with its surroundings.

The election is now past and over-with, after a hard and close fight. The defeated candidates with their friends are very sorry for them. But in politics as in war, some must be licked. The writer don't like to brag, boast or banter, but here's one on John, all right. You know John had several acres of corn out and it was good corn too; and being very industrious he began husking early and stayed right on the job until it was finished. He kept a close count of all he husked and when he had it all away he struck an average. The average was good, it was quite a bit above one hundred to the acre. But then John should not have told any one about it but he did, and there is where he made the mistake, for he was beat by a husker. I'll tell you, Charley, but don't give it away. I mean the number of bushels to the acre. John had 116 bushels and the other fellow had 134. Well, John is a good, honest Democrat and very likely his number of bushels would have been the same anyway. But there are two adjoining farms that were cleared about seventy years ago by Democrats and have been under Democratic management ever since. Their owners believe in lime, manure, fertilizer and good tillage. The one farm had 14 acres planted and had 2015 bushels of ears. The other had sixteen acres in corn and husked 2113 bushels. This statement is not overdrawn, for in the last case the landlord received his rent for that amount.

A Drop of Blood

Or a little water from the human system when thoroughly tested by the chief chemist at Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., tells the story of impoverished blood—nervous exhaustion or some kidney trouble. Such examinations are made without cost and is only a small part of the work of the staff of physicians and surgeons under the direction of Dr. R. V. Pierce giving the best medical advice possible without cost to those who wish to write and make a full statement of symptoms. An imitation of nature's method of restoring waste of tissue and impoverishment of the blood and nervous force is used when you take an alterative and glyceric extract of roots, without the use of alcohol, such as

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery

Which makes the stomach strong, promotes the flow of digestive juices, restores the lost appetite, makes assimilation perfect, invigorates the liver and purifies and enriches the blood. It is the great blood-maker, flesh-builder and restorative nerve tonic. It makes men strong in body, active in mind and cool in judgment. Get what you ask for!
