COMMISSIONERS MADE A SWEEP

Other Candidates Ran Well—Gazette Charges Quigley With Slump—Dorworth Admits They Got "Licked."

The official count of the vote in Centre County was made at the court house on last Thursday afternoon. Hon. Ellis L. Orvis was assisted by Messrs. L. A. It is quite interesting to note the comment in some of our contemporaries as to the cause of this political upheaval. From the Gazette we take the following extract:

"The election on Tuesday resulted in the most complete defeat of the republican party in Centre county it has experienced for a quarter of a century. When as high as seven republicans in a single precinct fail to exercise the right of franchise it evidences the fact that the party is either losing interest or that its management is in wrong hands."

"Belleville, which has always been a cause for alarm to republican candidates, this year did its full duty; and had the balance of the county done as well the entire Republican ticket would have been elected."

The first paragraph from the Gazette is generally construed as a direct thrust at Henry C. Quigley, Republican County Chairman, for whom the editor of the Gazette has no love, and especially so since Mr. Quigley secured the appointment of Mr. Williams as postmaster of Bellefonte. The statement in the second paragraph would indicate that the Republican voters in Bellefonte, at least, were not disgruntled over the outcome of the postmaster fight.

From the Republican we take the following:

LICKED.

"The Republicans of Centre County on Tuesday gave themselves the most thorough licking they have received in many a day. Many Republicans failed to go to the polls and vote. Some others went to the polls and voted the whole or a part of the Democratic ticket."

"We extend congratulations to the victors on the many fight they put up. Democratic majorities of 1909 and over in Centre County in this year of our Lord, 1911, should be sufficient to suggest to every Republican that he has to some extent at least been asleep at the switch."

"We admire the Republican's frankness that they got a good licking while they were 'asleep at the switch,' and at the same time, it congratulates the Democrats on 'the many fight they put up.' While some of those who lost were a little sore the 'day after the night before,' by this time they have recovered their equilibrium and are receiving their friends quite graciously."

In addition to the new officers chosen in consequence new men will likely be chosen for the following places: Deputy Prothonotary, Deputy Recorder, Deputy Register, Deputy Sheriff, and a turnkey at the county jail. County Commissioner's Clerk, County Solicitor, Janitor and foreman at the court house. All the county officials will also engage attorneys to direct them during their terms. Then there will be some other appointments by the County Commissioners later, such as mercantile appraiser, etc.

By this time numerous applications have been filed for the various places, but up to this time no appointments have been announced or determined upon, as they will not be hasty in their selections, and in making them desire to secure men who will give the public the very best service.

The vote cast for local offices in the boros and townships throughout the county will be found in complete detail on page 2 of this issue.

The county officers elected at the election last week will serve for a term of four years.

PULLMAN PORTER WOUNDED

His Alleged Assistant a Young Woman Who Is Now in Jail.

A shooting took place on Quaker City express running eastward over the Pennsylvania line between Pittsburg and Philadelphia, just as it was pulling away from Huntingdon at 7:16 o'clock on Thursday evening. It caused a lot of excitement among the passengers for a time but the startling incident gave them a topic for conversation for the remainder of the way east. Miss Sadie Marcella, aged about 32 years and residing in Pittsburg, shot and painfully wounded Walter Bennett, aged 33 years, a colored Pullman porter in an altercation that grew out of his refusal to pay her car fare from Altoona to Harrisburg. He is a patient in the Lewisburg hospital while the girl is in jail at Huntingdon to await trial on the charge of shooting him.

Sadie Marcella boarded Quaker City express at Pittsburg and was a coach passenger for Harrisburg. C. B. Snyder, the train's conductor, on reaching the Pullman porters called her without a ticket. She informed him that the conductor on the Pittsburg division had lifted it and she said she would have to pay her fare or get off the train. She happened to have an acquaintance with Walter Bennett, one of the Pullman porters on the train, she having been employed as a waitress in his brother's restaurant in Pittsburg.

At Huntingdon she passed into the Pullman cars on a hunt for Bennett and came upon him in the vestibule between the two parlor cars of the train. Bennett says that she requested money to pay her fare and when he refused to give it to her that an altercation followed. Just as the train was pulling away from Huntingdon she suddenly drew a revolver from somewhere about her clothing and shot at him. The ball entered the right side of his neck and inflicted an ugly and painful flesh wound. The Pullman conductor happened to be near, heard the shot and hurried into the vestibule to ascertain its cause. He found Bennett tussling with the woman, saw the revolver in her hand and immediately disarmed her.

The news of the shooting soon spread through the train and in a minute or two Conductor Snyder and his brakemen were on the scene. They took charge of the Marcella woman, saw that she could do no damage to any one else and then turned their attention to Bennett. The train was stopped at Mill Creek where Dr. Simpson got aboard the train, dressed Bennett's wound and ordered him sent to the Lewisburg hospital.

A Prisoner in His Own Jail.

Dismissed from his office as sheriff of Westmoreland county, John E. Shields, county commissioner-elect, is a prisoner in his own home at the county jail, committed until his sentence of two years and four months in the penitentiary, for malfeasance in office, perjury, and subornation of perjury, or he is granted a new trial by the Supreme Court, before which tribunal in Philadelphia, his appeal was argued on Monday.

In the meantime Coroner H. A. McMurray is acting sheriff, and it is said, to be the first time in Pennsylvania a coroner has been called upon to preserve the peace of a community.

It is less than sixty days before Shields would be called upon to take up the office of county commissioner and there is much speculation as to the probability of his being permitted to hold the office. The charges against Shields grew out of his conduct of affairs during the coal strike in the Irwin field in 1910.

Died After Re-Election.

Thomas E. Halfpenny died at his home in Lewisburg, on Sunday morning after an illness of a few weeks of cancer of the stomach. Mr. Halfpenny was prothonotary and clerk of the court for six years and was re-elected for the third term at the election last week. He was a graduate of Bucknell university class of 1875, and admitted to practice law at the bar of Union county. He devoted a number of years to the Lewisburg woolen mills which his father, Mark Halfpenny, Jr., founded.

Mack Halfpenny, a brother, is critically ill in a hospital in Texas, having been shot by a policeman in mistake for a burglar. He was the leading man of an opera company and was returning from the theatre to his home. The Halfpenny's have relatives and friends in this county.

Religious Announcements.

There will be preaching services at the following appointments: Sunday, Nov. 19th—At Linden Hall (Rock Hill church) at 10 a. m.

Preaching and communion at Tusseyville (Zion church) at 2 p. m. and in the evening at Spring Mills at 7:30.

The Rev. J. H. Rosenberger, a very able preacher, a power in the pulpit from Logan, Pa., will deliver God's message. All persons are cordially invited to attend these services. Rev. O. G. Martin, pastor.

Judge's Wisdom Settles Case.

Magistrate Miller, of Scranton, is a judge who reads of Bible and has learned something from the example of Solomon. When the ownership of a hunting dog was in dispute before him he lived up to the claimants, the dog was allowed to enter the court room, and it went direct to a patrolman who claimed the canine. That ended the case.

Another Serious Hunting Accident.

Gordon Hebering, the 15-year-old son of John Hebering of Clearfield, while out hunting on Monday, as a result of an accidental discharge of his gun, had his right hand so badly lacerated by shot that it had to be amputated three inches above the wrist. Several shot hit him in the neck, and but for a grove, would likely have resulted fatally.

TIMELY NOTES ON NATION'S POLITICS

WRITTEN BY ONE WHO IS A KEEN OBSERVER.

PRIGES NOW AND DURING WAR

Are Shown by a Washington Man to Be Lower During the Former Days—Taft Sees Shadows of Coming Events.

"As Massachusetts goes, so will the nation go in 1912!"

This was the slogan of both Republicans and Democrats in the Massachusetts campaign. And the Democratic candidate, Gov. Foss, was handily.

The issue was the tariff and Taft standpatism, the same that issue will predominate in the 1912 campaign. Query: If the protectionists cannot carry Massachusetts, home of the cotton and woolen manufacturing industries, where the people are supposed to reap some of the tremendous advantages of protection, how can they expect to carry the middle and western states, in which regions live the people who pay the excessive prices caused by high tariff and reap none of the alleged benefits of protection?

Why Mr. Taft Feels Shaky.

Here is an article which speaks for itself. It is taken from the Dakota Democrat, published at Aberdeen, S. D., and is a fair sample of what the newspapers, in the cities visited by Mr. Taft on his trip through the West, published after he had left town. Incidentally, this article in a measure reveals the sentiment which prompted Mr. Taft to make his now famous prediction of Republican defeat in 1912:

"The big event—Taft day at Aberdeen—has come and gone. Ostrichy to see the President caused thousands to come to Aberdeen, stand in line and cheer when he spoke. He was not with him at any stage in the game. Poor Taft! Big-hearted, jovial and companionable, a commoner in his bearing. Everybody instinctively admires him for the personal charm of his manner. It is too bad that such a good man should be spoiled in trying to make presidential timber of him. We love him for his large personality, but in view of what he has done we cannot vote for him again."

The President Voted!

The President got to vote after all. A lot of red tape was necessary, but he voted. And thereby hangs a tale.

Six years ago Mr. Taft made a prediction at Akron, O., in which he predicted the fortunes of the Cox machine in Cincinnati. He said he could take great pleasure in voting against it. He declared this foul republican machine was a stench in the nostrils of all good citizens. The people of Ohio, realizing that William H. Taft was telling the truth, applauded him vigorously and with the utmost sincerity.

In the recent election Mr. Taft publicly endorsed and voted for the Cox machine, which is still the disgraceful alliance of politics, corrupt business and the money power of the South. But the President was there with an excuse. He said that "conditions had substantially changed."

Whatever the President was alluding to, it was not the Cox machine, for it had remained as foul as ever. The only change visible to observers is that whereas six years ago Mr. Taft was not a candidate for office, he is today.

South May Desert Taft.

The prediction is made at the La Follette headquarters in Washington that the administration will find it impossible to send a solid Taft delegation from the South to the next convention.

"For many weeks," says a statement given out at the LaFollette headquarters, "there has been signs that the Southern Republicans have been fearful that the renomination of President Taft will be a serious menace to their continued receipt of bi-monthly checks from the United States treasury. The South is affording the Progressive campaign committee more encouragement than any other section of the country."

War Time Prices Out Distanced.

It no longer is necessary to hark back to war times as an era of exceptionally high prices. A Washington antiquarian has gone to the trouble to dig up a list of war time prices, and compare them with the present. Aldrich prices of the present time, as follows:

| | | |
|------------|---------------|------------|
| War Time | Article | Present |
| $4.10 | bbf. flour | $7.75 |
| 14c | lb. hams | 25c to 28c |
| 8c and 12c | lb. lard | 12c to 15c |
| 14c | lb. cheese | 25c to 35c |
| 10c to 16c | lb. sugar | 5c to 8c |
| 6 1/2c | lb. beef | 15c |
| 5c | lb. shoulders | 20c |
| 13c to 16c | lb. coffee | 20c to 40c |

Police on Lookout.

Pennsylvania railroad police as well as the police authorities of all cities along the main line and branches of the Pennsylvania road have been requested to look out for a slick swindler who worked successfully in Altoona and Huntingdon. The fellow is representing himself as a traveling physician for the Pennsylvania relief department. He visits boarding houses and offers in payment a bogus check for a month's board in advance, getting change in good money.

1,000 Foot Limer Latest.

It is reported on excellent authority that the White Star company is in negotiation with Harland & Wolff for the construction of a steamship more than a hundred feet longer than the Olympic and the Titanic of their line, each of which is 860 feet long.

The Democrat has an idea that if the White Star adding to the length of their transatlantic steamers, it may become possible to hook a half dozen of the liners, single file, and serve as a bridge for footmen between New York and Liverpool.

TEACHERS' INSTITUTE.

This week Teachers' Institute is in progress in Bellefonte and the sessions are held in the court house. The attendance of teachers is better than ever, but this is due to the provisions of the new school law which allows teachers $3 per day while at institute. Those who remain away without a satisfactory excuse will have a like amount deducted from their next month's salary, or an actual loss of $3 per day for being absent.

We will not get into detail regarding the various instructors as space will not permit that to be done.

In a former issue we gave a full program of leading events, such as instructors, evening entertainments and the same is being faithfully carried out. The attendance of outsiders is not as large as during former institutes when held at the holiday season. On Wednesday afternoon the room was packed to its utmost capacity, and the evening entertainments have been liberally patronized.

Since the salaries of teacher have been advanced it is evident that a better class of instructors are in charge of our public schools. Institute will continue in session until Friday noon when it will have completed the program prepared.

The School Directors Association met on Wednesday and continued their sessions until noon Thursday.

Teachers' Institute seems to lack public attention; and the enthusiasm among teachers is not what it has been in former years—is a comment frequently made by those in attendance. The evening entertainments are of a very ordinary character, and in consequence scarcely anybody in the community, except the teachers, are aware of the events, hence there is a monotonous grind, and the teachers of the county deserve, and would patronize, the best.

There are complaints we hear, if admitted, those in charge can profit accordingly.

LOST TROLLEY CO'S MONEY.

Tough Luck of Former Centre County Man.

The Altoona Tribune thus recites the misfortune of J. M. Stamm, a former Centre county man, now employed as a trolley conductor in Blair county:

"Conductor J. M. Stamm was in charge of Altoona and Logan Valley Railway company's car No. 166, running between the city and Hollidaysburg Saturday morning and while making a southbound trip he was robbed of a company money-bag containing $45 in silver. The coin got too heavy for Stamm and he decided to hide it in the sand box of the car until he could turn it into the office of the company."

Just as his car reached a short distance south of Lakeview park he was overtaken by a man in a dark coat. He reported his loss to Superintendent of Transportation Shannon and an investigation was started. Stamm is very sure of the party that took the money and unless it is returned to the company's office at once further action will be taken."

NO SITE CHOSEN.

There is considerable suspense in this community at present over the final outcome of the selection of a penitentiary site. There have been all kinds of rumors about as to the outcome, and information was given out in various ways to make our people exceedingly hopeful that the McBride location will finally be chosen, but up to this time no definite action has been taken.

On Tuesday the commission was supposed to meet in Pittsburg and a session was called for that week. J. Linn Harris, of the Forestry commission, was present, and Col. W. F. Reynolds will likely be in close touch in case any further information is desired regarding his properties.

Should the commission recommend a location, the report will have to have the approval of Gov. Fener before it is settled where the institution will finally be located.

Up to the hour of going to press no information was received from Pittsburg regarding the selection of a site.

Pinned Under His Wagon.

Samuel R. Hoffman, of Altoona, was caught under a heavy wagon that turned turtle at Twentieth street and Ninth avenue Monday evening about 6 o'clock, and was held under the upturned vehicle for twenty minutes before he was rescued, says the Tribune.

The street was deserted and the moans and cries of the injured man were heard by none until two Italian workmen happened along and released him from his trying position. He was badly bruised and cut, especially about the hips and it is feared may have sustained internal injuries.

Mr. Hoffman has been engaged in the work of moving a house and had a wagon load of heavy timbers, used for track purposes. The wagon was a one-horse affair and was somewhat top-heavy, it seems, from its load. A deep hole in the street was struck and the wagon overturned. Mr. Hoffman was completely buried under the wreck and was unable to help himself. The horses, fortunately, did not take fright at the accident and stood still, thus saving the man from what might have been death.

MEETING OF BRICK COMPANY.

The Hayes Run Plant Much Gratified With Report of the Past Year.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Hayes Run Fire Brick company was held at Orviston on Friday and it was well attended. Judge Ellis L. Orvis, the president of the company, presided. A very satisfactory report was submitted by General Manager C. W. Keller of the business of the company for the past year. This report was very gratifying to the stockholders, who unanimously extended a vote of thanks to the officers and directors for the work accomplished.

All of the seven members of the board of directors were re-elected, as follows: Hon. E. L. Orvis, John R. Stevenson, Robert H. Furst, B. F. Brown, George R. Thompson, C. R. Kurtz and John K. Furst. At a meeting of the directors held later in the day the present officers were chosen to serve for another year, as follows: E. L. Orvis, president; John R. Stevenson, vice president; Charles R. Kurtz, secretary; Ives L. Harvey, treasurer; Carroll W. Keller, general manager.

The Hayes Run company have kept their plant, which is one of the most modern in the country, running constantly during the past year, and now employs 175 persons. Although the past year there was a general depression in business, yet the net earnings were 12 per cent, which was used in permanent improvements and was extremely satisfactory to all concerned.

DON'T FORGET THE HOSPITAL

ANNUAL DONATION WILL SOON BE IN ORDER.

RURAL FRIENDS CAN HELP

By Adding a Contribution to This Worthy Institution—Foodstuffs and Linen Will be Gratefully Received—Everyone Should Give Something.

Admitted for treatment: Mrs. Lillie Kellerman, Bellefonte; William Suter, Coleville, aged 2 years.

Owing to the death of Dr. Geo. F. Harris the following changes were necessary to fill vacancies, and were made recently: Dr. J. L. Seibert was elected chief of staff, Dr. S. M. Huff, of Milesburg, was elected to the staff as a surgeon.

Dr. Jas. H. Dobbins, who has been a patient in the institution for some time, donated a handsome rug for the furnishing of the office on the first floor, at the entrance of the new building.

The annual commencement exercises of the Training School for Nurses of the Bellefonte Hospital, at which Miss Minna Gerginski, of Roife, Pa., and Miss Jessica Kerstetter, of Millheim, would have received their diplomas, was held recently by the Training School committee, therefore there will not be the usual public exercises, but the young ladies will be granted their diplomas nevertheless.

Thursday, November 23rd, was the time that had been informally fixed for the event. Miss Kerstetter will locate in Pittsburg, and Miss Gerginski will remain in Bellefonte.

The time for holding the annual Thanksgiving donation will be Thursday, November 30. On this occasion all friends of the hospital will be invited to make some form of donation for the benefit of the maintenance of the institution. This is customary in all towns and has been successfully observed in this section for years past. In Bellefonte the ladies often canvass the town prior to that date and on Thanksgiving day the Orderly of the Hospital call at the various homes for whatever they may be willing to give. In nearly all the adjoining towns there are organizations that do effective work for the hospital and they always seek that a liberal offering is made. Don't hesitate about what you should give. They will accept anything of food supplies such as fruit, vegetables, meats, poultry, canned goods, preserves, limes—especially pillow cases, bedding and sheets, night robes for patients, even coal; and last, but not least, cash can be turned to good account. Remember that the time is two weeks from today, that will enable you to make a selection. As this institution has successfully treated more patients outside of Bellefonte than from the town, those living in the country should give it their cordial support on all occasions, in recognition for the good work that has been done here for humanity. All contributions outside of Bellefonte should necessarily be delivered by rail to Bellefonte, or sent direct to the institution where it is convenient to do so. Remember the hospital on Thanksgiving day.

An Interesting Book.

"Forty Thousand Miles Around the World," as narrated by Geo. T. Bush, of Bellefonte, in his recently published book is of that class of travel history that compels one to follow the author through every chapter, once you begin to read it. Told in the free and easy style of one who is a seasoned traveler and a keen observer, there are many interesting old-world scenes described in a new and pleasing manner. Mr. Bush has received many flattering letters from those who have purchased the book, and quite a number of orders have already been filled throughout the United States and Canada. The edition is limited, and sells for $1.60 a copy.

Applicants For Licenses.

There are 34 applicants for liquor license in Centre county this year. The time for filling same having expired the past week. This is the same number that was granted last year and there are no applications for new places in the list, all the old stands having renewed their applications.

Some forty persons were frozen to death by Sunday night's icy blizzard, in different parts of the United States. Jack Frost opened his ice business quite suddenly this fall.

Amendments Lost.

The returns on the proposed constitutional amendments are not promising for the passage for the two propositions. The reports on the amendments show that the vote was very light, the large majority of the voters neglecting to vote on them at all.

LOST MAN'S BODY IN DAM.

The dead body of J. F. Bachman, of Yeagertown, was found Thursday afternoon upon the breast of the dam of the Mann Edge Tool Company, located at the eastern suburbs of Lewis-town.

C. H. Dull, of Burnham, returning home from a hunting trip, says the Belleville Times, observed an object resembling in appearance that of a body of a man lodged upon the top part of the breastworks of the dam. Mr. Dull notified Lester F. Smith and the two men in company with Henry Montgomery of Lewisstown secured a boat and rowed to the dam to make certain that the strange looking object was a human form. As when the three men reached the spot they saw that it was a man whose face was turned downward and his feet and about half his body protruding above the water's surface. The water at the place where the body lay is fully twenty feet deep. Bachman left his home in Yeagertown October 14, and went to the "Bean Soup" at McClure. He failed to return home and no news of his whereabouts had been ascertained by the family except that the missing man was last seen getting upon the train at McClure and starting for his home in Yeagertown. He was not at home and it is generally believed that in returning to Lewisstown he staggered off the Walnut street bridge into the creek.

To Locate in New York State.

Jeremiah Zettle, of Spring Mills, the veteran hunter, trapper, and dealer in hides and furs, was in Bellefonte this week, making a few preliminary arrangements for starting for New York state next week, where he will be better able to carry on his business dealing in raw furs. Mr. Zettle is known all over Centre and adjoining counties as a buyer of this much-demanded commodity, and for a number of years he has made regular trips through Central Pennsylvania building up a large trade through honest and square dealing. By locating in New York he will be nearer the markets, and thus be able to keep in closer touch with the prices, all of which will be an advantage to his customers. His address will be Stony Ford, Orange county, N. Y., where his customers can communicate with him at any time they desire. Mr. Zettle guarantees a square deal in all his business transactions, and will be glad to receive shipments from all his former patrons and others.

Next Election.

Pennsylvania will elect a State Treasurer and probably an Auditor General, four Congressmen-at-Large, thirty-two district Congressmen, thirty-eight presidential electors, twenty-five Senators and 267 members of the House of Representatives next year. The next election will be a national and state affair, and no municipal or county officers will be chosen. Neither will any Judges of the Courts of Common Pleas be elected.

The primaries will be held in April instead of September, owing to the fact that delegates to national and state conventions must be chosen early. The State conventions will be held shortly after the primaries.
