"As you meet with others in traveling upon the highway of life always turn to the right."

In Our Churches Next Sabbath.

World-wide Temperance Service.—Our several pastors have agreed upon the following order of Union services for the observance of this special occasion, for our community: At half past ten in the morning, in the United Evangelical church, Rev. M. J. Snyder will have charge of the service, and Rev. R. S. Taylor will preach the sermon. At half past seven in the evening, in the Christian Chapel, Rev. W. H. Patterson will have charge of the service, and Rev. E. F. Faust will preach the sermon.

Reformed.—Pastor E. F. Faust will preach and administer the Holy Communion at Jacksonville, at ten o'clock, and at Marsh Creek at half past two.

Methodist Episcopal.—Pastor R. S. Taylor will preach at Hunter's Run at half past two, and at Beach Creek at half past seven. The service at the latter place will be in observance of the "world-wide temperance day," arranged by the W. C. T. U.

Christian Scientist.—Meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Thomas Mann at half past ten.

United Evangelical.—Pastor M. J. Snyder will preach in Howard at half past ten and at Fairview at half past seven. In the latter church revival services are continued during the week.

John B. Ratto.

A merrier man, within the limit of becoming mirth, I never spent an hour's mirth within the limit of becoming mirth.

The evening of Thanksgiving Day will be memorable, as evenings in Howard go, for the delightful entertainment which will be given in the Reformed church by John B. Ratto whose character sketches won the heartiest applause from fastidious audiences the world over. There is nothing commonplace in his work from start to finish; he is a real artist. The Leavenworth, (Kansas) Times says of his work:

"Mr. Ratto is an impersonator of remarkable ability and swayed his audience from screams of delight to tears of sadness at will. While most of the program was of a humorous nature, here and there he slipped in a touch of the darker side of life that never failed to score heavily and bring handkerchiefs to the eyes of many. One of the features of his entertainment that was a distinct novelty, was the 'make-up' of the character before the audience. The make-ups were quickly done and as true as was his impersonation of the character itself. It would be hard to say which number pleased best."

This will be the second of the series of four entertainments organized by the "Citizens Entertainment Association," and the management offers it with full assurance that it will be in all respects quite equal to the first, which won the unanimous commendation of those who were fortunate enough to hear it. It will be full of humor and pathos, but there will not be a word or act that will offend the Christian sentiment, good taste, or even the prejudices of any one.

A Good Time. The break in school work made by "institute week" gave our youngsters a chance holiday which they enjoyed and used to the fullest extent. Perhaps the most important function of the week was a "pigfest" designed, planned, executed and enjoyed by two score of the high school scholars and their young friends, in the evening of last Thursday. They chose Miss Woodward as chaperone and hostess, and used the facilities of her home for their preparation and enjoyment of the feast.

The boys bought the pig, a thirty-five pounder, of Charles Bowes, and dressed it, under the guidance of expert John M. Wagner; and on Mrs. William Weber, because of her well-known inherited and acquired skill in fine cookery, fell the honor of supervising its roasting; and when it was placed on the table it was a beauty—as evenly browned as a chestnut, and "done to a turn." All the et ceteras were furnished and prepared by the girls of the party. The feast was ready, and all set down at the appointed hour, cards in the form of a small paper pig, assigning each member to his or her respective place. The long table was lighted with fourteen candles, and the decorations were pigs, great and small, in brass, iron and papier mache. White paper napkins with a pig's head drawn on each were in place. At the close of the dinner, instead of toasting and speech making, the party elected to have "Pigs in Pigs" read to them. The table and rooms were then cleared and a game of "Tall the Pig" was worked out amid the greatest merriment; a life size pig having been drawn upon a large sheet and pinned to the wall for this purpose. The first prize (a guest book, ornamented with pictures of pigs) was awarded to Russell Wagner, who had pinned the tail nearest to the proper place, and the booby prize (a toy pig which would run when wound up) went to his sister, Miss Hilda, who had attached the tail to a window curtain, on the opposite side of the room, after giving it a bath in the bowl of lemon punch which sat on a near table. After the chatting, games and music were enjoyed until the midnight hour approached, the tired but happy party went home voting themselves the very best of all good times. The names of the party, all of whom must be complimented upon the propriety of their behavior and their good manners, follow: The Misses Dorothy Weber, Myrtle Pletcher, Helene Weber, Gertrude Thomas, Marguerite Kane, Hilda Wagner, Pearl Pletcher, Gladys Holter, Eva Neff, Leotta House, and Edith Butler. The boys were Jason Snyder, George Foreman, Walter Holter, Fred Taylor, George Pletcher, Homer Yearick, Clair Leathers, Russell and Paul Wagner, Walter Strunk, Lloyd Daughenbaugh and Blair Pletcher.

Who is Rebecca Krikorian? She is the daughter of pastor Krikorian, of Aintab, Turkey an aged protestant Armenian missionary, and is herself a missionary, educated at home in England and in America. She has credentials from and a personal acquaintance with, Miss Francis E. Willard, Mrs. Mary H. Hunt, Lady Henry Somerset, and other eminent names whose fame as Christian workers are world-wide. Miss Krikorian will deliver a free lecture in the interests of Christian, Evangelistic and Temperance work in Turkey in the evening of Tuesday of next week, Nov. 28th, in the Christian Chapel, above the railroad. The good woman is seeking financial aid for the good work and should have a very liberal collection. While here Miss Krikorian will be a guest in the home of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Long.

Thanksgiving Service Next Thursday Morning.

A Union service of Thanksgiving will be held in the Reformed church at half past ten with all the resident pastors taking part. Rev. M. J. Snyder will preach the sermon. This public formal service of Thanksgiving, in the "usual places of worship," as proclaimed by the Chief Executives of both the Nation and the State, should be much more largely attended than it often is; and since this is a union service of all denominations the house should be filled.

The First Deer of the Season to arrive in town was brought here last night by Robert and Albert Confer, Roland Butler and Samuel Walzer. It was a fine three-pronger fellow, weighing one hundred and twenty pounds. The whole party was standing together on The Rock Run, where he came in sight, and the Confer brothers fired at the same time, the two balls taking effect in the shoulder, within a few inches of each other.

Miss Maud Quay is a home visitor. Mrs. L. H. Neff shopped in Bellefonte, Saturday.

Miss Nettie Swartz spent Tuesday with friends in Tyrone.

Walter W. Muffy is at home for a vacation from his work at Sharon, Pa.

Misses Rosetta Cooke and Rebecca Lucas visited in Lock Haven last Saturday.

Miss Bessie Miles was a guest at the home of Mrs. H. T. Lucas over Sunday.

Contractor L. L. Williams is entertaining his nephew, Lester O'Hara, of Pittsburg.

Mrs. William Weber, and Miss Dorothy spent Saturday in shopping at Lock Haven.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. H. Pletcher, of Eaglesmere, are guests among family friends here.

Mrs. Leonard Confer and her sister, Miss Flossie, were Bellefonte visitors on Thursday.

Mrs. John M. Robb and bright little daughter, Mildred, spent the week end with friends at Avis.

Miss Flora Pletcher spent Sunday with friends at home, returning to her school work Sunday evening.

Miss Mary Eldred, Miss Susan Worrick and Mrs. Reed Worrick were week end guests of Mrs. S. H. Benning.

Mrs. Theodore P. Rynder, of Washington, D. C., spent last Saturday with her friend and schoolmate, Mrs. H. A. Moore.

M. J. Bowes, wife and family, a trusted engineer of the N. Y. C. railroad, at Clearfield, were last week visitors with his father, Thomas Bowes.

A sweet little bran new girl found her way to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Comer Shope a few days ago and Comer is as proud as any of the Democratic county candidates.

Third trick operator Shawver went to his old station, Bald Eagle, for a hunt last Tuesday; Mrs. Shawver and her sister, Miss May Price accompanied him for a visit with old friends.

Miss Ada Bowes, who had been spending a few days at State College, stopped off between trains on Saturday, just long enough to say how-dye-do to her many friends, and then proceeded to Middletown, Pa., where she is profitably engaged in business.

Ward Thompson, one of our former hard working and well behaved boys, came from Remov, where he is now working, with several of his shop friends, hunted for a couple of days and took home with them about all the rabbits they could carry, besides a pheasant or two and a nice turkey.

On Saturday last a transfer of real estate, which has been pending for some weeks, was concluded; S. I. Reber selling his farm south of the town, (the old Judge Allison property) to F. P. Zeigler, of Remov, for the consideration of $2500. Mr. Zeigler expects to move to his property next spring.

A social club among the young men of the town is being discussed and has given signs of life though it is yet in chrysalis form. The hall over Dr. McEntire's drug store has been secured, and is being renovated and appropriately furnished by some of those interested and a complete organization will doubtless soon follow.

Walter Davy, of Blanchard, who, though just out of his teens has won for himself quite a reputation as a hunter and trapper, is justly proud over the twenty-one pound wild quail he shot last Friday evening. He was a fine specimen of his kind and carried a beard nine inches long. Walter has had his eye on the old fellow for two or three years, but never before had a fair shot at him.

The Daily Hunting party, which rendezvoused at the old John A. Daily home in Curtin township, and are now located on the Walker's Branch of Big Run, contains the following members: R. C. Dalley, John Johnson and Oscar Miles, of Tyrone; Walter Seeds Birmingham; Prof. R. E. Meyer, principal of the Chester Commercial College, and L. M. Wolf, of Chester; Frank Dalley and William Heverly, of Romola.

The revival meeting which has been in progress for some weeks under charge of pastor W. H. Patterson, closed last Thursday evening. During its progress nine persons confessed Christ, were baptized and were added to the church roll of membership. Their names follow: Mrs. Rebecca Confer, Annie Confer, Mrs. Fred Bechtel, Maud Confer, Mrs. Charles Confer, Genevieve Pletcher, Ruth O'Hara, Anna Leach and Hilda Wallizer.

In the morning of Thursday last, Nov. 16, Frank Casselberry and Mrs. Bernice Yarnell Tressler, both of Howard township, repaired to the parsonage of the United Evangelical church and in the presence of a few chosen friends, were married by pastor Rev. M. J. Snyder. They left at 12.40 on No. 52, for State College, spending a brief honeymoon with the groom's brother, Edward Casselberry, who is an employee of the College. The Howard letter extends its congratulations.

The splendid head of a big four-pronged buck was brought to town Saturday evening by a party of Romola hunters, who had divided the carcass among themselves and their friends earlier in the day. Charles McMurtre, of the Howard House sent the head to Philadelphia to be mounted. The boys said the big fellow weighed nearly four hundred pounds. The successful party was composed of Irvin Young, Claude Lucas, Asher Walker and Toner Mann, all of Ro-mola and they found their game on Coal Hill.

Announcement cards have been received here of the marriage in New York on last Wednesday afternoon of J. Norris Bogle and Miss Gwendoline Margaret Meltzer. The ceremony was pronounced in the All Souls' church in the presence of the members of both families, and the bridesmaid, Miss Sarah Bogle, of Pittsburg and groomsmen, Mr. Lowrie Montgomery, of Philadelphia. In Mr. Bogle's long residence here he made friends of the entire community and the Howard letter represents all in wishing for him and his charming bride, all possible happiness.

On Sunday evening at eight o'clock Mrs. Charles F. Leathers, who has been an invalid for several years passed quietly to the other side, Mrs. Leathers was a daughter of the late Hon. William M. Allison, Jr., was born here July 17, 1864, and has lived here all her life. She was married to Mr. Leathers March, 12, 1881 and one child, William, who lives here, was born to them. In addition to this son and her husband she leaves to mourn her, one sister, Mrs. Ella Dinges, of Altoona and one brother, Miller, who lives in Philadelphia. The funeral service was held at the house Tuesday afternoon, Rev. W. H. Patterson, of the Christian Chapel officiating and interment was made at Schenk cemetery.

After Candy Makers. Dairy and Food Commissioner Faust with the assistance of the federal authorities is going to make a vigorous fight against the cheap grades of candies, covered with varnish and shellac, which he says are being foisted upon the Pennsylvania trade by outside manufacturers.

He says that he is finding candy which has been hard as flint by the application of varnish and shellac, and this is the stuff, he says, that is being sold to children. The effect upon the child's stomach can easily be imagined. United States District Attorney John H. Jordan, of the Western District of Pennsylvania, will assist in the prosecutions, and Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, of the federal government, will have experts present at the trial of the cases.

More Orchard Meetings. Sixty public meetings in as demonstration model orchards in different counties of the state have been arranged for next week by the state economic zoologist, Prof. H. A. Surface. This is a part of the winter's series of meetings, which will be kept up as long as the weather will permit. All of the meetings are entirely free to the public. Each meeting will start at 1 o'clock in the afternoon.

In Centre county the meeting will be held in the orchard of Newton C. Neidigh, at State College.

Says Roosevelt Will Run. Norman E. Mack, of Buffalo, chairman of the Democratic national committee, said in an interview here on Friday: "Roosevelt is now an avowed candidate for president. It will be a neck and neck race between him and Taft in the convention."

The circulation of the Centre Democrat exceeds 5,500—which puts it in a class of its own. It does not even concede that it has a competitor in Centre county for the reason that people who get other papers insist on having the Centre Democrat also.

WOMEN RAISE CAIN.

The English Suffragettes Met With Ignominious Defeat in London.

The suffragettes fared badly at the hands of the police Tuesday night. They had threatened to force their way into the house of commons and make a protest on the floor of the house against the prime minister's refusal to pledge the government to a bill giving equal suffrage to both sexes, but they failed even to reach the entrance to parliament. Thwarted by the police, who made upwards of 150 arrests, the suffragettes resorted to a campaign of window smashing.

Driven from Parliament Square by the police 1,800 of whom were on duty, the women accompanied by sympathizers and gangs of rowdies, proceeded through White Hall armed with bags of stones concealed under their coats, and broke windows in public offices, liberal headquarters and the National Liberal club. They even extended their operations to the Strand, where windows of the post office bank and other private concerns suffered from the onslaught.

The militant tactics of the suffragettes followed a statement by Premier Asquith that the government was unable to introduce a bill to enfranchise women, as the cabinet was divided on the question, but would allow an amendment to be introduced to the proposed manhood suffrage bill, leaving it to the house of commons to decide whether women should be given a vote.

Strong detachments of police, both on foot and mounted, guarded the streets from Caxton Hall to the house of parliament. They broke up the deputation and the women were thrown back, or if too persistent, arrested and hurried to a police station.

Birthday Surprise Party. In honor of the thirty-seventh natal anniversary of Perry G. Rachau, a crowd of his friends called at his home at Nittany on Monday evening, Nov. 20, and very pleasantly surprised him.

They are as follows: Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Zerby and daughters, Mayme and Hester, Mr. and Mrs. L. Swartz and daughter Mary, Mr. and Mrs. G. Rogers, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Beck, Mrs. Kate Allison and daughter Verna and son Robert, Miss Frances Webner, Mrs. Bell McCauley, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Fisher and daughters Grace and Rosa, Sam Payne, Mrs. Perry McCaleb, and daughter Cora and son Lester. The surprise was planned and successfully carried out by Mrs. Rachau, who served a delicious two-course luncheon to the guests; games were the features of the evening. Mr. Rachau was the recipient of many beautiful presents. The guests departed at a late hour, wishing Mr. Rachau many more happy birthdays.

A California jury of women refused to accept the instructions of the court until threatened with punishment.
