ASHGROVE SESSION OF DECEMBER COURT

ALL BUSINESS COMPLETED TUESDAY NOON.

ONLY A FEW CASES WERE TRIED

The Commonwealth Business Was Small—Several Trifling Cases Before Court—Sentences Imposed—Large Civil List for Next Week.

Court convened on Monday morning at 9 o'clock with the President Judge and the several officers in their respective places. A large portion of the forenoon session was taken up in hearing motions and petitions and taking the returns of the coroners of the several districts of the county. The grand jury was then called and sworn and W. M. Grove, farmer, of Gregg township, selected as foreman. After which the Court charged the grand jury when they retired to their room to deliberate on the several bills of indictment to be submitted by the District Attorney.

There was but one case on the civil side by mistake, and a very light criminal list.

Nathan Vonada, who pleaded guilty to adultery and bastardy at last sessions was called and sentenced to pay the costs of prosecution and $25.00 fine. Other expenses having been paid by the defendant.

Comm. vs. Walter Williamson was then called, he being indicted for assault and battery on his sister and brother, two indictments growing out of the same information. It appears from the testimony that Jacob Williamson the prosecutor does not live with his wife and that his daughter is keeping house for him and that the defendant, a son of the prosecutor, under the allegations of the Commonwealth's witnesses on March 22nd of the present year threw a case knife at his sister and a butcher knife at his brother, which allegations, however, the defendant denied. Verdict of not guilty and the defendant to pay one-third of the costs in each indictment, and the prosecutor one-third in one of the indictments, and the sister of the defendant one-third of the costs in the other indictment.

Foster C. Kerr, prosecutrix Sadie Miller; indicted for betrayal. Defendant pleaded guilty and the usual sentence was imposed.

Ray K. Mattern, prosecutrix Viola H. Lauffer, indicted for betrayal. Settled.

John Hoover, prosecutrix D. Cohn; indicted for larceny. Settled.

Darbin Swisher, prosecutrix J. C. Romberger; indicted for malicious mischief. The defendant pleaded guilty, whereupon his counsel stated to the Court that the defendant had a mistaken idea as to the ownership of some real estate and that his idea was to defend his rights. But that he now understood that he was in error in his actions and asked that sentence be suspended. Whereupon sentence was suspended by the Court on the promise of the defendant that he would not annoy the present owners of the lands.

Ray D. Stover, prosecutrix Florence H. Stover; indicted for desertion and non-support of wife and child. Settled.

William Lyon, prosecutrix Annie E. Teirney; charged with indecent exposure. Defendant committed Nov. 2, 1911 to the hospital for insane at Danville.

Russell J. Shenck, prosecutrix Olive M. Quay; indicted for betrayal. Continued in the absence of a material witness for the defendant.

Lizzie Colozzi, prosecutrix William Miller; indicted for receiving stolen goods. District Attorney asked for a nol prosequi, which was granted.

John Colozzi, prosecutrix William Miller; indicted for receiving stolen goods. District Attorney asked for a nol prosequi, and the county to pay the costs which was granted.

J. C. Jones, prosecutrix H. C. Warfel and J. C. Croyle; charged with neglect of official duty. Continued in the absence of a material witness.

All jurors were discharged on Tuesday forenoon and court adjourned until next Monday morning at ten o'clock.

Alfred W. Johnson, judge-elect of the Union-Snyder District, was in court on Monday, and Col. William M. Fairman, a member of the Jefferson County bar was also in attendance at court.

The report of the grand jury is that they had passed on seven bills of indictment, all of which they had found true bills. That they had visited the County buildings and found the Court House and various offices in excellent shape, and the interior of the jail needing repairs and made and kept in a more sanitary condition.

Meek Farm Sold.
The David George Meek farm, near Bunker Hill, was sold last week to Luther Peters. This tract had been in the Meek family since 1790. On this farm Grandmother Elizabeth Meek spent her lifetime. Her home was the headquarters for Methodist clergymen for over a quarter of a century. She frequently traveled to Williamsport on horseback, fording streams, climbing rugged mountain steps over Indian trails in order to attend conference.

The farm not only has a history but is one of the finest tracts in the valley. Mr. Peters is indeed fortunate in acquiring the property, which was purchased for $4,800.

Meeting of Farmers' Club.
Every farmer in the vicinity of Millheim or lower Pennsylvan is urged to attend the meeting of the Farmers' club in the High school room at Millheim on Monday evening, Dec. 11, at 7 o'clock. This meeting is for the young farmer as well as the older ones. At this meeting a class may be formed to take a correspondence course in agriculture, such as is offered by the Pennsylvania State College. The club desires that the farm boys attend this meeting. Boys, come; you will hear something interesting for you to think about this winter.

DECREE IN WATER CASE.

State College Water Company Can Not Tap the Galbraith Gap Stream.

For some years past the State College Water Company realized that it was in need of an additional supply of water. In order to accomplish this they made preparations and began laying pipes across the valley to what is known as the Galbraith Gap, near Boalsburg, to tap the stream that comes out of the mountains. The Boalsburg Water Company secures its supply from "Murray's spring" which was not sufficient for their needs, and they some time ago had the Galbraith stream "consigned" for their use. Later the State College Water Company, in a similar manner, attempted to secure a supply from the same source, and in consequence the Boalsburg Water Company objected to the State College Company drawing from the same stream, as it was liable to impair their supply in the future. As a result proceedings were instituted in court by the Boalsburg Water Company, also by Frank McFarland through whose hands the pipes were to be laid, to restrain the State College Water Company from proceeding as they intended. This involved a number of legal complications that need not be recited here. In November 1910 a preliminary injunction was granted by the Court against the State College Water Company, and on Saturday a lengthy opinion was rendered by the court in which it makes the decree against the State College Water Company perpetual and directs them also to pay the costs involved. This practically prevents the State College Water Company from securing their supply of water from that stream.

A Great Game.

State College certainly was in the swim last week when they went to Pittsburg and took the scalp from the University boys at that place by the score of 3 to 0. They were exceedingly anxious to capture this game in order to give them a clean record for the season as up to this time they had not lost a game and this would give them the best standing among the college colleges. You can imagine their glee when they cleaned up the Pittsburg rooters in a hard fought game by a score of 3 to 0, which was close enough to make the contest intensely interesting to the very close. Then with their hands and flags and a hundred students in line they began to celebrate and painted the old town a rich carmine hue. As they remained in Pittsburg until Saturday they had plenty of time to vent their joyous feelings, and by the time they returned home at State College on Sunday, on Saturday evening at midnight, they were an exhausted bunch of happy youngsters.

Sunday a second lot arrived on the night train and a special was run from Bellefonte to State College to get them home the same evening.

Credits Given.

All persons who paid any money on subscription to the Centre Democrat during the past month of November will find that proper credit was given this week by a change of the date on their label this week. If you sent us money look at the label now and in case of an error please notify us at once stating carefully what it is.

This week we are sending bills to all who are in arrears on subscription and would kindly ask that all such patrons give the same their attention now, as the end of the year is drawing near and we would like to have all accounts in proper shape to start the new year. Remember, that if you allow your paper to run more than one year in arrears we will then have to either stop the paper or wrap it in a separate package and pay one cent postage on each copy—something that not only is annoying to you and troublesome to us, but it proves expensive and we will have to charge you an extra rate for the same. Delinquents will certainly favor us by giving this request their attention.

Local Institute.

The local teachers' institute of district number one will be held at Arrisburg on December 15. The following program has been arranged for discussion: Address of welcome—H. N. Meyer; Response—Grover Walker. "Language Work in Elementary Grades" by Miss Clara Condo and T. A. Auman. "The School and the Home" by M. T. Zubler and S. A. Berley. Teachers, come prepared to join in discussions on all questions and help your fellow teachers.

Senator Cochran Dead.

Senator J. Henry Cochran, of Williamsport died early Wednesday morning from an attack of pneumonia. He was at his residence, Rosegill, in Virginia, at the time of his death. His son Joseph was the only member of his family that was with him. Senator Cochran was 66 years of age and is survived by a widow and five children. His interest in Williamsport was deep seated and he was interested in many financial institutions and industrial movements. He was honored by the people of this district with four terms in the Pennsylvania state senate. Also was a figure in Democratic state politics and had been mentioned for United States senator.

Death of Mrs. C. H. Bradford.

Mrs. Charles H. Bradford, of Lamar, died Saturday morning, Nov. 25, of cancer, from which she had suffered for four years. She is survived by her husband, Charles H. Bradford, three children by a former marriage, Mrs. Charles Ardery and Mrs. Earl Welsh, of Clearfield, and Samuel Klimefelter, of Sunbury, also four brothers and two sisters. Mrs. Bradford was a most excellent woman, respected and beloved by all her acquaintances. Funeral services were held following Monday morning, at 9 o'clock at the home and burial was made at Petersburg.

TWO DYNAMITERS MAKE CONFESSION

SENSATIONAL TRIAL ENDED AT LOS ANGELES.

AN AWFUL CRIME EXPOSED

McNamara Bros. Sentenced on Tuesday—Labor Unions Furnished Funds—Cause of Many Explosions—Lives Lost and Property Destroyed.

An interesting article of some length will be found on the inside pages of this issue giving an account of the confession of the McNamara brothers, on Thanksgiving day, in Los Angeles, California. This is one of the most startling confessions of a trial that has occurred in this country in years. The facts in the case that have been brought to light, and now are admitted as true by the defendants in jail, are the most shocking in their scope of anything known in years.

Sometime ago a newspaper office in Los Angeles was wrecked by dynamite and some twenty non-union workmen were killed and many others were crippled or injured. At the time the cause of the explosion was unknown, but as the paper opposed the manner in which certain labor unions were conducting a campaign in that city, it was supposed that the outrage had been committed by them.

Several months ago the McNamara brothers were arrested and hustled to California, charged with the deed. Being prominent officials connected with the dynamite business, they were once bitterly denounced by the heads of the labor unions of the country. Immense sums of money were contributed from all sections of the country for their defense, amounting to several hundred thousand dollars. The ablest and shrewdest attorneys were engaged to defend them. Labor papers throughout the country denounced the arrest of these men as an outrage in a civilized country and did much to incite the public. In fact, the country was before a large parade of thousands of workmen, as a protest to this orderly proceeding in the courts, where the men were to be tried on the evidence that would be submitted. Gompers and the labor union leaders were present, once bitterly denounced by the heads of the labor unions of the country. Immense sums of money were contributed from all sections of the country for their defense, amounting to several hundred thousand dollars. The ablest and shrewdest attorneys were engaged to defend them. Gompers and the labor union leaders were present, once bitterly denounced by the heads of the labor unions of the country.

The public was amazed to read the confession and at first thought it must be a mistake, but it proved only too true. The men confessed because they were guilty, and despite the fact that almost a quarter of a million of dollars was placed at their disposal for their use, they found such a mass of damning evidence would about them that they were forced to confess. The men confessed because they were guilty, and despite the fact that almost a quarter of a million of dollars was placed at their disposal for their use, they found such a mass of damning evidence would about them that they were forced to confess.

For some time prior to the Los Angeles explosion there was a series of similar acts of fiendish work, in which much property was destroyed and many lives lost, and all of them appeared to come from the same source. The work of these dynamiters is without parallel in this country, and will only be sanctioned by the lawless, vicious, and the worst elements of society.

It is a severe blow to organized labor as the guilty men held prominent positions in the organization. From some source they had at their command immense sums of money to carry on this dynamite crusade in all parts of the country, scattering death and destruction in the path of capital organizations upheld the McNamaras as martyrs to a just cause, and proclaimed their virtues over the land. No doubt since exposures are made, the labor organizations have suffered a heavy blow that will stagger them for years to come, unless they resign anew, repudiate the action of the men who now are at the head of these great bodies, and supplant them with representative citizens who are worthy of confidence and respect.

There is no argument in dynamite. It is the weapon of the cowardly assassin and anarchist, and is a nuisance to civilization, and for that reason every legal resource should be invoked to bring every accomplice in this fiendish plot to speedy justice. The James Boyd McNamara and John J. McNamara, natives of Cincinnati, on Tuesday felt the strong hand of justice which they long had thought to evade. James B. McNamara was sentenced to imprisonment for life for murder committed in dynamiting the Los Angeles Times building and killing two persons, and his brother to fifteen years in the penitentiary for blowing up the Llewellyn Iron Works.

A few hours after the sentences were pronounced by Judge Bordwell word went forth that subpoenas will be issued for both McNamaras to appear before a federal grand jury to divulge further details of their dynamiting conspiracies. The United States government will demand of them information concerning interstate trafficking in dynamite, which is alleged to have resulted in more than 160 explosions at bridges and factories where labor warfare was involved. In sentencing J. B. McNamara,

Judge Bordwell said: "A man who will place sixteen sticks of dynamite in a place where you, as a printer, knew gas was burning in many places and knew many were tolling, must have had no regard for life; must have been a murderer at heart and undeserving of clemency."

To Defend Men "Higher Up."

The original McNamara defense committee appointed to solicit funds for the defense of the McNamara brothers on trial at Los Angeles has become a permanent body and on Wednesday set in motion a movement to resist federal charges of a national dynamiting plot involving the names of men "higher up" in labor circles. This forecasts a bitter legal war which will be fought to the finish. Both sides are excited to the highest pitch, and no quarter will be asked or given. Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, whom Detective Burns declares knew of the guilt of the McNamaras, was given a vote of confidence.

ROBBED CASH BOX.

Joseph Risk Caught in the Act and Sent to Jail.

For some time the machines at the Pennsylvania passenger station for selling sanitary drinking cups have been running short of cash. They would be considerably for the number of cups that were used. This led those in charge of the same to believe that some one was unlocking the cash box with a key. Joseph Undercoffer, the baggage master, found a bunch of three keys for unlocking the cash box was missing and concluded that it had been taken from his desk for that purpose. A close watch was kept on the device and one day this week they caught Joseph Risk, a young lad of about sixteen years, tampering with it. He was caught with a lot of the pennies taken from the box. The railroad officer at Tyrone was notified and he came on and had the lad arrested, and on Tuesday he was given a hearing before Justice Muzzey. The boy confessed to taking the money which amounted in all to almost two dollars. He said he had found the keys about the station. Originally there were three keys on the ring and he turned over two of them, not being able to account for the other one. The Justice bound the lad over for court and he was sent to the jail for further hearing. The boy's parents are Bohemians who live near the old glass works. He has been a wild one, and the mother says he was so unruly that she had no control over him.

BIG PORKERS.

In addition to turning out big Democratic majorities, Penn ownership can claim to be raising some of the finest porkers in Centre county. To prove this assertion we here-with give a few weights of butchers' pigs at Colburn this season:—Korman and Sons—Wool, Korman, two, 525 and 517 1/2; and Lincoln Korman, three, 531 1/4, 506 and 483. Total for five 2563; average 513 pounds. Nicodemus Loe—two, 599 and 576. Total for two, 1175; average, 585 pounds. Jacob Kerstetter—three, 595, 510 1/2 and 506 1/2. Total for three 1616; average 525 pounds. Wm. Grove—killed five hogs 9 months old that weighed 1479 pounds, or an average of 296 pounds. Andrew Schawer—ten hogs that weighed 2480, or an average of 248 pounds. Emanuel Kerstetter—four hogs that weighed 1690, average 409.

If any community in Centre county can come anywhere near these figures they are invited to produce them for publication. Until then Coburn holds the prize.

Sermon on Tyrone by the Herald.

While the good people were attending divine services on Sunday evening an affair happened at the corner of Pennsylvania avenue and Tenth street that was a disgrace to a decent community. A married man and an unmarried woman were caught together by the man's wife, who undoubtedly mistrusted his fidelity, and was on the war path. What she did to the girl was good and plenty and a ten to one bet can be made in safety that she will let other women's husbands alone in the future. Talk about going to all the moral meetings and to save sinners; Tyrone is a little world in itself to do this great work. Night after night married men and women can be seen with other men's wives and other women's husbands in single men calling on married women, while their husbands are at work. The morality of Tyrone is certainly below par and it is hoped the coming evangelistic meetings will do much to blot out this nefarious work that is now going on in our community.

That's the right kind of talk, Mr. Herald.

Allport—Berchelman.

Rob. H. Allport, formerly of Philadelphia, and a graduate of Penn State college of 1909, was united in marriage to Miss Dorothea Berchelman, at San Antonio, Texas, Saturday, Nov. 18th. The bride is an attractive young lady, of many accomplishments, and a member of one of the richest families in Mexico. Mr. Allport is inspector of mines at Palou and Las Efrancas, Mexico. He has many friends in Bellefonte who extend hearty congratulations.

350 Horses Burned.

Two serious fires at Jersey City, N. J., on Monday, caused it is believed the death of at least two men and 350 horses, the destruction of the United States Express company stables and a member of one of the richest families in Mexico. Mr. Allport is inspector of mines at Palou and Las Efrancas, Mexico. He has many friends in Bellefonte who extend hearty congratulations.

$30,000 Lost in Millifinburg Fire.

At Millifinburg shortly after midnight Sunday morning flames were discovered raging in the clothing store of the Genzburg & Co., corner of Fifth and Chestnut streets. The entire stock of clothing was either burned or ruined by water. The loss is placed at $30,000, partly covered by insurance.

FRANK GROVE BARN DESTROYED BY FIRE

DISCOVERED EARLY SATURDAY MORNING BY FARM HAND.

SEVEN HEAD CATTLE BURNED

Together With Six Pigs, Flock of Chickens and the Season's Entire Crops—Loss a Severe One to the Owner—Partly Insured.

Frank Grove, who lives along the Jacksonville road, about three miles east of Bellefonte, had a serious loss by fire on Saturday morning when his large farm barn was burned to the ground. The fire was first discovered by the farm hand, by the name of Hall, who was on his way to the barn at about 5 o'clock in the morning when he heard a crackling of the flames in the building and he rushed at once for the horse stalls, and when he entered the stalls among the horses, and the entire upper portion of the building appeared to be a mass of seething flames. He succeeded in getting out the three horses, and a head of young cattle were also saved. The fire spread so rapidly that other live stock could not be saved and the following burned: 2 young cattle, 5 fine milch cows—Jersey and Swiss stock, 6 shoats and fine chickens that were well brood stock. They succeeded in saving a binder that had the tongue burned off, a 2-horse wagon, spring wagon and a buggy. All the other farm implements, including harness, gasoline engine, cream separator and all the crops were destroyed. The barn was a good building 40x72 feet with a new shed 30x23 and aside of it stood the wagonshed, poultry house, pigpen and creamery house, all of which were consumed by the flames. The barn contained the seasons crops of wheat, oats, hay, and corn of which some was saved. The loss will be a heavy one to Mr. Grove, amounting to several thousand dollars on which he had $1000, insurance on the barn, $200 on the sheds, and $500 on the contents of the barn in the Farmers Mutual Company.

Mr. Grove has had more than his share of trouble in the past few months. For several months he was seriously ill with some form of poison and several of his family were also ill and under the care of a physician for a long time.

Appointments Made.

Some of the newly elected county officials have made the following appointments: Registrar—Frank Smith will retain Miss Anna Nolan as his deputy. She has filled this position for a number of years and has proven an efficient officer. Treasurer John Miller will move to Bellefonte as soon as he can secure a suitable house and will take charge of the office himself. G. W. Rumberger, who is thoroughly acquainted with the details of that office, will assist Mr. Miller in getting started with his duties.

Sheriff A. B. Lee has selected Edward McKinley, of Boggs township, as his deputy. Mr. McKinley was a recent candidate for Recorder and is a deserving and competent man for the position.

Commissioners D. A. Grove and William Noll were in consultation this week for their appointments. They have a large number of applications and hardly know which to choose among the many competent men who would accept. They will make their selections this coming week.

Special Trains.

Turn to page 7 of this issue and see a special announcement from the business men of Bellefonte to the effect that they have secured the running of special return trains over the Lewisburg road from Bellefonte to Coburn, on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, December 27, 28 and 29, that being the week prior to Christmas. Heretofore there has been a complaint from that section that those people did not have ample accommodations at that season of the year to come to Bellefonte to do their holiday shopping, as the time between 9 a. m. and 1:30 p. m. was too short to visit the various stores and make selections. This arrangement will allow them almost four hours more time in Bellefonte and will bring them to their homes again at a convenient hour. It also will give our merchants better opportunity to deal with these people.

There will be no special charge for fare on this return train and the regular rates will prevail.

New School Board.

On Monday evening the nine members of the old school board met and transacted what business came before them, and then retired. The new board of five members was then sworn in and proceeded at once to organize and elect their officers. This resulted as follows: President, Dr. M. S. Locke, vice president, Mrs. C. H. Gilmore; secretary, Mrs. M. E. Brouse; treasurer, Chas. F. Cook.

After the selection of officers had been made President Locke appointed the following committees: Grounds, Building and Library—Mrs. Brouse and Mrs. Gilmore. Finance—Mr. Cooke and Mr. Mingle. Supplies—Mr. Mingle and Mr. Cook.

File Expense Accounts.

It will be well for the man who was either a successful or unsuccessful candidate at the general election on November 7 to bear in mind that today December 7, is the last day allowed by the election laws for candidates to file a statement of the money expended by them for election purposes. These accounts must be itemized in such cases where the total amount expended shall exceed $50.

Lost by Two Votes.

The proposition to issue bonds by the Loganton borough council with which a water plant was to be constructed was defeated by two votes. There were three ties for borough offices.

AFTER CHESTNUT BLIGHT.

Centre County Forests Will Be Carefully Inspected.

The last session of the legislature made an appropriation of $270,000 to be used in checking the advance of the chestnut tree blight in this state. This is a new disease that broke out in the eastern counties of the state and so rapid was its spread that it had threatened the destruction of vast areas of valuable timberland in the state, and it was feared that if neglected the disease would almost annihilate the chestnut growth in our forests. Other states have taken similar action to suppress the disease.

On Tuesday we had a call from Thos. E. Francis, of Harrisburg, who is the field superintendent of this movement, who informed us that he had placed two field inspectors in Centre county who will be located at Bellefonte, as headquarters, for the next several months and that they will make a careful inspection of all the forests to discover any trace of the chestnut blight.

This blight is a fungus growth that thrives under the bark of the tree and spreads out in a fan-shaped growth until it encircles the trunk or limb of the tree, which later will wither and die. The only known remedy to check the spread of this disease is to cut down all infected trees and burn the bark. Mr. Francis desires that the landowners of the county give this movement their hearty co-operation and support. By this he means that if any find that they have diseased chestnut timber, that they at once cut down the tree and burn the bark, as in that only can they hope to save the balance of their growing chestnut timber, and prevent the infection from spreading.

Messrs. William Knapper, of Philipsburg, and D. K. Kohler, of Lancaster, Pa., are the two inspectors who will go over the Centre county timber tracts.

NO SITE CHOSEN.

Despite rumors, assurances and expectations, there is no definite information to be given regarding the selection of the Penitentiary site. It appears that the commission is favorably inclined towards the McBride location, but if reports are correct, they think the price named is too high, and that is the only point of difference now.

By Friday of next week most of the options will expire and if they state the property they will have to come to a decision soon.

White Deer Killed.

The hunting season just closed, has a record of about half a dozen white deer being shot, of these at least two were killed in our own county and the rest in adjoining counties. Besides a few more have been seen by hunters that were not killed. The leopard can't change its spots, according to scripture, it seems that one can only change their color to white—and that only within recent years.

Later report notes a white deer killed last week in Jefferson county. William Shaffer, of Winslow, Jefferson county, shot a white deer Tuesday last on the Head of Lick Run, near the Carns Camp. It was a four-prong buck and was almost all white and was regarded as quite a curiosity by the hunters who saw it.

Snow Shoe Now Lighted.

Snow Shoe, the pretty and thriving little mountain town, now enjoys all the metropolitan comforts of street and home electric lighting. The work of installing the plant for Snow Shoe and its sister town Clarence, was in charge of Supt. H. J. Thompson, of Clearfield, who is associated with A. W. Lee and John W. Wrigley, two Clearfield capitalists interested in the electric business. A fine electrical plant has been erected near Clarence, along the line of the New York Central railroad, which furnishes ample electricity for lighting and power purposes. Snow Shoe's lighting facilities, consist of twelve incandescents and many private residences are being wired. The town of Clarence is supplied with six arcs.

State Has Close Call.

Penn State earned the right to Pennsylvania championship rights on Thanksgiving afternoon by barely beating University of Pittsburgh in the most sensational and gruelling battle ever seen in Pittsburgh. A costly fumble at the very outset allowed State to regain the ball and Maunth kicked a pretty field goal from the 22-yard line, virtually deciding the contest and the State honors.

Pittsburgh at many stages outplayed the visitors. Wagner for Pittsburgh playing the most spectacular individual game of the year. The big end was everywhere and his fierce defense alone held State powerless.

Another White Deer.

There was some notoriety given the Jeannette hunting club the past week over the fact that they recently killed a white deer over in the Seven mountains. On Saturday O. J. Auman, of near Coburn, was in our office and informed us that they were out in the lower part of the same territory and succeeded in shooting a fine spike buck that was almost entirely white. The animal had a dark spot over the face, otherwise it was pure white. This makes two white deer killed in the same section, something that is unusual.
