

The Centre Democrat.

BELLEFONTE, PA., THURSDAY, JANUARY 25th, 1912.

Vol. 35, No. 4.

WOMAN'S BODY FOUND IN MILL DAM

EARLY TUESDAY MORNING AT PHOENIX MILL.

CONSIDERED A CASE OF SUICIDE

Became Despondent and Sought Drowning as an End for Her Trials—In the Water a Few Hours—A Daughter of Joshua Folk.

The finding of the dead body of a young woman in the dam at the Swing Factory in Bellefonte, Monday morning, revealed a sad case of suicide. The unfortunate one was Mrs. Sarah J. Paul, of this place, oldest daughter of Joshua Folk, who for the past year had been staying at her father's home, and at the residence of her brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Bond Fisher, on Pine street.

On Monday morning William and Charles Rine, employes at the water works, went to the breast of the Phoenix mill dam to clear away any debris that might be lodged at the gates. A three-foot board walk spans the entire length of the breast of the dam, and upon walking out upon this a few feet the men discovered a half-submerged object which they at first thought to be some clothes stuffed to represent a figure. The body lay face downward at a point where the water is only about three and a half feet deep, and upon pulling it toward them were horrified to find it that of a woman. The police were at once notified and after removing the body from the water to the Swing Factory, Coroner Fisher was summoned and an inquest was held. The remains were identified as those of Mrs. Sarah Paul, and a verdict of suicide was soon reached by the coroner's jury. The body of the woman had on a heavy coat, her hands were enclosed in canvas gloves, and a fascinator was wrapped around her head. The surrounding facts so plainly indicate suicide that no one has attempted to dispute them. A bottle containing carbolic acid was found on the bank of the dam, although Coroner Fisher could find no evidence of its having been used by the unfortunate woman. She left no apparent reason for the rash act, but there are many who can realize the trials and tribulations to which she had been subjected during her lifetime, and at least partly understand why existence to her was no longer bearable. As stated above Mrs. Paul had been staying at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bond Fisher, on Pine street, but left the house about 10:30 on Sunday night, without informing them where she was going. It is very evident that her mind became temporarily deranged and the act of self-destruction followed. She was seen by different parties between 4 and 6 o'clock that morning, and the body was found a few hours later.

Deceased was the eldest daughter of Joshua Folk, who resides on east High street. She was born at Bolling Springs (now Axeman) Oct. 5, 1870, thus was aged 41 years, 3 months and 15 days. She was twice married first to Samuel Fisher, who died about 14 years ago. Later she became the wife of John Paul, who about five years ago was crushed to death in the mines at Queen's Run, Pa., thus leaving her a widow the second time. She was the mother of twelve children, only two of whom survive: Mrs. Katie Ishler, of near Pleasant Gap, and a younger child, Donald Paul. Within the past two years three of her children, grown almost to maturity, have died of tuberculosis. Surviving are her father, step-mother and the following brothers and sisters: Mrs. Edith Wilson, of Flemington; Mrs. Mary Boney, of Mt. Eagle; Mrs. Debora A. Hazel, of Lock Haven; Miss Hattie, of Pittsburgh; Mrs. Minnie Woods, of Pittsburgh, and Robert and John at home.

Funeral services were held from the home of her father on Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock, conducted by Capt. A. J. Reese, of the Salvation Army. Interment was made in the Union cemetery.

Mr. Folk desires to publicly thank all friends and neighbors, and the Salvation Army, for kindnesses shown him during her bereavement.

OPINIONS AND DECREES.

During the past week the following opinions and decrees were filed by Judge Orvis:

Morris Bohn, College township vs. Supervisors College township. New trial refused.

Patrons Telephone Co. in Walker township vs. F. S. Wells. Injunction perpetual.

Com. vs. John Pamey et al. of Snow Shoe; aggravated assault and battery. New trial granted. Prosecutor Mike Botsom.

Geo. S. Frank vs. Poor district of Penn township. Appeal dismissed.

Argument Court February 6th.

Musical Comedy at the Opera House.

In speaking of the dazzling musical comedy to appear at Garman's opera house next Wednesday and Thursday evenings a Bloomsburg exchange says: "From the time the curtain goes up until the close of the performance the whole production has a swing and 'go' that carries the audience with it, and the laughable situations keep everyone in a roar. Hugh Fay, the comedian, and Sherlock Hunter, a detective, is a host in himself. He is one of the most versatile actors, and withal, one of the funniest men this city has seen." Don't forget the dates, Wednesday, Jan. 23, and Thursday, Feb. 1st.

Life of Schrader Spared.

The recommendation of the Board of Pardons, last Thursday, commuting to life imprisonment William Schrader, who was to have hanged Jan. 25, had no effect upon the prisoner when he was told of the Board's action by his attorney. His only statement was a brief one that he preferred imprisonment to death.

The best sale bills are printed at the Centre Democrat office.

COLLEGE TRUSTEES MEET.

Held Annual Session in Harrisburg Tuesday Night.

The trustees of the Pennsylvania State College held their annual meeting in Harrisburg on Tuesday night, and elected officers after submitting the annual report to Governor Tener.

General James A. Beaver, of Bellefonte, was re-elected president of the board. H. Walton Mitchell, Pittsburg, vice president, and Dr. Edwin E. Sparks, State College, secretary, and John I. Thompson, Jr., Lemont, chosen as treasurer. The latter succeeds John Hamilton, State College, who resigned after serving thirty-seven years as treasurer of the college.

The board elected the following executive committee: James A. Beaver, Bellefonte; Vance C. McCormick, Harrisburg; Milton W. Lowrie, State College; Ellis L. Orvis, Bellefonte; H. V. Chubb, Bloomsburg; H. Walton Mitchell, and J. E. Guiley, Pittsburg, the latter succeeding the late Gabriel Hlester, of Harrisburg.

The trustees received the resignation of N. W. (Pop) Golden, the famous physical instructor of State College and man in charge of its athletic teams for many years. He resigned to enter business.

Appointments to the faculty were announced as follows: O. P. Chase, Boston, instructor in architectural engineering; E. Newton Bates, Lansing, Mich., instructor in mechanical engineering; and Ralph Hunt, Manhattan, Kansas, assistant in agricultural chemistry.

The report of President E. E. Sparks showed an enrollment of 2,012 against 1,808, the faculty numbering 135, college property is now valued at $1,920,106.

In addition to the regular students nearly 6,000 persons in the state are pursuing correspondence courses in agriculture, home economics and shop management. Considerable space is given to the agricultural instruction being given at the college and to the trains run throughout the state during the year and that experiments are under way with wireless telegraphy, aeroplanes, manufacture of special steels and of heating and refrigerating machines.

During the year scholarships were established by Thomas W. Barlow and Edward Hutchinson, of Philadelphia; John R. Valentine, of Bryn Mawr, and Charles E. Barclay, of Sinnemahoning.

Animals on the Farm.

The crop and grass lands maintain the animals used for experimental purposes, which now number twenty-two horses, two mules, ten colts, ninety head of dairy cattle, eighty-four head of beef cattle, thirty-eight sheep and 106 hogs. A herd of short-horn cows is used to determine the best method of fattening beef cattle along three different lines.

A herd of sixty-two cows is used for the purpose of determining the methods of preparing and handling milk products. One cow has made yearly a showing of 715.2 pounds of fat, containing 41.21 pounds of fat. There are 850 chickens in the poultry department for various experimental purposes.

Five agricultural trains and one good roads train were run last year and four special trains have already been arranged for this year.

SEEKING FRANCHISES.

In another part of this paper will be found the advertisement of the Logan Heat Light and Power Co. who will apply to the Governor for a charter for privileges to operate in Bellefonte borough. This company is a part of the Scotia proposition that is headed by L. M. Patterson of Lock Haven. They have a large area of valuable coal lands in the Scotia region where they will open mines and erect a large steam plant for generating electricity to be carried on trunk lines to the towns of Lock Haven, Williamsport, Milton, Lewisburg and Sunbury; also a trunk line to be extended to Bellefonte and State College, if they secure the proper franchise. The Scotia plant would be seventeen miles from Bellefonte and they claim that they can supply the current for power and other purposes at a much lower rate than we have here heretofore paying. These people some time ago asked council for a franchise, and have practically agreed upon all the conditions specified. On Tuesday evening there was an impromptu meeting of council with seven members present who assembled to hear what these gentlemen had to say of their project.

They say they have no water power connections with their project, and will have a satisfactory bond for the faithful performance of their agreement if the borough will grant them their franchise. Their service will be ample to supply power for any trolley project in this vicinity and could supply power at a low rate for our local industries and any new ones desiring it. The matter will likely come up for action at the next regular meeting.

Centre County Banquet.

At a meeting of the board of directors and officers of the Centre County Association of Philadelphia, held January 18th, at the residence of Dr. Roland G. Curtin, 23 South 18th street, Philadelphia, it was decided to hold the next annual banquet of the association on Feb. 19th, 1912.

Banquet Committee: Ira D. Garman, chairman; Dr. Roland G. Curtin, president; Ex-Officio, Max Liveright, Dr. Stuart C. Runkle, Warren Underwood, Herman Haupt, William Magee, Dr. S. Gray Mattern, John F. Rankin, L. Oliver Meek, Rev. Robt. Haskinson, Thomas Foster. All Centre counties residing or visiting in and about Philadelphia are extended a cordial invitation to attend the banquet. DR. JOHN C. C. BEALE, Sec. Ex-Officio.

Marriage Licenses.

Chas. C. Fogleman - - - - - Lemont
Mary E. Koch - - - - - Boalsburg
Samuel E. Barr - - - - - Philipsburg
Angeline Woomer - - - - - Bald Eagle
James F. Crust - - - - - Bellefonte
Rosie L. Owens - - - - - Axemann
Ralph S. Walker - - - - - State College
Mary A. Elder - - - - - Penna. Furnace
John H. Hoekman - - - - - Mingoville
Grace C. Sharer - - - - - Zion

CAPTURE THE FORGER AT OLEAN, N. Y.

MAKES FULL CONFESSION TO THE AUTHORITIES.

GAVE MONEY TO "BEST GIRL"

Captured on Monday by Policeman Dukeman—Geo. Page, Formerly of Oak Hall—Objects to Prison Fare—Wants His Bread Buttered.

Monday evening Policeman Dukeman arrived in Bellefonte with a young man under arrest that he secured at Olean, N. Y., who confessed to the passing of several forged checks upon our merchants last week. He proved to be George Page, formerly of Oak Hall, and wore some of the merchandise he got from the men he fleeced so easily on January 13th, at this place. Page was committed to jail.

In our last issue we gave an account of a young man coming to the town and succeeding in passing checks that were worthless. He did this at the following stores: Sim the Clothier, Faubles, Mingles, and at Potter-Hoy Hardware company. The checks were drawn in favor of John Parker at three places and one was to Joe Kidder, and were signed by the name of B. E. Homan. The Potter-Hoy check was for $8, while the others were for $18. When these checks were compared they all proved to be drawn by the same party. This came to the attention of Harry Yeager, the shoe man, and he secured the similar young man came to his store in September 1911 and succeeded in passing a check for $17.75, in favor of John Bohn, signed, "M. W. Goheen." Since that time Mr. Yeager has been on the lookout for a young man by the name of George Page, of near Oak Hall, whom he suspected of working him for this amount. Yeager traced the man to Olean, N. Y., and had some intention of going after him, later. Mr. Yeager took his worthless check and the check of Harry Yeager, the shoe man, and he secured the similar young man came to his store in September 1911 and succeeded in passing a check for $17.75, in favor of John Bohn, signed, "M. W. Goheen." Since that time Mr. Yeager has been on the lookout for a young man by the name of George Page, of near Oak Hall, whom he suspected of working him for this amount. Yeager traced the man to Olean, N. Y., and had some intention of going after him, later. Mr. Yeager took his worthless check and the check of Harry Yeager, the shoe man, and he secured the similar young man came to his store in September 1911 and succeeded in passing a check for $17.75, in favor of John Bohn, signed, "M. W. Goheen." Since that time Mr. Yeager has been on the lookout for a young man by the name of George Page, of near Oak Hall, whom he suspected of working him for this amount. Yeager traced the man to Olean, N. Y., and had some intention of going after him, later. Mr. Yeager took his worthless check and the check of Harry Yeager, the shoe man, and he secured the similar young man came to his store in September 1911 and succeeded in passing a check for $17.75, in favor of John Bohn, signed, "M. W. Goheen." Since that time Mr. Yeager has been on the lookout for a young man by the name of George Page, of near Oak Hall, whom he suspected of working him for this amount. Yeager traced the man to Olean, N. Y., and had some intention of going after him, later. Mr. Yeager took his worthless check and the check of Harry Yeager, the shoe man, and he secured the similar young man came to his store in September 1911 and succeeded in passing a check for $17.75, in favor of John Bohn, signed, "M. W. Goheen." Since that time Mr. Yeager has been on the lookout for a young man by the name of George Page, of near Oak Hall, whom he suspected of working him for this amount. Yeager traced the man to Olean, N. Y., and had some intention of going after him, later. Mr. Yeager took his worthless check and the check of Harry Yeager, the shoe man, and he secured the similar young man came to his store in September 1911 and succeeded in passing a check for $17.75, in favor of John Bohn, signed, "M. W. Goheen." Since that time Mr. Yeager has been on the lookout for a young man by the name of George Page, of near Oak Hall, whom he suspected of working him for this amount. Yeager traced the man to Olean, N. Y., and had some intention of going after him, later. Mr. Yeager took his worthless check and the check of Harry Yeager, the shoe man, and he secured the similar young man came to his store in September 1911 and succeeded in passing a check for $17.75, in favor of John Bohn, signed, "M. W. Goheen." Since that time Mr. Yeager has been on the lookout for a young man by the name of George Page, of near Oak Hall, whom he suspected of working him for this amount. Yeager traced the man to Olean, N. Y., and had some intention of going after him, later. Mr. Yeager took his worthless check and the check of Harry Yeager, the shoe man, and he secured the similar young man came to his store in September 1911 and succeeded in passing a check for $17.75, in favor of John Bohn, signed, "M. W. Goheen." Since that time Mr. Yeager has been on the lookout for a young man by the name of George Page, of near Oak Hall, whom he suspected of working him for this amount. Yeager traced the man to Olean, N. Y., and had some intention of going after him, later. Mr. Yeager took his worthless check and the check of Harry Yeager, the shoe man, and he secured the similar young man came to his store in September 1911 and succeeded in passing a check for $17.75, in favor of John Bohn, signed, "M. W. Goheen." Since that time Mr. Yeager has been on the lookout for a young man by the name of George Page, of near Oak Hall, whom he suspected of working him for this amount. Yeager traced the man to Olean, N. Y., and had some intention of going after him, later. Mr. Yeager took his worthless check and the check of Harry Yeager, the shoe man, and he secured the similar young man came to his store in September 1911 and succeeded in passing a check for $17.75, in favor of John Bohn, signed, "M. W. Goheen." Since that time Mr. Yeager has been on the lookout for a young man by the name of George Page, of near Oak Hall, whom he suspected of working him for this amount. Yeager traced the man to Olean, N. Y., and had some intention of going after him, later. Mr. Yeager took his worthless check and the check of Harry Yeager, the shoe man, and he secured the similar young man came to his store in September 1911 and succeeded in passing a check for $17.75, in favor of John Bohn, signed, "M. W. Goheen." Since that time Mr. Yeager has been on the lookout for a young man by the name of George Page, of near Oak Hall, whom he suspected of working him for this amount. Yeager traced the man to Olean, N. Y., and had some intention of going after him, later. Mr. Yeager took his worthless check and the check of Harry Yeager, the shoe man, and he secured the similar young man came to his store in September 1911 and succeeded in passing a check for $17.75, in favor of John Bohn, signed, "M. W. Goheen." Since that time Mr. Yeager has been on the lookout for a young man by the name of George Page, of near Oak Hall, whom he suspected of working him for this amount. Yeager traced the man to Olean, N. Y., and had some intention of going after him, later. Mr. Yeager took his worthless check and the check of Harry Yeager, the shoe man, and he secured the similar young man came to his store in September 1911 and succeeded in passing a check for $17.75, in favor of John Bohn, signed, "M. W. Goheen." Since that time Mr. Yeager has been on the lookout for a young man by the name of George Page, of near Oak Hall, whom he suspected of working him for this amount. Yeager traced the man to Olean, N. Y., and had some intention of going after him, later. Mr. Yeager took his worthless check and the check of Harry Yeager, the shoe man, and he secured the similar young man came to his store in September 1911 and succeeded in passing a check for $17.75, in favor of John Bohn, signed, "M. W. Goheen." Since that time Mr. Yeager has been on the lookout for a young man by the name of George Page, of near Oak Hall, whom he suspected of working him for this amount. Yeager traced the man to Olean, N. Y., and had some intention of going after him, later. Mr. Yeager took his worthless check and the check of Harry Yeager, the shoe man, and he secured the similar young man came to his store in September 1911 and succeeded in passing a check for $17.75, in favor of John Bohn, signed, "M. W. Goheen." Since that time Mr. Yeager has been on the lookout for a young man by the name of George Page, of near Oak Hall, whom he suspected of working him for this amount. Yeager traced the man to Olean, N. Y., and had some intention of going after him, later. Mr. Yeager took his worthless check and the check of Harry Yeager, the shoe man, and he secured the similar young man came to his store in September 1911 and succeeded in passing a check for $17.75, in favor of John Bohn, signed, "M. W. Goheen." Since that time Mr. Yeager has been on the lookout for a young man by the name of George Page, of near Oak Hall, whom he suspected of working him for this amount. Yeager traced the man to Olean, N. Y., and had some intention of going after him, later. Mr. Yeager took his worthless check and the check of Harry Yeager, the shoe man, and he secured the similar young man came to his store in September 1911 and succeeded in passing a check for $17.75, in favor of John Bohn, signed, "M. W. Goheen." Since that time Mr. Yeager has been on the lookout for a young man by the name of George Page, of near Oak Hall, whom he suspected of working him for this amount. Yeager traced the man to Olean, N. Y., and had some intention of going after him, later. Mr. Yeager took his worthless check and the check of Harry Yeager, the shoe man, and he secured the similar young man came to his store in September 1911 and succeeded in passing a check for $17.75, in favor of John Bohn, signed, "M. W. Goheen." Since that time Mr. Yeager has been on the lookout for a young man by the name of George Page, of near Oak Hall, whom he suspected of working him for this amount. Yeager traced the man to Olean, N. Y., and had some intention of going after him, later. Mr. Yeager took his worthless check and the check of Harry Yeager, the shoe man, and he secured the similar young man came to his store in September 1911 and succeeded in passing a check for $17.75, in favor of John Bohn, signed, "M. W. Goheen." Since that time Mr. Yeager has been on the lookout for a young man by the name of George Page, of near Oak Hall, whom he suspected of working him for this amount. Yeager traced the man to Olean, N. Y., and had some intention of going after him, later. Mr. Yeager took his worthless check and the check of Harry Yeager, the shoe man, and he secured the similar young man came to his store in September 1911 and succeeded in passing a check for $17.75, in favor of John Bohn, signed, "M. W. Goheen." Since that time Mr. Yeager has been on the lookout for a young man by the name of George Page, of near Oak Hall, whom he suspected of working him for this amount. Yeager traced the man to Olean, N. Y., and had some intention of going after him, later. Mr. Yeager took his worthless check and the check of Harry Yeager, the shoe man, and he secured the similar young man came to his store in September 1911 and succeeded in passing a check for $17.75, in favor of John Bohn, signed, "M. W. Goheen." Since that time Mr. Yeager has been on the lookout for a young man by the name of George Page, of near Oak Hall, whom he suspected of working him for this amount. Yeager traced the man to Olean, N. Y., and had some intention of going after him, later. Mr. Yeager took his worthless check and the check of Harry Yeager, the shoe man, and he secured the similar young man came to his store in September 1911 and succeeded in passing a check for $17.75, in favor of John Bohn, signed, "M. W. Goheen." Since that time Mr. Yeager has been on the lookout for a young man by the name of George Page, of near Oak Hall, whom he suspected of working him for this amount. Yeager traced the man to Olean, N. Y., and had some intention of going after him, later. Mr. Yeager took his worthless check and the check of Harry Yeager, the shoe man, and he secured the similar young man came to his store in September 1911 and succeeded in passing a check for $17.75, in favor of John Bohn, signed, "M. W. Goheen." Since that time Mr. Yeager has been on the lookout for a young man by the name of George Page, of near Oak Hall, whom he suspected of working him for this amount. Yeager traced the man to Olean, N. Y., and had some intention of going after him, later. Mr. Yeager took his worthless check and the check of Harry Yeager, the shoe man, and he secured the similar young man came to his store in September 1911 and succeeded in passing a check for $17.75, in favor of John Bohn, signed, "M. W. Goheen." Since that time Mr. Yeager has been on the lookout for a young man by the name of George Page, of near Oak Hall, whom he suspected of working him for this amount. Yeager traced the man to Olean, N. Y., and had some intention of going after him, later. Mr. Yeager took his worthless check and the check of Harry Yeager, the shoe man, and he secured the similar young man came to his store in September 1911 and succeeded in passing a check for $17.75, in favor of John Bohn, signed, "M. W. Goheen." Since that time Mr. Yeager has been on the lookout for a young man by the name of George Page, of near Oak Hall, whom he suspected of working him for this amount. Yeager traced the man to Olean, N. Y., and had some intention of going after him, later. Mr. Yeager took his worthless check and the check of Harry Yeager, the shoe man, and he secured the similar young man came to his store in September 1911 and succeeded in passing a check for $17.75, in favor of John Bohn, signed, "M. W. Goheen." Since that time Mr. Yeager has been on the lookout for a young man by the name of George Page, of near Oak Hall, whom he suspected of working him for this amount. Yeager traced the man to Olean, N. Y., and had some intention of going after him, later. Mr. Yeager took his worthless check and the check of Harry Yeager, the shoe man, and he secured the similar young man came to his store in September 1911 and succeeded in passing a check for $17.75, in favor of John Bohn, signed, "M. W. Goheen." Since that time Mr. Yeager has been on the lookout for a young man by the name of George Page, of near Oak Hall, whom he suspected of working him for this amount. Yeager traced the man to Olean, N. Y., and had some intention of going after him, later. Mr. Yeager took his worthless check and the check of Harry Yeager, the shoe man, and he secured the similar young man came to his store in September 1911 and succeeded in passing a check for $17.75, in favor of John Bohn, signed, "M. W. Goheen." Since that time Mr. Yeager has been on the lookout for a young man by the name of George Page, of near Oak Hall, whom he suspected of working him for this amount. Yeager traced the man to Olean, N. Y., and had some intention of going after him, later. Mr. Yeager took his worthless check and the check of Harry Yeager, the shoe man, and he secured the similar young man came to his store in September 1911 and succeeded in passing a check for $17.75, in favor of John Bohn, signed, "M. W. Goheen." Since that time Mr. Yeager has been on the lookout for a young man by the name of George Page, of near Oak Hall, whom he suspected of working him for this amount. Yeager traced the man to Olean, N. Y., and had some intention of going after him, later. Mr. Yeager took his worthless check and the check of Harry Yeager, the shoe man, and he secured the similar young man came to his store in September 1911 and succeeded in passing a check for $17.75, in favor of John Bohn, signed, "M. W. Goheen." Since that time Mr. Yeager has been on the lookout for a young man by the name of George Page, of near Oak Hall, whom he suspected of working him for this amount. Yeager traced the man to Olean, N. Y., and had some intention of going after him, later. Mr. Yeager took his worthless check and the check of Harry Yeager, the shoe man, and he secured the similar young man came to his store in September 1911 and succeeded in passing a check for $17.75, in favor of John Bohn, signed, "M. W. Goheen." Since that time Mr. Yeager has been on the lookout for a young man by the name of George Page, of near Oak Hall, whom he suspected of working him for this amount. Yeager traced the man to Olean, N. Y., and had some intention of going after him, later. Mr. Yeager took his worthless check and the check of Harry Yeager, the shoe man, and he secured the similar young man came to his store in September 1911 and succeeded in passing a check for $17.75, in favor of John Bohn, signed, "M. W. Goheen." Since that time Mr. Yeager has been on the lookout for a young man by the name of George Page, of near Oak Hall, whom he suspected of working him for this amount. Yeager traced the man to Olean, N. Y., and had some intention of going after him, later. Mr. Yeager took his worthless check and the check of Harry Yeager, the shoe man, and he secured the similar young man came to his store in September 1911 and succeeded in passing a check for $17.75, in favor of John Bohn, signed, "M. W. Goheen." Since that time Mr. Yeager has been on the lookout for a young man by the name of George Page, of near Oak Hall, whom he suspected of working him for this amount. Yeager traced the man to Olean, N. Y., and had some intention of going after him, later. Mr. Yeager took his worthless check and the check of Harry Yeager, the shoe man, and he secured the similar young man came to his store in September 1911 and succeeded in passing a check for $17.75, in favor of John Bohn, signed, "M. W. Goheen." Since that time Mr. Yeager has been on the lookout for a young man by the name of George Page, of near Oak Hall, whom he suspected of working him for this amount. Yeager traced the man to Olean, N. Y., and had some intention of going after him, later. Mr. Yeager took his worthless check and the check of Harry Yeager, the shoe man, and he secured the similar young man came to his store in September 1911 and succeeded in passing a check for $17.75, in favor of John Bohn, signed, "M. W. Goheen." Since that time Mr. Yeager has been on the lookout for a young man by the name of George Page, of near Oak Hall, whom he suspected of working him for this amount. Yeager traced the man to Olean, N. Y., and had some intention of going after him, later. Mr. Yeager took his worthless check and the check of Harry Yeager, the shoe man, and he secured the similar young man came to his store in September 1911 and succeeded in passing a check for $17.75, in favor of John Bohn, signed, "M. W. Goheen." Since that time Mr. Yeager has been on the lookout for a young man by the name of George Page, of near Oak Hall, whom he suspected of working him for this amount. Yeager traced the man to Olean, N. Y., and had some intention of going after him, later. Mr. Yeager took his worthless check and the check of Harry Yeager, the shoe man, and he secured the similar young man came to his store in September 1911 and succeeded in passing a check for $17.75, in favor of John Bohn, signed, "M. W. Goheen." Since that time Mr. Yeager has been on the lookout for a young man by the name of George Page, of near Oak Hall, whom he suspected of working him for this amount. Yeager traced the man to Olean, N. Y., and had some intention of going after him, later. Mr. Yeager took his worthless check and the check of Harry Yeager, the shoe man, and he secured the similar young man came to his store in September 1911 and succeeded in passing a check for $17.75, in favor of John Bohn, signed, "M. W. Goheen." Since that time Mr. Yeager has been on the lookout for a young man by the name of George Page, of near Oak Hall, whom he suspected of working him for this amount. Yeager traced the man to Olean, N. Y., and had some intention of going after him, later. Mr. Yeager took his worthless check and the check of Harry Yeager, the shoe man, and he secured the similar young man came to his store in September 1911 and succeeded in passing a check for $17.75, in favor of John Bohn, signed, "M. W. Goheen." Since that time Mr. Yeager has been on the lookout for a young man by the name of George Page, of near Oak Hall, whom he suspected of working him for this amount. Yeager traced the man to Olean, N. Y., and had some intention of going after him, later. Mr. Yeager took his worthless check and the check of Harry Yeager, the shoe man, and he secured the similar young man came to his store in September 1911 and succeeded in passing a check for $17.75, in favor of John Bohn, signed, "M. W. Goheen." Since that time Mr. Yeager has been on the lookout for a young man by the name of George Page, of near Oak Hall, whom he suspected of working him for this amount. Yeager traced the man to Olean, N. Y., and had some intention of going after him, later. Mr. Yeager took his worthless check and the check of Harry Yeager, the shoe man, and he secured the similar young man came to his store in September 1911 and succeeded in passing a check for $17.75, in favor of John Bohn, signed, "M. W. Goheen." Since that time Mr. Yeager has been on the lookout for a young man by the name of George Page, of near Oak Hall, whom he suspected of working him for this amount. Yeager traced the man to Olean, N. Y., and had some intention of going after him, later. Mr. Yeager took his worthless check and the check of Harry Yeager, the shoe man, and he secured the similar young man came to his store in September 1911 and succeeded in passing a check for $17.75, in favor of John Bohn, signed, "M. W. Goheen." Since that time Mr. Yeager has been on the lookout for a young man by the name of George Page, of near Oak Hall, whom he suspected of working him for this amount. Yeager traced the man to Olean, N. Y., and had some intention of going after him, later. Mr. Yeager took his worthless check and the check of Harry Yeager, the shoe man, and he secured the similar young man came to his store in September 1911 and succeeded in passing a check for $17.75, in favor of John Bohn, signed, "M. W. Goheen." Since that time Mr. Yeager has been on the lookout for a young man by the name of George Page, of near Oak Hall, whom he suspected of working him for this amount. Yeager traced the man to Olean, N. Y., and had some intention of going after him, later. Mr. Yeager took his worthless check and the check of Harry Yeager, the shoe man, and he secured the similar young man came to his store in September 1911 and succeeded in passing a check for $17.75, in favor of John Bohn, signed, "M. W. Goheen." Since that time Mr. Yeager has been on the lookout for a young man by the name of George Page, of near Oak Hall, whom he suspected of working him for this amount. Yeager traced the man to Olean, N. Y., and had some intention of going after him, later. Mr. Yeager took his worthless check and the check of Harry Yeager, the shoe man, and he secured the similar young man came to his store in September 1911 and succeeded in passing a check for $17.75, in favor of John Bohn, signed, "M. W. Goheen." Since that time Mr. Yeager has been on the lookout for a young man by the name of George Page, of near Oak Hall, whom he suspected of working him for this amount. Yeager traced the man to Olean, N. Y., and had some intention of going after him, later. Mr. Yeager took his worthless check and the check of Harry Yeager, the shoe man, and he secured the similar young man came to his store in September 1911 and succeeded in passing a check for $17.75, in favor of John Bohn, signed, "M. W. Goheen." Since that time Mr. Yeager has been on the lookout for a young man by the name of George Page, of near Oak Hall, whom he suspected of working him for this amount. Yeager traced the man to Olean, N. Y., and had some intention of going after him, later. Mr. Yeager took his worthless check and the check of Harry Yeager, the shoe man, and he secured the similar young man came to his store in September 1911 and succeeded in passing a check for $17.75, in favor of John Bohn, signed, "M. W. Goheen." Since that time Mr. Yeager has been on the lookout for a young man by the name of George Page, of near Oak Hall, whom he suspected of working him for this amount. Yeager traced the man to Olean, N. Y., and had some intention of going after him, later. Mr. Yeager took his worthless check and the check of Harry Yeager, the shoe man, and he secured the similar young man came to his store in September 1911 and succeeded in passing a check for $17.75, in favor of John Bohn, signed, "M. W. Goheen." Since that time Mr. Yeager has been on the lookout for a young man by the name of George Page, of near Oak Hall, whom he suspected of working him for this amount. Yeager traced the man to Olean, N. Y., and had some intention of going after him, later. Mr. Yeager took his worthless check and the check of Harry Yeager, the shoe man, and he secured the similar young man came to his store in September 1911 and succeeded in passing a check for $17.75, in favor of John Bohn, signed, "M. W. Goheen." Since that time Mr. Yeager has been on the lookout for a young man by the name of George Page, of near Oak Hall, whom he suspected of working him for this amount. Yeager traced the man to Olean, N. Y., and had some intention of going after him, later. Mr. Yeager took his worthless check and the check of Harry Yeager, the shoe man, and he secured the similar young man came to his store in September 1911 and succeeded in passing a check for $17.75, in favor of John Bohn, signed, "M. W. Goheen." Since that time Mr. Yeager has been on the lookout for a young man by the name of George Page, of near Oak Hall, whom he suspected of working him for this amount. Yeager traced the man to Olean, N. Y., and had some intention of going after him, later. Mr. Yeager took his worthless check and the check of Harry Yeager, the shoe man, and he secured the similar young man came to his store in September 1911 and succeeded in passing a check for $17.75, in favor of John Bohn, signed, "M. W. Goheen." Since that time Mr. Yeager has been on the lookout for a young man by the name of George Page, of near Oak Hall, whom he suspected of working him for this amount. Yeager traced the man to Olean, N. Y., and had some intention of going after him, later. Mr. Yeager took his worthless check and the check of Harry Yeager, the shoe man, and he secured the similar young man came to his store in September 1911 and succeeded in passing a check for $17.75, in favor of John Bohn, signed, "M. W. Goheen." Since that time Mr. Yeager has been on the lookout for a young man by the name of George Page, of near Oak Hall, whom he suspected of working him for this amount. Yeager traced the man to Olean, N. Y., and had some intention of going after him, later. Mr. Yeager took his worthless check and the check of Harry Yeager, the shoe man, and he secured the similar young man came to his store in September 1911 and succeeded in passing a check for $17.75, in favor of John Bohn, signed, "M. W. Goheen." Since that time Mr. Yeager has been on the lookout for a young man by the name of George Page, of near Oak Hall, whom he suspected of working him for this amount. Yeager traced the man to Olean, N. Y., and had some intention of going after him, later. Mr. Yeager took his worthless check and the check of Harry Yeager, the shoe man, and he secured the similar young man came to his store in September 1911 and succeeded in passing a check for $17.75, in favor of John Bohn, signed, "M. W. Goheen." Since that time Mr. Yeager has been on the lookout for a young man by the name of George Page, of near Oak Hall, whom he suspected of working him for this amount. Yeager traced the man to Olean, N. Y., and had some intention of going after him, later. Mr. Yeager took his worthless check and the check of Harry Yeager, the shoe man, and he secured the similar young man came to his store in September 1911 and succeeded in passing a check for $17.75, in favor of John Bohn, signed, "M. W. Goheen." Since that time Mr. Yeager has been on the lookout for a young man by the name of George Page, of near Oak Hall, whom he suspected of working him for this amount. Yeager traced the man to Olean, N. Y., and had some intention of going after him, later. Mr. Yeager took his worthless check and the check of Harry Yeager, the shoe man, and he secured the similar young man came to his store in September 1911 and succeeded in passing a check for $17.75, in favor of John Bohn, signed, "M. W. Goheen." Since that time Mr. Yeager has been on the lookout for a young man by the name of George Page, of near Oak Hall, whom he suspected of working him for this amount. Yeager traced the man to Olean, N. Y., and had some intention of going after him, later. Mr. Yeager took his worthless check and the check of Harry Yeager, the shoe man, and he secured the similar young man came to his store in September 1911 and succeeded in passing a check for $17.75, in favor of John Bohn, signed, "M. W. Goheen." Since that time Mr. Yeager has been on the lookout for a young man by the name of George Page, of near Oak Hall, whom he suspected of working him for this amount. Yeager traced the man to Olean, N. Y., and had some intention of going after him, later. Mr. Yeager took his worthless check and the check of Harry Yeager, the shoe man, and he secured the similar young man came to his store in September 1911 and succeeded in passing a check for $17.75, in favor of John Bohn, signed, "M. W. Goheen." Since that time Mr. Yeager has been on the lookout for a young man by the name of George Page, of near Oak Hall, whom he suspected of working him for this amount. Yeager traced the man to Olean, N. Y., and had some intention of going after him, later. Mr. Yeager took his worthless check and the check of Harry Yeager, the shoe man, and he secured the similar young man came to his store in September 1911 and succeeded in passing a check for $17.75, in favor of John Bohn, signed, "M. W. Goheen." Since that time Mr. Yeager has been on the lookout for a young man by the name of George Page, of near Oak Hall, whom he suspected of working him for this amount. Yeager traced the man to Olean, N. Y., and had some intention of going after him, later. Mr. Yeager took his worthless check and the check of Harry Yeager, the shoe man, and he secured the similar young man came to his store in September 1911 and succeeded in passing a check for $17.75, in favor of John Bohn, signed, "M. W. Goheen." Since that time Mr. Yeager has been on the lookout for a young man by the name of George Page, of near Oak Hall, whom he suspected of working him for this amount. Yeager traced the man to Olean, N. Y., and had some intention of going after him, later. Mr. Yeager took his worthless check and the check of Harry Yeager, the shoe man, and he secured the similar young man came to his store in September 1911 and succeeded in passing a check for $17.75, in favor of John Bohn, signed, "M. W. Goheen." Since that time Mr. Yeager has been on the lookout for a young man by the name of George Page, of near Oak Hall, whom he suspected of working him for this amount. Yeager traced the man to Olean, N. Y., and had some intention of going after him, later. Mr. Yeager took his worthless check and the check of Harry Yeager, the shoe man, and he secured the similar young man came to his store in September 1911 and succeeded in passing a check for $17.75, in favor of John Bohn, signed, "M. W. Goheen." Since that time Mr. Yeager has been on the lookout for a young man by the name of George Page, of near Oak Hall, whom he suspected of working him for this amount. Yeager traced the man to Olean, N. Y., and had some intention of going after him, later. Mr. Yeager took his worthless check and the check of Harry Yeager, the shoe man, and he secured the similar young man came to his store in September 1911 and succeeded in passing a check for $17.75, in favor of John Bohn, signed, "M. W. Goheen." Since that time Mr. Yeager has been on the lookout