HOWARD.

Showers and sunshine bring slowly the deepening verdure o'er the earth; To put their foliage out the woods are slack; And one by one the singing birds come back.

In Our Churches Next Sabbath.
United Evangelical—The quarterly conference will meet at half past two Saturday, and in the evening of the same day, at half past seven, a preaching service will be held and the Holy Communion administered at the Fairview appointment. On Sabbath morning services will be in Howard at half past two and at Jacksonville at half past seven. At both of these places the Sacrament of the Holy Communion will be observed, and Presiding Elder H. A. Benfer will officiate.
Christian Scientists—Service at the home of S. J. Wolf at half past ten.
Christian Chapel—Pastor W. H. Patterson will preach at half past seven.
Reformed—Pastor E. F. Faust will preach at Jacksonville at ten o'clock, at Marsh Creek at half past two and at Howard at half past seven. This will be Mother's Day, and the sermon will be adapted to the occasion.
Methodist Episcopal—Pastor James E. Dunning will preach and administer the Communion of the Lord's Supper at Beech Creek at half past ten in the morning, and at half past seven in the evening; and at Hunter's Run at half past two.
The most important social function of recent date was the wedding reception given Mr. and Mrs. Jesse T. Leathers upon their arrival from the honeymoon trip. It was tendered by the entire family, at the old homestead, now the home of Frederic Leathers, from five o'clock to half past eight, last Friday evening. While not a "crush" affair it was representative in its personnel. Elaborate refreshments were served at eight o'clock. The guests from a distance were Mrs. Jennie Ruch, the bride's mother, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Harman, Miss Ethel Pletcher, Mr. Jesse Lentz, of Northumberland; Miss Katherine Parker and Miss Johnston, of Bellefonte; John Seeds, of Birmingham; Mr. and Mrs. Claude Johnson, State College; Earl Leathers, Mt. Eagle; Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Neff and daughter, of Curtin; Mrs. Charles Yearick, and daughter of Jacksonville; Edwards Taylor, of Charlton; and Mrs. Charles T. Dunning, of Williamsport. The guests from town were Mr. Chester A. Moore and sister, the Misses Lulu Johnson, Lulu Schenck, Emma and Edith Weber, Annie and Josephine Muffley and Emma Pletcher. A. H. and Mrs. Leathers and daughters, A. Cookman and Mrs. Leathers, Rev. and Mrs. James E. Dunning, John E. Foresman, George Foreman, Balser Weber, Arthur Long, Willard McDowell, Arthur Condo, and James and Frederic Leathers.
A mother's love—how sweet the name; What is a mother's love? A noble, fine and tender flame. Enkindled from above. To bless a heart, a fatherly mould; The warmest love that can grow cold; This is a mother's love.— James Montgomery.
Don't forget the white carnation next Sunday.
From Dixie.
 An interesting letter from "Sammy" Bechtel, as he was known hereabouts before he graduated from the School of Agriculture in the Pennsylvania State College and became an expert in dairying, tells of some of his experiences in Dixie. His headquarters are at Auburn, Alabama, the centre of a district in which he represents the national bureau of animal industry and his duties lead him out among the farms in all parts of the state. He finds farming conditions there very similar to our own as witness: "Too much rain to do any farming worth while. A great deal of corn is not yet planted when it should be a foot high by this time. The season is nearly two months late. Been having some pretty warm days but the nights are quite cool. * * * My work keeps me mighty busy, and I have little time for recreation. Am traveling one half and two-thirds of my time, and when at Auburn have a preponderant amount of correspondence to handle. For the next two or three months will be helping the farmers build silos. * * * It's time to go to my dinner of red-hot bliscuit, boiled hominy and two or three kinds of meat." Pretty stiff diet, that, for a hot climate.
A Girl Roadbuilder.
 Altoona, Pa., April 21.—Miss Margaret Moore Ellis, aged 29, has become an efficient aide and roadmaster in Supervisor D. S. Hyle's district of Frankstown township, Blair county. She superintends the operation of a log drag and oversees the work on a five-mile stretch of Scotch Valley road.
 Miss Ellis is animated by a genuine love for the cause of good roads, and is one of the few women of Pennsylvania who take an active personal interest in the betterment of the public highways.—Phil Record.
 "That's fine! Just fine! But even at that Altoona and her surrounding districts have nothing on Howard. We have a score or so of splendid young girls, and another score or so of old ladies too for that matter, any of whom, if they could be elected to a seat in council and placed upon the street committee, would make as good a record as the fine Frankstown lassie. God bless her!"
 Edwards Taylor visited among his friends here last week.
 Mrs. William Singer, of Blanchard, was in town last Friday.
 Mr. and Mrs. John Loder spent Sunday with friends in Mt. Eagle.

 Mrs. J. A. Aiken, of Bellefonte, was a Howard visitor with Mrs. Thomas Mann, Friday.
 Mrs. Furst Crider spent Sunday at the bedside of her sick sister, Mrs. Rockey, in Bellefonte.
 Mrs. Albert Schenck and daughter, Miss Rebe Holter, were eastward passengers on No. 59 Friday.
 Mrs. John T. Lucas and Mrs. Christian Pletcher were Bellefonte and Milesburg visitors Saturday.
 Chester A. Moore, grabbed time enough from his work to spend the week end with his friends here.
 Because of continuing ill health Isaac R. Williams is offering the fixtures and good will of his barber shop for sale.

 Wm. N. Neff, who is doing good work in the Renovo shops, dropped in very quietly Sunday morning to have a visit with his cronies here.

 The Empire Iron Works is again in motion, with the brothers, Harry and Will Wetzel as pilots. They ran off a nice little batch of castings on Saturday, and propose to follow it up with others.
 M. I. Gardner autoed down to our town early Sunday morning, visiting with his sister, Mrs. Fannie G. Leathers and his brother Wyckliffe and wife who had driven up from their Mackeyville home.
 Undertaker L. H. Neff went to Scotland by way of Port Matilda, to bring back here for burial the body of Israel Condo, a formerly well known citizen of Marion township, who died at Scotia Saturday.
 Mrs. Edward Green and sisters, Mrs. Klester of Johnsonburg and Miss Leotta Bouse, spent Sunday with their invalid mother, Mrs. Bouse, who is in the Lock Haven hospital, trying to recover strength to come home.
 A nice improvement was made in the Christian Chapel last week by building a low and roomy platform for the use of the choir. Not only is the choir better provided for but quite a bit of room heretofore wasted, is utilized.
 The two summer schools, under the leadership of the experienced teachers, Miss Johnson and Prof. Decker, started on Monday morning with a goodly number of pupils, and give promise of good work during the terms.
 Principal George D. Robb, of the Altoona High School, having attended the Round Table of High School principals at The Pennsylvania State College Friday, dropped in on his friends here between trains on Saturday.
 George L. Williams, who has for some years been doing important work in Pittsburgh for the Curtis Publishing Company, has been promoted to a larger field and more important duties in New York City, for which place he left last Monday.
 Street Commissioner Charles E. Leathers got busy last Friday and Saturday, and put some finishing touches to the work done by the street committee the week before, and made such improvement that our streets are, in the main, looking unusually well.
 Last Thursday evening, a young horse owned by John Hagen, was standing tied to a post on Walnut street, when a crowd of young boys equipped for tendering a "calitumpian serenade" to Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Leathers who had just arrived in town, passed by, and their din and clatter frightened him so badly as to cause him to break away and run home. Fortunately little damage was done. This makes the fourth runaway in our community within a week and with no very serious result excepting the personal injuries to mail carrier W. E. Confer, who is getting on nicely.
 Mrs. James Martin, who died at her home at State College last Thursday, was formerly Miss Yearick, of Marion township, a sister of Charles E. Yearick, of our borough, and her body was brought here on Saturday for interment in the Reformed church yard at Jacksonville. Mrs. Martin was a daughter of Henry Yearick, one of the old and prominent men of Nittany valley. She leaves her husband, and three children, Harry, of Wilkinsburg, and Catherine and Carl at home, to mourn her loss. The funeral service was conducted by Rev. N. L. Horn, pastor of the Reformed church at State College of which Mrs. Martin had been a member, practically all her life.

UNIONVILLE.
 Mrs. B. W. Shipley, who purchased the John P. Harris property last fall, is beautifying her home by dressing it very tastefully in several coats of paint.

 Found—A pair of lady's gum shoes sticking in the mud on one of our streets. Council, take notice!
 Mrs. Annie Rich, after spending several months in this vicinity, visiting among friends left for home in Philadelphia on Monday.
 Mrs. H. I. Stere and son Hassel took a jaunt over to Phillipsburg on Saturday to visit friends at that place for a few days.
 Philip Haines, a veteran of the civil war, died at his home in Milesburg on Monday after a brief illness, of bright disease. He was the father of Mrs. Frank Peters of Union township. A brother, John Haines, lives at the intersection. His funeral will take place on Thursday afternoon. Interment in cemetery east of Unionville. Further particulars lacking.
 Don't forget the big feast on home baked beans, ice cream, cake, etc. etera, which the ladies of the M. E. church will have on tap in Grange Hall on Friday evening and perhaps on Saturday evening at their "bean social." Everybody come.
 Mrs. Malissa Bing, after a brief indisposition, we are glad to note is out and around again as happy as a big sunflower and as lively and jolly as ever.
 Maybe you think we have no "night crawlers" up here! Listen, sheriff Walker! On Monday morning, as I was passing the Peters House, landlord Billy invited me to come in and "see a show." He took me to his garden and "who's born" left more than half of his onions he had planted were lying around "loose" on the top of the ground which the juley night crawlers had heaved out during the night. They were the white variety and his onion bed seemed to be covered with large sized hail. They didn't have time to gather them on heaps like Miles Walker's did, but Billy said he saw some of the belated work in playing "catch" with the onions. He thinks they were practicing for a game of base ball. Abednego Williams also has an army of the red pests in his garden. He thinks they put them up by the tops. They wrap one end (He didn't say which end) around the onion tops and yank them out by drawing themselves up like an accordion. "Pete" Stere thinks there might be money in them by canning them and selling them for fish bait. It is really a fact that many of our gardens are deluged with them.
 Here's an extract of a letter which was picked up on the streets, and which was addressed to one of our boys:
 Societour, No. Vonder the 17, Dear Cousin: I take my pen in hand to let you know that we don't live where we have moved. Your uncle whom you loved so well is dead, hoping these few lines will find you the same. When he died he left you $15,000. We will send it to you as soon as we can find it. The doctor gave up all hopes when he died.
 I send you your overcoat. That nice one you bought of Ad. Fauble. To save express charges, I cut off the buttons. You will find them in one of the pockets. Mother is making sausage. All the neighbors are looking for their dogs. Your aunt is also dead. When she died she left $20,000 sewed up in her bustle! Gee! what a lot of money to leave behind! If you don't get this letter, let me know and I will write again.
 P. S. We are living in the nice new brick house we are going to build next summer. Come and see us the latter part of week-before-last. I will show you some of the finest apples you ever saw which we will "spill" next fall. If you want to hear from me the last five years subscribe for the Centre Democrat.
 Your Cousin Jennie.
