A Memorial Church.

Letters from her brother-in-law, Dr. Shillman, a missionary in India, giving details of the death of Miss Mary R. Kurtz in the South India mission field, have been received by her family; and by courtesy of Miss Kurtz's brother, our local physician, Dr. W. J. Kurtz, the Howard letter is permitted to give full information to the many friends made during her several visits among us last year, which was her rest, or "Sabbatical year." Having suffered from headache and fever for some days, on Friday, April 5, Miss Kurtz went to consult Dr. Kusler, who is in charge of the Lutheran mission hospital at Gunter, twenty-eight miles distant from her home at Narasapurpet. Here she steadily grew worse until the morning of Wednesday April 10, when the "palms and pines" death came by a quiet subsiding of the heart action. She suffered no pain but told of extreme weariness. The doctor attributes her death to "thermic fever." In accord with the custom enforced by the severe climate of India Miss Kurtz was buried on Wednesday between nine and ten o'clock, in the presence of a number of the missionaries of all denominations represented in that locality, and a large concourse of native Christians, the body being borne to the grave by natives who had been Christianized in part through the labor of Miss Kurtz and whom they deeply loved. A few days later a memorial service was held in the church with which Miss Kurtz was connected, and many of the natives "told of their great love for Mary and their inexpressible sorrow at her sudden going away." At this service it was decided that the part which the natives are to take in the construction of the new church shall constitute a memorial to Miss Kurtz, and the request was made that the whole structure may stand as a memorial to her.

Our Hospital Patients.

Among the many patients who are receiving the privileges and benefits of the Lock Haven hospital, there are no less than four women in whom our community has special interest, all of whom required surgical treatment. They are Mrs. Parker Thompson, formerly Miss Minnie Confer, who is recovering nicely, and will soon be able to return home. Mrs. Joseph Eason, formerly Miss Annie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Robb, whose condition is serious, but whose recovery strong hopes are entertained. Mrs. Saxon, daughter of Samuel Lyon, who is well on her way to recovery. Mrs. Kline Confer, sister-in-law of William E. Confer, one of our popular mill carriers, is under preparation for an operation of considerable importance. It is not many years since there was a strong and widespread prejudice against hospitals in general and the Lock Haven hospital in particular in our community. Happily for all this, a quite disappeared, and in its place has come a high degree of confidence and almost affectionate regard for the Lock Haven institution and for hospital treatment generally. Dr. Ball, whose successful surgery has won for him a state wide reputation, has so approved himself to our people that no other physician within reach is called more frequently into consultation, nor whose judgment is more thoroughly relied upon.

Mr. and Mrs. Bower Hatter were guests of Capt. H. C. Holter, Sunday.

Mrs. Elizabeth O. Lucas was a business visitor to the county seat Saturday.

John Hays, of Berwick, spent the week end with his mother and other relatives here.

Mrs. Matthew Rogers, Jr., is entertaining her mother, Mrs. M. M. Hetrick, of Altoona.

Don't forget Rev. Patterson's Memorial sermon in the M. E. church at two o'clock next Sabbath.

Miss Eva Neff visited her aunt, Mrs. Parker Thompson, in the Lock Haven hospital on Saturday.

Miss Zelma Sulzenberger, of Blanchard, was the Sunday guest of her friend, Miss Florence Confer.

Mr. James Flannigan, the father of our late neighbor, Mrs. R. S. Taylor, died last week at his home at Mill Hill.

Mr. and Mrs. George H. Buckley and daughters, spent their Sunday with friends strung all along the B. E. V. R. R.

Mrs. W. W. McGhee, of McGhee's Mills, formerly Miss Bertha Long, is a guest of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Clyde Long.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Vonada came from their Altoona home for a week end visit with family friends in Nittany Valley.

Surveyor D. W. Pletcher was an expert witness in a land case last Friday before the State Board of Property at Harrisburg.

Our hosts of the Howard House entertained Mrs. McMurtre's father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Barney Shuff, of Tyrone, between trains, on Sunday. Charles Bowes, who spent a portion of the winter and early spring in working at his trade of bridge builder at Lawrenceville, Ill., is at home for a season.

Mrs. John A. Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Clair Thompson and little one, and Mrs. Robert Neff, all of Tyrone were guests of Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Neff last Sunday.

Mrs. L. H. Thompson, of Orviston, was in town Saturday and made her friends glad by looking unusually well. Allegheny mountain air seems to be good for her.

Mr. Monroe Tobias, who moved to Woodrich from the township last spring, thought enough of his neighbors here to come back and spend Saturday with them.

Street Commissioner Charles E. Leathers went to Lock Haven Monday presumably to study the excellent brick pavement which that enterprising town wears upon its streets.

Rev. M. J. Snyder is in attendance at the convention of K. L. C. E., Ministers, and Sunday School workers of the Evangelical church for the Centre district at Winfield, Union county.

Jesse Ryan, of Buffalo, spent last week with his family friends in Curtin township and shows up well as the result of breathing the clean air and drinking the far famed pure water of that locality.

Messrs. J. A. Brouse and J. M. Hoffman, representatives of the State Chestnut Tree Blight Commission are making their headquarters in town while they are getting a survey of the township relative to the presence and prevalence of this much dreaded disease.

H. Walter Holter represents the Methodist church at the annual convention of the Centre County Sunday School association, and is the only delegate from this borough. The Reformed church will be represented by Chas. Robb and the Misses Helen Weber and Laura Decker.

Mrs. William Weber left Monday morning for Lewisburg, where she spent a couple of days with her aunts, the Mesdames Rutherford, and then proceeded to Winfield as a delegate from the church to the annual meeting of the ministers, Sunday School workers, and K. L. C. E. of the Centre district.

A week or two Mrs. Charles L. McMurtre drove her fine horse to Tyrone, her old home, and left the animal there while she returned by rail. On Saturday last Mrs. McMurtre took the morning train for Tyrone and in the afternoon drove down through the beautiful Bald Eagle valley, bringing her friend, Miss Catherine Voght, who is still her guest, with her.

Carl Neill, the son-in-law of Squire A. Pletcher who is in the employ of the Pennsylvania R. R. Co., at Pitsburgh, while prowling around in a dark place among the machinery, Wednesday of last week, came into contact with a hot steam pipe with his eyes, and burned them so severely that he feared his sight is endangered, though the specialists at the hospital are hopeful.

Our summer schools, the high school grade with nineteen pupils, conducted by Roy Decker, and the second grade, numbering twenty-three pupils, by Miss Mary Johnson, are moving on with fine success and much benefit to the pupils. Unhampered by the code, a prescribed course or the dictum of directors, the teachers have opportunity to come into more personal touch with the pupils and meet their individual and personal needs; and it tells for good.

The Ascension Club, of Nittany Valley, which for fourteen years has been holding annual meetings at the homes of its members on Ascension Day, (Holy Thursday) numbers some twenty-eight or thirty members. Last Thursday it met at the home of Mrs. George Ertley and had a delightful session. The members from our borough who attended were Mrs. W. L. Cooke, Mrs. Marius Miner, Mrs. Katherine Bechdel, Mrs. Charles E. Yearick, Mrs. Zelma Jordan and Miss Mollie Yearick. The meeting for next year is appointed for the home of Mrs. W. L. Cooke.

William F. Cox, whose boyhood home was with his uncle Franklin Confer, of the township and who has been much in this neighborhood during his later life, died at his home at Fairview, Tuesday, May 7, and was buried in the family plot in the Fairview churchyard, Friday afternoon. Mr. Cox was one of the reliable, well-to-do citizens of his community, and will be missed by all the neighborhood. He was forty-seven years of age and leaves in addition to the widow, three children to mourn him: Milford, who was in Illinois, and called home by his father's death, and Frank and Ruth at home.

A fine demonstration of the benefit of applying nitrogen to grass land may be seen on the lawn of Squire Samuel F. Kline. The lawn was newly seeded late last fall, and though germination had been successful and growth was fairly good, the squire's son E. W. bought several pounds of ground bone and applied it. Not being an expert at "broadcasting," he failed to portion it with entire evenness, some portions of each "cash" being much heavier than others. The constant rains have liberated the nitrogen with unusual rapidity, and the effect is distinctly visible in the "streaks" of dark green color and enlarged growth where the heavier applications were received.

UNIONVILLE.

Dr. E. A. Russell was honored by having been elected President of the Centre County Medical Society.

Master Charles Williams made a flying trip to Locust Mills the other day, and when he came home he told his papa he didn't see a dog-gone insect.

W. C. Bauger's entire family, wife and six children, were down with the measles at one time. Mrs. Bauger was seriously ill, but all are convalescing. Billy christened his home "The Bauger Sanatorium."

Mrs. Lansberry had a fine, large, fat hen stolen the other night and the foot prints in her garden revealed the thief, and she says if he will leave a dollar on her porch or mail it to her she will prosecute him.

Say, what do you think of a fellow who will go out in the middle of the street and stand on his head for half an hour and then get on his shoes soles again and yell, yes scream: "It's a boy! It's a boy, hurrah for hurrah!" Now Joe Resides didn't do this but, he first looked as if he'd like to, it's their first one and, of course, with him and his good wife the young lad is the only pickle in the dish.

Congratulations Joe. And now the grandpa and grandma, mind you, and Mrs. Sammy Hoover, mind you, and great grandma Annie E. Stere. Thomas McClellan has been at his home quite seriously ill with pertussis for about a week, but is reported to be improving nicely.

Rev. Victor L. Wagner, who is in imminent danger of death, was brought home a few days ago very ill and it was feared he was taking typhoid fever, but we are glad to say that he is able to be about again and is taking jaunts on his automobile which he brought up from his home last week.

Don't forget to remember the Rev. Dr. Ash will preach the dedication sermon to the old soldiers in the M. E. church on next Sunday evening at 7:30. The Rev. is full of patriotism and religion, and I am sure he has some good thing to say for the old "Vets." Do not miss it.

The list of registered voters has been placed on the election house door and it is every voter's duty to examine it and see that his name is on it.

D. Hall's brick house is progressing nicely.

Two boxes of the sweetest oranges and a box of early vegetables such as potatoes, cucumbers, etc. came from late Helen, Florida, to Mrs. Brugger. Aw! You Jameses.

On Tuesday morning as I was going to the railroad station I saw an immense crowd of "gay women and brave men" all dressed in beautiful holiday attire, waiting for the train. "Gee!" I said to myself, "what's up. Surely, this ain't the 4th of July!" Upon inquiry, I ascertained that they were going to a reunion of the Stern family at the home of Eli Stere superintendent of the Boggs township Poor Farm, at the intersection. It was Mr. Stere's 57th anniversary of his birth-day. On their return home in the evening I was informed that there were 44 persons present, besides his own family, and also that they had the greatest time of their lives. Even great-grandma, Annie E. Stere looked fatter in the face.

Penny a Dozen for Flies at Sunbury.

The Sunbury Civic club last week fixed a market price for dead flies. They announced that for the rest of the month any boy or girl bringing a dozen dead flies to any of the club members will receive a cent. After May it is planned to offer prizes for the biggest catches made by various schools. The club recommends the use of fly traps on ash heaps, garbage piles, etc.

Important Announcement!

OPENING OF BELLEFONTE'S
NEW CASH, NON-DELIVERY
Grocery Store,

SATURDAY, MAY 25, 1912
ON BISHOP STREET.

In these days of high prices the increased cost of living is the problem that confronts most people, and the Grocery Bill is the principal item to the housekeeper.

We have solved the grocery item and will show you how to cut that expense down almost one-third, by introducing a New CASH NON-DELIVERY STORE, in Bellefonte, which opens Saturday, May 25th.

HOW IT IS DONE:

CASH—We will sell only for cash—must have the money before goods leave the store. Therefore there will be no loss of bad accounts; there will be no book-keeper; and no large sums of money invested in slow accounts. All our capital will be in the stock in the store, and when you buy from us you don't help to pay the other fellows bills.

NON-DELIVERY—You buy your goods direct and carry them home with you. Therefore we have no teams to pay or feed; no delivery wagon to maintain, or drivers to pay every week. Here we cut off another heavy item of expense, which others must add to the price of their groceries.

LOW RENTS—Our store is located in the room formerly occupied by Roan's grocery, on Bishop street. Rents here are low, and there we save another large item, and the groceries are just as good as if they came from a marble palace on a front street.

OUR GUARANTEE.

For these reasons with only half the expense of other stores we will be able to sell groceries for less than any other store in Centre county. Because the expense of conducting our business will be greatly reduced. These are facts that will appeal to every sensible man or woman. They show that we can give you more for your money than any other store.

For the proof of the experiment come to the opening of the new store, Saturday next, May 25th, and see what we can do for you. If you are from Missouri, we can show you and want to show you that it will pay you to
