

BELLEFONTE AND VICINITY

THE LOCAL HAPPENINGS IN SHORT PARAGRAPHS

The Academy reception will be held in the Army on Friday evening. Miss Ella Waite left on Monday for a week's visit with relatives in Clearfield. Mrs. C. U. Hoffer, of Phillipsburg, is a visitor at the Gerberich home on Thomas street. L. T. Munson is rapidly convalescing from his operation and is able to be out this fine weather. A little daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Howard Best at the Bellefonte hospital on Saturday of last week. Hezekiah Dixon, old veteran and all-round good citizen of Milesburg, was among those who spent show day in Bellefonte. Mrs. C. U. Hoffer, of Phillipsburg, was an over Sunday guest at the home of her father, C. T. Gerberich, on Thomas street. Losh Kane, who is holding down a good railroad job at Osceola, was an arrival in Bellefonte on Tuesday for a visit with his mother and other relatives. Mrs. Harry Gehret and two children, Linn and Elizabeth departed on Saturday for a visit with the former's daughter, Mrs. Arthur Casperson, in Jamestown, N. Y. Next week the commencement exercises at State College will begin on Friday June 7th and continue to the 13th. It always proves a busy week for Bellefonte people. The Guild of the St. Johns Episcopal church will have a sale at Mr. Zeller's store of homemade bread and cakes, pies and candies on Saturday, June 1st, at 2 o'clock. Mrs. Annie Kurtz, of Berlin, Somerset county, is a guest at the Kurtz home on High street. She expects to attend commencement exercises at State College before returning home. Rev. C. C. Shuey, of Bellefonte, occupied the pulpit of the Methodist church at Beech Creek Sunday morning in the absence of the pastor, Rev. James E. Dunning, who was in Williamsport over Sunday. From the Tyrone Herald we learn that Andrew Knisely, who conducts a cafe and ice cream manufactory at that place, was attacked with a slight attack of appendicitis on Sunday. He is said to be improving. Mr. and Mrs. James A. McClain and child drove from Spangler, Pa., to Bellefonte on Saturday in their new Reo touring car, and remained over Sunday. They report the roads fairly good and never had a stop on the trip. One of the farmers lucky enough not to be caught by the late spring, was J. L. Shuey, on Bellefonte R. 2, finishing up last week, on all crops covering seventy acres. Of course he would be ready for the show on Tuesday last. Rev. John Hewitt, Geo. T. Bush, Theodore Cherry, Charles Menach and A. C. Mingle, the latter three accompanied by their wives, are attending the fifty-ninth annual Pennsylvania state convocation of Knights Templar at Gettysburg this week. Academy Notes: Admission to the Academy assembly of the Army will be $2. Game of ball on Friday afternoon at 2 p. m. with University of Pittsburgh; Saturday afternoon at 2 p. m. with Juniata College. Track meet at 2 p. m. Thursday. About twenty members of the Altoona Motor Cycle club made a run to Bellefonte on Sunday, taking dinner at this place and returning home in the evening. The weather was deal, the roads in good condition and the boys enjoyed their trip immensely. Lloyd Wilson, of Bellefonte, was recently appointed manager of the Western Union Telegraph office at Tyrone. He temporarily filled the office for some time last fall, and his services proved so satisfactory that the position was offered him permanently. On Friday last Irvin the five-year-old son of Curtis Taylor, of Water street, threw a stone at Paul Miller, aged two, son of N. A. Miller, and seriously wounded him on the forehead and over the right eye. Dr. Dale was called in to dress the wounds. While the scenic is giving a good program of pictures every evening, yet the manager is constantly on the alert for new features. The next of this kind will be "The Lady of the Lake," in three reels, and said to be a magnificent production. The date will be announced shortly. A delightful dutch luncheon was given by the employees of the City Steam Laundry at the home of the proprietor, Frank Kern, on north Water street, last Friday evening. The event was held in honor of Miss Lizzie Kern, who has been staying in Bellefonte for some time. S. Clay Whitmer, farmer in Benner township, was in town the other day trying to buy a horse collar, but failed. He had the price, and there were plenty of collars, but none large enough for him. He has a 4-year-old dark bay Englishshire horse that weighs 1800 pounds that was raised by him and takes what is known as a 30-inch collar, a size that is seldom carried in stock. That certainly is some horse. Tuesday evening as L. C. Musser was turning from Water street on to the new High street bridge in his touring car the rear left wheel broke and the car dropped. Mr. Musser fortunately was driving at a very slow pace in making the turn and for that reason no further damage was done to the car or those in it than a severe jolt. An examination of the axle revealed an old fracture, that may have been in the axle when it was originally made. The public is cordially invited to join the Women's Auxiliary of the Bellefonte hospital in making the benefit which is to be given in the Army, Thursday evening June 6th, a social and financial success. There will be games of auction bridge, five hundred, euchre, flinch and a checker contest. The doors will open at 8 o'clock and all the games will begin at 8:30 sharp. No prizes will be given but the highest score in each game will be announced at the end of the evening. The Dutch Kitchen will be open from 8 o'clock on and lemonade, hot coffee, cake, ice cream cones, cheese, crackers, pickles and iced buttermilk will be served by those in charge for the small sum of 5 cents an order. The proceeds will be devoted to the household supplies which the hospital is greatly in need of at the present time. Admission 50 cents.

Clement Dale, Esq., will deliver the Memorial address at Boalsburg this afternoon. S. D. Gettlig, Esq., will deliver the Memorial Day oration at Rebersburg this afternoon. Contractor Taylor expects to commence the street paving at the Bush House this coming week. Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Livingstone and little child, of Sunbury, are visiting friends and relatives in Bellefonte. Edward Swiler, of Lock Haven, was greeting friends in Bellefonte, his former place of residence on Tuesday. The House of Lords, on Nittany mountain, will be open this week. A wagon load of supplies was sent up there on Wednesday. Doctors Ball and Wellerman, of Lock Haven, were in Bellefonte on Monday and attended an operation at the Bellefonte hospital. The Women's Auxiliary of the Young Men's Christian Association will meet in the Y. M. C. A. building Monday evening, June 3, at 8 o'clock. The third quarterly communion will be held in the United Brethren church Sunday morning and evening. All members are urged to be present at these services. For an evening of pleasure drop in the Lyric and see the fine programs they are showing. Four big reels of films every night for 5 cents. Have you ever heard of this being beaten? Recorder Francis Speer has fitted up cozier furnished quarters on the second floor of the building occupied by A. C. Smith, the tailor on High street, which he will occupy in bachelor style. While in town this week Editor Fred Dunham announced that it was his expectation to locate in California, Pa., for that reason he was trying to dispose of his property and the "Hustler" office at Howard. Geo. Knisely, the proprietor of the cigar store and pool room on Allegheny street, entered voluntary bankruptcy on Tuesday. Competition and dull times reduced the income of late and made this step necessary. A. A. Dale, Esq., left on Wednesday for Bradford City, Pa., where he is scheduled to make the Memorial Day address this afternoon. We venture to say that Bradford City citizens will be given a treat. Mrs. Miles Heaton returned to her home at Yarnell on Monday after spending a week or more with relatives in Bellefonte. Her daughter, Miss Luccetta, came to Bellefonte on Monday and will remain a week among friends. Mrs. Henry Hicklen will depart today for Lutherville, Md., to witness the graduation of her daughter, Mary, at the Lutherville College for Women. Mr. Hicklen will go down on Saturday and accompany his wife and daughter home. Saturday morning a Hungarian, employed at the quarry of the Chemical Lime Co., Buffalo Run, was crushed to death by a fall of rock, shortly after starting to work. His remains were interred in the Catholic cemetery on Wednesday morning. L. H. Musser, the implement man, has booked orders for auto-delivery wagons for Shuey's grocery. Doll's bakery, and an auto-back for the International Harvester Co. He also has orders for several trucks at State College. A. J. Stover, of Coburn, accompanied by his three sons, Ammon A., Warren F. and William F., passed through Bellefonte on Tuesday enroute for the west. They expect to spend a month visiting in South Dakota and on their return will stop off for a short time with friends in Michigan. Orvis Lee, of Zion, was brought to the Bellefonte hospital on Tuesday for treatment for an injury received from the kick of a horse. The animal was an unbroken colt and while Mr. Lee was working around it on Sunday, it became unruly and kicked him in the stomach. The injury is a severe one. Furniture prices haven't dropped at Brachbills, but there is enough in the home of Charles, the junior member of the firm, to account for any odd procedure that might occur. A ten-pound baby boy, Charles Brachbill recently—and that's an excellent reason for rejoicing. A. W. Lee and party, of J. W. Wrigley and party, arrived in town yesterday at noon, being on their way from Philadelphia to their homes in Clearfield. They had been to the city for their purchases and enjoyed the pleasure of a trip up the state which was accomplished without any mishap. The members of Gregg Post, accompanied by the Sons of Veterans, attended the morning services at the United Brethren church on Sunday, when the annual memorial sermon was delivered by Rev. Winey. The interior of the church was handsomely draped with American flags and a large and appreciative congregation was present. Malcom Mitchell spent several days of this week in Bellefonte at the home of his father, Isaac Mitchell. Several years ago the young man left here and accepted a position with the Chalmers Automobile Company, at Detroit, where he has been advanced right along until he now holds a very good position with the firm as a service man. It is his work to travel over the country to the different agencies and look after the interests of the company. At present he anticipates orders to leave for Miami, Florida. While Bellefonte cannot afford a boom with attending high wages, it is always a pleasure to learn of citizens prospering in other places. Several weeks ago Theodore Haupt and his two sons, Herbert and Albert, went to Akron, Ohio, where they at once secured employment at bricklaying. A letter from Mr. Haupt this week states that he and his boys are constantly employed at 60 cents per hour, and make ten hours every day. They are greatly pleased with the city and its people, and enthusiastically dwell upon the fact of Akron being the laboring man's paradise, as the lowest price paid for unskilled labor is $2 per day, while good mechanics can command treble these prices. William Haupt, brother of Theodore, is also a resident of Akron, having been there for some time. He is contracting and piling up gold dollars daily.

DANGEROUS HOUSES.

Seven years ago, a family moved into a certain house in Philadelphia. Every member of it was, apparently, in the best of health. Since then, three of the children have died of tuberculosis. Another is sick of the disease. Investigation shows that a consumptive had lived in the house previously. Scores of cases are happening in the city. Cases from a consumptive are scattered through the house until it is filled with the disease. A new family occupies it and is stricken with tuberculosis. Therefore, don't move into a house until you have found out who occupied it before. If a consumptive or any person suffering from a contagious disease lived there, have your Board of Health fumigate the house. Scrub the floors with soap and water. Insist that your landlord repaper the walls. If he won't do it, do it yourself. It is better to spend a little money in killing germs than to pay hospital bills later. No matter who has before lived in the house into which you are moving, it never does harm to have the house fumigated, to replace old wall paper with new and to cleanse with soap and water everything that can be scrubbed. A germless house means a healthy home.

MARRIAGES.

Cori—Martz. Grover Cleveland Cori and Miss Bessie M. Martz were married by Rev. W. K. Harnish at the Presbyterian parsonage, Leontis, Tuesday evening at 7:30. The marriage was quite a surprise to their many friends. Adams—Meyers. Last Thursday evening at 7:30 Robert Adams and Miss Clair Meyers were united in marriage by Rev. Runyan at Stormstown. The bride is a daughter of Joseph S. Meyers, of Gettysburg. They will reside in Altoona. Pyle—Paul. Alfred L. Pyle, of Lock Haven, and Ethel Paul, of Terre Haute, Ind., were married at the parsonage of the United Brethren church, in Bellefonte, on Wednesday morning, by the pastor, Rev. C. W. Winey. The wedded couple departed the same day for Lock Haven. Haupt—Marshall. Fred I. Haupt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Haupt, of Bellefonte, and Miss Clara M. Marshall, of Centre Hall, were married in Williamsport on Thursday of last week. On Wednesday they departed for Akron, Ohio, where the groom expects to be employed with his father. Former Phillipsburg Woman Killed. Mrs. Mary Devine, seventy-eight, who resided with her daughter, Mrs. A. T. Crouse, at East Lane, Pa., fell down stairs early Monday morning and was killed instantly. She went to Kane from Phillipsburg less than a month ago. Members of the Crouse family were awakened by the noise of her fall, and when they reached her she was dead. Albert Stiver, of Port Matilda, was an over Sunday visitor at the home of Charles W. White at Beech Creek.

COST OF ARMAMENT.

The Awful Price Humanity Pays for War. The fear of war, consuming the homes of the rural and village populations of Germany, France, Great Britain and the United States in a single general conflagration, according to the bulletin on the school observance of peace day, which is soon to be issued for free distribution by the United States Bureau of Education. In discussing the cost of war, the bulletin says in part: "War debt begeth with the nineteenth century. Not until the establishment of constitutional government had nations any credit in the world of finance. The bond of a king was notoriously had security. Since 1800 the war debts of the nations have grown by leaps and bounds. That of Europe as a whole amounts to more than $26,000,000,000, bearing interest at the rate of $1,150,000,000 a year. All these "endless armies" and "ciphers" represent sums which have never been paid, will never be paid, can never be paid, so long as the goes of a system of national armament amount now to a tax upon the entire civilized nations go into the support of armies and navies. "The United States in splendid isolation from old entanglements, without an enemy in the world, and bound by blood and commerce to all civilized nations, spends 73 per cent of her income in this way. The civil or non-military expenditures of Europe are so small as to be negligible. "At the present rate of expenditure the four countries of Germany, France, Great Britain and the United States would in the next forty years, the life of the generation, for the support of armies and navies an amount sufficient to build 20,000,000 country and village houses at an average cost of $2,500 each. "With father, mother and four children in each of these houses they would furnish homes for 120,000,000 people which is more than the total present population of these four countries living in villages and the open country. Thus the fear of war is consuming the homes of the rural and village populations of these great nations in a single generation. "It is estimated that the total direct cost of the armies and navies of the world each year, in time of peace, is $2,500,000,000, which equals the total value of the wheat and corn crops of the whole of the United States. "The bureau of education's bulletin, which is entitled "Peace Day," contains suggestions and material for the observance in the public school of the occasion, which comes on May 18. The bulletin was compiled and in part written by Mrs. Fannie Fern Andrews, secretary of the American School Peace League.

TO TILL SOIL SCIENTIFICALLY.

Agricultural Education to be Inaugurated in Rural Schools. Immediate steps to inaugurate agricultural education in the rural schools of Pennsylvania will be taken by State Agricultural Experiment Station at the conference held in Harrisburg on Friday by representatives of the state grange and prominent educators and officials of the state government. The conference was arranged by the grange and Governor Tener presided at the morning session, assuming those present of his desire to do all possible to further agricultural education because of its importance to future generations and to carry out the provisions of a school code. The desire of the grangers that the teaching of agriculture be taken up at an early day was presented by William T. Creasy, Jerome J. Allman, Leonard Rhone and other prominent members of the organization and addressed warmly commending the idea were made by Professor Thomas F. Hunt, of State College, Mrs. Edith E. P. Smith, president of the Rural Progress League, J. H. Burket, of New York, and other authorities. State Superintendent of Public Instruction N. C. Schaeffer, agricultural expert L. H. Dennis and Professor J. George Becht, secretary of the state board of education, explained the manner in which the laws operate and expressed their interest in ascertaining the sentiment of the state. Following the addresses of the educators a resolution was passed requesting the state to establish agricultural education in all rural schools next fall and to draw up courses. Dr. Schaeffer expressed his cordial acquiescence in the request. The conference also endorsed the bills in congress for furtherance of agricultural industrial and domestic science education and extending aid to all schools below the grade of colleges which may take it up.

WOODWARD.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Kreamer visited at Allen Kreamer's, near Penn Hall, on last Monday. Miss Beesle Ettinger left for Menoness, Pa., on Tuesday morning. Leon Smith, of near Millheim, spent a few days with friends at this place. G. D. Motz and C. B. Musser transacted business in Millheim on Monday. Washington Camp, No. 357, P. O. S. of A. of this place, will observe Memorial services in honor of their departed numbers, on Saturday evening, June 15th. Everybody is cordially invited to be present. Mrs. A. B. Meyer, of Coburn, spent Sunday with friends at this place. You may have noticed that nearly all stand-pat politicians occupy comfortable seats. OVER THE COUNTY. The State College Supply Company are disposing of the balance of their unsold stock this week at auction. The Love-Jordan reunion will be held in Peru woods June 22. A cordial invitation is extended to all who care to attend. Hon. Frank G. Harris, who recently underwent an operation for cancer in Philadelphia, has returned to his home at Clearfield. He is getting along very nicely. Geo. McCaslin, a son of John McCaslin & McCoy's Iron Works, fell off the mow on Friday of last week and was seriously injured about the head. He is able to be about again. Frank Reese, who resides on Beech Creek, has recently been appointed fish warden for that locality and will give strict attention to all illegal fishing when he is apprised of the violation. The members of Black Oak U. B. church will hold a necktie and apron social at the home of G. W. Gates next Saturday evening, June 1st. Ice cream and cake will also be served. Proceeds for the benefit of the church. Everybody is cordially invited to attend.

FUR SKIN EXPERTS

A Subtle Sense of Color Guides Them in Judging Pelts.

HOW THE SKINS ARE DRESSED

An Alkali Bath Begins the Various Processes That Finally Produce the Soft and Pliable Finished Fur—Seal-skins the Hardest to Handle.

The chief requirement for success in grading fur skins is an accurate eye for color or, more valuable yet, an intuitive sense of color. The difference in value of the rarer varieties of fur skins, especially sables, natural black, silver and blue fox, sea otters, chinchillas, mink and some others, is so subtle that more than a practiced eye is necessary to judge accurately of the merits of individual skins. It is necessary that the color sense be highly developed.

The expert furrier must have, in addition to this, a thorough knowledge of the condition in which a skin should be to gain admittance into the highest class. A furrier must know by the appearance of the pelt whether it will turn out soft and strong after it has been dressed and whether the fur is in the best condition as regards strength and beauty.

A fur skin must, of course, be treated more carefully and by a different process from that followed by the tanner of hides. Tannic acid would ruin the pliability of a fur skin, weaken and discolor the hair. The furrier's process is designed to retain the natural oil of the pelt, which in turn preserves the color of the fur and keeps it soft and pliable. The first step in this process is accomplished by placing the skin in an alkali bath. After it has been softened in the bath the moisture is worked out of the skin with a blunt wooden instrument. Then the flesh side is drawn carefully back and forth over a straight edged knife, which removes any flesh that may be clinging to the pelt and also evens it off.

Specially prepared grease is rubbed into the skin for softening purposes, and the process is carried still further by placing the skin in a machine which is arranged to beat it softly until the grease has been entirely absorbed. A slowly revolving drum fitted with wooden paddles and containing fine hard sawdust, the kind of sawdust differing with the variety of fur, next takes charge of the pelt. A moderate degree of heat is supplied during this stage of the dressing. The skin is thoroughly cleaned of grease by this machine, and the dressing is completed by tapping the skin with smooth cones of a flexibility adapted to the strength of the fur on a leather cushion stuffed with horsehair. Often a skin will be changed in shape and made smaller by the dressing process.

Seal and beaver skins require much more careful handling than other furs. In the case of these skins the water hairs, which are the hard top hairs of the pelt, have to be removed by hand. This process is more difficult with seal than with beaver. A number of men, each a specialist in his part of the work, are kept employed in the work. After this part of the dressing process has been completed the fine under wool, which is wavy and pale drab in color, is dyed dark brown. Several coats of this dark brown dye are applied, and the final result is a fur which is lustrous black on top. The skin is then submitted to the cleaning process again, made of an even thickness by emery wheels and finally finished off in pale buff color.

The English dye for sealskin, which is considered the best, is a trade secret. Its principal ingredients are galls, copper dust, camphor and antimony. It is supposed that the water used for the dye in London has a great deal to do with the fine results obtained by the use of this dye. The natives of different countries, using their own processes, obtain better results with some skins than with others, but the American furriers are rapidly coming to the front in handling the various kinds of pelts.—New York Sun.

RECENT DEATHS.

McCLOSKEY.—William McCloskey, for many years a resident of Beech Creek township, died Friday at 7:15 p. m. at the home of his brother, Campbell D. McCloskey at Beech Creek, aged 55 years, 6 months and 9 days. His death was due to old age. For the past ten years he was totally blind. His nearest surviving relatives are two brothers, David McCloskey, of Romola, whose age is 93 years, and Campbell, mentioned above. His wife died some years ago. The deceased was helpless and required constant attention, being under the care of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kitchen, who occupy C. D. McCloskey's home with him. The deceased bore his great affliction with much fortitude. The funeral took place Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The services were conducted at the house by Rev. John R. Shaffer, pastor of the Methodist church of Mill Hall. Interment was made in the Clark cemetery.

The Snow Shoe Cornet Band presented their leader, Mr. Philip Zindell, with a fine silver plated, gold burnished cornet. The cornet cost $75 and is one of the finest that ever came to town and a thing of beauty. Mr. Zindell is highly pleased with the gift.
