

BELLEFONTE AND VICINITY

THE LOCAL HAPPENINGS IN SHORT PARAGRAPHS

—Mrs. Hiram Young, of Altoona, is visiting Bellefonte friends this week.

—J. M. Bunnell, the Phillipsburg music dealer, in Bellefonte this week transacting business.

—Thomas Howley this week succeeded Thomas Shaughnessy as assistant street commissioner in the borough.

—Lawrence McClure, employed in the railroad shops at Renovo, came down to spend Sunday with his parents and best lady friend.

—Miss Christina Matthews, musical instructor in Blairsville College, is spending the week at the home of Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Ward, on Curtin street.

—East Logan street residents had a near-burglar scare on Saturday night, but a careful search by the police failed to unearth any attempt at thieving.

—Rev. G. E. Hawes, of the Presbyterian church, left on Monday for Tyrone to attend the sessions of the HUDSON PRESBYTERY in that place this week.

—Charles Taylor, the hustling assistant in the Adams Express office, is now the father of one of the finest baby girls in town, the little Miss having been born to the happy parents early Tuesday morning.

—Tomorrow being Flag Day, the Elks club will observe it by holding appropriate services in the evening at 8 o'clock in the parlors of the home on High street. These exercises will be public, and anyone who so desires may attend.

—Make no engagements for Friday evening, June 21st, as that is the date set for the great feature production, "The Lady of the Lake" at the scenic, and you'll miss a treat if you fail to see it. Other good plays every evening.

—Dr. Dale is having a private garage built on the corner rear of his residence, corner High and Spring streets, this week. The structure will be of brick and concrete, affording a perfectly safe and convenient house for his auto.

—One week from Saturday, or June 22nd, the Home family reunion will be held at Penn, and the date should be kept in mind as there is a good time in store for everybody who will attend. Among those who will be there to enliven the occasion will be Prof. Geo. F. Biddle, of Philadelphia, and during the day he will make an address.

—Children's Day was appropriately and beautifully observed in the Methodist and United Brethren churches in this place on Sunday evening, and both edifices were crowded to the utmost with appreciative congregations. Next Sunday, both morning and evening, the Evangelical congregation will hold its annual children's services for which an interesting program has been prepared.

—Miss Celia Smoyer, who has been staying with her aunt, Mrs. Dora Rine, in this place, during the past school term, while attending the Bellefonte High school, returned this week to her home near Clarence to spend her vacation period. Miss Smoyer was one of the most studious scholars of this year's junior class, and in all things a young lady.

—Jas. W. Durr, physics instructor in the State School for the Blind at Austin, Texas, finished his duties for the term at that institution two weeks ago, and on Friday arrived in Bellefonte for a several months vacation. He will visit friends in Philadelphia, Berwick and other cities before the school term opens in September, and expects also to represent the faculty at a meeting of the teachers' association to be held in Pittsburgh within the next few weeks.

—William Walker, the "Cracker Jack King" after a successful week with the street carnival at Lock Haven, came home on Monday and in the afternoon added more laurels to his career as an expert juggler, by pulling a twenty-three-inch trout from Spring Creek, just below the falls near the Palace livery stable. The monster beauty was of the brown variety and weighed 4 pounds and 84 ounces. Mr. Walker packed the trout in ice and sent it to a friend in Reading.

—The condition of ex-Commissioner Daniel Heckman remains practically unchanged, although at times his mind clears up sufficiently to recognize his friends and relatives, with which he is afflicted has left him absolutely helpless, a condition from which relief is gravely doubtful. Elias Heckman, who recently became ill while in Bellefonte on a visit to his brother, Arthur, who resides in the Bellefonte hospital followed, is improving, and will leave that institution in a few days. It is his intention to start for his home in Illinois as soon as he recovers sufficiently.

—Last week a stranger, who professed to be in the moving picture business, dropped into Bellefonte, and upon leaving on Thursday took with him Harvey Hampton, the 14-year-old son of Stewart Hampton, of this place. It is said that the man offered the young Hampton fifty cents if he would accompany him to Centre Hall and help him bring his paraphernalia to Bellefonte. The boy accepted the offer and the last seen of the pair was on Thursday afternoon, while they were walking along the Lewisburg railroad toward the Nittany furnace. Later they were heard of in Lewis-ton, but no effort was made to detain them. Mr. Hampton is constantly exercised over his missing son, and the fact of the boy being but fourteen years of age, makes his enticing away a serious matter. The man is described as being past 50 years of age, has grey hair, and wore a blue suit of clothes.

—John Rhoads, the 15-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Rhoads, who reside in what is known as Fifth Avenue, at the extreme northern portion of the borough, met with a painful burning accident on Friday forenoon of last week. The father works on the Armor farm, and the boy in company with his little sister went on their way to him, carrying his dinner in a bucket. In passing the tin klins in Armor's Gap the wind carried the girls' hat to a wooden dump, where hot ashes were spilled, and the boy, not realizing the danger, ran to where the hat lay. Being without shoes, his bare feet were frightfully burned before he could get out of the predicament. He was carried to his home, and an examination revealed the pitiable fact that the soles of the little fellow's feet were actually burned to a crisp, from which portions of flesh dropped. It is rather a comfortingable, in spite of his painful experience.

—Miss Florence Lamb is a guest of the Misses Royer in Tyrone this week.

—Carpenter George Eberhart is in Tusseyville this week operating a summer kitchen for a resident of that town.

—Most of the stores in Bellefonte will close at 8 o'clock p. m., with the exception of Wednesdays and Saturdays, beginning with June 10th and extending until September 15th.

—George T. Hunter, after a pleasant visit of several weeks with his brother, Steele Hunter, in this place, departed this week for Williamsport to mingle among friends, before leaving for his home in Elkhart, Ind., next week.

—Mr. Henry Walkey's known ability to raise fine tomato plants led some sneak thief to help himself to a good supply from the former's hotbed at his Bishop street residence on Saturday night. The fellow, not only took the plants but enough soil with them to insure their continued growth.

—Deputy Sheriff Edward McKinley, of Millsburg, resigned his position on Saturday to engage in other work. Sheriff Lee has secured William Rowe to fill the position and he began work at his new job at the jail on Monday. Mr. Rowe, seven years ago was Deputy Recorder, and has some knowledge of legal forms and procedure and will soon be filling the position in an acceptable manner.

—John Zancal, an Austrian, who for some time past had been an inmate of the Mt. Alto sanitarium, died in that institution on Thursday and his fellow countrymen brought his body to Bellefonte for burial. The funeral was held on Monday morning, interment being made in the Catholic cemetery. Zancal was a member of the Austrian benevolent society that provides insurance for the relatives of all deceased members.

—Hon. Vance McCormick, of Harrisburg, arrived in Bellefonte on Sunday evening, and Monday morning was a brief caller at this office. As he was on his way to State College his stay in Bellefonte was short but a number of prominent Democrats took the occasion to give him a cordial greeting. Although a graduate of Yale College, Mr. McCormick is a member of the board of trustees of Penna State College, and takes an active interest in the success of the institution.

—Rev. C. W. Winey departed on Monday afternoon for Youngwood, Pa. to attend the convention of Allegheny branch Christian Endeavor of the United Brethren church, of which society he is president. This wing of the great army of christian workers extends from the Susquehanna river in the Ohio River, and embraces a large number of societies. The sessions of the convention will be held on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, and a large number of delegates are expected to be present.

—An example of how carefully a large plate glass, such as used in store windows, should be handled, was shown on Monday while workmen were putting a new glass in the show window of Meese's store. The large pane cracked from top to bottom and fell to the floor in several pieces. They are so heavy that the least twist while standing on edge will break them. In this case another glass was secured, and now both the Meese and Miller hardware store are sporting new lights where broken ones had been.

—The benefit reception for the Bellefonte hospital, given by the Ladies' Auxiliary of that institution, in the Armory last Thursday evening, was a success in every particular, about $118 having been realized. Admission tickets sold, and made by generous donations were made by prominent citizens, all of which is very encouraging to the ladies who have given much of their time in the past to the benefit of this institution. The members of the Auxiliary wish to publicly extend their thanks to all who in any way contributed to the success of the project.

—During the past week new concrete walks have been laid in front of the entire Bush House, McClain Block and the Republican office. A portion of the walk on north Water street was also torn up and the grade raised to conform with that of the bridge. The Bellefonte Electric Company has placed a new light at each corner of the bridge, and two in front of the Bush House, that are a decided improvement over the old system of arc lighting. Additional lights are being placed at the Adams Express corner, Republican office corner, and at the station platform, all of which will tend to give west High street an exceptionally handsome and modern appearance.

—On Saturday afternoon between 3 and 4 o'clock the house on Reservoir hill, occupied by Chas. Smith, the plumber, was destroyed by fire, with a slight loss to the contents, as nearly all the furniture was taken out by those who were early on the scene. The fire started on the second floor from an unknown cause, and owing to the high elevation in that portion of the town, water pressure was very low, entailing a delay that nearly cost the destruction of adjoining properties. In fact by the time the fire engines got to working, the house occupied by Frank Davis was already burning on the roof. Mr. Smith's loss on his household goods will be less than a hundred dollars, covered by insurance, while the property, owned by his father, Ezra Smith, was insured for $500, both policies being in the E. H. Titen agency. Mr. Smith has rented the Zimmerman property on east Lamb street and moved his household goods there.

Ritter—Rosier.
—Mr. Geo. A. Ritter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. and Elvina Ritter, of Colver, Pa., and Miss Mary Rosier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Rosier, of Patton, were united in marriage at the home of the bride's parents at 7:30 o'clock, Wednesday, June 5th, by Rev. C. H. Miller, of Carrolltown. They were attended by Miss Rosier Ritter, sister of groom, and Mrs. Elizabeth Bearer, of Carrolltown. The beautiful ring ceremony was used. After the wedding ceremony the happy couple departed for the home of the groom at Colver where a grand wedding supper awaited their arrival, and they then departed for a wedding trip to Chicago, and on returning will go to housekeeping in the new town as the groom is employed there by his father and holds a good position. The bride is a highly respected young lady of Patton.

WORK PROGRESSING ON NEW STATE ROAD OVER A HALF MILE COMPLETED BY THIS TIME.

SPLIT LOG DRAGS TO BE USED

On All Clay Roads Controlled by the State—Our Supervisors Should Sit up and Take Notice—Practical Demonstrations.

Work on the repairs to the state road leading from Bellefonte to Lock Haven is progressing nicely. Last week a force of men with a large steam road roller and teams begun at the eastern line of the work. They cut out all the breakers, cut out ditches on the sides of the road and then put on a crowning of crushed limestone which is thoroughly rolled down as usual.

Ex-Sheriff W. E. Hurley is in charge of this repair work, under the daily inspection and direction of Engineer W. D. Meyer, of the Highway Department. They are making good progress and everybody who passes along the road has words of approval over the manner the repairs are being made.

The heaviest work will be from here eastward through Spring township to the Walker township line. That portion has neither grade, foundation, or any conception of drainage it is filled with abominable breakers and ruts that for years made travel over that road distressing to man and beast.

Engineer John T. Gephart, of Clearfield, informs us that he will have men in charge of the various state roads over the county as soon as the appointments can be made. In speaking of split log drags he says they have ordered a large number for use wherever they have clay or earth roads. The longest stretch of such roads will be found throughout the Bald Eagle valley, and that will give a splendid opportunity to demonstrate the merits of this modern road building device of which so much has been said and claimed in recent years. Many supervisors throughout the county have hesitated to adopt this method for the reason that they really do not believe, and are slow to adopt new methods.

For this reason we are glad to see that the State Highway Department will put the drag to the practical test at many points in the county and then the results will speak for themselves.

We have urged for several years past the advantage of the split log drag, and especially through the Bald Eagle valley. Now we are assured that the test will be made under the direction of skillful road makers. We therefore appeal to the many supervisors in Centre county to note this fact and from the results that will be attained they will see for themselves if it is a good thing.

MARRIAGES.

Zerby—Nevill.

At the bride's residence, at Colyer, Sunday evening, June 9th: Mr. John M. Zerby and Miss Ida M. Nevill, both popular and respectable young people of Colyer, were united in holy matrimony, by Rev. O. G. Martin, of Spring Mills.

Searfoss—Sutcliffe.

Wednesday morning 5th, at nine o'clock in the Saint Paul's Methodist Episcopal church, F. Raymond Searfoss, of Dallas, and Miss Addie E. Sutcliffe, of Lehigh, were united in matrimony by Rev. J. McKendree Reiley. Mr. Searfoss has just completed a two years special agricultural course at Penn State.

Schooner—Spaeder.

Miss Marie Lurana Schooner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Schooner, and Dr. Philip J. Spaeder, a practicing physician of York, Pa., were married in Philadelphia Thursday, June 6. The ceremony was performed by Monsignor Caranau, of Philadelphia. Dr. and Mrs. Spaeder will reside in York.

Reed—Bottorf.

Wednesday evening at 5 o'clock Rev. Robert Reed, and Miss Ruth A. Bottorf were married at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Jacob Bottorf, at Lemont, Pa., the Rev. Stonecypher officiating, assisted by Rev. Barnish of Lemont. The ceremony was a quiet affair, and was attended only by a few of the immediate relatives and friends of the contracting parties. Rev. Reed for sometime filled the position of chaplain at St. College, having been an instructor in one of the departments of the university. A native of College township, and for some years past was connected with the seminary of Bucknell University at Lewisburg, where she was an instructor in the musical department. Later she accepted a similar position at State College where the acquaintance was formed that ripened into the present nuptial event. They will likely remain at State College during the coming year. Both are popular young people and have many friends who join in extending congratulations.

BITUMINOUS COAL.

The Daily Phillipsburg Journal gathered these facts from one of the best versed men in this section of the state, and are little bits of history worth putting in your scrap book:

First Coal Located Near Phillipsburg.
The first coal of which any record can be found in this section was at the head of Knight's run, near the head of the dam where the Morrisdale Coal company gets its water supply. It was carried away in sacks, and used in blacksmith shops.

The first coal shipped out of Clearfield county was near Coalport. It was taken down the Clearfield creek and Susquehanna river in an ark. The ark was manned by gentlemen named Stone and Owen, and a woman. A courtship was struck up between Stone and the woman, and as soon as the ark landed they were married.

The first bituminous coal in the United States from which a chemical analysis was made is believed to have been taken from the old mine that afterwards became Victor, No. 3, on the old Reece homestead a short distance west of Phillipsburg, about the year 1834. It was sent by Mr. Bagnshaw and Hardman, Phillips to Switzerland, and six months expired before it was heard from.

The first coke that we have any account of was at Karthaus, Clearfield county. It was made to be used at the iron works at Karthaus. This furnace was built by Stephen Karthaus, a native of Baltimore in 1820. The plant was managed with success for a number of years, when it was sold to a syndicate in 1863 for $80,000. The works were suspended in 1860 on account of hard times. The coke was made from the coal at Karthaus.

The Scrap Book

Hard Hunting.
Frederick Glahe of Chicago, the originator of the free lunch, was once talking to a reporter about new ideas. "They are always misunderstood," he said. "Take hair singeing for example. I was sitting in a barber shop one afternoon at the time when hair singeing first came out, and a middle aged chap with a thin, sparse thatch was having a singe at the hands of the head barber. Two laboring men sat and watched the singe for a while with awed eyes. The burning taper passed to and fro across the thin, scant crop of hair, and the laboring men couldn't understand it at all. But finally one of them brightened up and, putting his big, rough hand to the side of his mouth, he whispered to his companion hoarsely: "He's lookin' for 'em with a light!"

What is Good?
"What is the real good?" I asked in musing mood. Order, said the law court; Knowledge, said the school; Truth, said the wise man; Pleasure, said the fool; Love, said the maiden; Beauty, said the page; Freedom, said the dreamer; Home, said the sage; Fame, said the soldier; Equity, the seer. Spake my heart full sadly, "The answer is not here." Then within my bosom Softly this I heard: "Each heart holds the secret Kindness is the word." —John Boyle O'Reilly.

Followed Her Mistress.
The bride had engaged Sarah, who had been only a week in America, as a housemaid. On her first day her mistress said: "Now, Sarah, I will go over the house with you and show you exactly what you are to do." The bride then kissed her husband and went over her rounds of instruction with the new girl.

The next morning as the bride and her husband were sitting at breakfast the young wife was horrified to see Sarah enter and, blushing furiously, go up to the young man, throw her arms about him and give him a hearty kiss.

His Mild Penalty.
Representative Bell of Georgia was showing a rural constituent about the capitol, and among other places took him into the supreme court room. "I think we have too many courts," remarked the constituent. "I know what I'm talking about, too, because I happen to be a judge myself—that is, a justice of the peace. Year before last I had a fellow before me for snatching a pocketbook from a helpless girl, and I gave him such a sentence as he deserved, but danged if one of the higher courts didn't undo it all."

"What was your sentence?" inquired Bell.

"I sentenced the blamed cur to be hung," replied the visitor.

She Saw the Joke.
Mrs. Helen Hambridge, the writer, has an English friend who is "a perfectly dear girl," but has no more sense of humor than a clock. Mrs. Hambridge tried some humor on her the other day, but never a smile came.

"Then," said Mrs. Hambridge, "I told her an anecdote.

"Of course," I said, "you have heard the old story of the girl from Iceland who was sent to a Harlem flat by an employment agent to do the housework. The mistress asked her to state her accomplishments: She could not cook, it seemed, nor wash dishes, nor do the weekly wash, nor make beds, nor sweep, nor dust.

"Then what in the world can you do?" asked the exasperated housewife.

"Well," said the girl shyly, "my skoll milk can reindeer."

"My English friend looked at me solemnly. I laughed a little at a perfectly ladylike way just to show her that it was really a funny story. So she relaxed.

"Isn't it odd," said she, "what fun they make of Harlem?" —Herbert Corey in Cincinnati Times-Star.

Keeping Up Appearances.
A typical aristocrat was the first Marquis of Abercorn. He died in 1818, but is still revered in Ulster under the name of "The Old Marquis." This admirable nobleman always went out shooting in his blue ribbon and required his housemaids to wear white lid gloves when they made his bed. Miss Fore married his first cousin, Miss Cecil Hamilton, he induced the prince regent to confer on her the titular rank of a earl's daughter, that he might not marry beneath his position, and when he discovered she contemplated eloping he sent a message begging her to take the family coach, as it ought never to be said that Lady Abercorn left her husband's roof in a huff chase. "Collections and Recollections."

ROCKEFELLER'S WEALTH.

Some newspaper statistician or precursor has followed John D. Rockefeller's track long enough to figure out that eminent philanthropist's personal fortune now amounts to the tidy sum of $500,000,000. This stupendous exhibit reduces Andrew Carnegie to modest and democratic proportions by contrast. Obviously it is hopeless for Mr. Rockefeller to attempt to escape from the disgrace of dying rich. It will require double-time work in 12-hour shifts to prevent himself from becoming a billionaire. There has been an appreciation in market values of his oil securities amounting to $180,000,000 since the Supreme Court ordered him and his associates to disinvest and compete with each other. He has an income estimated at $5,000,000 a month. The coin comes trickling into his pocket at the rate of $140 a minute. Literally he has a coddles of money.

To be rich beyond dreams of avarice and to be Rockefeller mean exactly the same thing. But with all his wealth he is unable to restore a single hair to his bald head or to purchase a memory that is usable on the witness stand, and he cannot afford to eat oysters because prices are too high. The secret of Mr. Rockefeller's success at laying by something for a rainy day lies in the fact that he never allowed the hook worm to bite either him or his money.
