

BELLEFONTE AND VICINITY

THE LOCAL HAPPENINGS IN SHORT PARAGRAPHS

—Frank Crowthwaite, of State College, was a visitor in Bellefonte on Tuesday.

—Dr. Edward Harris, of Snow Shoe, was looking up friends in Bellefonte this week.

—John Mulberger and Philip Gorman, of this place, are visiting their aunt, Mrs. Margaret Fasic, in Williamsport.

—During Rev. A. F. Weaver's absence from Bellefonte on Sunday, Rev. C. C. Shuey very ably filled the Evangelical pulpit in the evening.

—Cherries and huckleberries are now the luxury of the hour. Water-melons and cantaloupes are with us but are yet a little high in price.

—Miss Beltz, superintendent at the Bellefonte hospital, left on Monday morning for Harrisburg, to transact business that may necessitate several days' absence.

—Mrs. Sarah Shook, accompanied by her daughter, Mrs. William Shope and child, departed on Monday afternoon for a visit with another daughter, Mrs. L. R. Poorman, at Huntingdon.

—Nissley Whitman, a student at State College, who was operated upon recently for appendicitis at the Bellefonte hospital, was taken by his father to his home at Steelton, Pa., on Monday.

—Miss Artie Keller, a graduate of the Bellefonte hospital nursing school, who has been employed at a profession in Bellevue, O., for the past year, is visiting friends in Bellefonte and Madisonburg.

—G. A. Witherite, of Clarence, came into our office on Tuesday morning in Queen-of-the-May style, bearing us a large bouquet of laurel flowers, which he had gathered at his home. Many thanks are due Mr. Witherite for his thoughtfulness.

—Fruit and canned season is here, the time that you need lots of sugar; you can buy it at the Cash Non-Delivery grocery store in twenty-five pound bags at 54c per pound and in a hundred pounds for $5.45; all other groceries at the same low prices.

—All children of the public schools who are to take part in the respective scarf, Japanese, flag, dumbbell and hoop drills and the Gypsy song and chorus, on Independence Day, are requested to meet at the High School building on Saturday morning at 10 o'clock and bring their material with them.

The Williamsport News says that an auto containing a party of Bellefonte men collided with a horse and buggy driven by George McCaslin, on the Montoursville State road, last Wednesday night, badly injuring the horse. We have not learned the names of the autoists who were responsible for the accident.

—"I want to pay my papa's subscription," was the way little Miss Ethel Hettiker, of Spring Mills, greeted the office force on Monday, and the smile which accompanied the request would have won for her almost any demand. Miss Ethel was accompanied by her aunt, Miss Edna Duck, of St. Louis, who is visiting relatives in Spring Mills at present.

—Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Adams, of Flemington, were Bellefonte visitors on Saturday, and incidentally gave the Democrat a call. About five weeks ago Mr. Adams suffered a stroke of paralysis that has left him incapable of working at his trade of shoemaking. However, he is able to walk out and enjoy the fine weather, which is at least a small ray of sunshine through his cloud of adversity.

—As the Fourth of July approaches it should be kept in mind that the tetanus antitoxin station for Centre county is located in Bellefonte at Green's Pharmacy. This lock-jaw remedy will be furnished without cost by the State Department of Health, and any physician can secure 1500 units free upon applying at a distributing station and certifying that it is for the treatment of persons too poor to pay. Those who encounter accidents from explosives should take no chances in receiving prompt treatment with anti toxin.

—Joshua Folk last week effected the removal of a large tree from the premises of J. C. Newcomer, on Curtin street, that was supposed to be one of the oldest landmarks in town. It was an immense red oak, 75 feet high and 4 feet across the trunk. It is known to be at least 150 years old, and at one time stood as a line tree between the Armor estate and boro property. Mr. Folk superintended the felling and removal of this monster oak, and it was due to his expert knowledge of the kind of work that it was accomplished without a scratch to adjoining property, although it stood within six feet of the house.

—Edward Justice, of Rockwood, Pa., employed as a brakeman on the Pennsylvania railroad, is spending a few weeks with his father, Lowery Justice, at Coleville. Edward had an experience a few weeks ago that came within an acre of putting him on the retired list. If we are pardoned for relating it, it goes something like this: One evening, several weeks ago, on returning from his run, Mr. Justice met a young lady near the station at Rockwood, who when he stopped to talk. Unknown to him there was a jealous suitor nearby, and without warning he drew a stiletto and made a savage thrust at Mr. Justice, that grazed his neck, and came within an inch of cutting a vital artery. It was a close call for Edward, and one that he would not like to experience again.

—John Pitchard and John Banko, two foreigners employed at a quarrel at the latter's boarding house on Sunday evening, during which the former received a smash on the head with a mallet that would have killed an ordinary man. Constable William Irvin at once arrested the belligerents and brought them to jail where they remained until given a hearing before Squire Brown on Monday morning. The injured man boarded with Pitchard, and stated that the quarrel started over the manner in which he handled a baby, who was also a member of the household. Banko claimed to have been sitting in a chair when Pitchard struck him on the head with a heavy mallet, knocking him down and striking him a second time. The man's wounds were corroborated by the story of being assailed, and presented a split scalp that required many stitches to close. However, they both were found guilty of fighting, and were discharged by paying a fine of $10 each.

tioned, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hunter and Bellefonte and Mrs. J. D. Hunter, of a number of neighboring friends. There is one event that Captain Hunter takes great delight in, and that is commencement at State College. Mr. Hunter has attended every commencement since that institution was first established.

—The friends of Daniel Heckman will be glad to hear that a steady improvement in his condition during the past few weeks. A part of the time he is able to walk out in the fresh air, which he keenly enjoys. Elias Heckman is slowly recovering from his recent illness, but not sufficiently yet, as to venture a journey to his home in Illinois.

PLATTS.—A general feeling of sorrow followed the announcement on Thursday afternoon of the sudden and untimely death of Rev. J. Allison Platts, which occurred at his home in Wilkesburg about 1:30 in the afternoon of the same day. His demise was caused by pneumonia after a week's illness. Rev. Platts was aged about 45 years, and was one of the best known pastors in the Presbyterian ministry. During his pastorate in Bellefonte, he had won the highest respect of the community, not alone by his scholarly attainments, but by his deep, sympathetic understanding of his fellowmen. Mr. Platts was born in New Market, N. J., and was educated in Alfred University, New York. He entered the Baptist ministry, serving for seven years, and left to enter the ranks of the Presbyterian clergy. Foreigners in Fight at Salona.
The usual peace and quietude of Salona was disturbed Sunday afternoon by a group of Italian laborers employed at the stone quarries there, who after imbibing freely of lager beer, with which they were liberally supplied, began to quarrel. Beer bottles and an axe were brought into use by some of the participants, with the result that one of the number had the flesh on his cheek and chin laid open, and he had to seek the services of a physician. Another of the belligerents was also cut and bruised. Five of the gang were arrested and given a hearing before Squire Peters at Mill Hill, on the charge of disorderly conduct and disturbing the peace. After experiencing some difficulty in sifting out the facts in the case, the Squire imposed a fine of $10 each and costs on three of the prisoners, while all were compelled to give a bond to be good and keep the peace for a term of one year.
