EDITORIAL.

The nomination of Wilson has made Pennsylvania a debatable state.

The open season is here to kill bull moose—and the woods are full of them.

The Democratic donkey did not make an ass of itself at Baltimore. He fooled them that trip.

Fellows holding government positions have not been sleeping well since the Baltimore Convention.

The Prohibition national convention met last week and were unable to kick up a first class disturbance.

Standpatters resent the idea that Taft should withdraw, and Teddy says he is in the fight to the finish. It looks that way.

When an irresistible "Bull Moose" meets the immovable Republican "Elephant" it means that Woodrow Wilson will be the next president of the United States.

Woodrow Wilson has announced that he will not engage in traveling over the country as a candidate for the presidency. The dignity of the office forbids such methods. Score another for Woodrow.

It took a long time to drive out Lorimer the corrupt Illinois boss, who forced his way to the United States senate. Lorimer was unfortunate in being caught. There are others tarred with the same stick.

Dr. Wiley has announced that he will support Wilson, because he believes that Taft was hostile to his pure food crusade. Dr. Wiley has many ardent followers over the country, who have the utmost confidence in his ability and integrity.

It was Wm. J. Bryan, the great commoner, who drove the trust magnates and the Wall Street financiers out of the councils of the Democratic party at Baltimore. As a result the party, the platform and its candidates especially are free of that taint.

It really sounds funny to hear our Republican friends concede the election of Woodrow Wilson so early in the game. The panic among the federal officeholders is already on and thousands of them will have to hustle later on to make an honest living.

Champ Clark lost the nomination for the presidency when he hesitated to do his duty. When he sacrificed a great principle in the hope of winning powerful influence, he lost. Let this example be a warning to others. It does not pay to compromise yourself in politics.

This congressional district will have a capable man this year for congress in Hon. James Gleason of DuBois. He is a stalwart young man of marked ability who has arisen from the ranks of the common people through the merit of his own efforts. He is an eloquent and forceful speaker and would attain distinction in congress.

Hon. James Gleason, of DuBois, the Democratic nominee for congress, and Hon. R. M. Foster, our nominee for assembly, were both in attendance at the Baltimore convention and both were zealously engaged in pleading the Wilson cause with other delegations. They were so enthusiastic for the Jersey candidate that they simply could not keep out of the skirmish. It was the Wilson fighters from Pennsylvania in and out of the delegation that saved the day, and all are deserving of their full share of credit.

Champ Clark and Owen Underwood have proven themselves worthy of public confidence. Both were prominent candidates for the presidential nomination before the Baltimore convention, and each personally was disappointed in his ambition by the nomination of Woodrow Wilson.

Neither of these men sulked in their tents because another was chosen. Instead, in the past week each paid the successful nominee a visit and pledged Gov. Wilson their heartiest support the coming campaign. It is the essence of Democracy to submit to the voice of the party when it has been fully ascertained. Let the example of Champ Clark and Owen Underwood be an inspiration for all loyal Democrats—not allow personal ambitions to interfere with the full performance of your duty. Stand by your convictions regardless of personal advancement.

A SOLDIER'S INQUIRY.

An old soldier residing at Blanchard, Pa., recently wrote us a letter in which he made the following inquiry:

"Editor Centre Democrat:—Will you kindly explain the reason why our congressman (Charles E. Patton) from this district did not vote on the Soldiers' Pension Bill? Please examine the paper I send you to see who voted for or against the bill. I am an old soldier and would like to hear from you through your paper. Yours Respectfully, D. D. K."

The copy of the paper sent us was the "National Tribune," published at Washington, D. C., May 16, 1912. It contains an extended article on the enactment of the recent McCumber-Sherwood pension law which will prove a god send to every old soldier, by a liberal increase in his allowance. When the bill was before congress it passed by a vote of 175 yeas, 57 nays with 151 members not voting. Among the list of "not voting" is the name of Charles E. Patton, our representative, of Curwensville, Clearfield county.

WON BY ONE.

(From the Valley Times, Neville). The progressives of the Democratic party crushed the reactionaries at the Baltimore Convention and great was the rejoicing among the honest and true Democrats. It was a fight to the finish by the plain people against the arrogant domination of Wall Street and Tammany Hall.

From a Democratic view, the political atmosphere is clarified and the men in blouses are justly encouraged because they are confident that victory will crown their efforts in November.

The people of Pennsylvania, without regard to party, are proud of the splendid courage and fighting qualities of the men who represented the Democratic party at the National Convention.

Recall the bitter warfare of 1911 by the progressive democrats to purify the party of its reactionaries. The Guffey-Hall-Dewalt et al. combination—the political brigands of the Democratic party—brought to the last ditch to control the actions of the state committee.

Recall the most important fact that the stand-patters lost the control by one vote—40 to 41. If Wall Street had known the importance of that one vote, what would it have given for it? That deciding vote marked a new era in the state democracy.

It was the beginning of a new chapter of tremendous import in the political affairs of the state and nation. It started a peaceful revolution, the influences of which no man can estimate.

That one vote made it possible to rehabilitate the Democratic party of Pennsylvania. It crushed the traitorous leaders.

That one vote made the progressive men the dominant factors in the Democratic party. That one vote sent to Baltimore 71 out of 76 national delegates to vote for Woodrow Wilson.

That one vote made Wilson the Democratic nominee for President of the United States. That one vote may be responsible for a Democratic President.

In that momentous contest for State control, Hon. Vance C. McCormick and Hon. A. Mitchell Palmer were the powerful dynamoes electrifying the faithful and sincere voters of the Democratic party.

It is now refreshing to recall that in the struggle to eliminate the bossed bosses and to restore the voice of the people in the party management, our Deputy-Protonotary, Clarence J. Weary, then the County Chairman, cast his vote for reorganization and progress.

A POLITICAL MIRACLE.

The nomination of Woodrow Wilson for president of the United States by the Democratic convention at Baltimore is a miracle of politics. Regardless of how much faith honest believers in popular government may have in the ability or the good intent of the Democratic party to restore the control of their government into the hands of the people, all should concede joyfully that a great victory has been won for popular rights.

The same influence which controlled the machinery of the Republican party and defeated the plain will of the voters also controlled the machinery of the Democratic party when the convention opened in Baltimore ten days ago. The same forces of special privilege which succeeded in robbing Roosevelt of a nomination by converting a majority of the legally elected delegates into a minority, through fraudulent manipulation, had planned adroitly to prevent the nomination of Governor Wilson by the Democrats.

But the structure built by the forces of special privilege to prevent the selection of Wilson, which, under ordinary conditions, would have withstood the required strain broke down under the weight of the people's protest, for the expression of which the deadlock provided time.

If the North American were obliged to choose between Governor Wilson, nominated under such conditions, and President Taft, renominated by larcenous methods this newspaper would be untrue to its principles and faithless to its duty to its readers if it did not give unqualified support to the candidacy of Governor Wilson.—The North American.

The Bellefonte friends of Miss Pauline Hayes, formerly of Milesburg but now of Spangler, will be glad to learn of the young lady's intention to attend the Lock Haven Normal the coming term, thus affording her opportunity to visit more numerously in this place.

ASSURE WILSON OF SUPPORT.

Calls on Democratic Candidate for President and Talks Over Situation. Oscar W. Underwood showed on Monday night he was a good loser when he came to congratulate the man who beat him for the presidential nomination and gave the information that a careful canvass of the Democratic electorate has shown that many States counted in the Republican column for years are debatable this year and may be won by the Democrats.

Governor Wilson was informed that representatives who have sounded out their own districts have reported that the outlook for carrying Ohio, Pennsylvania, the Dakotas, Indiana, Illinois and West Virginia is brighter than it has been for a decade.

After the conference Mr. Underwood said: "I think Governor Wilson is a great leader of men. He is a fine man. There is no doubt in my mind that he will be elected. After adjournment of the House I shall offer my services to the National committee."

Governor Wilson said: "I found him entirely charming. He has a singular frankness and charm about him. I do not know any man I have in a long time to whom I have taken such a fancy."

Mr. Underwood said in an interview that he believed the principal issue of the campaign would be the tariff. When told Mr. Underwood had made this statement, Mr. Wilson said he would agree that the tariff is the main issue.

"The Democratic party has never been more united or the Republican party more divided," Mr. Underwood said, and added that the third party movement would help the Democrats in Ohio.

WHAT A DIFFERENCE.

Speaker Clark, the most formidable of Mr. Wilson's opponents before the Democratic National convention, has called on his successful rival and shown in every way that he will do his utmost toward the success of the Democratic ticket. Mr. Clark was at one time within a stone's throw of the nomination, and the fact that he failed to land it must have been a bitter disappointment.

To have felt the loss of such a great power of expression, now he is only human. Contrast the action of the speaker with that of Colonel Roosevelt with that of Mr. Bryan, and again one sees the difference between one who is working for self aggrandizement.

Mr. Roosevelt, with a sublime regard for his own personal welfare, arrogates to himself all the greatness of a composite statesman of the history making figures of the world. The personal pronoun is the most important word in the language for him, and if that were suddenly eliminated Roosevelt would find himself stripped of the power of expression. Now he is claiming that the unseating of Lorimer was his work, forgetting that he was doing his habitual political protean act at the first trial, which was favorable to the Illinoisan. Roosevelt's third party clamor is merely for Roosevelt as an individual and not for any principle of political economy he represents.—Post.

STATE HEALTH DEPARTMENT.

Baby saving shows are being organized in numerous cities throughout the state. Carlisle is to have one which will open on the 17th, Wilkes-Barre on the 22nd, Erie and Pittsburgh soon after and others to follow.

This state wide movement to reduce the summer death toll among infants is being encouraged by Dr. Dixon, commissioner of health. The good work of the Philadelphia Baby Saving Show has aided in arousing the interest of the County Medical Societies, Public Health and Charity workers, Mothers' Clubs and Civic Organizations all over the state in this humanitarian movement.

11,000 infants under two years of age died in Pennsylvania last year from cholera infantum, 89 per cent. of these deaths were during the months of June, July, August, September and October. It is estimated that one-half of the deaths from this cause are preventable.

The education of the mothers is the primary necessity, and this is the work which the Baby Saving Shows are organized to accomplish.

A recent bulletin of the department of health entitled "How to Organize a Baby Saving Show" gives complete instructions for the formation of local committees, the division of the work and the raising of the necessary funds.

The state department of health will co-operate with any organization in town or village who will aid in this work of reducing the infant mortality. The department will furnish baby saving circulars in six languages, mottoes, charts, photographs and other necessary exhibits to such committees together with information telling how to get together interesting and instructive displays. A portion of the show must in each instance be assembled by the local workers as one of the important results is the stimulation of interest among the sociological workers in each town where a Baby Saving Show is held.

Special Trade Day. Wednesday was special trade day in Bellefonte, when all the leading merchants announced special sales on many lines of goods. The sale was exclusively announced in The Centre Democrat, and it brought buyers from all parts of the county. In the evening a number of the firms were interviewed and all expressed themselves as pleased with the effort.

Every firm made special inducements and in this way people were able to make a great variety of purchases at large reductions. All pronounced the special sale a success, although it was on a day when the weather was threatening, and in the midst of the harvest season when farmers are extremely busy outting their crops.

Later another special Trade Day will be announced through this paper.

Clinton County Grange Picnic. The annual picnic of the Granges of Clinton county under the auspices of Pomona Grange, No. 29, will be held at Agars park, Mill Hill, on Tuesday, August 6. Public addresses on Grange topics will be given in the auditorium by Rev. H. G. Teagarden, chairman of Pennsylvania State Grange, Piquette, and R. P. Kester, special Grange lecturer, of Cranberry, Pa. State Master Cressy has been invited and may be present. It is expected that all the Granges in Clinton county will be largely represented at this great picnic.

RECENT DEATHS.

SNELL:—Mrs. Joseph Snell, wife of a former resident of Bellefonte, died at her home in Binghamton, N. Y., on June 16th, following an illness of several weeks.

MYERS:—L. M. Myers, a well known citizen of Beech creek town, Clinton county, died last week, and interment was made in the Disciple church on Sunday afternoon. Deceased was ill about a year with diabetes, but had only been bedfast one week. He was aged 68 years, and is survived by six children.

GODARD:—John Godard, the oldest veteran residing in Ferguson township, died on Monday morning of last week, and his remains were laid to rest at Pennsylvania Furnace. He was born April 11, 1826, near Bedford, and served during the Civil war until the surrender of Lee. Mr. Godard was a member of the M. E. church, and was held in high esteem. His wife preceded him to the grave a number of years ago.

BOUSE:—Mrs. Elizabeth Bouse, an aged lady residing in Beech creek, Mrs. Green, at Howard, died on Friday morning after an extended illness with cancer of the stomach. Mrs. Bouse's former home was at Johnsonburg. She was a most excellent lady and a devout member of the Reformed church. Funeral services were conducted on Monday by Rev. E. F. Faust, and interment was made in the Cedar Hill cemetery.

CROSBY:—William Edgar Crosby, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Crosby, of Phillipsburg, died at Mercer, Pa. on June 27th, of blood poisoning caused by a blister upon his foot becoming infected from the dye in his stocking. He was not quite twenty years of age, and had graduated from Pennsylvania State College in the forestry course at the last commencement. Funeral services were held at the home of his parents on Saturday, June 29th.

WOLF:—Mrs. Susan Wolf, a native of Penna valley, died at her home in Phillipsburg on Tuesday morning, after several weeks' illness with a complication of diseases. Her age was 73 years, 3 months and 26 days. She was the daughter of Samuel and Sara Trump, who resided at Loganton for a great many years. Surviving is one son, W. Heber Wolf, her husband, William Wolf, having died about five years ago. She also leaves four brothers and one sister. The remains will be taken to Williamsport on Friday morning for burial.

RICHARDSON:—W. Frank Richardson, a native of Gregg township, who had recently been residing at New Square, Chester county, died in the West Chester hospital on July 4th, from injuries received by falling from the roof of his barn one month previous. He was nearly thirty-three years of age, and is survived by his wife, nee Sadie Boob, of Woodward, and two children. Also one sister, Mrs. Luther M. Royer, of near Spring Mills. The body of Mr. Richardson was taken to Spring Mills for interment, services being in charge of the Odd Fellows.

RUBLEY:—Joseph A. Rubley aged about 61 years, died at his home near Cold Stream on Saturday night, after an illness of thirteen weeks with valvular heart trouble. Deceased was born at Karthaus, and in 1878 was united in marriage with Miss Melissa Wilson, of Jullia, who survives, together with two daughters, namely: Mrs. William Mayer, of Kylverton, and Miss Wilmina at home. He also leaves two brothers and three sisters. Mr. Rubley followed lumbering practically all his life, and was engaged in the business in his early days, at Moshannon, leaving there twenty-five years ago and locating at Phillipsburg. The funeral was held on Tuesday afternoon, services being conducted by the pastor of the Church of Christ of which deceased was a member.

SHIRK:—Mrs. Mary E. Shirk, wife of Samuel Shirk, died at her home at the Forge on Friday, after an extended illness with a complication of diseases. She was born at Buffalo Run on September 13th, 1845, thus making her age at the time of her death, 66 years, 10 months and 1 day. For the past forty years deceased had been a member of the M. E. and Free Methodist churches, and lived her life consistently with the teachings of her Master. She is survived by her husband and the following children: Mrs. James Flack, of Bellefonte; Mrs. W. J. Swarmer, of Birdsboro; Jacob, of Portage; James C., of Cresson and Miss Lulu at home. Funeral services were held at the Forge church on Sunday forenoon at 10 o'clock, conducted by Rev. Stimer, the Free Methodist pastor. Interment was made in Sunnyside cemetery.

KUSTABORDER:—Thomas Kustaborder, aged eighty-six years, died at the home of his son-in-law, C. F. Shaw, at State College, on Saturday morning, June 29, of paralysis, after a several months' illness. He was the youngest son of Joseph and Anna Kustaborder, and was born near Bath, Pa., coming to Pine Grove Mills with his parents when quite young. He learned the trade of shoemaking, and later engaged in farming. About fifteen years ago he retired from active duties and moved to State College. He was married to Miss Lydia Moore, who died a number of years ago. Of their four children, two survive, namely: Daniel, of Warriors Mark, and Mrs. Shaw, of State College. Funeral services were conducted on Monday, July 1st, by Rev. Sasserman, and burial was made in the new cemetery at Pine Grove Mills.

IRVIN:—Death on Sunday morning last removed one of Bellefonte's oldest residents in the person of Mrs. Susan Irvin, whose demise occurred at her home in that place from ailments incident to her advanced years. She had been in failing health for some time, but deceased was born in Centre county on October 4, 1829, thus making her age almost 83 years. She had resided all her life in the vicinity where she died, and at all times enjoyed the highest esteem of her acquaintances. She was truly a devout Christian woman. Surviving her are the following children: William, of Huntingdon Furnace; Daniel, of near Bellefonte; Mrs. Laura Montz, of Franklinville; Mrs. Julia Gates, of Bellefonte; James, of Warriors Mark; Oscar G. and H. J., of Altoona. The funeral was held on Tuesday morning with interment at Bellefonte.

WYBLE:—James Wyble, one of Howard borough's oldest and well known citizens, died at his home at that place on Monday morning at 11:30, from a complication of ailments, chief among which was a stroke of paralysis. He was born at McVeytown on January 25, 1833, making him, therefore, 79 years, 6 months and 21 days old at time of death. January 21, 1869, he was united in marriage with Miss Margaret J. Butler, and to this union the following children survive: Mrs. George Longee, of Kermoor; Mrs. Adam McCason, of Monument; Mrs. Charles Stoner, of Columbus, Ohio, and Miss Jane at home. During the period of the Civil war Mr. Wyble volunteered his services for the preservation of the Union and became a member of Co. B, 49th Penna. Vol. Inf. In his later years deceased was a member of Grove Brothers' Post No. 262, of Howard. He was held in great respect by the citizens of his community, and his passing away will leave a feeling of regret among his many acquaintances. Funeral services will be held from his late home this afternoon at 2 o'clock, conducted by Rev. M. J. Snyder. Interment will be made in Howard cemetery.

CHADISTY:—Death on Monday morning at 4:20 relieved the suffering of Mrs. Elmira Chadisty, whose critical illness at the home of her sister, Mrs. Samuel McKinley, in this place, was noted in last week's issue. Deceased was born in Bellefonte, and was the daughter of the late Thomas and Mary Wilson. Her age at time of departing this life was 51 years, 10 months and 15 days. During her early life she was united in marriage with Edward Chadisty, and up until a few weeks ago had resided in Philadelphia. Her husband preceded her to the beyond about three years ago. For a long period Mrs. Chadisty had been a sufferer from an abscess of the stomach, and recently had been an inmate of a Philadelphia hospital. On the 26th of June her brother, James Wilson, went to that city and brought her to the home of her sister, Mrs. Samuel McKinley, in Bellefonte, where she remained until her death. She is survived by the above mentioned brother and sister, James H. Wilson and Mrs. Samuel McKinley, both of Bellefonte. Funeral services were held at the home of Mr. McKinley on Wednesday afternoon at 1 o'clock, conducted by Rev. Ash, of Milesburg.

Road Closed. The work of repairing the state road between Bellefonte and Zion has been greatly retarded by traffic. Grades are torn up and much work had to be done over. On account of these annoyances the stretch of road that is being repaired is roped off and travel diverted on other routes to and from Zion, until the same is ready for traffic.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry M. Myers, of State College, were entertained over Sunday by Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Bittner, at Beech Creek.

Anty Drudge posts Mrs. Youngbride. Mrs. Youngbride—"I tell you, Anty Drudge, my hands are not white and smooth like they were before I was married. I'm happy with Jack, but it's not so nice to do one's own housework. It's the putting them in hot water that makes them red and breaks the nails." Anty Drudge—"Quite true, my dear, and the way to remedy that is to use Fels-Naptha in cool or lukewarm water for all your housework—for washing dishes, windows, floors, all house-cleaning, and washing clothes. It will save your hands and the work will be much easier."

A soap that spoils hands and temper can't be good for clothes. You need a soap that won't hurt any one of the three! How many racking hours you've spent at the wash-tub! And while you were wearing away your strength, you were wearing out the clothes! That's the KILLING way of washing clothes. But now the Fels-Naptha soap way: Soap the clothes with Fels-Naptha, let them stand for 30 minutes in cool or lukewarm water. Rub lightly, rinse and hang out to dry. You'll find that Fels-Naptha soap has done the work. Try it next Monday. Best for colored clothes as for white things. Follow the simple directions on the red and green wrapper, and you will be convinced.
