HOWARD.

Fair is the soul, rare is the soul
Who has kept after youth is past,
All the art of the child, all the heart of the child,
Holding his faith at last.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Candy, of Tyrone, were home visitors between the Sunday trains.

Miss Myrtle Fletcher is spending the week with grandpa and grandma William Schenck.

Elmer Kling, of Altoona, visited his father, Joel Kling in Marion township over Sunday.

Robert Neff and wife, of Tyrone, with his brother William N. Neff, were home visitors over Sunday.

"The three Graces," Miss Hensyl, Mrs. Kurtz and Mrs. Weber, visited Lock Haven between trains, Tuesday.

Jere Bland and family enjoyed a visit from their daughter, Mrs. C. R. Haney and her husband, of Maryville.

Miss Mollie Yearick and Mrs. I. D. Jordan were week end guests of their uncle, Albert Smeltzer, at Pleasant Gap.

Mrs. Claude Johnson, formerly Miss Lucy Leathers, is a welcome guest in the families of her several brothers here.

Alfred Thompson, a business man of Snow Shoe, and local preacher in the M. E. church, was a week end visitor among his relatives here last Sabbath and preached for Rev. Snyder at the Fairview church, in the morning.

Thomas McKibbin Bowes is the name of a bright little youngster—very young—who arrived at the home of Charles and Katherine McKibbin Bowes, Tuesday, of last week, and "Charlie" is even more puffed up than usual over the arrival. It's the first, you know.

Rev. and Mrs. Faust loaded their household goods on the cars last Friday and Saturday, and on Monday took train for their future home at Saint Clair, Schuylkill county, a borough large enough to give Mr. Faust and his family greater advantage than they could have here. The best wishes of their many friends here go with them.

Mrs. Theopholus Fletcher, with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. William Smith, who sold their farm above town to the R. R. Co., for purposes of right of way, have secured their summer crops, have moved to the old mansion, connected with the Howard Furnace which was once owned and occupied by the late Hon. John Irvin of Bellefonte.

By some unknown means a train of loaded cars of the construction work at Mt. Eagle got away from the engine on Saturday, and got out onto the trestle work, which was built to sustain only empty ones. It gave way under the load and rolled five of the cars over on the sod beneath. The damage was repaired over Sunday, and the work proceeded as usual Monday.

It is gratifying to note a bit of good fortune which has fallen to the two young sons, Richard and Sheldon of Mrs. Charles H. Hoffman. Their father, deceased for some years, was a grand nephew of the late Senator Hoffman, of Atlantic City, a wealthy bachelor who recently died. In his will he remembered his nephew to the amount of ten thousand dollars, which comes directly to the fine little boys.

The Misses Albert Pabley and Mary Rhul, two of Philadelphia's bright young ladies, were the guests last Thursday of Mrs. Hoffman, with whom they have been spending a week or two, on a trip to our highly perched neighboring town of Snow Shoe. The young ladies greatly enjoyed the novel climb of the little train up the zig-zag track, the romantic little town, and the fine dinner served by our old friend, Mr. Reading, of the Mountain House.

The newly elected officers of the P. O. of A. are: President, Mrs. Fred S. Dunham; Asst. Pres., Lot. H. Neff; V. P. Miss Laura Williams; Asst. V. P. Mrs. Philip Ertle; Conductor, Miss Mollie Daughenbaugh; Asst. Con. Mrs. Hayes Schenck; Sentinel, Miss Emma Holter; Orator, Mrs. Arthur Youdes; Chaplain, Mrs. Viola Mastiga; Trustee, Arthur Youdes. The installation ceremonies were conducted by a team from the Flemington lodge composed of Mrs. Callahan, Miss High and Miss Dorman.

Mr. F. A. Field, the resident assistant engineer in charge of the railroad construction now in progress here has two fine young boys who were left motherless by the passing of Mrs. Field last winter, and the younger of whom is being cared for in this neighborhood by friends of Mr. Field. By the recent death of Henry Lundy, a Williamsport merchant, who was a great uncle of Mrs. Fields, her estate inherits the snug sum of $20,000 dollars, which of course, inures to these little boys. The good fortune of the little fellows is gratifying to the friends of Mr. Field.

The construction work on the new low grade track of the B. E. V. R. R. is making fine progress. The fill from the point of departure from the old track, at the rolling mill, through the old furnace meadows, to the school house is practically completed, and the cut which begins at that point has progressed through the A. M. Butler place, and the big machine is now rapidly eating its way through the yet deeper cut in the Burdine Butler farm. Dinky tracks have been laid over the summit on this farm, and trestles are erected over Canal St. and upon the Jackson Kilne farm, where the next fill begins. At the west end, where two smaller steam shovels and three dinky trains are at work, the cut at and above Mt. Eagle begins to look like the Erie canal, and the gravel and clay taken from it makes a small mountain of a fill almost across the Samuel Bower farm. The barn on the Theoph. Fletcher farm has been taken down, and the house will soon follow, to make way for the advance workers. A considerable force has been working for the past week on the grading of the new highway, beginning a little east of the old hay shed above town and working westward, past the Fletcher school house. Trees, bushes, fences and other obstructions have been removed and the new right of way fence has been erected along the greater portion of the line. All in all the progress making is very satisfactory.

A pretty sight it was when in the early brightness of last Sabbath morning, a well conditioned motorcycle, whose mellow and modest "chug, chug" gave evidence of the good care it receives, sped by, carrying a bright-faced young woman and young man whose countenance betokened at once his happiness and a sense of the responsibility which was also his. They were going eastward and the sun gave an added glint of gold to their faces. She was gracefully perched in front, on what seemed to be an improvised seat, and in the good old modest sidewise way, leaning between the arms which seemed to express their guardianship while they carefully held the helm. Who they were, whence they came and where they were bound, was of course, unknown. Early Monday morning, as though they might have enjoyed "a Sabbath well spent" with friends, and were hurrying back to their week of duty and service, they journeyed westward in the same comfortable, independent, enjoyable way. Whether they were young husband and wife, sweetheart and lover, brother and sister, or merely "chums," matters not; it was a pretty sight, and warmed the cockles of the benumbed old heart which the Howard letter carries until they tingle yet, and make him wish he was young again, and owned a motor bike, and had "that old sweetheart of mine" back from the swither shore to help him enjoy it. May their evident happiness be long unmarred.

Light on Luther's Death.—At an examination which took place at a young ladies' seminary recently one of the pupils was interrogated thus: "Did Martin Luther die a natural death?" "No," was the reply; "he was excommunicated by a bull."

Some fellows can't seem to enjoy a thing to the full unless they also get that way.

It isn't only paying the bills for shoes and hats that enables a man to make both ends meet.

REBERSBURG.

William Weaver wrote his wife that he and about twenty-seven others were injured in an accident in the works at Pitcairn. He is in the hospital and will come home as soon as he can leave.

On Monday evening Frank Waite made a very enjoyable birthday party at his residence commemorating the 50th birthday of his wife Clara and her twin sister Ella, daughters of Mary Jane Sholl. It was attended by a few invited guests besides the immediate family connection.

There is a good bit of talk in these valleys about abolishing the toll gates on the pike between Wallace Walker's and Coburn. The exactions now are 26 cents for a two horse outfit and 17 cents for one horse. The state is paying out millions of dollars for state roads, to accommodate tourists with gasoline wagons and yet here is a stretch of about six miles of pike which pays tribute to a private concern. The law provides a way to condemn turnpikes and make them a part of the public highway system. Let it be so done.

Land, air and water are the great sources of all wealth. Those who bank on land are safe. Any investment secured by old earth will stand as long as the earth does not pass away.

On Sunday some of our people attended the funeral of Mrs. Snyder, mother of Wesley Snyder at Greenburr. She was a mother in Israel, who had attained a great age.

Mrs. Robt. Kleckner Roush, of Reading, visited Sam'l. Shaffer and other friends in this vicinity.

Rev. W. W. Sholl is much pleased with his new charge at Duncannon, where his church will put in a new pipe organ.

John F. Potter, Esq., of Philadelphia, lingers affectionately among his friends in this valley.

Last Saturday our boys, the base ball team extraordinary, journeyed over to Hecla Park and added two more victories by defeating Zion and Rebersburg. The Zion team proved nothing more than pastime for it could do very little with Kidder's baffling curves, while our team smothered their pitcher with a fusillade of hits. Hecla, the team which has been quite victorious over their twenty-seven straight victories, was also very neatly disposed of by the usual brilliancy of our heavy hitters. Kidder again proved himself the hero of the contest. He struck out fourteen men and all that Hecla could muster off of his airtight whirling were two hits. His support was consistent, and the battling was timely. Our boys are to be commended for winning both games, and especially from the so-called Hecla team, which was composed of players from our central Pennsylvania.

Following are the scores: Rebersburg, 7; Zion, 0; Rebersburg, 3; Hecla, 2.

SMULLTON.
Mrs. Newton Brungart is laid up with a sore leg.

Mrs. Charles Smull is on the sick list.

Miss Emma Walizer, who sprained her arm a couple of weeks ago, is slowly improving.

Miss Fairie Granley, of Bellefonte, was visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clay Granley, on Monday.

Lydia Looze was spending a couple of days last week with her sister Fietta Meyer.

Earnest Harry, who was suffering with a sore foot, is improving.

Miss Florence Crouse, of Smullton, and Miss Mary Weber, of Rebersburg, were visiting at Adam Brungart's, the other Sunday at Livonia.

Mrs. Paulina Walizer, of Smullton, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Bertha Solt, at North Bend.

Amos Fehl and wife were visiting in Nittany.

Emma Walizer was visiting her sister, Jennie Confer, of Spring Mills. Homer Bierly, of Flemington, was seen in our town on Sunday; I wonder what the attraction was?

Hurray for Rebersburg baseball team, who went to Hecla Park on Saturday and beat Hecla, and also Bellefonte. Hurray! Hurray! for our boys.

FOUNTAIN.—Snow Shoe Twp.
Elmer Watson has at last gotten what he has been wishing for these many years. It was a rattlesnake large enough to make a belt. He is a rather stout man and you can imagine the snake was of a good size. When he found it, it was sitting on a stump, near the mill, playing a real nice tune on the wire of Buckeye's fence.

Huckleberry picking is all the go around here at present.

Albert Rowan and wife, of Snow Shoe, spent Sunday at Elmer Watson's.

Mr. and Mrs. Mat Conaway spent Sunday evening at the home of Mr. Bing, who has been on the sick list for some time, and is very poorly at this writing.

Therman Witherite, Herman Belghitol, and Margaret Kesling took in the festival over the hill on Saturday evening.

Those who spent Sunday at William Lauck's, at Butts, were: Their daughter Catherine, of Milesburg; Miss Sarah Lauck of Snow Shoe; David and Newton Lauck of near Runville.

Ellis Hazzard and friend Cevilla Bullock spent Sunday evening at Mrs. Nannie Watson's.

ZION.

Billy Smith has started threshing and the different kinds of grain are yielding well.

J. W. Eby, R. M. Homan and Mae Lesh were up to Boalsburg on Thursday attending the funeral of Mrs. Hoover, who was a sister of Mr. Homan.

Mrs. Robert Homan, who has not been enjoying very good health for some time, became very sick on Saturday evening. Dr. McCormick was called and was successful in bringing his patient around in good shape.

Services in the Lutheran and Reformed churches were well attended on Sunday.

Mrs. Wireback, of Pittsburg, who is a sister of Dr. Fisher, is spending the summer at the Dr's home in this place. We are sorry to say that the doctor is not getting any better.

Because of the threatening weather, there was no Christian Endeavor meeting on Sunday evening.

The Zion Union Sunday school picnic, which was held at Hecla Park on Saturday, was a grand success from start to finish. The weather was ideal and everybody enjoyed themselves very much.

The ball game that was scheduled to take place at the park on Saturday, between the married men and single men of this place, did not materialize.

Mrs. Sadie Emerick, of Spring Mills, is spending her two weeks' vacation with her two sisters, Mrs. Musser and Mrs. Shaffer.

Say Charley, that old hen of Domino's must be a crackerjack. If all the hens were as industrious as that one, the high cost of living would be solved without the induction of a third party. But then what would Teddy do?

The Bullmoose show, controlled by the big stick, will be in full swing on Aug. 5th, in the Windy City by windy politicians who are out of a job.

Oats are being put in shock this week; they are short in the straw, but pretty well filled.

Burning the candle at both ends proves that the game isn't worth the candle.
