SURVIVING VETERANS HOLD REUNIONS

LARGE GATHERINGS AT REBERS-BURG AND BOALSBURG.

WILLIAMS REUNION A SUCCESS

Survivors of Two Companies of 148th Regiment Meet at Different Places-Several Thousand People Present at Martha Furnace.

The survivors of Company A, 148th Regiment, Pennsylvania Volunteers, very fittingly celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of the day on which the company was sworn into the service of the United States, on Saturday last at Rebersburg. There were present and taking part in the celebration fifteen members of the Company, as follows: Lieutenant E. J. Burket, T. P. Meyer, Daniel Weaver, S. R. Gettig, M. Gilbert, George Corman, Henry Meyer, Charles Bierly, N. Boob, J. T. Corman, L. H. Fetterman, James Fullmer, Jesse Long, Samuel Strayer and Jacob Breckbill.

The day was an ideal one and early in the morning many people from all the neighboring towns began to gath-er in front of C. E. Long's hotel, where just fifty years ago the brave and stalwart sons of Penns valley had met with the common purpose of taking the oath of allegiance to their coun-By 10 o'clock an immense crowd had gathered who were anxiously awaiting the formation of the parade, which finally got under way in the following order: Millheim band, followed by the veterans, Sons of Vet-erans, Aaronsburg band, Odd Fellows, and the different Sunday schools of the town carrying flags together with automobiles, carriages, bicycles, etc. They marched over the main street counter-marched to the front of the hotel, where the roll of the original members was called and every man, living or dead, who at that time were sworn into the service, was ac-counted for. Col. H. S. Taylor, of Bellefonte, read the oath which the members of the Company had taken when they enlisted.

This done, all the soldiers and the crowd, which was very large, repaired to Smull's woods where dinner had been prepared. Many tables heavily laden, were spread in the beautiful grove where the cravings of the inner man were appeased in a satisfying manner. Several hours were then devoted to speech making. Col. H. S. Taylor, Hon. Ellis L. Orvis, Clement Dale, Esq. Thomas P. Meyer, a member of the Company, and D. F. Fortney, Esq., a member of the Regiment, each ad-dressed the people. The enforced ab-

Company "A" of 148th P. V. met in celebration of the 50 Anniversary of their being sworn into the service of the United States, with profound sorrow learn of the inability, by reason of illness, of their dearly beloved and much admired Colonel, James A. Beaver, to be present and take part in the ceremonies of the day. They more-over hope and pray that it will be the pleasure of his and our Heavenly Father in the plentitude of his mercies to restore our ever brave and heroic commander to health and strength, to his family, friends, and comrades, and extend to him our love and sympathy in his affliction. "Resolved-That the officers of the Association of the Company transmit a copy of this resolution to the Colonel of the Regiment." "HENRY MEYER, Pres." A game of base ball in the afternoon between Rebersburg and Centre Hall teams added to the pleasure of the crowd, and resulted in a victory for this provision shall not the general public, but the visitors by a score of 16 to 8. Those who did not care to witness the ball game spent the balance of the day renewing old associations and forming new acquaintances, and as the time for departing arrived everybody in common accord felt that it had been good to be there.

THE DEATH OF S. M. BELL.

Ends His Life Last Week While Temporarily Insane. The tragic death of Merchant S. M. Bell at Boalsburg last week has caused a general feeling of sorrow in that community and throughout the county for the unfortunate man and his vidow. Mr. Bell had apparently been suffering from despondency which finally led to temporary insanity and the subsequent taking of his own life by shooting. As was his custom, he arose early last Thursday morning and went to his place of business, returning home about seven o'clock. He immediately went to his bedroom and a few minutes later his wife was horrified to hear the report of a re-Upon hastening to the room volver.

she found her husband lying uncon-scious upon the floor, his hand clutching a thirty-eight calibre revolver with which he had shot himself through the head. A physician was hastily summoned but the unfortunate man died at 8:30 o'clock. Samuel Marks Bell was born January 22, 1855, at Swales, Juniata county, thus making his age about 58 years. He came to Boalsburg about twenty-five years ago and engaged in the general agency business, later taking up the vocation mercantile business for himself, and for the past number of years had conducted He was twice married, his first wife 1912, he was united in marriage with Mrs. Lou D. Funeral services were held from his late home on Monday, con-ducted by Rev. S. Chas. Stover, the Reformed minister of that place.

GRANGE ENCAMPMENT AND FAIR received any money from Mr. Woodring.

Opens Saturday, September 14, and Continues for One Week.

The twenty-ninth annual Grange Encampment and Fair will open on Grange Park, Centre Hall, Saturday, September 14th, and closes the following Friday. There is every indication that the affair will not only equal but exceed in many ways the former gatherings. A number of improvements have been made on the grounds a larger number of tents than heretofore will be set up, the tent equipments have been increased, all exhibit build-ings have been improved, and every-thing is being put into the best of shape for the approaching gathering. The exhibits of machinery, agricul-tural implements, farm stock, and the member of the house and the enforced ab-dressed the people. The enforced ab-sence of their Colonel, Ex-Governor James A. Beaver, called forth a united regret from the veterans, and the foi-fowing expression of their sympathy was adopted by resolution: becauly of interest to the farmers as a class. I down services on Sun-The Harvest Home services on Sunday, September 15th, will be conduct-ed by the State Secretary of Agriculture N. B. Critchfield. To Close Post Office on the Sabbath. Postmaster H. C. Valentine has re-ceived word from C. P. Cranfield, first assistant Postmaster General, to close the general delivery windows and lock boxes, and in fact, to cease all delivery of mail on Sunday, hereafter, from the local Post Office, except special delivery mail. The order states that the Department desires to reduce Sunday work to the minimum, so that as many of the employes as possible may enjoy a complete day of rest on Sunday. The appropriation act for the fiscal year ending June 30th, 1913, provides that hereafter post offices of the first and second classes shall not be open on Sundays for the purpose of delivthis provision shall not prevent the prompt delivery of special delivery mail. Therefore the department has no other recourse, but to close the offices on Sunday and cut down all unnecessary work, aside from distributing the mail. The instructions from the department will go into effect at the Bellefonte office beginning next Sunday.

> A warrant was at once issued for the arrest of Mr. Woodring and placed in the hands of Sheriff A. B. Lee, who went to Tyrone Saturday morning to serve it. Woodring is a single man and lives with his parents, who are highly respected residents of Tyrone. On going to his home he was told he was not in, but was at his sister's. Inquiry at his sister's failed to find him nor could he be located at the hotels or business places about town. Sheriff Lee was not satisfied, however, and hiring an automobile quickly returned to the house and entering by the back way came upon his man, just as he was about to leave by the front door. HE FOOLED THEM, B'GOSH!

Burdine Butler, the fighting Farmer From Howard.'

Fighting railroad corporations seems to have put an edge on the otherwise sunny temper of our friend Burdine Butler, or it may be that the versatile writer of the "Seen and Heard" col-umn of the Lock Haven Express mis-quotes him. At any rate the Express gets off the following on Burdine in recent issue:

"Burdine Butler, the 'fighting farmer' from Howard, who single handed gave battle to a force of men who at-Caused by Overheated Grain-Only Partially Insured. Caused by Overheated Grain-Only Partially Insured. Caused by Overheated Grain-Only his farm for the B. E. V. railroad re-cently, was in town last week. Butler came down to Mill Hall and thence this city by trolley. No sooner had he boarded the street car than he made it evident that he still had his 'fighting togs' on.

"'Let me off at Fallon House alley' he told the conductor. "'All right,' replied the latter, 'Fallon Lane. "Butler yanked his head around as if he had been stung by a yellow jack-'Fallon House alley I said,' he bellowed. "'And Fallon Lane I said,' quietly returned the conductor.

"Then followed a spirited argument between the farmer and the conductor, which ended in the conductor telling soon in ashes. It was a fine big barn, in excellent repair. The loss is estimated at $2500.00 putting a ballast fertilizer in his finest corn field.

"The passengers enjoyed the incident and everyone was wondering how the two were going to arrange it when they should reach Achenbach's.

"As the car sped past the St. Charles Hotel the conductor shouted, 'All off for Fallon Lane.'

"Butler made a dive for the side of the car and jumped, and in his haste nearly landed on his head. 'Con-sarn ye,' he yelled, 'I didn't get off at your citified lane, anyhow. I'm off now, blast ye, an' I'm goin' to walk down aroun' thet corner and plumb out Fallon House alley!'"

A Successful Sale. On Wednesday of last week the merchants of Bellefonte had their third and most successful bargain sale of the season. All who joined in the movement report that they had a large volume of trade from all parts of the county, and that they were able to show the people that this was an event worth attending. Every busi-ness house in the list had made special provisions to have some exception-al offerings, and the way goods were carried away was proof that the people found just what was advertised in this paper by them. The business community also has come to realize that "The Centre Democrat" is a strong medium to reach the people of this county.

West Branch Physicians Feast.
