The first of these amendments pro-vides that the Legislature may authorize the issue of bonds by the state to the amount of fifty millions of dollars for the purpose of improving and rebuilding the highways of the comrebuilding the highways of the commonwealth. Under the constitution as it now is the state cannot create a debt except to repel invasion, suppress insurrection, defend the state million dollars.

The second amendment breaks into the section prohibiting special leg-islation on certain subjects, so far as to permit special legislation regulat-ing labor; or as the amendment specifies, "the Legislature may regulate and fix wages or salaries, the hours of work or labor, and make provision for the protection, welfare and safety of persons employed by the state or any civil division thereof," or by any contractor or subcontractor performing work under such authority. This is quite comprehensive, and pretty clearly declares its own meaning.

The third amendment is intended as an escape from the muddle into which the tenure of some of the Common Pleas judges of the state were thrown by the amendments adopted three years ago. It provides that such judges holding office at the present time whose terms expire in odd-numbered years shall continue to hold their office for another year. By the adoption of this amendment the tenure will be adjusted to meet the requirement that all district judges shall be elected in the odd-numbered years. It was clearly an oversight that this was not provided for in the original amendment on the subject.

FAMOUS FARMS.

Located in Nittany Valley Occupied by Four Generations.

About one-half mile west of Zion is located a farm that has gone down to the third generation and the outlook is good for the fourth generation to own it. This farm was bought by Wm. Garbrick in 1850 for $22 an acre. The whole tract was then in timber. first year 36 acres were cleared and broken up, and during the same year a log house and log barn were built and annually thereafter there were from ten to twenty acres cleared and put under cultivation until the whole tract of 155 acres were cleared and fenced. During this time out buildings were erected, an apple orchard planted, and a wilderness transformed into a fine farm with a beautiful home. In 1852 a large bank barn about 45x90 was erected, and in 1857 a large dwelling house with eight rooms was built thereon. Some years later J. M. Garbrick, a son of William, bought about 60 acres of the north end of the farm and thereon erected the necessary buildings and occupied this place until after the death of his father, when in 1875 the homestead was sold at Orphans' Court sale for $115 an acre, and was bought by J. M. Garbrick, above mentioned, who moved on it and occupied it un-til about fifteen years ago when he sold it to his son, A. E. Garbrick, the present owner and occupant. The 60 acres that were first bought by J. M. Garbrick from his father, was after-wards bought by Geo. Kauffman, a brother-in-law of Mr. Garbrick, and was owned and occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Kauffman during their life About two yeas ago A. E. Garbrick bought the Kauffman farm from the Eneirs and now owns about 125 of the coriginal 155 acres, owned by his grandfather. The last transfer was made at about $100 per acre.

The farm lying south of the Gar-brick farm was bought by Wm. Mc-Calmont at about the time Garbrick bought, and was also unimproved Mr. McCalmont cleared a part of his tract and then sold it to Jefferson Royer, who afterwards sold it to Sam-uel Eby for $125 per acre. This farm is now tenanted.

A half century ago there were wenty-four farms in this vicinity occupied by their owners. At present there are eighteen farms occupied by tenants, but most of them are owned by descendants of their former own-

SUNDAY EXCURSIONS, ETC.

(Communicated.) I presume the great wide world, or at least a great part of it, will continue to laugh and make fun of me because I persist in believing that God's wrath falls on those who for-Plain Dealer:

as they were recovered."
From the above it would be seen that the physician, when he arrived, was hampered by the drunken crowds -too drunk to care whether anybody lived or flied. A list of those who lost their lives is significant from the fact that about nine out of ten of them were women. It has been fre-quently commented on that the women far out number the men in most of our churches; but may God forbid that the women shall outnumber the men in Sunday excursions. Perhaps one explanation of this state of affairs is that, unlike the Titanic tragedy, the men here took care of themselves and let the women struggle and die.

By the way, there are just now several reports of women being drowned because the new fashioned hobble skirt would not permit them to make a rational effort to save themselves. In fact a young woman who was an expert swimmer has just lost her life in our nearby Chipperna Lake because she was so hampered by her modern skirt which prevented her from using her limbs at all. Of course as a rational reason for the loss of life on this and every other Sunday catastrophe the crowd who had no The fourth amendment relates to regard for the Sabbath was composed largely of a class like those described in the clipping; and it is a risky thing

You may think I am "superstitious" in insisting that more accidents happen on Sunday than on week days.
Judging by the number of fatal accidents that occur on the first day of the week, a safe and sane Sunday is strongly demanded.
