Woodrow Wilson gave the people of New Jersey a new deal and that is why he was nominated for president. The people all over the county know that Wilson keeps his pledges.

EDITORIAL.

It is annoying for voters to ask Cephas Gramley whether he is in sylvania would be a tragedy if it were sympathy with the Bull Moose, or Boise Penrose. That is enough to bother any Republican candidate this reer is a long drawn out period of civic iniquity. As municipal contract-

When Taft was elected, he repeatedly promised the people to have the existing high tariff duties cut down. Did he do it? The only thing he did was to veto tariff bills passed by the last Democratic Congress.

The fellows who stole Teddy Roosevelt's electors at Chicago now want Bill Flinn to play fair with them in Pennsylvania and let them arrange the electors from this state. Flinn will give them snow water-and that is what they deserve.

The cost of living is the great issue in this campaign. It all came and high republican tariffs-and the rich have been growing richer, and the If you do, would you expect Taft, who But vetoes tariff reduction measures, to give it to you?

There was an earthquake in Vermont-we mean a political uprising that indicates that Wilson will make almost a clean sweep. The New York Sun, a notorious standpat Republican paper, says that on the same basis Wilson would carry Pennsylvania by about 200,000. been advancing with leaps and bounds. All this has happened under the undisputed sway of the Republican party. Why should they be continued in power any longer? Roosevelt was in power for over seven long years. What did he do in all that time to reduce the high tariff rates? There is nothing, absolutely nothing, on record of even any attempt. Now, when he wants a re-election, he is a great tariff reformer. It is best to judge first time in his life he would support

His political cahe mercilessly looted the city in which he lives and employed the tainted profits of his brigandage to bribe his way into public office. Quay couldn't stand for his methods and an aroused public conscience had forced him into infamous oblivion. Finally Roosevelt's overweening ambition opened a pathway for Flinn's advancement and without a suspicion of sympathy for the Third Termer, he espoused his cause. Upon the crest of the Roosevelt wave Flinn floated into control of the Republican machine. His reputation for ruffianism commended him to Roosevelt and the preferment flattered him into a mock allegiance. If Roosevelt had been nominated by the Republican convention, Flinn would have been firmly en-throned. But the fates were unpropitious, both were buried under a about after years of Republican rule mountain of wreckage, and together they left the party. Flinn resigned his poor poorer. BERRY WAS PROMPT.

When William H. Berry was State Treasurer before, he astonished the school boards of the State by paying the school appropriation promptly. The schools open about the first of September, and the old custom was to begin paying the school warrants about the time that the teachers' salaries were due, a month after the opening. Mr. Berry wisely reasoned that there were a lot of expenses to meet preliminary to the opening. pairs have to be made, sanitary im-provements attended to, and other things looked after that involve labor and wages. "The Cowboy Preacher" Coming.

An advanced musical drama is the description given to the new play entitled "The Cowboy Preacher" which is the offering at Garman's Opera House for Monday evening, September 23rd. It is a combinaton of modern western comedy drama, and high class music as offered by the accom-panying Ladies' Brass Band and Orchestra. As the title would suggest, it s a pastoral drama in a sense, though the part of the preacher is not a reg-ularly ordained minister of the gospel, but a restraining influence for good over a rough and rugged element that is usually found working in the frontier ranches. It is full of clean comedy, red blooded, and of a much higher order than the usual western drama. It had a run of three months at the Tremont theatre in New York season, and it is the same company that is playing it on the road this season. The scenery which they carry is all new and is most realistic and beautiful. The band is a great feature in itself and the free street parade with the full band and members of the company, in the costumes of the west, is a great attraction. The parade will be at noon and there will be a band concert at 7:30 in the evening in front of the theatre. It is one of the best attractions of its kind on the road and should be greeted by packed house.
