EDITORIAL.

Now it will be Flinn-sylvania. It looks as though Flinn has the Penrose goose completely cooked.

Woodrow Wilson goes on a month's vacation during which time he will not be accessible to office seekers or politicians.

There is an almost unanimous sentiment in the new congress for a special session to revise the tariff along the lines promised during the campaign.

The cabinet makers who are volunteering their services in behalf of Woodrow Wilson, invariably locate the Hon. A. Mitchell Palmer as Attorney General. All think he deserves something better than congress.

President Taft will resume the practice of law after March 4th, and as a diversion will organize a national club to preserve the traditions and records of the Republican Party.

The Flinn republicans claim that they will control the next Assembly in Pennsylvania and that they mean to inaugurate progressive legislation.

Among the notable victories in New Jersey was the election of J. Thompson Baker, Esq., of Wildwood, N. J., to congress, defeating a notorious standpatter by a large majority.

Although Pennsylvania failed in the heroic effort to give her electors to Wilson and Marshall, much credit reflects on the Democratic party and its leaders.

GOV. WILSON'S STATEMENT.

The following announcement was made by Gov. Wilson soon after the result was announced. It is typical of the man and indicates that his pledges to the people will be kept.

"The result fills me with the hope that the thoughtful progressive forces of the nation may now at last unite to give the country freedom of enterprise and a Government released from all corporate and private influences, devoted to justice and progress.

"No man whose business is conducted without violation of the rights of free competition and without such private understanding and secret alliances as violate the principle of our law and the policy of all wholesome commerce and enterprise need fear either interference or embarrassment from the administration.

AS OTHERS SEE US.

Some Democrats wonder why the Democrats failed to carry Pennsylvania and why they lost their assemblyman in Centre county. Everyone in Bellefonte knows that the Democrats defeated their own ticket in the county.

"The attention of Democrats should be directed to Pennsylvania and Illinois. In these two States, ranking among the greatest in the Union, their party fails ignominiously when conditions were all in its favor.

POLITICAL COMMENT.

Woodrow Wilson is going south for a month's vacation during which time he will be inaccessible to office seekers and those who have axes to grind.

The sentiment is strong for an extra session of Congress to consider the revision of the tariff. That subject might just as well be attended to at once. The people want it, and they should have it.

Roosevelt is delighted over the result of the election. Taft is tickled because Roosevelt was defeated for a third term.

The fellows who were howling about soup houses, and predicting dire calamities in the event of the election of Wilson, had better get to work and earn a decent living for their families.

The news comes to us from Clearfield county that ex-Senator Geo. Dimeling this last campaign was in a conspiracy to help elect Patton, Dimeling recently was Jim Hall's chairman of the Democratic party of Pennsylvania.

The defeat of Wm. B. Wilson for congress in the Lycoming district is deplored over the country. When a man of his capacity is struck down in the political arena it can only be treated as a calamity.

Nic. Longworth, Roosevelt's son-in-law, was beaten for re-election to congress from Ohio. The whole family seems to have had a streak of hard luck.

The Bull Mooseers are rejoicing over the fact that they carried more votes in this county than the Penrose wing of the party, which was boosted by the "Republican" and the "Gazette." This is not necessarily intended as a reflection on the editorial influence of these two noted Penrose organs.

It is amusing to see some fellows marching to the head of the procession and proclaiming before high heaven that they were the original Wilson boomers, when in fact, to save their necks, they only in vain crawled on Woodrow's band wagon.

THERE IS HONOR IN POLITICS.

The following editorial appeared in one of our leading daily papers after the election. It voices a sentiment that will be approved by every manly man of any party.

"MEN WHO OUGHT TO BE OSTRACIZED." "No fault is to be found with a Democrat who openly works and votes for a Republican, giving reasons for doing so which are sufficient to himself.

"No fault is to be found with a Republican who openly works and votes for the Washington party ticket or the Democratic ticket, giving reasons for doing so that are sufficient to himself.

"But the man who takes part in the councils of any party, professing allegiance to its principles and to its candidates and who on election day secretly works and votes for an opposing candidate is a political renegade who ought to be ostracized by all respectable men irrespective of the party to which he belongs.

"In either case he is a traitor and deserves and ought to receive the punishment of being treated as such. No man should be denied the right to vote and work for the candidates he believes in, irrespective of party, but the class of men who secretly vote against their open professions are always men with a price and deserve, should and eventually will receive their condemnation.

Penrose A Ward Boss.

Republican State Chairman Henry G. Watson was asked how he viewed the result of the election in its relation to Penrose's political future. He replied:

"Poor Penrose, he is no longer a factor in Pennsylvania politics. From the proud position of dictator in the United States senate and absolute boss of state politics, in less than one year he has so shrunk in power that when he set out to raid the state ticket in the recent election the limit of his accomplishment was confined to a solitary ward in the city of Philadelphia.

Graham and 'Hamp' Moore are the only members in the next congress at his beck and call. "In the senate of Pennsylvania, of the twenty-five members elected by the people last Tuesday, he has only two to render him the slightest fealty.

"Alas! poor Yorick; I knew him well." —A strong, capable company will present "The Fortune Hunter at the opera house tonight.

Even a funeral needs some one to take a live interest in it to keep it from being a dead failure.

Plans to Change Game Seasons.

The State Game commission last week discussed plans for game legislation to be presented to the next general assembly, having received numerous suggestions regarding changes in seasons of various kinds of game and for a closed season for deer for several years to allow an increase in the number of bucks.

Dr. Shriner Resumes His Work. The many Bellefonte friends of Rev. Dr. Wilford P. Shriner will rejoice with his Altoona congregation over the fact that he is able to occupy the pulpit of the Eighth Avenue Methodist Episcopal church in that city, after an illness of three months.
