HISTORICAL SKETCH.

Wrought a bold emigrant.

The first emigrant to Centre county was Andrew Boggs. His settlement was upon the Joseph Poultney warrantee. Poultney, in his application, No. 29, April 3, 1769, describes the land he applies for as on the north side of the Bald Eagle creek, near the ford-ing including his improvement marked a white oak tree. J. P. Poultney's improvement amounted to nothing more than marking his claim, and he sold his claim to Mathias Slough, a land speculator of Lancaster.

Andrew Boggs settled upon that part of the Poultney land now owned by John M. Wagner, and his house stood on the creek bank just east of the road where it turns north about hundred rods from the mouth of Spring Creek, on the north side of

The following is from a letter of John O. Henning's, of Hudson, Wis., dated Feb. 25, 1880: "I have it by tradition that my great-grandfather, Andrew Boggs, settled in the Bald Eagle valley previous to the Revolutionary war. My grandfather, Robert Boggs, was born a short distance below Milesburg and my mother and myself were born on the same farm. There was an old hollow buttonwood tree, near the Bald Eagle creek on the Boggs farm, called the Eagle's Nest, from the fact that an old Indian Chief, Bald Eagle, had occupied it for a wigwam. The story of my grand-father shooting an Indian who at tempted to decoy him into ambush by imitating a wild turkey, may still be citizens. Jonas Davis settled near to Andrew Boggs. He was a quiet man and his wife a religious woman, but he had a brother who was a ruffian, Strong, quarrelsome, and abusive, he would visit his brother on Sunday and in order to vex Jonas' wife would compel him to take his axe and fell trees. When Andrew Boggs, who was a powerful man, would get out of patience he caught Davis and gave him a flogging which would keep him in order for some time, and when necessary would repeat the operation. About this time a dispute arose about locating, and on July 11, 1789, Samuel Wallis made affidavit, which is attached to a draft of all lands surveyed. compel him to take his axe and fell Wallis made affidavit, which is attached to a draft of all lands surveyed in 1769, along Bald Eagle creek, from and including the Joseph Wilson warrantee on which the old Packer farm is located, near Howard borough, up to the mouth of Spring Creek at Milesburg. This draft has Bald Eagle Nest, or old town, marked on it as standing with three huts or cabins

Milesburg Borough.

The village of Milesburg was founded in 1793, and in 1843 received a borough charter. The survey of town lots was made in 1793, and covered that part of the present borough inthat part of the present borough in-cluded within the boundaries of Limestone creek, Mill and Catherine Sts. A good many town lots were sold, but numbers of them returned by de-fault of non-payment to the Mileses, as unsatisfied notes now held by the Miles descendants bear witness. Ro-land Curtin came to Milesburg from Philipsburg in 1799, and opened Rev. S. S. Clark went to Baltimore store; Joseph Miles had already built last Thursday, (New Years day) to a grist and saw mill on Spring creek, visit his mother, and came home on and had established a store, but the latter was located at the iron works. Curin closed his Milesburg store and transferred his field of operations to Bellefonte in 1800. The next store keeper was Peter Kincaid (in 1809) and the third one doubtless Samuel Patton. The old log house in which he traded was burned, but his log residence still stands. In 1809 the county bridge was built at Milesburg and about 1825 Franklin B. Smith, of Bellefonte, opened a store in a log building owned Fire Co rushed to the scene where a crowd of people had assembled. To the consolation of all it was only a chimney in the Gibbs home that had taken fire, but that was enough. An were not made of logs. The Black awful wind prevailed and had a fire Horse tavern, which stood on the started, nothing could have saved the corner of water and Limestone streets, was at various times presided over by Hannah Green, Robert Tipton and John Lucas. George Facklin had a brewery on the Bald Eagle in 1819, but it was burned soon afterwards. The old Miles mill was replaced by a Methodist church and was very benestone structure and upon the death of ficial to all in attendance. Revival Col. Samuel Miles, in 1805, came into possession of Thomas Potts under the will. In 1873, J. Miles Green took possession and continued the business. In 1809, David Ryman came to Milesburg from Montgomery county and took charge of the stone mill which he operated for several years then left to carry on the Evans mill at Julian furnace. This mill was remarkably small but boasted of a wheel 22 feet in diameter. After milling at Julian four years and at Curtin three he re-turned to Milesburg and re-entered the mill there. He and his son Henry T, were millers together in the red Ha! ha! brick mill for nineteen years. David Claren

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the disaused portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies.
Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

DANGER FROM GRIPPE

Lies in That Cough and Weak, Worn-out Condition.

Grippe, pleurisy, pneumonia, these are greatly to be feared at this time of the year.

To prevent grippe from being followed by either pleurisy or pneumonia, it is important to drive the last traces of it out of the system quickly. Our advice is to take Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron preparation without oil, and get your strength

Mrs. A. A. Grabill, of Strasburg, Va. says: "Grippe left me weak, run down and with a severe cough, from which I suffered four years. I tried different remedies, but nothing seemed to do me any good until I took Vinol, from which I received great benefit. My cough is almost entirely gone, and I am strong and well again, and I am glad to recommend Vinol to others who suffer as I did."
