BLACK SATIN BATHING SUIT.

Black and white or magpie effects are as modish in bathing costumes as in everything else.

Women to Replace Men. Considerations of economy have induced the imperial postal authorities of Germany to approve a plan by which 8,063 girls and women will gradually supplant men on the staffs of the different branches of the administration.

The innovation will especially affect the smaller postoffices ranked in the third class. In these 3,563 places in the lower grades hitherto filled by men are destined to be gradually occupied by women, at an average salary of $190 annually.

In addition, in other postal branches throughout the empire 4,500 offices hitherto held by men will be filled in future by 5,100 women.

For School Days. School days will soon be here, and mothers who are sending their small boys away to school will be busy getting their wardrobe together.

the Norfolk belted style, which is very good for all round wear. A black velvet collar buttons closely around the neck and forms a fine protection against the wintry winds.

Fashion Hints From Paris. The sleeve gathered in long lines from shoulder to wrist is the newest sleeve of the moment.

The newest tailor made coat is cut somewhat on the lines of the old English riding habit. It ends at the waist in front, fastening with a single big button, and slopes off into a coat tail at the back.

THE CENTER OF THE STAGE.

Dixey Couldn't Bear to Have His Old Friend Mann Lose It.

When Henry Dixey and I were playing in the same company several years ago, says Louis Mann, he would frequently accuse me of scheming to secure the center of the stage, whether the comedy situation called for my being in that much coveted spot or otherwise.

We had many warm arguments on the subject, and years afterward, when we were separated, Dixey reminded me of our old difference of opinion regarding "the center" in a very original way. Some years ago I was playing an engagement in the Temple theater at Philadelphia, and Dixey was appearing in one of the other houses. During the run of the opera in which I appeared the Temple was destroyed by fire, which put the company out of work in the middle of the season.

I was sitting in my room after the fire in a most despondent mood when the bellboy entered with a large, flat, circular package on a tray. I lifted it, but dropped the bundle instantly with a snort of pain. It was red-hot. I told the boy to cut the cord from the heavy wrapping paper, when, to my surprise, a circular block of wood, charred and smoking, fell out. Pinned in the folds of the heavy wrapping paper, yet slightly charred, was a letter which said:

My Dear Louis—At the risk of my life I climbed through the flaming ruins of the Temple theater and saved for you the "center of the stage." DIXEY.

Just Like a Woman.

A certain well known theatrical man wanted to take a business chance last week. He went to his wife and told her about it.

"I want to use our joint savings," he said. "If I lose I'll pay your share back; if I win I'll give you half the profits."

She told him to go ahead. He did and made $499.34. The day after the deal was closed he handed his wife a check for $250.

"It's all yours," he said, feeling highly delighted. She looked at the check a moment as though puzzled. "Well, who gets the half of that 34 cents?" she asked.

The Thing He Remembered.

A young girl of romantic disposition sat at dinner next to a man who had once rowed on one of Cornell's greatest crews. She tried to draw him out on the subject of racing and of the particular contest in which he had captained the crew in his senior year. "I suppose," she said, "that your most vivid recollection of that race is of the cheers of the crowd as you came across the finish line?" He shook his head. "Maybe it was the start which burned itself on your memory; the recollection of the tenseness of the wall before you heard the starter's pistol?" Again he shook his head. "What is the thing in connection with the race that you remember most distinctly?" "Well," said the oarsman slowly, "when any one talks about that race it always brings one recollection, one picture, a very vivid one, to my mind right away. "What is that?" asked the girl eagerly. "The man who rowed No. 4, who sat just in front of me, had a mole exactly midway between his shoulder blades."—New York Tribune.

What You Eat in Apples.

Do you know what you are eating when you eat an apple? No, not the sorts and varieties of worms, for there will be no worms if you have bought your fruit from an orchardist who sprays his trees. You are eating malic acid, the property that makes butter-milk so healthful. You are eating gallic acid, one of the most necessary elements in human economy. You are eating sugar in the most assimilable form, combined carbon, hydrogen and oxygen caught and imprisoned from the sunshine. You are eating albumen in its most available state. You are eating a gum allied to the "fragrant medicinal gums of Araby." You are eating phosphorus in the only form in which it is available as a source of all brain and nerve energy. In addition to all these, you are drinking the purest water and eating the most healthful and desirable fiber for the required "roughness" in food elements.—National Horticulturist.

YOUNG LOVER IN TROUBLE.

Tried a Novel Way to Secure a Wealthy Bride.

Samuel Sinclair, supervising inspector of state highways and a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania, was released from jail at Allentown, Pa., under $3,000 bail each to answer charges of attempting to abduct Miss Steckel, daughter of a retired millionaire business man of that town. The hearing will be held next Thursday. Reuben P. Steckel, the girl's father, declares that he will spend half his fortune, if necessary, to prosecute the alleged abductor of his daughter.

Miss Steckel is at her home with her face and head badly cut as the result of her struggles in the taxicab in which it is alleged the attempt to abduct her was made. She is 23 years old and a graduate of the Allentown College for Women and Vassar.

Sinclair is 30 years old and a member of a prominent family in Kennett Square, Pa. Starr is his nephew and a son of a well known Philadelphia dentist.

The alleged abduction occurred Saturday afternoon. Miss Steckel was returning from a shopping expedition and had just entered the vestibule of her home when she was seized by two men and forced into a waiting taxicab. The chauffeur was ordered to drive to the country, but on hearing the sounds of a struggle, he declares, he turned his machine towards the police station but in his haste collided with a monument in the center of the town.

The party was taken to the police station, where, after Miss Steckel had told her story, the two men were held. Sinclair, who is said to be a rejected suitor of the girl, declared that they were eloping with her consent.

Say Sinclair Was Infatuated.

The attempted kidnaping is said to be due to Sinclair's infatuation for her. Sinclair is thirty years old, a member of a prominent family of Quakers at Kennett Square, Pa., and a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania, where he was a noted football player and athlete.

GAME SEASON'S TOLL.

Incomplete Report Shows 27 Hunters Killed, 126 Hurt.

Results of the first systematic game season in Pennsylvania, as announced at the office of the commission on Saturday, showing that with 16 counties to hear from 27 hunters were killed and 126 injured.

The kill of bucks is given as 721, with the probability that the missing counties will raise it to 800. Last year about 500 bucks were killed. Sixty-seven dogs were reported killed.

Other game statistics show 138 bear, 5720 woodcock, 19,435 quail, with the probability that this figure may be doubled to 40,160 grouse, 773 wild turkeys, with chances that the total may go to 1000; 8092 raccoons, 75,265 squirrels and 340,850 rabbits.

The counties to be heard from are Beaver, Butler, Berks, Cameron, Cambria, Cumberland, Centre, Columbia, Dauphin, Forest, Greene, Mercer, Montgomery, Montour, Philadelphia, Snyder and Wyoming.

The ordinary blackbirds, known locally as the cow bird, or the purple grackle, had failed to be heard from in discussion in the season of the Pennsylvania Legislature during the winter. Letters are being received by the State Game Commission asking that the State authorities back a bill to protect the blackbird all the year round, because of the huge crop of which the blackbirds relieve the farms.

Just as vigorously as the blackbird is being championed, others are writing demanding that the bird be put on the outlaw list owing to its habits of destroying the nests and eating the young of other birds. The correspondence of the commission on the subject of the blackbird has been voluminous.

The man who can laugh at trouble will be kept pretty busy laughing.

RULES OF HEALTH.

Every school day every public school child in New Jersey looks at the following rules of health which are hung on placards in the school room. Read these rules, apply them to yourself and keep well.

"Fresh air and sunshine are necessary to good health. Cold or damp fresh air does not harm if the skin is kept dry. Night air is as good as day air. Breathe only through the nose. Avoid hot, crowded, dusty, dark or damp rooms. Breathe deeply and throw back your shoulders frequently.

Live on plain food and eat regularly. Eat slowly, chew thoroughly, and avoid fried food. Drink water freely (noticed). Have your own cup if drinking fountains are not provided at school. Go to bed early and sleep with the windows open. Regular exercise is essential to good health.

Wear loose clothes. Wear no more clothing than you need for warmth. Never sit with wet feet or in damp clothing. Consumption and other diseases are spread by careless spitting. Spitting on the floors of rooms, halls, streets and cars will certainly be breathed in the form of dust. Keep your finger nails clean, and wash your hands and face before you eat. Clean your teeth after each meal and before going to bed. Never hold money, pencils, pins or other things in your mouth."

Some people seem to think that everything is for the best, and they are the best.

SOME STARTLING FIGURES.

Cost of Living Has Rapidly Increased in Last Year.

Soaring prices of foodstuffs are pictured in a new set of figures compiled by the United States department of labor from its investigation of the cost of living in 39 American cities.

Between August, 1911, and August, 1912, only two things decreased in price—potatoes and sugar. Meanwhile everything else advanced.

In Boston, sirloin steak had advanced 24 per cent; in Buffalo, 19 per cent; in Atlanta, 8 per cent; in Chicago, 19 per cent, and in Birmingham, Ala., 15 per cent.

The figures on the advance in prices during the last 10 years show the following increases:

Sugar, 6 per cent; butter, 34; flour, 35; potatoes, 46; eggs, 47; lard, 57; beef, 59; sirloin steak, 62; ham, 63; rib roast, 63; corn meal, 64; round steak, 85; smoked bacon, 100, and pork chops, 105.

Within the 39 cities investigated, one-fifth the total population of the United States lives as well as two-fifths of the urban population and approximately one-third of all persons engaged in gainful occupations, not including farmers.
