BOARD OF TRADE INDIGNANT

Pass Strong Resolutions Denouncing Author of Newspaper Article-Feeling Runs High-Temperance People Active-Liquor Men Indignant.

The town of Philipsburg was in a turmoil the past week due to the circulation of copies of a paper published at Westerville, Ohio. It containthe names of 406 citizens of thate borough whose signatures were attached to the applications for liquor license, as presented to the court.

It appears the papers were mailed families throughout the county. Business men who were signers particularly resent the publicity, as they feel it cannot be of benefit to them in a business way.

All of the 406 signers resent the terms applied to them in the article published in connection with the list. In one place they are referred to as "blacklegs" and as "men so degraded that they will send their neigh-bors' children to perdition."

The article was not signed and an effort is being made to learn the name of the writer. Because the local ministerial association has taken an active part in the movement against granting the local licenses this year, many have credited the article to one of its members. The Rev. R. P. Miller, of the Presbyterian church and a member of the ministerial association, in a signed statement in the Daily Journal emphatically denies any knowledge of or connection with the

At a meeting of the Philipsburg Board of Trade last week the follow-ing self-explanatory resolution, introduced by Attorney Geo. W. Zeigler, was passed without a dissenting vote:

"Whereas, Copies of an alleged newspaper, masquerading under the title of "The New Republic," published in a small town in the state of Ohio, called Westerville, were circulated in hilipsburg under date of February 1913, containing a scurrilous attack on good citizens of this place and presuming to give public currency to facts and conditions which do not exist

Whereas. The attack so made is so intemperate in language, vicious in tone and unfounded in fact, that while it would fall of its own weight and be rendered ineffective for the pur-poses intended by its manifest falsity, yet, we feel that this body representa-tive of the borough and its interests and denounce the statements made therein as untrue in fact, malicious in spirit, and wholly unwarranted by reason of any conditions existing in Philipsburg or its vicinity. #### CORN DAY AT STATE.

Will Be Held by School of Agriculture at College, Feb. 28.

The School of Agriculture and Experiment Station of the Pennsylvania State College will hold a Corn Day at THE PROGRESSIVE FORCES MUST the college, Friday, February 28th. One of the most important and in-teresting features will be a display of the show corn exhibited at the State Corn Show at Harrisburg and at the national show for the eastern part of the country. The exhibit will include the sweepstakes prize for flint corn for the whole United States as well as the champion 10 ear lot of dent corn for the north and middle Atlantic states.

Live topics of interest to growers will be discussed throughout the morning and afternoon sessions of the day. The value and organization of Boys' Corn Clubs is a subject which will interest the educational man as well as the farmer.

Corn is the first and foremost cereal crop in the state both in total value and in value per acre. With more intelligent methods in the growing of the crop, it will come nearer producing "something for nothing" than any of our other cereal crops.

farmer who can possibly avail himself of the opportunity will find it well worth his time and money to take a "day off", go to the college, see the exhibit, and hear the discussions which have been planned for the day. All farmers are invited to bring 5. ear lots of their best corn to the exhibit.

Wide publicity of this important meeting will be given throughout Pennsylvania and it is believed that hundreds of farmers will avail themselves of this opportunity to hear the discussions, see the exhibit and at the same time visit their agricultural college and experiment station.

Special Trains to State College. The Pennsylvania railroad will run special trains over its middle division State College on Friday, February in connection with the corn day exhibit and demonstration by the school of agriculture and experiment station. Detailed information can be procured from ticket agents.

OVER THE COUNTY.

Geo. Wilson, who spent the past few ears in Iowa, is home on a visit to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Wilson, at Hublersburg. The young man likes the west and expects to return, where he has a good position. He still thinks that Old Pennsylvania is a good state, and enjoys coming back to see former acquaintances.

Monday evening the members of the charges at Axemann, Lemont, and Rock Forge, went to Pleas-ant Gap where they joined in with the congregation at that place and all as-sembled in the Methodist church where they met the Rev. Frum, their pastor, and made it the occasion for a celebration of his 63rd birthday anniversary. There was a large attendance and all joined in extending their worthy pastor a hearty handshake wishing him many more similar happy events. Rev. C. C. Shuey, of Bellefonte, was present and made an ap-propriate address, after which there were appropriate devotions. The dies of the Pleasant Gap congregation then served a delightful lunch that all present enjoyed. Since the Reverend has been located in that field, he has done a good work, and this expres-sion of good will from his charge was greatly appreciated by him.

for the meeting of the regular February term of court. By this time nearly all our readers are aware that this term of court has been canceled and the cases continued.

Were Continued.

There was a small civil list, with very few prisoners in the county jail who wanted to have a hearing to get out. The reason assigned for the continuance was, that it was in the interest of economy. That is plausible. Another reason, not given, is that from all parts of the county came requests from jurors, constables, litigants and witnesses that they feared to come to the town on account of the reported epidemic we were having with what is supposed to be smallpox, From Haines township, it is said, there was a petition saying that as they had smalipox in that vicinity they felt that it was not wise for them to come up and mingle with people from other parts of the county. The same could be said of Potter township and College town-

There is no disputing the fact that some people outside of Bellefonte have a great dread of the town, and prefer not to mingle with anybody from the As there was little business before the court, and much of it could be conveniently extended, this session was canceled no doubt in defference to those who were unduly alarmed. Recent dispatches in the daily papers sent from this place have severely criticised, as it leaves the impression, or many infer, that the town is a pest hole. Our advice to all is, that if you have such awful fears of the town and the disease, you had better stay at home, go nowhere. If you come to Bellefonte you will find that the town is in full bloom, everybody going about their business as usual, and the smallpox scare is treated as a common joke. We do not mean to say that there was no real smallpox in the town, but our people are not alarmed; there have been a few mild cases that were successfully treated, and all the necessary precautions have een taken to prevent its spread.
